MEMORANDUM

OFFICE OF THE VICE PRESIDENT
WASHINGTON

June 15, 1974

MEMORANDUM FOR: Warren Rustand

FROM: Frank R. Pagnotta fy!

SUBJECT: Vice President's meeting with
Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., on Tuesday, June 18, at 2:30 p.m.

Accompanying Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., to the meeting with the Vice President on Tuesday, June 18, at 2:30 p.m., will be Dr. Philip Handler, President of the National Academy of Sciences, and Mr. David Z. Beckler.

Dr. Killian will present the final version of the report "Science and Technology in Presidential Policymaking: A Proposal." The report will be publicly released on June 26, when Drs. Killian and Handler testify before the House Science and Astronautics Committee, which will hold hearings on government science policy and organization.

The report was prepared by an ad hoc Committee on Science and Technology chaired by Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., a former Science Adviser to the President and now Honorary Chairman of the Corporation of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The Committee, under the auspices of the National Academy of Sciences, was convened by Dr. Phil Handler to look into the question of scientific and technological advice to the government, including the advisory and coordinating functions previously carried out by the White House Science advisory complex.

The Committee concluded that the Office of the President could benefit from a scientific and technological presence. Its principal objective was to recommend means by which the unique contribution of science and technology can most effectively be incorporated into the policy-making process. It determined that, as the impact of science and technology on government steadily grows, and if the quality of our society and the aspirations of our people are not to be diminished, it is necessary to bring to bear the most competent and imaginative science and technology that the nation can muster, and that success in addressing many of the nation's most urgent problems must increasingly depend on the wise and benign use of science and technology.

The Committee is persuaded that the Office of the President can benefit from some institutional mechanism dealing with the scientific and technical aspects of policymaking that must be resolved at the Presidential level. It concluded that science and technology can fully serve the Federal government -- and the nation -- only if adequate means are included within the staff structure of the Executive Office of the President to provide a source of scientific and technological analysis and judgment to the President and the agencies in his Office.

It is the hope of the Committee that, after review by the Academy Council, the report will be transmitted to the President and to the Congress. Attached is a list of Committee members, along with a draft copy of the report.

The information provided should be passed to the Vice President for his perusal prior to the meeting.
