THE VICE PRESIDENT's BRIEFING PAPER
Wednesday, May 15, 1975

---

10:00 AM

Mr. Merriam would like to brief you in some detail about the Commission.

The purpose of the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations is to give continuing attention to critical areas of friction in Federal, State, local, interstate and interlocal relations.

The Commission was created by Federal Law in 1959 and strengthened by further congressional action in 1966. It is a permanent national bi-partisan body representing executive and legislative branches of government and the public.

The Commission formulates policy position and translates it into policy recommendations, then translates it into draft bills and executive orders for consideration by the appropriate federal and state officials.
