Wednesday 10/2/74

10:25 Joanne Coe in Senator Dole's office called to say they 225-6521 have received information about an article in the Philadelphia Inquirer -- apparently talking about a second enemies' list, which was published routinely by the GPO -- and that it was being used by Bob Brock (Kansas State Chairman) to send letters to all the people on the enemies' list to solicit funds -- Brock is Dole's opponent. The funds were for Dr. Bill Roy (Congressman from Topeka).

Said she had called Korologos' office and they referred her to us.

11:50 Called Mort Allen's old office -- (it is now Phil Warden's office) and talked with Linda Durfee.

Mr. Warden is now handling the News Summaries. She said she would check and call me back.

Wednesday 10/2/74

5:30 Talked with Fred Buzhardt and asked him about the call from Senator Dole's office.

He said there was a longer list of people they wanted an IRS check on. Dean didn't have a copy. It was delivered to Johnnie McWaters, then Commissioner of IRS. He (McWaters) kept it and Mr. Buzhardt believes it was turned over to the Joint Committee on IRS Tax Information for their information. Said he doesn't know if they published it. They published the hearing -- or a staff report.

It was not a report on the President's taxes but prior to that concerning abuses on Internal Revenue Services. They may have published that list. It had approximately 300 names on the list -- according to Mr. Buzhardt's recollection. That was the only thing besides Dean's list and that would have come out after the hearings.

Wednesday 10/2/74

5:40 Called Phil Warden's office again and talked with Linda Durfee ---- she mentioned it to Phil Warden; he told her he would handle it -- would call Sen. Dole's office.

I talked with him. He said he called Mr. Katz in Sen. Dole's office, who is a friend of his. He said he (Warden) had started the whole thing last week when he saw the article and called his friend in Dole's office -- but it turned out that Mr. Katz was not in his office. ((So we're assuming that's how the inquiry was started))) Mr. Warden said he put it in his news summaries last week but couldn't find it when he looked through them -- for Saturday, Friday, and Thursday. But indicated that Bill Baroody would have it for sure. Said the article said Roy is soliciting everyone on the Nixon's enemies list for contributions -- and that it quotes parts of the I called Bill Baroody's office and talked with Lorraine; / letters. she didn't remember it. (Spoke with Lorraine) /

Wednesday 10/2/74

6:10 Called Joanne Coe in Senator Dole's office to say that I hadn't called her back because I couldn't find out the information she needed -- but that it was my understanding that Mr. Warden had called and gave the information to Mr. Katz, who is a friend of his.

She said Katz had gone home, and that he hadn't given her the information she needed. I told her that Mr. Warden thought he started the whole thing with his phone call last Friday.

She indicated that wasn't it -- that she had a call from the Republican National Committee about the matter . I gave her the information about where they might possibly find the list ---- and she was most appreciative and said she would get a copy of the material put out by the Joint Committee on IRS Tax Information and see if she could find the list.

MEMORANDUM FOR: PHIL BUCHEN
FROM: DEAN BURCH
SUBJECT: Attached Inquiry

Assuming this letter should be answered at all -- and to forestall a public stench I believe it should be -- obviously I cannot nor can Gwen (and both of us have received copies). The President should not in my judgment; that would escalate the matter unduly.

I nominate your office to respond in behalf of the President.

It seems to me that the answer is not terribly difficult. (1) Both Burch and Anderson have a multiplicity of assignments, one of which is political coordination. (2) Although it is assuredly never mentioned in Constitution or statute, the President by longstanding and widely-recognized tradition serves as leader of his political party; this leadership function relates directly to his legislative function, and to his role as chief of the Executive Branch; and, among all his staff aides, it is well for him to centralize his political counsel and assistance in one person or one office.

I'm not suggesting anything evasive or apologetic or "well, they all do it". I am suggesting that the institutionalization of the President's political role is both legitimate and necessary.

Dear Mr. President:

I learned from newspaper reports today that Mrs. Gwen Anderson of Kennewick, Washington was named to the White House Staff as an election campaign coordinator for the President. I am happy to see women appointed to office and I commend your efforts in this direction.

Nevertheless, I am deeply concerned about tax dollars being utilized for compensating persons assigned to partisan political activity at the direction of the Chief Executive. (I do support legislation providing for partial public financing of individual campaigns.)

I would very much appreciate your advising me if Mrs. Anderson and her supervisor, Dean Burch, are compensated from public monies. I would also appreciate your position on this specific use of tax money. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

HELEN SOMMERS

SUBJECT: Offer of a Gift

Attached is a reply for your signature declining an offer to provide the President with pipes embossed with the Presidential seal for use as gifts by the President.

As a matter of policy, I strongly recommend that we avoid any actions that appear to suggest Presidential endorsement of a particular commercial product or that involve the acceptance of items from private industry.

* For your information, such gifts are normally paid for by the Republican National Committee. The only exception to that policy that I have been able to determine is with respect to cigarettes, beer and soft drinks served on the Presidential planes, yacht, etc. These are accepted by DOD on the basis of long-standing precedent. While the cigarettes are considered to be manufacturers' samples, they carry the Presidential seal and other indicia of the White House.

You asked for my judgment on the policy reflected in the attached news clipping.

You are correct in the view that no specific statutory authority is necessary to accept unconditional contributions on behalf of the United States. However, it has been the White House policy for some time that such contributions should not be accepted. This policy is based on the fact that we lack the facilities to handle cash and checks, and also because it is virtually impossible to reasonably distinguish between which donations should be forwarded to the appropriate recipient and which should be returned. For example, money is regularly sent (and presently returned) for the President personally, for political contributions, for UNICEF and other charities, for the United States and, at the moment, for a swimming pool.

In the reported case, the check was made payable to "America". While I agree that the President should not accept such checks on behalf of the United States, I would suggest that the standard letters be revised to suggest that would-be donors consider sending their donations directly to the appropriate agencies -- in this instance, the Department of the Treasury.

'Inflation Fighter' Perturbed as Ford Rejects a $25 Gift

Special to The New York Times

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Nov. 18—Boris Feinman, a local businessman and city booster, decided one day last month to fight inflation his own way. He sat down and wrote $25 checks to the city, county, state and Federal governments. All but the Federal Government accepted the money.

President Ford, whose plea for assistance in the fight against inflation had inspired Mr. Feinman's gesture, returned the money through an aide, Roland L. Elliott, who said Mr. Ford "appreciates your desire to help" but cannot accept the check.

Another letter, this one over Mr. Ford's signature, arrived a week later. It thanked Mr. Feinman for his "suggestions to stop inflation" and contained a WIN button.

Mr. Feinman expressed some consternation in a interview. "The President puts me on his inflation-fighters list, but he can't find a way to accept the money," he noted.

The White House confirmed the exchange. Although Mr. Elliott, a special assistant, was out of the office, another official explained that "the White House is just not authorized to accept gifts."

"We suggested that perhaps Mr. Feinman would like to consider buying a United States Savings Bond," the official said. Mr. Feinman, asked whether he intended to follow this advice, said in frustration.

"Absolutely not. Then the Government will be owing me. I just want to give them the money. When our temples, churches and charities are in trouble, we give. So why not when the Government is in trouble."

He then added more softly: "I'll bet if the President himself saw the letter he would have said, 'Say, that's nice. Thank you very much.'"

Dear Mr. President:

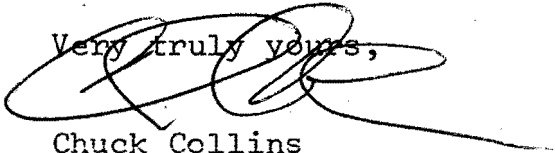

Our nightly news broadcast, the PublicNewsCenter, is about to report on political corruption in Northwest Indiana. Our report covers criminal activity covered up by a few democratic federal judges in the 7th circuit.

In researching the story, we found some letters that you wrote to Owen Crumpacker of Hammond and Joe Griswold of Grand Rapids concerning the judicial conduct of Federal Judges Robert Tehan and Luther Swygert.

We plan to air our story in a few weeks and would like to discuss our findings with someone on your staff before our air date.

The activity of these few judges, in our opinion, has tainted the machinery of justice for the last 35 years in Northwest Indiana and deserves some special attention by the White House. Those who have chosen to fight the corruption have undergone political and social persecution, particularly, Owen Crumpacker.

Very truly yours,

SUBJECT:

The Privacy Act and Information
Concerning Political Affiliation

Interior is correct in its opinion that the Privacy Act prohibits agencies from maintaining any records describing the exercise of an individual's First Amendment rights, unless expressly authorized by statute or pertinent to and within the scope of an authorized law enforcement activity. Information concerning an individual's party affiliation, even if taken from the public record, does fall in this proscribed category of materials. For the purpose of this statute, maintaining files includes collecting, using or disseminating such information, as well as retaining it in the files.

The White House is not an agency for the purpose of the Privacy Act, and, therefore, you may continue to maintain files which include information indicating the party affiliation of candidates for, or incumbents of, the various "political" positions in the non-career service. Similarly, your files are not subject to mandatory disclosure under either the Privacy Act of the Freedom of Information Act.

In dealing with agencies after September 27, the effective date of the Act, your staff should be aware that the consent of the individual is generally required before an agency can acquire such information, whether from the public record or the White House. Either actual consent to maintain such information, i. e., given directly to the White House or the agency, preferably in writing, or implied consent, e. g., listing an individual's political affiliation in his resume, inclusion in Who's Who, etc., is sufficient for this purpose.

In response to your request, we do not view as a legal problem resubmission by the agencies of the various "clearance" sheets necessary to bring your files up to date with respect to the pre-August 9, 1974 political appointees, provided this is accomplished prior to September 27.

UNITED STATES
DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
OFFICE OF THE SOLICITOR

JUL 7 1975

Memorandum

To: Hugh M. Duncan, Office of the Secretary

From: Solicitor

Subject: Privacy Act Restrictions on Records Concerning Political Affiliation

A question has been raised as to what effect if any the Privacy Act will have on records concerning incumbents of and candidates for positions which are essentially political in nature. We have considered three types of such non-career positions: Presidential appointees, non-career executive assignments (supergrades) and Schedule Cs. The comments below apply equally to these positions as well as to incumbents of and candidates for various boards and committees which advise Interior. Also, in our opinion the restrictions of the Statute apply equally to incumbents and candidates although the means of processing them may be different, due to the difference in relationship of the individual to the Department.

The Privacy Act, which takes effect on September 27, 1975, provides that agencies maintaining systems of records shall "maintain no record describing how any individual exercises rights guaranteed by the First Amendment unless expressly authorized by statute or by the individual about whom the record is maintained or unless pertinent to and within the scope of an authorized law enforcement activity." 5 U.S.C. § 552a(e)(7).

We have reviewed this provision and are of the opinion that, if faced with the matter, the courts would hold that it precludes the Department from maintaining records concerning the political affiliation or political activity of persons holding the above-named positions, except with the concurrence of these individuals.

The crux of the matter is whether affiliation with a political party is a right guaranteed by the First Amendment. In determining what is and what is not guaranteed by the First Amendment, OMB's draft guidelines on the Privacy Act state, "agencies will apply the broadest reasonable interpretation."

Our review of the cases indicates that affiliation with a political party is a protected right. In the recent case of Kusper v. Pontikes, the Supreme Court stated, "There can no longer be any doubt that freedom to associate with others for the common advancement of political beliefs and ideas is a form of 'orderly group activity' protected by the First Amendment . . . The right to associate with the political party of one's choice is an integral part of this basic constitutional freedom." 414 U.S. 51, 55-57 (1973). See also, Williams v. Rhodes, 393 U.S. 23, 30 (1968); Cousins v. Wigoda, 42 L.Ed.2d 595 (1975).

While it is true that employees in the Federal service have been held to have forfeited some of their rights to take active part in political affairs, e.g., U.S. Civil Service Commission v. National Association of Letter Carriers, 413 U.S. 548 (1973), no decision has held that Federal employees forfeit the right to be a member of a political party. We think it unlikely that such a decision would be reached.

That Congress intended section 552a(e)(7) to include party affiliation as a matter not suitable for recordkeeping is also made clear by the legislative history. The House version of the section prohibited the keeping of records concerning "the political or religious belief of any individual," H. Rept. 93-1416, p. 30 (1974), a formulation which we would take to clearly include party affiliation. When the final version of the legislation was prepared by representatives of the House and Senate (in a complicated procedure not involving use of a conference committee), their report stated that the final formulation of the section was designed to expand the House formulation. 120 Cong. Rec. S21816 (daily ed. Dec. 17, 1974).

We believe that there is no express statutory authority which would take records of political affiliation or activity by incumbents to or candidates for the so-called political positions out of the purview of the Privacy Act. 5 U.S.C. § 3301 is the basic authority for appointment into the Civil Service. Under E.O. 10577, Nov. 22, 1954, 19 F.R. 7521, as amended (see note to 5 U.S.C. § 3301), the President has set up basic Civil Service Rules and charged the Civil Service Commission with the responsibility for administering them. Rule VI governs positions excepted from the competitive service. This includes Schedule C - Positions of a confidential or policy determining character. Rule 9.20 concerns non-career executives who must 1) be involved in advocacy of administrative programs, 2) participate significantly in determining major political policies, or 3) serve as personal assistant to a key political figure. While gathering information on political affiliation may be inferred from rules VI and IX, we do not believe it has the level of express statutory authority.

Recognizing the need to collect information on a person's political convictions in determining suitability for a political appointment, such a record can be maintained provided Interior has the person's consent. Obtaining an incumbent's consent can be accomplished merely by asking, and preferably by having the incumbent sign an appropriate form.

The candidates present a different and much more sensitive problem: there are larger numbers of persons involved and, occasionally, they may not know they are under consideration. Depending on whether or not they know, several alternatives are possible:

- 1) If an individual voluntarily includes such information on a resume', we can assume that such act constitutes a waiver of the prohibition.
- 2) Use a form method of obtaining a waiver. A statement such as failure to check a block or requiring one to check a block is sufficient to grant consent to maintain a record of a person's political background.
- 3) A letter to the person requesting consent and receipt of such consent.
- 4) Ask the individual only at the time a decision is imminent and he or she should know they are being considered. If the individual refuses to consent, he or she may be dropped from consideration. If consent is given, at that time we may begin to maintain the desired record.

- 5) In some cases it may not be necessary to maintain a written record.

There are other methods which will accomplish the result which may require further discussion. Being realistic, however, the requirements of the Act clearly will complicate the legitimate process of recruitment and staffing for non-career positions, regardless of method.

In summary, then, it is necessary to obtain an individual's permission in order to maintain records on the individual which reflect political activity or affiliation, absent statutory authorization or the required nexus with law enforcement activity. Securing the necessary permission can be done by any number of methods which allow an individual the opportunity to indicate a willingness to have such records maintained or a desire not to have them.

The President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

I regret that after all these years our friendship may be strained because of the proclivity of the New York Times, particularly in the October 1 article, repeating and expanding on the raving allegations of a totally irresponsible party.

Never did you solicit funds for election purposes from me, and what relatively minor contribution I made was on behalf of myself and Ruth. We try to help, to the extent we can, to perpetuate in public service, some of those we think merit our support. Moreover, I am sure you know the whole specific matter is a fantasy, for, like you, I have no recollection of having ever received such money and it was as impossible, as it would be uncharacteristic of me, to usurp for myself what was not mine.

My apologies for any, even momentary, embarrassment that may have befallen you because a "madman" seeks some sort of revenge.

Yours very truly,

Alvin Shapiro

MEMORANDUM TO: PHILIP BUCHEN

FROM: JACK CALKINS

Attached is a self-explanatory file concerning "The Official 1975 Republican Party Medal" which is planned for use as a fundraising premium by the Republican National Finance Committee. You will note that the Presentation Stand which is planned for this medal bears the President's facsimile signature. I am informed by Rod Smith that this package was put together out of town by the same firm which did the 1972 similar item and that there was a misunderstanding with regard to the obtaining of permission to use the President's facsimile signature. Therefore, these have already been manufactured with the signature thereon, but obviously the RNFC does not wish to start sending them to recipients until they have been properly cleared by the White House.

Given the 1972 Nixon precedent for this type of item and the other more recent permission granted by President Ford for the use of his signature in fundraising activities by entities of the Republican Party, I do not see that there should be any problem in giving permission for this item, but in accordance with standard practice, I am forwarding it to your office for further action.

Please advise me of any further action taken on this request.

TO: JACK CALKINS
SUBJECT: APPROVAL TO UTILIZE FACSIMILE OF PRESIDENT FORD'S SIGNATURE

Attached is the brochure used in our Ford Medal mailing and a copy of the brochure used in 1972 for the Nixon Medal mailing. As you will note, the concept and design are almost exactly the same. As I explained to you over the phone, there was confusion on our part that approval to utilize the President's signature had already been obtained. I apologize for this error and sincerely hope there is no problem in now obtaining formal approval to utilize a facsimile of the President's signature on this project.

I would very much appreciate your assistance in this matter and hope we can resolve it as soon as possible. If there are any questions or problems, please give me a call.

Thank you.

The Official 1975 Medal of the Republican National Party

A treasured heirloom you'll proudly display

A priceless memento of your support of the Republican Party

This historic Medal was created by one of the world's foremost medallic sculptors—Mico Kaufman, who created the obverse of the official U.S. Ford Inaugural Medal. It is being minted by the Medallic Art Company, which also minted the Official U.S. Ford Inaugural Medal.

A special solid Bronze edition, in a desk stand bearing the President's message of appreciation and a facsimile of his signature, will be produced in limited quantity solely for contributors of $15.00 to $24.95. Contributors of $25.00 or more will receive a solid Sterling Silver medal. Both medals will be in brilliant, proof-like finish, with a mirror-bright background. These limited editions are not for sale at any price.

This distinctive Commemorative Medal, in either Silver or Bronze, makes an appropriate memento of your important participation in support of the Republican Party in 1975, and is sure to become a valuable collector's item in the years ahead.

The Republican Party depends upon the loyal support of individual members for its continued existence. Without this support, the Party would quickly cease to function. Democratic candidates receive huge contributions from funds controlled by the leadership of the big Labor Unions. The Republican Party receives the bulk of its contributions in donations from individual Party members. This traditional Republican method of fund-raising is in accordance with the ideal set forth by President Eisenhower who defined the Republican Party as the Party which "promotes individual participation."

In keeping with this tradition, the Republican Party is giving as a memento and a token of appreciation this Official 1975 Medal, struck in solid Bronze and suitably presented for display, to every Republican Party member who makes a contribution at this time in the amount of $15.00 up to $24.95. (Contributors of $25.00 or more receive the beautiful Solid Sterling Silver Medal.)

Your participation in this vital support of the Party is deeply appreciated.

STRUCK FOR THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL PARTY

... by one of the largest and foremost private mints in the world, an independent, publicly owned corporation, not affiliated with the U.S. Mint or any other governmental agency.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Philip W. Buchen
Counsel to the President

FROM: Benton L. Becker 3/13

DATE: January 13, 1976

RE: Republican National Finance Committee
Presentation of Personalized Presidential Picture to RNC Contributors

By letter of January 5, 1976, Rodney A. Smith, Executive Director, Republican National Finance Committee (RNFC), informed your office that the finance chairman of the RNC proposed offering a personalized presidential photograph to individuals either locating new sustaining members to the RNC, or to the present RNC sustaining members that contribute a sum to RNC in excess of their membership dues. Mr. Smith proposed that the photograph carry the following inscription:

"With appreciation for your support to the Republican Party. . .Gerald R. Ford".

I have considered this request in light of the New Federal Election Law, Advisory Opinions and Regulations issued to date by the Federal Election Commission (FEC). I have concluded that, while the RNFC request may be technically allowable under existing laws and FEC regulations, prudence requires your office to deny the request.

FEC Advisory Opinion 1975-72 (Federal Register, Vol. 40, Pg. 233, Dec. 3, 1975), relating to contribution and spending limits of 18 U.S.C. 608 to presidential candidates' travel for party purposes, concludes that all post-January 1, 1976 travel by President Ford will be presumed to be candidate-related and, as such, will be governed by the relevant positions of the Federal Election Law. The thrust of that opinion is to impose upon presidential candidate Ford, after January 1, 1976, the application of the Federal Election Law for all acts done, on the candidate's behalf, for the purpose of influencing his nomination and/or election to federal office (2 U.S.C. 431(c) and (f)).

January 13, 1976

Although the contemplated act of the RNFC is not on behalf of the candidacy of President Ford, nor does it directly or indirectly attempt to influence third parties with respect to his candidacy, it is my opinion that it should not be undertaken.

Before undertaking this memorandum, I posed the question presented herein to Mr. John Murphy, General Counsel, FEC. On January 9, 12 and 13, 1976, I had further conversation with Mr. Murphy and Mr. David Speigel, Assistant General Counsel, FEC, regarding this matter. They advised that a "split" of opinion was prevalent within the Counsel's office of the FEC. Those opposed to the presentation of a presidential photograph maintained that, in the event of a Reagan complaint to the FEC, a persuasive argument could be maintained that this contemplated action by the RNC could be construed to be an in-kind RNC contribution to PFC, and possibly in an amount in excess of RNC's five thousand dollar limitation to primary, presidential candidates. Counsel's office foresaw no possible implication of Democratic complaints but, rather, viewed the matter as one involving "intra-party impact". Should such a complaint be lodged and should a holding be forthcoming from FEC adverse to RNC, then Counsel advises that, "at the very least, the RNC costs and expenditures incurred on the promotion would be allocated against PFC's ten million dollar limitation".

On January 12, 1976, I telephonically conversed with Rodney A. Smith regarding this matter. I inquired of Mr. Smith his and Mr. Milbank's best judgment as to the amounts contemplated to be received by RNC which were the direct result of this promotion. Mr. Smith minimized the amount, suggesting that twenty thousand dollars would be high. Mr. Smith further suggested that a business reply envelope submitted along with the sustaining membership dues bill soliciting a gratuitous contribution in excess of the dues would accomplish much the same purpose.

For the reasons stated herein, it is my opinion that the project should be abandoned by RNFC.

SUBJECT: Campaign Telegram

Per your request, I have discussed the proposed telegram for former Congressman Ed Young with Bob Visser at the PFC. There is no legal problem in the President sending this telegram or including at the bottom of the page "not printed at Government expense." In other situations, I believe we have used the alternative language "Absolutely no taxpayer funds have been used in the preparation or mailing of this correspondence."

In addition, the bottom of the telegram should contain the following legend:

"If you are a Federal employee or have any matter pending before a Federal administrative or regulatory agency, please disregard this correspondence." Paid for by the (Young for Congress) Committee, _____, Chairman and _____, Treasurer. A copy of our report is filed with the Federal Election Commission and is available for purchase from the Federal Election Commission, Washington, D.C. 20463.

Please call me if you have any questions on the above.

ED YOUNG WAS AN OUTSTANDING CONGRESSMAN. HE UNDERSTOOD THE PROBLEMS OF AMERICA AND HE KNEW WHAT WAS NEEDED TO HELP TURN THIS ECONOMY AROUND. IN THE LAST FEW MONTHS WE HAVE BEEN VERY SUCCESSFUL IN TURNING THE AMERICAN ECONOMY AROUND AND ONLY BY ELECTING MEN TO CONGRESS WHO CAN UNDERSTAND AND COPE WITH THE CHANGING INTERNATIONAL MARKETPLACE CAN WE HOPE TO CONTINUE OUR BATTLE TO REDUCE INFLATION AND STIMULATE THE PRIVATE SECTOR TO CREATE MORE JOBS AND HIGHER WAGES.

IN 1974 ED LOST HIS RACE FOR RE-ELECTION. THE POLLS I HAVE SEEN INDICATE THAT HE IS GOING TO BE SUCCESSFUL THIS YEAR IN WINNING BACK THAT HOUSE SEAT.

UNFORTUNATELY, SPECIAL INTERESTS OUTSIDE OF THAT DISTRICT HAVE MADE CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS AND WILL MAKE MORE TO INSURE THAT THE INCUMBENT RETURNS TO CONGRESS. IT IS ONLY WITH YOUR HELP THAT ED CAN OFFSET THE OUT-OF-STATE FUNDS THAT ARE BEING USED AGAINST HIM.
