MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH:

DONALD RUMSFELD

FROM:

WILLIAM N. WALKER

SUBJECT:

Your Golf Date with Paul Fannin

Since the subject of my nomination may come up during your match with Senator Fannin, I thought you should know the current state of play.

- l. Jack Marsh's office counts eleven solid votes to support my nomination with two more very probables. Fannin is the only sure negative, and the other four are not yet committed.
- 2. There has been talk of a compromise which would approve Clayton Yeutter for the Geneva Deputy and me for the Washington Deputy. Marsh's office has been strongly negative about it. Among other things, it would represent a "conditional" confirmation which is beyond the authority of the Senate.
- 3. Senator Long proposed an understanding that Yeutter would begin in Geneva for some period of time. While rejecting this proposal, Marsh's office recognized the advantages of a face-saving step. Consequently, they have gone back with a proposal (copy attached) that would assure the Committee a) that I would not take over the Geneva negotiations immediately, b) that Fred Dent will represent United States at the next full negotiating committee meeting and c) that Dent will consult with the Congress as well as with you in assignments for the Deputies after the July meeting. This reflects what would have occured in any event, but it has apparently been well received by both Senator Long and Senator Curtis. Senator Long has also agreed to a vote on the nominations by the Finance Committee next week before the Senate goes out on recess.

My

- I. The series of working group and sub-working group meetings on procedures for future negotiations now underway in Geneva will be continued through early July. They will continue to be conducted by the staff specialists in the STR office. It is expected that the Special Trade Representative and his deputies will be in Geneva at times during that period.

  Ambassador Dent will continue to be responsible for coordinating these preliminary meetings and Mr. Walker will not be the sole spokesman or representative of the United States in the conduct of these sessions.
- II. There is a meeting of the full Trade Negotiating Committee in Geneva scheduled to begin on July 15. Ambassador Dent will represent the United States at this session.
- III. Thereafter, the Special Trade Representative and his deputies will assume responsibilities based upon the pace of negotiations in the MTN and other trade issues which may arise affecting the interests of the United States and based upon consultations with the liaison committees appointed by the Senate Finance Committee and House Committee on Ways and Means and the President.

FROM:

MAX L. FRIEDERSDORF

SUBJECT:

Letter from Senator Paul J. Fannin

Pursuant to a recent telephone conversation you had with the Senator, he has provided you with a list of names and qualifications of trade representatives from other countries with whom our Special Trade Representative and deputies will be dealing during the Geneva negotiations.

A routine acknowledgment, over my signature, has been sent to the Senator in which I indicated I would make certain you received this information without delay.

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

April 29, 1975

The President
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

The opportunity to talk with you on the telephone regarding the strip mining bill and the William Walker nomination was appreciated.

In accordance with our conversation, I am enclosing a list of names and qualifications of trade representatives from other countries with whom our Special Trade Representative and deputies will be dealing. On reviewing the credentials of these trade negotiators, it is my hope that you will understand why I am opposed to this nomination.

My conviction, which is shared by other members of the Finance Committee, is that the Office of the Special Trade Representative for Trade Negotiations must be led by highly qualified individuals. It appears essential to me that both the Special Trade Representative and the two deputies must have a working knowledge of our foreign trade laws as well as experience in negotiating with foreign nations.

The negotiations which have commenced in Geneva are projected to continue for as long as five years. Our negotiating team must be prepared to begin immediately to tackle the difficult procedural and substantive questions before the conference. It would be a disservice to the American people to confirm any individual as deputy if he required extensive on-the-job training.

I might add that every Senator who has been to Geneva concurs that presently we do not have topflight people to face the very able negotiators fielded by the foreign countries in attendance. Ambassador Dent was an excellent choice as Special Trade Representative, and I commend you for your nomination of Clayton Yeutter as deputy. Mr. Yeutter's experience in complex negotiations with foreign nations in agricultural matters will make him an invaluable asset to our negotiating team. Despite his consummate abilities, the Ambassador needs that kind of experienced assistance from his deputies. Bill Walker is simply not in a position to provide that assistance.

My very best personal regards.

Respectfully,

Paul Fannin

United States Senator
