TRANSPORTATION 1776-1976

Two hundred years ago, our nation's founders had but one mode of land transportation, animal power. They were not unduly concerned; that was good enough for their fathers, and had been since the time of Charlemagne, Caesar, and the carpenter from Nazareth.

What a comfortable vantage point is 1976 for viewing the dim and distant past!

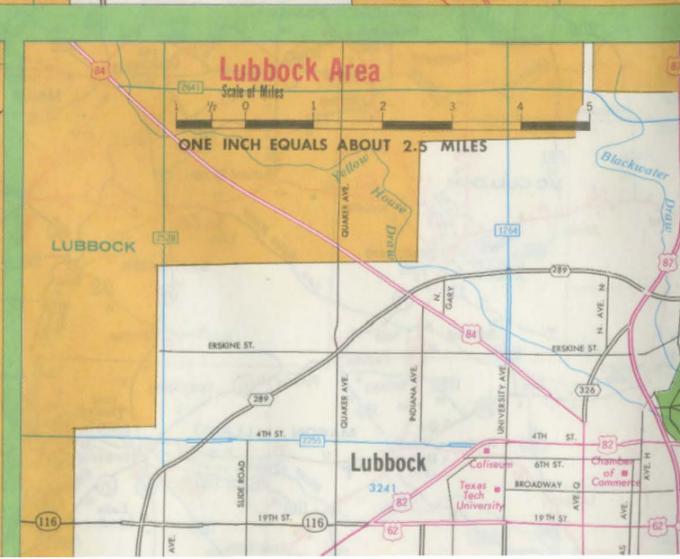

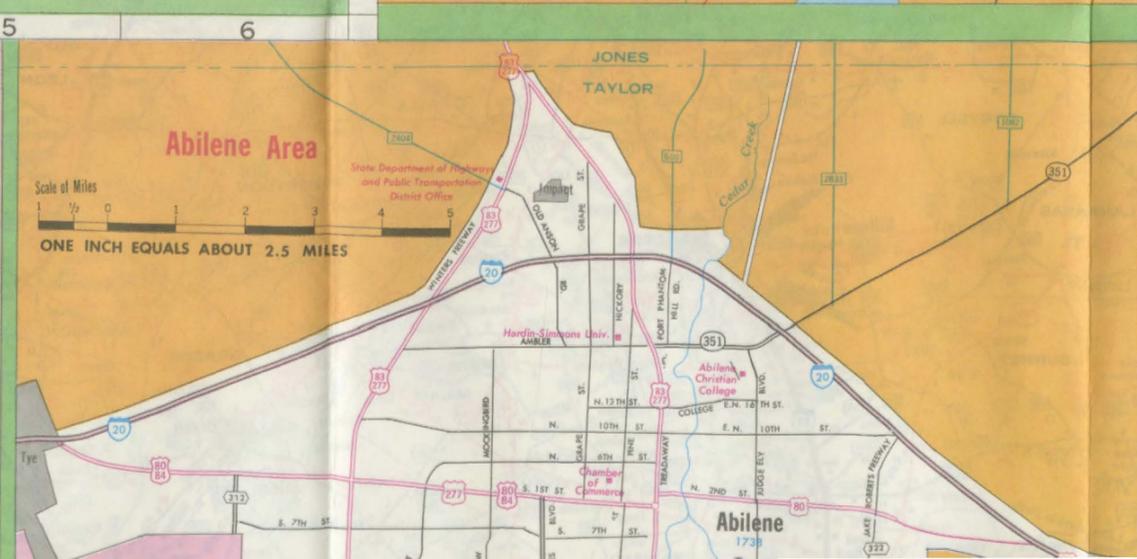

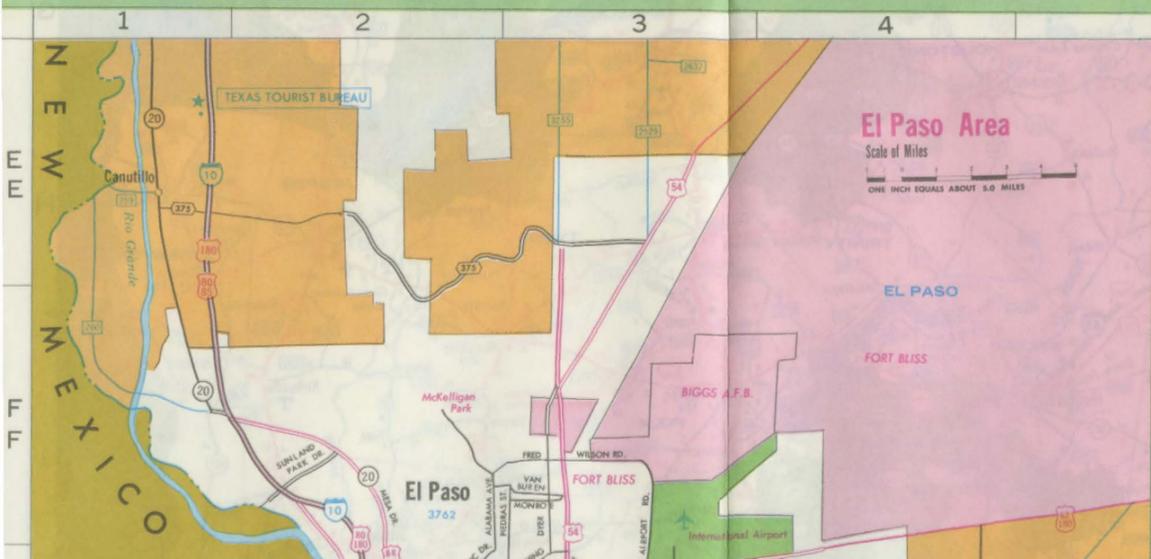

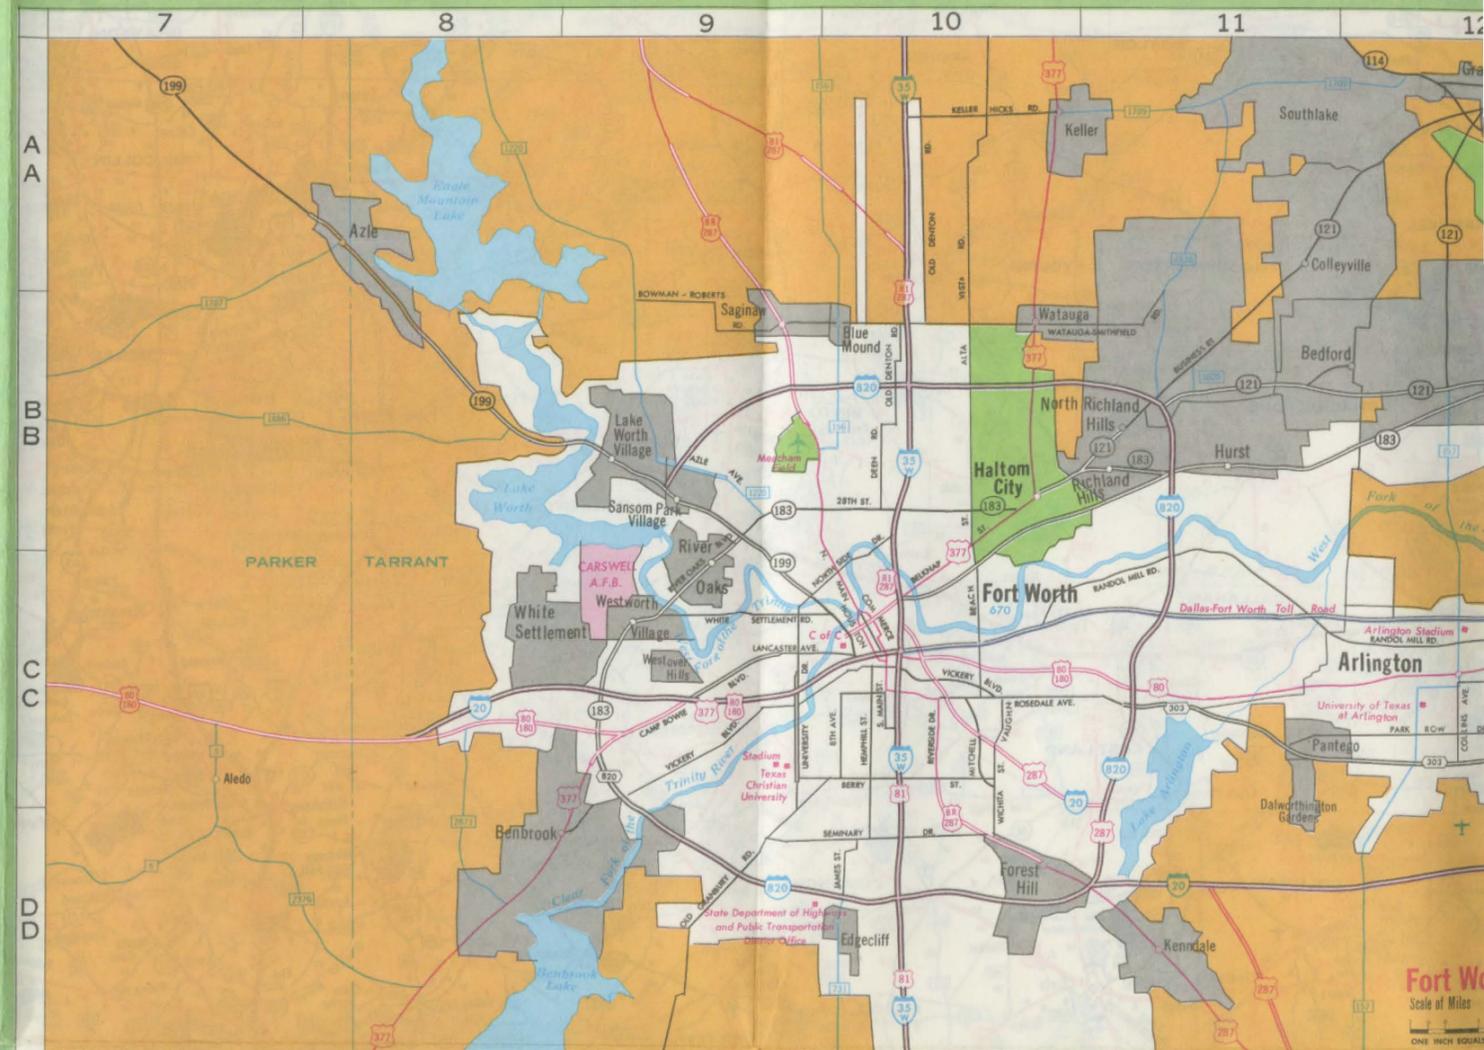

But don't be fooled. Transportation's past is barely yesterday. Still alive are thousands of Texans who remember only two modes of land transportation—that same animal power plus a primitive railroad.

Our modern age of mobility differs from the past not only in the number of innovations, but in their breathtaking rate of application and improvement. Consider the wheel, invented thousands of years BC; it wasn't very popular until the Romans began building roads. Then consider the airplane; in this age of moon missions pilots are still flying who were taught by Wilbur and Orville Wright!

Less than sixty years ago, Texas roads were still in the horse and buggy era. But since the 1917 organization of the Texas Highway Department, Texas motorists have come to accept as commonplace the world's finest highway system. Last year, the Department was delegated added responsibilities for all types of public transportation. The challenge is accepted with enthusiasm. The same leadership and expertise that got "the farmers out of the mud" will focus on new facets of public transportation for America's third century.

But the highways that have been the backbone of Texas' fantastic progress will not be neglected. Nor will the Department's commitment to provide travel information for every motorist—Texan and tourist, commuter, truck driver, outdoorsman—helping all to make the most of every mile.

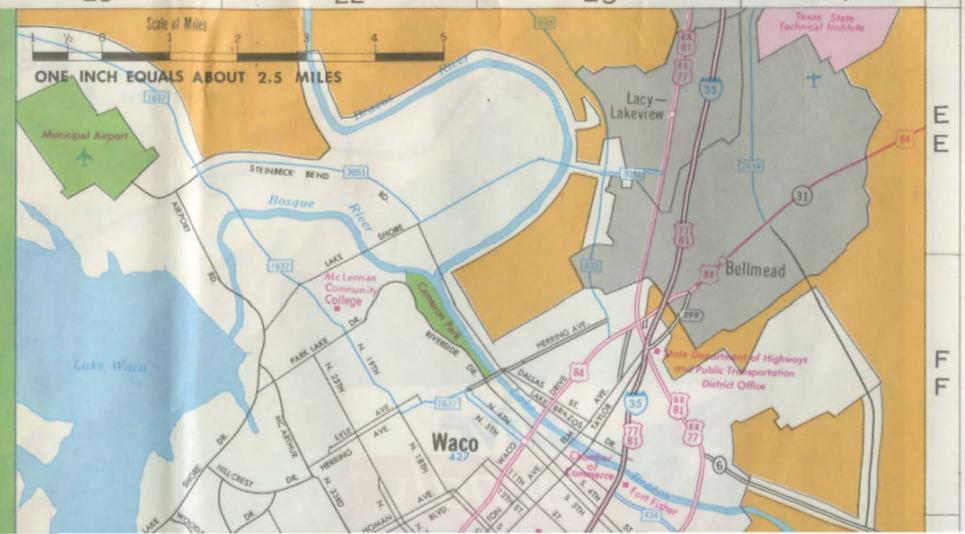

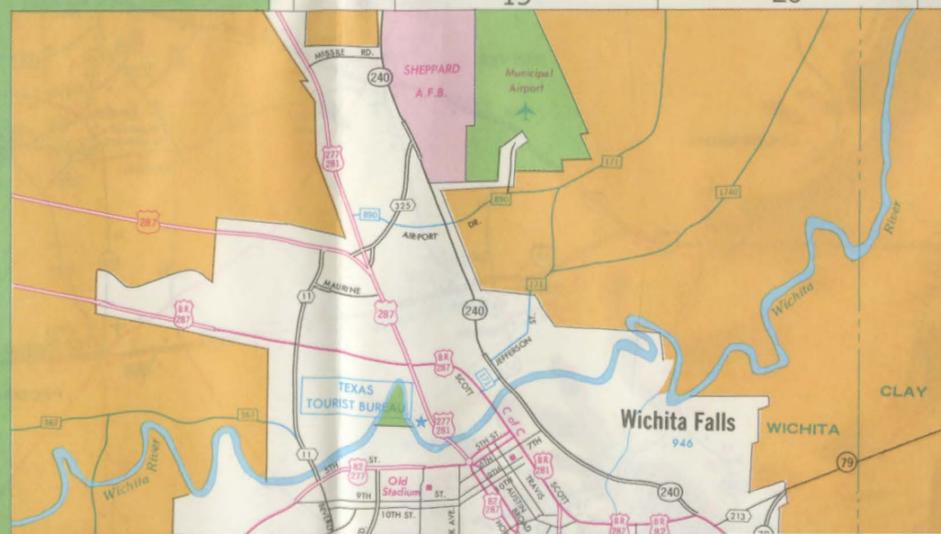

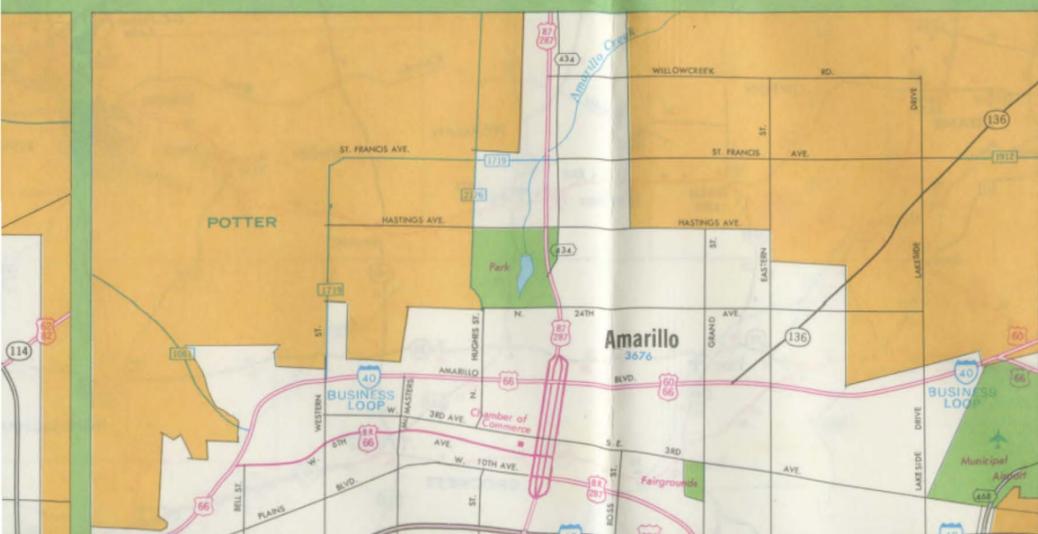

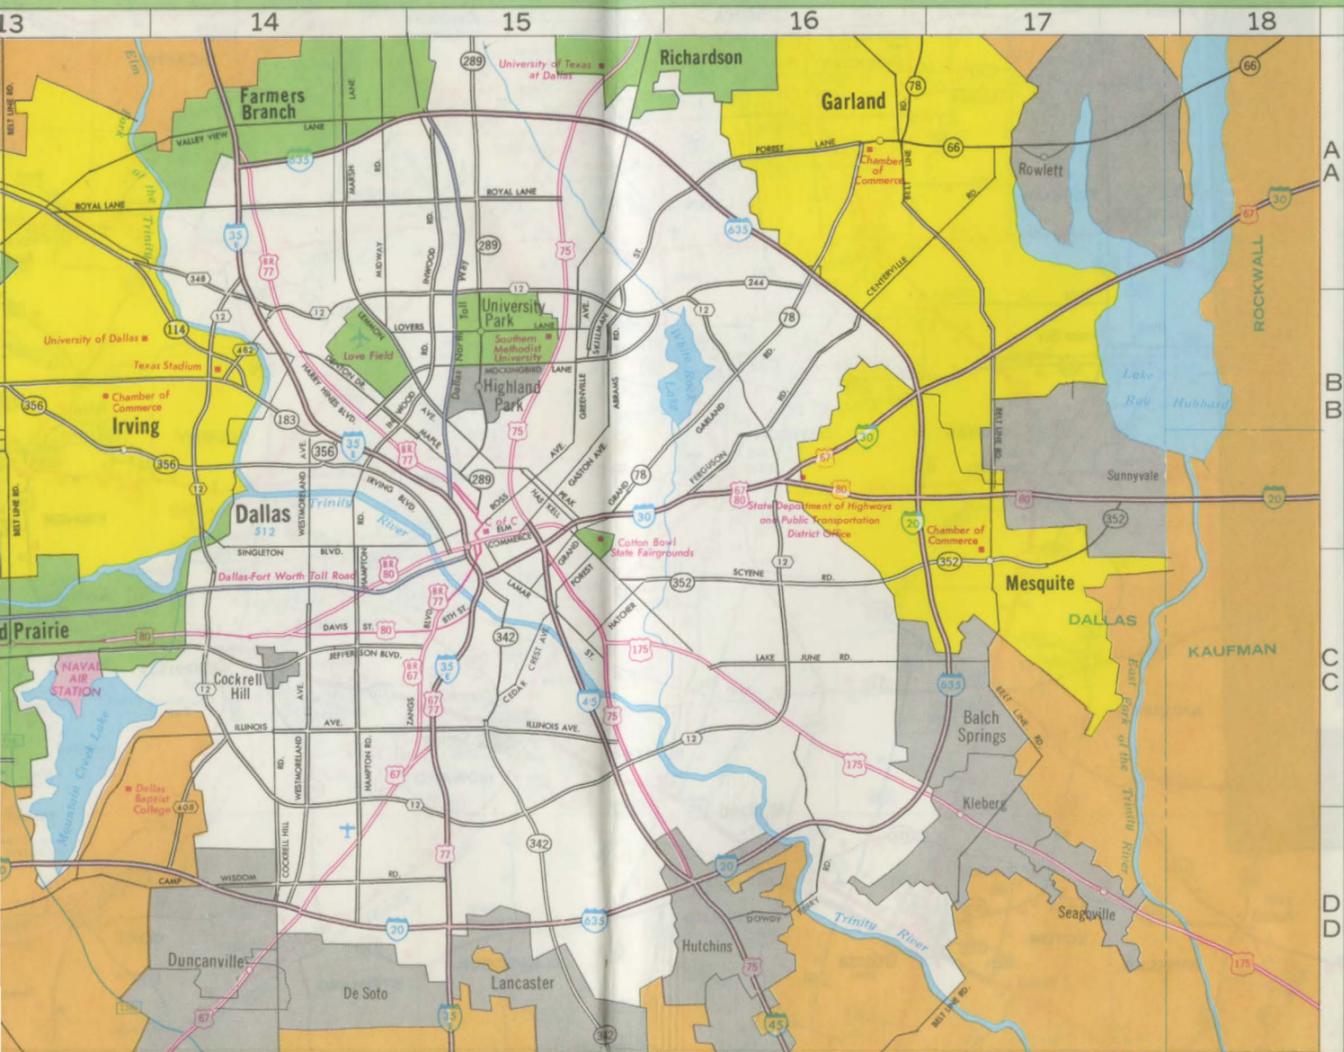

As America celebrates its Bicentennial, Texas transportation looks back on a history of outstanding progress, and forward to a future of unlimited promise!

The Official Highway Travel Map is published annually by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in the interest of the general public. Special efforts have been made in compiling data to show a maximum amount of information in the most legible manner.

All distances are listed to the nearest mile. The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation Official County Maps are available at Austin at a nominal cost and should be referred to for fractional mileage and other detailed information. As a rule, mileage between points is measured from a courthouse, post office, or center of the business district, but in some cases, a major traffic circle or junction is used. Red mileage figures are computed along the shortest highway routes between red triangles. The city insets are not intended to serve as detailed city maps but to assist cross-country motorists in traveling through these larger metropolitan areas.

Limited space necessitates omission of certain data, including some of the important smaller communities; however, villages located at junctions are listed, and all county seats are shown. Only those Farm and Ranch to Market roads that connect arterial highways and communities are shown. The major streams and public lakes of Texas are indicated. Elevations are listed for all county seats. The legend should be referred to and used as a key to the various symbols and information reflected on this map.

Individual Highway Department Official County Maps may be obtained at a nominal cost by writing to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, Transportation Planning Division, P.O. Box 5051, Austin, Texas 78763.

Tourist Information, descriptive literature, or specific data relative to the Highway System may be obtained by writing to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, Austin, Texas 78763 or to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation District Offices listed below.

COVER
OLD STAGECOACH OF THE PLAINS
Frederic Remington

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation wishes to thank The Amon Carter Museum of Western Art in Fort Worth for permission to reproduce the cover painting. Remington depicted the travel scene for the frontispiece of the old Century Magazine, January issue, 1902. Compared to highway networks of today, the picture is a vivid reminder of progress achieved in travel modes during a short span of years.

It's true.

Talk about contrast, this is it!

From Judge Roy Bean to moon men.

From lush woodlands to stark desert.

From sparkling surf to mile-high mountains.

And lots more in between.

One nice thing about a land of contrast

(besides all the pleasant surprises)

there's enough variety so you can pick just what appeals to you.

Sort of tailor-make your own vacation.

Texas has got it all together!

how to use this book

Because of Texas' diversity and almost overwhelming size, this book presents the state in 10 regions as illustrated below. Those regional names are the first 10 listings in the Table of Contents to the right. To facilitate finding descriptions of the regions, flex the edge of the book so that corresponding color bars become visible.

Each region is introduced by a detailed section map. Attractions and points of interest are listed under the city where they are located; cities are arranged in alphabetical order. Public campgrounds are listed at the end of each regional section.

The map on page 204 joins all the regions, and shows major highways, cities and towns. For a complete state driving map, refer to the Official Highway Travel Map available free from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Note that the Table of Contents also lists several special interest sections toward the end of the book. Those sections give capsule information on such subjects as state parks, national forests and major events.

Highway designations in the book include I.H. for Interstate highways, U.S. for U.S. highways, Texas for state highways, and F.M. or R.M. for Texas Farm or Ranch Roads. All F.M. and R.M. roads are part of the state highway system, and are fine paved routes.

This book does not list auto services, accommodations or restaurants because many commercial guides are available on those subjects.

vibrant gateway

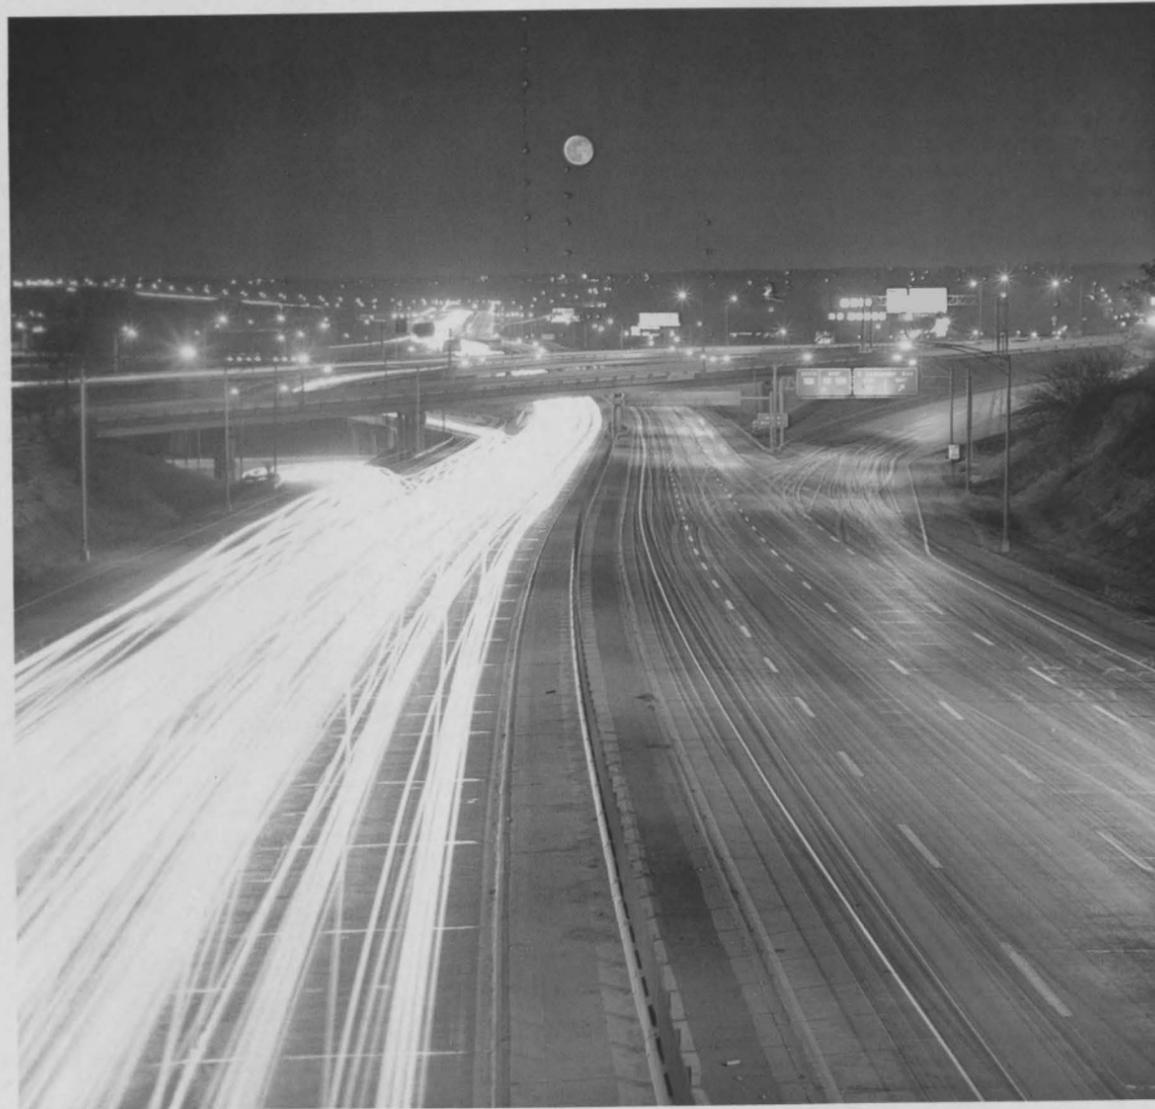

Linking pines of the east to grazing plains of the west, the Vibrant Gateway combines spirited accents of both—an appropriate introduction to Texas!

The region has always been a gateway. Longhorns streamed up the old Chisholm Trail. New settlers poured down it. Today, Interstate 35 parallels the historic route; other super highways slice the area from all directions; and soaring cities have grown from riotous trail towns.

Footlights glow—a symphony conductor lifts his baton—“Big Tex” booms welcome at the nation’s largest state fair—thousands cheer sport spectacles—yellow flames flicker from shish kebab.

Here’s the up-tempo pulse of Texas, yet there’s relaxation too. Campgrounds edge blue lakes amid green woodlands. Children pause in wonder at footprints of dinosaurs who roamed this land a hundred million years ago.

ARLINGTON Grid F-13 Pop. 90,643 Alt. 616

General — Established as Johnson's Station 1843, grew slowly as livestock and dairy center. Population and business experienced remarkable gain after World War II. Great Southwest Industrial Park covering 6,600 acres headquartered here; local Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac plant offers tours except during model change-over period.

Arlington Baptist School — Formerly Bible Baptist Seminary; founded 1939 by Fundamental Baptists of Fort Worth. Coed; about 350 students.

Lake — Arlington. See LAKES this section.

Parks — Several municipal swimming pools, 12 wooded parks and six municipal golf courses.

Seven Seas Sea-Life Park — Seven seas of the world provide the theme; dolphins, sea lions, penguins, a roly-poly elephant seal and a giant killer whale provide the entertainment. The separate areas are the Arctic Ocean, Mediterranean Sea, Indian Ocean, Sea of Cortez, Sea of Japan, South Seas and the Caribbean. Exotic birds, other sea life on display; replica of 18th Century pirate ship; sea food restaurant. Open weekends mid-March through May, 10 a.m. — 7 p.m.; daily June through Aug. 10 a.m. — 6 p.m. One ticket for all attractions and shows. On Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike midway between the cities.

Six Flags Over Texas — Huge recreational/entertainment park, one of Texas' most popular commercial tourist attractions drawing several million visitors annually. A land of history and fantasy, the six sections of the park devoted to Texas' colorful past under the flags of Spain, France, Mexico, the Republic, the Confederacy and the United States. Thrilling rides for all ages, Indian ceremonies, pirate island, frontier gunfights, riverboat excursions and a fascinating spelunkers cave, as well as food, refreshments and staged entertainment. Open Fri. - Sat. - Sun. from late Apr. through May; then daily through Labor Day; then weekends only through Nov. Single-price admission for all rides and shows in the park. On Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike midway between the two cities.

DALLAS Grid F-13 Pop. 844,401 Alt. 512

General — First Anglo-American habitation at site of present metropolis was a single settler's cabin built 1841. Two years later "town" consisted of two log cabins. By mid-1870s, Dallas had become a thriving business town and market center with a cosmopolitan, urbane air unmatched anywhere on the frontier at the time, primarily because of several immigrations of skilled and cultured groups of French, German, Swiss, English and other Europeans.

Today Dallas, second in size to Houston, is regarded by many as Texas' most metropolitan and cosmopolitan city. Southwest's largest banking center, leader in wholesale business, home of more insurance companies than any other city in the nation, among leaders in "million dollar" companies, and one of nation's top three fashion markets.

Citizens pursue culture with almost as much enthusiasm as business, resulting in endless attractions from which, any day or night of the year, one may choose from an amazing variety. Excellent major symphony orchestra and a steady stream of visiting groups: opera and ballet, theatre and musical comedy, literary societies and debating groups. Visit flower shows, horse shows, art shows, bird shows, dog shows and cat shows. Noted for a variety of gourmet dining opportunities.

Finally, an excellent climate where fair skies predominate year-round encourages outdoor activities, especially water sports.

Less than 50 years after an Italian explorer proved the world was round, a Spanish explorer discovered the immense, astounding flatness of the Texas High Plains. Across an endless sea of stirrup-high grass Coronado searched for the seven golden cities of Cibola.

Here proud plains warriors once followed vast herds of buffalo. Here the cowboy came into his own, and ranches of empire size spread over millions of acres.

But not all of the High Plains region is flat. Contrast is vivid when the tableland splits, tumbling in jagged riots of color to canyon floors a thousand feet below.

Here you will discover scenic panoramas unsurpassed throughout Texas—museums dedicated to the Old West as it really was—Texas' largest state park—sparkling clean, new cities—and a wealth of fun and festivals in the best traditions of the friendly Southwest.

More than 480,000 cattle move through the auction ring at Western Stockyards each year, bringing over $60 million. Auctions held 2-3 days a week, 9 a.m. - 7 p.m. East 3rd and Grant Sts.

BORGER Grid B-7 Pop. 14,195 Alt. 3,116

General — Established following discovery of rich Panhandle Oil Field in 1926. In months a boom town of tents and shacks sprang up, and population numbered more than 40,000. Orderly growth soon replaced the ribald oil boom days, and now Borger is a center for oil, chemicals, and cattle. Tanks and towers of oil and petrochemical plants dominate the skyline. Products include gasoline, natural and LP gas, butadiene (for tough synthetic rubber), copolymer plastics and carbon black.

Major Events — Junior Stock Show, two days in Jan., exhibits prize livestock raised by youngsters.

Borger Birthday is observed by city on Mar. 8.

Boat Show, two days in Mar., attests to popularity of water sports on Lake Meredith.

Hutchinson County Junior Rodeo, three days in June, features youngsters competing in rough rodeo events.

Lake Meredith Festival, three days in June, includes the "world's largest fish fry," Miss Lake Meredith contest, boat and dog shows, a fishing "rodeo," water sports and entertainment.

Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico Senior Golf Tournament, five days in Aug., attracts golfers over 55 years of age.

Battle of Adobe Walls — Site of two Indian battles. (See STINNETT this section.)

City Parks — 16 parks offer extensive picnic facilities, tennis courts, sports fields, playground equipment, swimming pools and an 18-hole golf course.

Frank Phillips College — Coed junior college established 1948. Located on a pleasant campus southwest of downtown on Texas 136; enrolls some 750 students.

Lake — Meredith. See LAKES this section.

Scenic Drive — A 25-mile loop west and north to Stinnett crosses rough, canyon-cut landscapes of the Canadian River breaks, leads across dam impounding Lake Meredith. Texas 136 west, F.M. 1319 and F.M. 687 north.

BROWNFIELD Grid E-6 Pop. 9,647 Alt. 3,312

General — Called Queen City of the South Plains; situated at intersection of five highway routes, seat and only incorporated town in Terry County. A commercial center for a crop, livestock, and oil area; industries include cottonseed oil, chemical spray and feedstuff.

Major Events — Amateur Radio Operators Swapfest, one day in Oct., attracts a crowd of "ham" operators.

Harvest Festival, also one day in Oct., pays tribute to agricultural bounty of the area.

Coleman Park — 44-acre recreation site offers picnicking, swimming pool, playground and travel trailer campsites available free for up to four days. South city limits along U.S. 62/385.

CANADIAN Grid A-8 Pop. 2,292 Alt. 2,339

General — Became county seat when Hemphill County organized in 1887. Name derived from location on the Canadian River; "canada" is Spanish word meaning narrow valley or canyon. Chief commercial center of the county which derives much of its income from ranching.

Major Events — Annual 4th of July Rodeo, one of first in area, held 1888 on town's main street. Now includes several days of entertainment, quarter horse show, parade, old-timers' reunion and other events.

PALO DURO CANYON

"TEXAS" DRAMA UNDER THE STARS. PIONEER AMPHITHEATRE

Autumn Foliage Tour through multicolored landscapes attracts visitors from wide area. Usually second week in Oct.

Hemphill County Pioneer Museum — Country store, old barber shop, sheriff's office, old guns, pictures, clothing, covered wagon, cowboy's working gear such as saddles, branding irons, spurs, bits. Open Mon. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sun. 1 - 5 p.m. Old Woody Hotel, U.S. 60/83 at Main St.

Lake — Marvin. See LAKES this section.

CANYON Grid C-7 Pop. 8,333 Alt. 3,566

General — Originated 1878 as headquarters for huge T Anchor Ranch; seat of Randall County and tourist gateway to spectacular Palo Duro Canyon State Park (see below).

Buffalo Lake Natl. Wildlife Refuge — See LAKES this section.

Canyon Pioneer Amphitheatre — Setting for "TEXAS," spectacular outdoor drama presented nightly except Sundays from late June through late August. Located in Palo Duro Canyon State Park, backdropped by 600-foot cliff. Cowboys, Indians and settlers perform on huge stage; stereo music echoes through the canyon. Showtime 8:45 p.m. CDT. Separate admissions park and show, but no park admission required after 6 p.m. for showgoers. All seats reserved Fri. and Sat., advance reservations recommended at other times. Canyon nights are cool even in mid-summer, and a wrap is recommended. Tickets available at gate, also at "TEXAS" office, 2010 4th Ave. (Texas 217) in Canyon, and at Cooper and Melin's Wolfliin Village, Amarillo.

Lake — Buffalo. See LAKES this section.

Palo Duro Canyon State Park — Texas' largest state park, 15,103-acres amid scenic landscape of Palo Duro Canyon. On the tabletop expanse of the Texas High Plains, a branch of the Red River has carved the incredible spires and pinnacles of Palo Duro. Walls plunge a thousand feet to the canyon floor, exposing brilliant multicolored strata. Camping, picnicking, rest rooms and showers, horseback riding, hiking trails, miniature train ride, souvenir shop, lunches, and amphitheatre where shows are staged during the summer season. About 12 miles east via Texas 217 and Park Road 5. Admission.

Within park is an historical marker citing the last great Indian battle in Texas. On a sweep across the High Plains in 1874, the famous Col. Ranald S. Mackenzie, leading troops of the 4th Cavalry from Fort Richardson (see JACKSBORO, Rolling Prairies section), discovered a huge camp of Comanches in the canyon. The Indians had broken from their reservations and were menacing a wide area. Achieving surprise, the village was quickly overrun and some 1,400 horses captured. The Indians fled to strong points in the canyon. In a master stroke of tactics Mackenzie did not try to dislodge the Indians, but burned the village and slaughtered most of the horses. Without shelter, provisions or the vital mobility of their horses, the proud plains warriors had no choice but to plod back to their reservations in Oklahoma.

Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum — On campus of West Texas University; honors pioneers of Texas' colorful past. Entrance doors ornamented with historic brands; fascinating Old West exhibits include chuck wagon, extensive gun collection, prehistoric fossils and wildlife. Other collections show prehistoric Indian cultures, archeology and the Frank Reaugh Collection of Southwestern Art. Open Mon. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Sun. and holidays (except Dec. 25), 2 - 6 p.m.

West Texas State University — Established 1910, coed, enrolls more than 7,200. Downtown, U.S. 87 at Texas 217.

CHILDRESS Grid D-9 Pop. 5,408 Alt. 1,877

General — Seat of Childress County named for George Campbell Childress, author of Texas Declaration of Independence. Located on the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad, has railroad shops, wholesale companies and district office of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Major Events — Childress County Old Settlers' Reunion, three days Jul. Held more than 80 years, features nightly rodeo.

Greenbelt Bowl Football Classic, one evening in Aug. Gridiron clash between Texas-Oklahoma high school all-stars.

Childress City Park — In addition to lake and a zoo, park has an historical marker for the Goodnight Trail, an extension of the famed Goodnight-Loving Trail over which many herds of cattle trekked to market.

Lake — Childress (incl. Lake Baylor). See LAKES this section.

CLARENDON Grid C-8 Pop. 1,974 Alt. 2,727

General — Seat of Donley County, commercial center with cotton gins and chicken hatcheries. Original town established 1878 by Methodist minister who brought group of colonists; settled six miles north of present location, later moved to be on the railroad. Original townsite now inundated by Greenbelt Lake. Old cemetery relocated (south on Texas 70) with same fencing, buildings, and graves of early settlers.

Major Event — Clarendon July 4th Celebration, in the fashion of earlier eras. Three days include a quarter horse show, parade, kid's turtle race, old settlers' reunion, free barbecue and fiddlers' contest. Rodeo each night is followed by a Western dance.

Clarendon Junior College — Established 1897 as a church school, became municipal junior college in 1927. Coed, enrollment of more than 400 students.

Lakes — Greenbelt and McClellan. See LAKES this section.

Scenic Drive — Skirts the Cap Rock (edge of the High Plains), and ascends to surface of the plains at Silverton. Rugged, broken canyon country. Texas 70 south, Texas 256 west, 53 miles.

Stocking's Drug Store — A true "drug" store — it doesn't have a fountain — established 1885, said to be oldest in the Panhandle.

CLAUDE Grid C-7 Pop. 992 Alt. 3,397

General — Like many Texas towns, a railroad genesis; established as stop on Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad in 1887. Today the seat of Armstrong County. Grain elevators and stockyards indicate role as major shipping point for surrounding agricultural activities.

Scenic Drive — One of the most impressive drives in the state is Texas 207 south toward Silverton. For miles agricultural riches spread from horizon to horizon, then the highway plunges into scenic grandeur at Palo Duro Canyon. Descend at a moderate speed, both for safety and to absorb beauty that unfolds in a riot of colors. In the nine-mile-wide canyon (which extends a hundred miles from northwest to southeast) is the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River, a seemingly insignificant stream to have carved such an immense gash in the plains.

Farther south the highway drops into another beautiful gorge, Tule Canyon. More varieties of rock strata are visible, and some magnificent sheer-faced, knife-edged buttes.

CROSBYTON Grid E-7 Pop. 2,251 Alt. 3,300

General — Seat of Crosby County located near Blanco Canyon, scenic spot for the entire South Plains area. Founded by a livestock company; town lot sale Feb. 1908. Commercial center for farming and livestock area, and market for cotton, grain sorghums, wheat and cattle.

Blanco Canyon Roadside Park — One of the finest roadside parks on the Texas Highway System, about four miles east on U.S. 82, where the White River crosses the route. Picnic tables, scenic views of rolling canyon features, plus intriguing hiking paths along the river.

Lake — White River Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

Pioneer Memorial Museum — Main collection housed in Crosby County Pioneer Memorial Building, a replica of Hank Smith rock house, first home in the county. Indian artifacts and pioneer relics. Additional collection in barn across street shows early agricultural equipment. Open Tues. - Sat. 9 a.m. - noon, 2 - 5 p.m.; Sun. 2 - 4 p.m. Downtown on U.S. 82.

DALHART Grid A-6 Pop. 5,705 Alt. 3,985

General — Seat of Dallam County, also extending into adjacent Hartley County. First called Twist, designation of a nearby railroad section house. Present name combines the first syllables of the two counties. Serves as a shipping point for cattle, grains, and other agricultural products.

Major Events — XIT Rodeo and Reunion, three days early Aug. Famed XIT was world's largest ranch under fence in the 1880s — some three million acres. Sold into smaller farms and ranches until now there is less than two per cent of the original acreage. Old XIT hands gather to reminisce and enjoy events including parades, antique car, coin, and gun shows, pony express races, dances, free watermelon and barbecue, plus the rodeo.

Inter-State Fair, three days late Sept., features traditional agricultural and livestock exhibits, competition and old-fashioned fun.

Empty Saddle Monument — A favorite photo subject, monument stands at north end of Dalhart's V-shaped underpass. Designed by a cowboy after a widow asked that a horse bearing an empty saddle appear in the annual reunion parade in tribute to her husband, a former XIT Ranch cowpoke.

Lake — Rita Blanca. See LAKES this section.

XIT City Museum — Historic displays show development of the area, stuffed animals, wagons, other relics. Open daily, 8 a.m. - 6 p.m. Located at Rita Blanca Lake Park Cafe, two miles south on Main Lake Road in Rita Blanca Lake Park.

XIT Ranch — The State of Texas, richer in land than cash, granted 3,050,000 acres of land in 1882 to a Chicago corporation for construction of the state capitol. That land became the XIT, world's largest ranch under fence. An English company, the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company of London, operated the immense spread which covered parts of nine present counties. The north fence was 200 miles from the south fence, and it was 27 miles from east to west. The initial stocking herd of cattle numbered 110,721 head. Over the years XIT lands have been sold to "smaller" operators, some of whom control 100,000 acres or more. Today less than 60,000 acres of the original lands remain under the XIT brand. (See Major Events above.)

DICKENS Grid E-8 Pop. 295 Alt. 2,468

General — Seat of Dickens County, retail center for a large ranching area. Located about eight miles below the escarpment of the Cap Rock (High Plains), first settlements grew from dug-out line camps used by cowboys of the famous Spur, Pitchfork and Matador Ranches. MULESHOE Grid D-6 Pop. 4,525 Alt. 3,769

General — Seat of Bailey County, long a sparsely settled area of huge cattle ranches. Early in the 20th Century the immense ranches began to break up, and farming was introduced to this area of the High Plains. Town organized in 1926, named for the muleshoe brand of a famous early ranch. Today a center for marketing and shipping of High Plains agricultural products.

Major Events — Bailey County Junior Livestock Show, three days in Feb.

July 4th Celebration features a variety of traditional patriotic festivities, plus the World Championship Muleshoe Pitching Contest.

Christmas Parade and Tree Lighting Ceremony shortly after Thanksgiving opens the holiday season.

Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge — Founded 1935, the oldest national wildlife refuge in Texas. Established principally for migratory waterfowl, also home of native wildlife. Three small rainwater lakes, unusual features on the plains, attract the birds. Hunting is prohibited, but photography permitted. Among species wintering here is nation's largest concentration of sandhill cranes. Greatest numbers of waterfowl may usually be seen between late Aug. and Mar.; colony of prairie dogs are along the entrance road. Open daylight hours. About 20 miles south on Texas 214.

NATIONAL MULE MEMORIAL, MULESHOE

SQUARE HOUSE MUSEUM, PANHANDLE

National Mule Memorial — What better place for a monument to mules than this uniquely named town? Mules pulled the covered wagons west, plowed the first sod for pioneers, hauled freight, built the first railroads and highways. With rapid disappearance of mules from the American scene in recent decades, a group of Texas citizens determined to erect a memorial to those unsung beasts. Donations for the monument were received from throughout the nation; in fact, a gift of 21 cents was sent by a mule driver from Samarkand, Uzbekistan, Russia. The memorial was unveiled on July 4, 1965. It is located near the intersection of U.S. 70/84 in downtown Muleshoe.

PAMPA Grid B-8 Pop. 21,726 Alt. 3,234

General — Seat of Gray County founded 1888 on the Santa Fe Railroad, named from Spanish word "pampas" meaning plains. Today a city of beautiful churches, large parks and fine homes. Scenic Drive — F.M. 293 west to Texas 136 north provides views of modern High Plains agriculture contrasted with traditional ranch lands unchanged for centuries. Precise row crops are left behind as route enters rolling grasslands of broad Canadian River valley. Fascinating historical marker beside Texas 136 some 10 miles north of F.M. 293; marks portion of trail which wound from Fort Smith, Ark. to Santa Fe, N. Mex. Though now covered by grass, wagon ruts are still visible. Texas 136 leads north to Lake Meredith and popular federal recreation areas around it (see LAKES this section).

Square House Museum — One of the most attractive small museums in the state. Guided lectures available through displays interpreting early Indian culture, days of immense cattle ranches, buffalo hunters, discovery of oil, and today's diversified agricultural and industrial aspects. Also an antique chuck wagon, old Santa Fe Railroad caboose, buggies, ranch implements.

COWBOYS STILL PLY THEIR TIMELESS SKILLS

Housed in historic "Square House," oldest structure in town. On grounds is reconstructed half-dugout furnished in pioneer style; typical of first shelters built by pioneer plainsmen in area where both lumber and stone were scarce and costly. Open daily. Pioneer Park on Texas 207.

Thomas Cree's Little Tree — Set behind protective fence at south edge of U.S. 60 about five miles southwest of city is the first tree planted throughout the entire Texas Panhandle. Immense plains were once a sea of grass from horizon to horizon. In 1888 pioneer settler Thomas Cree hauled a sapling of bois d'arc from beyond the Cap Rock, and planted it by his dugout home. Cree is long gone, but the tree thrived until 1969 when accidentally killed by an agricultural chemical. Natural seedlings from the original tree are growing today. Site is marked by an Official State Historical Marker dedicated by the governor of Texas in 1963, and by a medallion from the National Men's Garden Clubs of America.

PERRYTON Grid A-8 Pop. 7,810 Alt. 2,942

Spearman Parade of Homes, one day mid-Dec.

Battle of Adobe Walls — Site of two Indian battles. (See STINNETT this section.)

Rolling Plains Mule Train Association — Group of area residents who maintain mule teams and covered wagons; assemble several times a year for old-fashioned wagon trail rides across the plains. Trips range from local parades and overnight campouts to week-long treks of 60 miles or more.

STINNETT Grid A-7 Pop. 2,014 Alt. 3,173

General — Established 1901, a trade center and livestock shipping point at north edge of the Canadian River Valley which cuts a broad swath through the High Plains of the Texas Panhandle.

Battle of Adobe Walls — Site where two famous Indian battles were fought. Col. Kit Carson (in his last fight) and his U.S. troops in 1864 narrowly escaped defeat by Kiowa and Comanche Indians who had been molesting wagon trains and settlers. Ten years later, in 1874, Indians under Quanah Parker attacked a buffalo hunters camp at the second battle of Adobe Walls near the first site. A fierce dawn attack opened the siege, and though the Indians were repulsed, the small party of hunters was surrounded, and it seemed only a matter of time before the superior number of Indians would prevail. On the second day a group of Cheyenne appeared on a high mesa overlooking the camp, setting the stage for William (Billy) Dixon's famous shot. From within the stockade he shot an Indian from his horse at a distance approaching seven-eighths of a mile! The Indians were so shocked at the white man's shooting ability that they staged only desultory attacks thereafter, and soon withdrew. Site is some 18 miles northeast of Stinnett on private ranch lands off highways; not readily accessible. Local directions and permission required. Historical markers at site.

Isaac McCormick Pioneer Cottage — Restored home of the area's first settler, built 1899. Furnished in pioneer style displaying artifacts from the 1890s. Inquire locally for hours open. On the town square.

Lake — Meredith/Sanford Recreation Area. See LAKES this section.

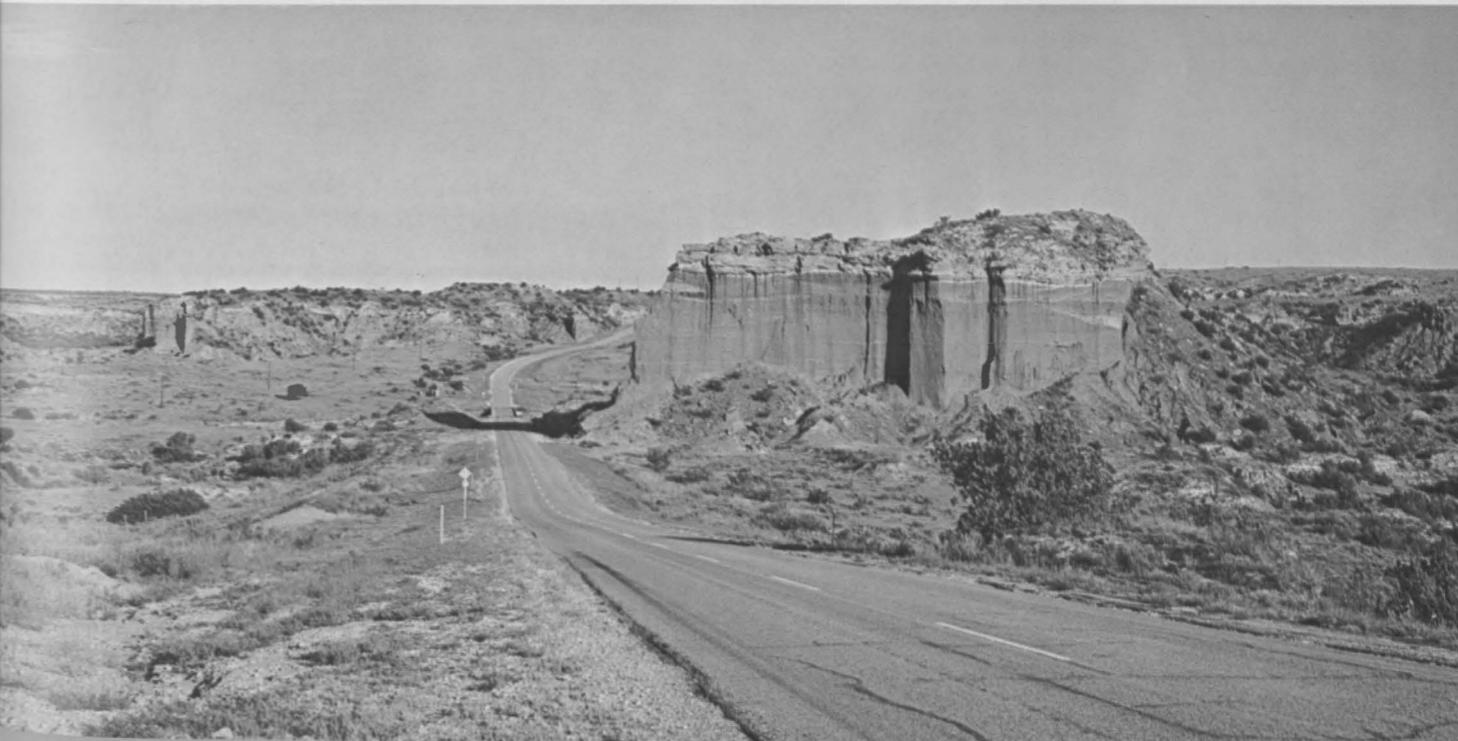

Scenic Drive — A 25-mile loop south and east to Borger crosses rough, canyon-cut landscapes of the Canadian River breaks, and leads across the dam impounding Lake Meredith. South on F.M. 687, F.M. 1319, and east on Texas 136.

point for several big Texas ranches, including the LIT and XIT spreads. In 1876 a blacksmith shop, general store, and saloon were established. When Oldham County was organized in 1880, Tascosa became county seat—and "Cowboy Capital of the Plains." The famous and infamous—from Kit Carson to Billy the Kid—once strode the wooden sidewalks. Bypassed by the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad, the town declined steadily; site was deserted by 1939.

In June 1939, Cal Farley established a ranch for homeless youngsters at the old courthouse and townsite (see below). Newer Tascosa, on the railroad, is a small supply point for an agricultural and ranching area.

Major Event—Boys Ranch Rodeo presents school-age cowboys in arena action during two days in late Aug. or early Sept. Ranch located north of the Canadian River on U.S. 385.

Boot Hill Cemetery—When Tascosa was the wide-open, riotous cowboy capital of the 1880s, gunfights were the traditional means for settling quarrels, and the Boot Hill Cemetery was an essential part of the town. Today the cemetery is maintained by Boys Ranch, U.S. 385.

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch—A highly successful home for homeless boys, the ranch was established in 1939 by the late Cal Farley, North Texas businessman who dominated the sport of welterweight wrestling in the 1920s.

The first Boys Ranch building was the renovated courthouse of Old Tascosa.

The physical plant today consists of more than 30 buildings and some 1,010 acres of land on the headquarters spread, plus 9,000 acres in nearby parcels. Most of the land, structures and operating equipment have been donated outright by individuals, civic clubs and church groups.

Current population is more than 300 boys who operate the ranch, attend school and vocational training, and participate in a wide variety of sporting activities. Though more than 40 per cent of the boys were in serious trouble with the law before coming to Boys Ranch, about 95 per cent stay and "graduate" from the ranch, entering the adult world as useful, self-reliant citizens. J. Edgar Hoover has called Boys Ranch a blueprint for the prevention of crime. Visitors always welcome.

Julian Bivins Museum—Items and artifacts pertaining to pioneer early Indian and prehistoric cultures of the Panhandle; housed in the old courthouse on Boys Ranch (see above). Also photographs and documents relating to Boys Ranch history. Open daily 10 a.m.-5 p.m. May-Aug; by appointment Oct.-Apr.

TULIA Grid C-7 Pop. 5,294 Alt. 3,500

General—Designated county seat when Swisher County was organized in 1890. Today a commercial center for diversified farming area featuring cotton, grain storage, livestock marketing and farm-ranch agribusiness.

Major Events—Annual Picnic Celebration and Rodeo mid-July includes an "old-timers" reunion.

Swisher County Fair in Aug. features prize livestock, produce and traditional entertainment in the old-fashioned style.

Swisher County Historical Museum—Pioneer and Indian relics including cooking utensils, dishes, photographs, paintings, Bibles, saddles, guns, plus historical papers and documents, log cabin and windmill. Open Sun. 2-5 p.m. Located on S. Bowie St. one block south of Texas 86.

WELLINGTON Grid C-9 Pop. 2,884 Alt. 2,000

General—Seat of Collingsworth County named for the Duke of Wellington. Before 1890 it was one of the estates on the Rocking Chair Ranch which was known to Texas cowboys as the "Nobility Ranch" because of ownership by the Baron of Tweedmouth (Sir Dudley Coutts Majoribanks) and the Earl of Aberdeen (John Campbell Hamilton Golden). Economy based upon grain elevators, gins, cotton compress, and small manufacturing plants.

Recreational Sites—Picnic areas and hiking paths along the Salt Fork of the Red River at each of the three bridges near town. Indian artifacts often found in the area; U.S. 83 bridge north, F.M. 1547 bridge northwest, and Texas 203 bridge east.

WHEELER Grid B-9 Pop. 1,116 Alt. 2,500

General—Post office established when area became "thick settled" by five families living in dugouts within two-mile radius. Town became seat of Wheeler County 1906.

Wheeler County Museum—Items of historical interest from county displayed in old jail, built 1908. Open Mon., Wed., Sat. 1-5 p.m. Texas St.

campground guide

In every season the camping's great in Texas! Sites listed below are administered by local, state and federal agencies. Not included are commercial camps whose listings are usually available in commercial guides. Camps are listed under nearby city name; driving directions are provided to each. The grid letter and number by each city name correspond to the camp's location on the sectional map for this region.

Directions are by standard compass abbreviations: N (north), NE (northeast), E (east), SE (southeast), S (south), SW (southwest), W (west), NW (northwest). Highways are indicated by standard abbreviations: IH=Interstate Highways, shown on maps as 35. US=U. S. Highways, shown on maps as 80. Tex=Texas State Highways, shown on maps as 21. FM or F=Texas Farm or Ranch Roads (all are excellent paved routes), shown on maps as 920.

Unless otherwise noted, drinking water is available; the facility is open year round; showers are "hot," and tent and wheeled campers can use the camping area.

Here's a many-faceted area of Texas, scrubbed by frothy surf from the Gulf of Mexico, mellowed by centuries of extravagant history, throbbing with the pulse of today ... and tomorrow.

Take Houston, the nation's sixth largest city. Home of astronauts and Mission Control. Home of the Astrodome and Astroworld. Fantastic fact and fabulous fantasy. Take Galveston, seaport and playport. Pirate Jean Laffite swaggered here. Today's fun-seekers bask, and splash, and fish, and relax here.

Take Gonzales and Goliad and San Jacinto. Heroes died here in struggles which won the birth of the Texas Republic.

Take any place in the Coastal East, add a ghost town or two, the world's only wild whooping cranes; season with a bounty of shrimp from Freeport, stir with dolphins and mermaids, and top it off with a real battleship.

It's good for what ails you.

Lamar University — Founded 1923 as junior college, became four-year state supported college in 1951. Coed, enrollment exceeds 10,000. Southeast section of city on Spur 380.

Lucas Gusher Monument, Spindletop Park — Beginning of world's modern petroleum industry literally "blew in" at 10 a.m. on Jan. 10, 1901, with gusher drilled by Anthony F. Lucas. Producing several thousand times more than any previous oil well, first Spindletop gusher changed oil industry and world forever. Other derricks quickly sprouted by the Lucas well, refineries were built and pipelines laid. Land in proven field sold for minimum of $200,000 per acre. Beaumont's population doubled, then tripled and continued growing. Event is commemorated by handsome Lucas Gusher Monument. Southeast on Spur 380, right on Spindletop Ave.; or east on Loop 251 (southern portion of U.S. 69/96/287), right on Sulphur Rd.

Spindletop Museum — Pictures, documents, artifacts dating from discovery of the Spindletop Oil Field that introduced the modern petroleum industry (see above). Open Sun. - Fri. 1 - 4 p.m. CBS film "You Were There" shown at 3 p.m. 8866 College St.

Temple to the Brave — Memorial to soldiers of all wars with displays, relics. Open patriotic holidays. Riverside Park on Riverside Dr.

BEEVILLE Grid M-12 Pop. 13,506 Alt. 214

General — Seat of Bee County, marketing center for agriculture and small regional industries. First settlers in the area 1834, later town originally named Maryville, honoring Mary Hefferman, only survivor of family massacred by Indians in 1835. Inquire at Beeville Chamber of Commerce for details on attractions.

Major Event — Western Week, late Oct. - early Nov. Held more than third of a century, event features a huge parade, first class rodeo, and South Texas Hereford Association show/sale.

Bee County College — Established 1965; coed; enrollment exceeds 1,000.

Lake — Corpus Christi. See LAKES this section.

Recreation — Sportsmen find opportunities for fishing at nearby Lake Corpus Christi and in saltwater bays along the coast. During specified seasons hunters find white-tailed deer, wild turkey, javelina, quail and migratory waterfowl.

Local shooting preserve offers skeet range and hunting for upland game birds; "fish ranch" offers angling for catfish, only cost is charge per pound of fish caught.

COLUMBUS Grid K-14 Pop. 3,342 Alt. 207

General — Located at site of an Indian village called Montezuma, settled 1823 by members of the Stephen F. Austin Colony. Today seat of Colorado County, cotton shipping point with sand and gravel industry, a number of mills, and LP gas plants.

Major Events — Columbus Quarter Horse Races are staged on weekends throughout year.

Invitational Golf Tournay is held in Feb.

Gulf Coast Hereford Breeders' Sales, Feb. and Oct.
FFA Parade and Show, Mar.

Cardinal Relays, Mar., brings high school track and field stars from a large area.

Magnolia Homes Tour, two days in May, includes antique show and sale, sidewalk art show, Melodrama under Marquee, and tour of early Texas homes. Visitors dine at sidewalk cafes, view antique car parade and watch continuous entertainment under magnolia trees on courthouse square.

Columbus Oak — Of all the oak trees in Columbus, "The City of Live Oaks," none is more historically famous. Under the arboreal landmark the first court of Third Judicial District of Republic of Texas convened in 1837. Presiding was Judge Robert McAlpin Williamson, known as "Three-Legged Willie." Columbus Oak estimated to be 2,000 years old; about 40 feet high, 28 feet girth, with a spread of 120 feet. Walnut and Travis Sts.

Historic Homes — Seftenberg-Brandon House, restored by Magnolia Homes Tour, excellent example of Victorian Gothic architecture, and a portrait of small town life in 19th Century. Usually open on summer weekends. Dilue Rose Harris House built 1866 with unusual gravel-lime construction, covered by plaster. Sh was a pioneer Texas woman who knew leaders of the Republic, and her memoirs are valued by historians. Other structures include Hahn Home, Stafford Opera House, and Carriage House.

Koliba Home Museum — Period mementos and furniture in 100-year-old home, adjoining blacksmith shop and children's house. Open weekdays, 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.; weekends 1 - 6 p.m. 1124 Front St. Admission.

Old Water Tower — Built 1883, now known as Confederate Memorial Hall Museum; round tower once contained town's water supply. Attempts at dynamite demolition proved futile on three-foot-thick walls which contain 400,000 bricks. Houses lore of Colorado County, especially records of those who received land grants in Stephen F. Austin's first colony (Old Three Hundred) and life in the Texas Republic. Open by appointment.

CUERO Grid L-13 Pop. 6,956 Alt. 177

General — Originally projected in 1842, did not come into existence for several years. Once a true "wild west" settlement, refugees from Indianola (which see, this section) settled here and brought stability. Name is Spanish for cowhide. Chisholm Trail, one of famous routes by which Texas Longhorns moved to market after Civil War, began in Cuero. Today seat of DeWitt County is marketing and shipping point for wide variety of farm products, cottonseed oil and poultry.

Major Events — Livestock Show, two days in Mar., prize animals displayed in Municipal Park.

July 4th Picnic and Celebration, old time festivities and outdoor feasting.

Youth Rodeo, three days in July. School age youngsters compete in rough and tumble rodeo events at local arena.

DeWitt County Historical Museum — Historic home; period furniture. Indian items, changing exhibits of local history. Open Sun. 2 - 5 p.m. 312 E. Broadway.

St. Mark's Lutheran Church — Built in style reminiscent of Spanish missions, one of most photographed small city churches in Texas. One of three church bells once hung in thriving seaport city of Indianola (now vanished), more than century ago. Same copper bell was stolen by Yankee soldiers, retrieved by Texas Rebels, and buried beneath sands of Matagorda Bay for quarter of a century before it was placed atop St. Mark's.

EAGLE LAKE Grid K-14 Pop. 3,587 Alt. 170

General — Town and nearby lake named for Karankawa Indian legend of brave who bested his rival in crossing the lake and returning with an eagle for an Indian maiden. Today noted for popularity as duck and goose hunting mecca. During annual migratory waterfowl season, hunters bag thousands of ducks and geese at nearby hunting clubs. Area produces abundant rice harvests which exceed a million barrels annually. Also cotton, oil, natural gas, egg production and manufacturing.

Attwater Prairie Chicken Refuge — Refuge and sanctuary for Attwater or coastal prairie chicken covers 3,400 acres near San Bernard River. Rate of decline in bird population exceeded that of whooping crane through middle years of this century. Recently established refuge has won support of landowners and conservationists in saving prairie chickens which once numbered hundreds of thousands. Tours may be arranged by contacting Eagle Lake Chamber of Commerce, AC 713 234-2783.

Lake — Eagle. See LAKES this section.

EDNA Grid L-14 Pop. 5,332 Alt. 72

General — Built on Robert Guthrie League granted by Mexican government through Stephen F. Austin in 1824. As commissary for Italian laborers on New York, Texas, and Mexican Railway, was first called Macaroni Station. Today seat of Jackson County, commercial center for rice, cotton, livestock and oil.

Major Events — Youth Rodeo, last weekend in June. Area youths complete in arena events at Jackson County Fairgrounds.

FANNIN Grid L-13 Pop. 94 Alt. 143

General—Community in eastern Goliad County. Named for James W. Fannin Jr., Texas Revolutionary hero.

Fannin Battleground State Historic Site—A handsome monument marks site where Col. James W. Fannin Jr. and his men surrendered to Mexican army following Battle of Coletto Creek on Mar. 20, 1836. Though surrender was effected upon honorable terms Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna overruled Mexican commander on scene, and ordered the Texans massacred at Goliad about a week later. (See GOLIAD this section.) Surrounded by stone wall, park is open daily. Facilities include water, rest rooms, electricity and picnic accommodations. One mile south on Park Road 27.

FREEPORT Grid L-15 Pop. 11,997 Alt. 15

General—Founded 1912 by Townside Company, a New York group interested in developing nearby sulphur deposits. Now part of booming Brazosport area with wide variety of recreational opportunities, petrochemical plants and other industries, port facilities, fishing, and continued sulphur production. Quintana, Texas' oldest port where Stephen F. Austin landed first colonists in 1822, was on a tidal portion of Brazos River at edge of modern Freeport. Historic village of Velasco is within present city limits. Treaty of peace between Texas and Mexico was signed in Velasco on May 14, 1836, following Texan victory at Battle of San Jacinto. (See HOUSTON this section.) At that time Velasco was temporary capital of Republic of Texas. Freeport leads all other Gulf ports in total shrimp landings. As many as 500 shrimp boats work out of Freeport harbor. For full details on area attractions contact Brazosport Chamber of Commerce, 420 Texas Hwy. 332 west.

MONUMENT TO SHRIMPING INDUSTRY, FREEPORT

Major Events—Shrimp Boil in nearby Lake Jackson, early May, features bushels of delicious Gulf shrimp, followed by auction of sports equipment.

Lake Jackson hosts Outdoor Art Fair, late May - early June; works by local and nationally known artists.

Lone Star Boat Association Races, early June; boat speedsters from Texas, Louisiana and other states compete for state and national points.

Annual Jaycee Fishin' Fiesta & Shrimp Festival, four days around July 4th. In addition to fishing competition ranging from deep-sea to scuba, activities include a golf tournament, beauty contest, fish fry, shrimp boil, crab crawl, boat races, ski shows, and dances.

The Acadia—Wreck of a Confederate blockade runner in shallow water off Surfside beach; part of superstructure visible at low tide, accessible with scuba equipment. The 160-foot copper-clad double side-wheeler was built for speed to elude federal blockade ships during the Civil War. It ran aground on the night of Feb. 6, 1865.

Fishing—Extensive facilities for fishing, both freshwater and saltwater. Local jetties and piers are popular spots; tackle can be rented nearby. For bay and deep-sea fishing there are group boats, charter boats and fishing cruisers for hire at several docks. Fishermen may expect to catch species including bonito, ling, red snapper, dolphin, king mackerel, tarpon, sailfish and others.

Gulf Intracoastal Waterway—Slicing through lowlands just southeast of Freeport, canal is most valuable waterway in America, carrying more annual tonnage than Suez and Panama Canals. Protected waterway system was begun in 1854 with a short canal between Galveston Bay and mouth of Brazos River. Now stretches 1,116 miles from Brownsville, Tex., to St. Mark's, Fla. High bridge on Texas 332 spans Intracoastal Waterway to beachfront community of Surfside (see below).

Shrimp Boat Monument—Hauled from water and displayed on a special dry land cradle, former shrimp trawler Mystery honors historic and colorful shrimp industry of Brazosport area. 60-foot boat, built of cypress timber more than three decades ago, brought in millions of pounds of delicious Gulf shrimp during her quarter-century career. Rigged in trappings of her youth, Mystery is on display at head of Brazosport harbor channel on Texas 288.

Surfside—Name is both a community and a description, because location provides access to 18 miles of beach front from near Freeport northeast to San Luis Pass bridge connection with Galveston Island. Swimming, surf fishing, beach camping and shell collecting.

GALVESTON Grid K-16 Pop. 61,809 Alt. 20

General—When first explored by Europeans, island was Karankawa Indian site. Pirate Jean Laffite established earliest settlement in 1817. Early development gives city many firsts in Texas: first telegraph, first Roman Catholic convent, first electric lights, first brewery and first medical college. The disastrous Galveston Flood of 1900, when entire island was inundated during a hurricane, claimed between five and seven thousand lives. A three-mile seawall begun soon afterwards, later modernized and extended to present 10-mile length. Has proved its staying power several times since, particularly during Hurricane Carla in September, 1961. Galveston is a treasure trove of things historically Texan. Details from Tourist Information Center (see below). Many city parks, picnic areas and recreation centers offer playground equipment, athletic fields, tennis courts and golf courses. Seat of Galveston County, major port, tourist and convention center.

Major Event—Annual Shrimp Festival and Blessing of the Fleet in late April features week of activities.

American National Archives Exhibit—Photos, documents of early Galveston; insurance policies on Bonnie and Clyde. Open daily 2 - 4 p.m. with tour weekdays of company's extensive art collection at 2 p.m. Impressive view from 20th floor, American National Tower, 21st and Market Sts.

Churches, Historic—First Lutheran Church, constructed by one of earliest Lutheran groups in Texas, 1868. 2415 G St.

First Presbyterian Church, magnificent Gothic structure houses what is believed to be oldest church organization in Galveston, dating from Jan. 1, 1840. Present church building constructed 1873. Church St. at 18th.

St. Mary's Cathedral, first Catholic cathedral in Texas, retaining original splendid architecture, built in 1848. 2011 F St.

Trinity Episcopal Church, built in 1857 to serve parish which was organized in 1841. Traditionally repaired and put in use immediately after any hurricane damage, never missing a service. 2216 H St.

Ferry Rides—Three diesel ferries, each with a capacity of 50 vehicles, operate every 20 minutes between Galveston and Port Bolivar, Texas 87. Ferries are part of Texas highway system, operated toll-free by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Fishing, Deep-Sea — Exciting varieties of food and game fish are found in Gulf waters off Galveston. Fishermen may charter two- to six-place sport cruisers, or join a fishing group aboard larger boats. Offshore species may include tarpon, sailfish, marlin, ling, wahoo, king mackerel, bonito, pompano, red snapper, warsaw and others. Reservations at Galveston Yacht Basin at 7th St. and Wharf; also at 9th St. and Wharf, and at Piers 15 to 20.

Fishing Piers — Surf fishermen try their luck almost anywhere along beach; free municipal jetties and piers, several of which are lighted for night fishing, are along Seawall Boulevard at 10th, 17th, 30th, 37th and 61st Sts. At 25th St. is a large T-head pier from which fee fishing is available. Flanking ship channel between Galveston and Bolivar Peninsula are South Jetty (extreme east end of Galveston Island), and North Jetty (from Bolivar Peninsula). Fishermen often take catfish, croaker, sheepshead, flounder, redfish, speckled trout and drum.

Galveston Beach — Thirty-two miles of clean sand beach washed by Gulf of Mexico. Within city, beach is edged by hotels, motels, apartments, restaurants and amusement areas. Camping not permitted within city limits, but may be enjoyed along remaining 20-mile stretch west. Except for a few areas reserved for guests of various beachfront hotels, beach is free.

Galveston News and Tribune Building — Home of one of Texas' oldest newspapers, established 1842; printer of first Texas Almanac. U.S. 75 at Teichman Rd.

Galveston Yacht Basin — Offering complete marina services, yacht harbor provides slips for hundreds of pleasure craft, dry storage facilities, gas, bait, supplies and tackle shops, repair and mechanical service, daily weather reports and 24-hour security guards. Adjacent to harbor are restaurants, hotels, motels and specialty shops. Along Strand Ave. between 2nd and 6th Sts.

Garten Verein — Still in use as a city recreation building, octagonal-shaped building erected in 1870s. Victorian accents in the trim of two picturesque roof levels. City park at 27th St. and Ave. O.

Historical Homes and Buildings — As Texas' earliest prominent city, literally scores of fascinating historic structures built by sea captains, prominent officials, businessmen and merchants. Among most prominent are following:

Ashton Villa, restored and opened in 1974, was built in 1859 by Galveston businessman James Moreau Brown. Cost was no object, and the Gothic Revival structure reflects opulence of the era in carved mouldings, mantel-work and lush furnishings. Open daily 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. except Tuesday. 2328 Broadway. Admission.

The Bishop's Palace, perhaps Galveston's most celebrated landmark, state's only structure on list of nation's 100 outstanding buildings specified by American Institute of Architects. The "palace" was built as a private home by Col. Walter Gresham in 1886, purchased 1923 for the Bishop of Galveston-Houston Diocese. Literally filled with showpiece furnishings, including a mantel that was first-prize winner at 1876 Philadelphia World's University of Texas Medical Branch — Texas' oldest medical college is located at 8th and Mechanic Sts. Administered by main university at Austin, it encompasses a plant spread of more than nine square blocks including several hospitals, schools of pharmacy, nursing, psychiatry, neurology, and a noted institute for treatment of burns.

GOLIAD Grid L-13 Pop. 1,709 Alt. 187

General — One of Texas' oldest municipalities; area was inhabited long before recorded history. Early Spanish explorers list an Aranama Indian village at site, which was called Santa Dorotea by those Spaniards. In 1749 Spain established a mission and, as was custom, a nearby presidio (fort) to protect mission endeavor. (See below.) "Remember Goliad" became a famed Texas Revolution battle cry honoring Col. James W. Fannin Jr., and his men who were massacred at Goliad after their surrender.

Major Events — Goliad Day, Mar. 27, is occasion for memorial services at grave of Colonel Fannin and his troops.

Goliad County Fair, annually in Mar. or Apr., emphasizes youth participation with traditional exhibits, parade and rodeo.

Quarter Horse Race Meets, two consecutive weekends in Mar. or Apr., also in Oct. Futurity and derby stakes races offer purses as large as $50,000, and draw horsemen from 15 or more states.

Cinco de Mayo (May 5) Celebration centers around General Zaragoza's birthplace. His defeat of French army on this date is celebrated throughout Mexico and in several Texas border cities.

Fannin Plaza — City park at S. Market and Franklin Sts. Includes Texas Revolution cannon, memorial shaft, and several historical markers. Nearby is "hanging tree" on courthouse lawn, Old Market House Museum, and chamber of commerce where area information is available.

General Zaragoza State Historic Site — Both a state park and international historic site, birthplace of one of Mexico's most famous military figures, Gen. Ignacio Zaragoza (1829-1862). Mexican general and liberal leader was minister of war under Juarez. In 1862 commanded outnumbered, poorly equipped Mexican army in defense of the Central Mexico city of Puebla against elite French force. Zaragoza flung back attacking army, inflicting heavy losses and forcing its withdrawal to Atlantic Coast.

MISSION ESPIRITU SANTO, GOLIAD STATE PARK

It is not generally known that this French army had proposed to march into Texas to establish aid and supply line to Confederate forces — but they reckoned without Zaragoza. Two miles south off U.S. 183 at Presidio La Bahia (see below).

Goliad State Park — 208-acre park features restored Mission Nuestra Senora del Espiritu Santo de Zuniga, generally called Mission Espiritu Santo. Other features include a small museum, camping and picnicking areas, rest rooms and river fishing spots. Mission established 1749 to Christianize Indian inhabitants of the area. One mile south off U.S. 183. Admission.

Grave of Col. James W. Fannin Jr. and Men — Monument marks grave of Colonel Fannin and 342 men who had surrendered to Mexican forces during the Texas Revolution, and were massacred at the order of General Santa Anna on Palm Sunday morning, March 27, 1836. Located two miles south of Goliad off U.S. 183, a few hundred yards from Presidio La Bahia (see below).

Mission Rosario (Ruins) — Founded 1754 by missionaries of college of Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe de Zacatecas to minister to Karankawa, Cujane and Coapite Indians. Mission suffered periodic abandonment and reoccupation for some 50 years. Limited success achieved about 1799, mission secularized in 1831. Official mission name was Nuestra Senora del Rosario. Ruins are four miles west near San Antonio River. Inquire locally for directions.

Presidio La Bahia — As conquistadores of centuries ago explored new lands for "God, Gold and Glory," position of the Church was integral part of colonization and dominion over vast New World empire. Missions were, in fact, often first permanent Spanish settlement in new areas. To protect mission endeavors, a presidio (fort) was usually built nearby and manned by Spanish military forces.

Such was Presidio Santa Maria del Loreto de la Bahia, established in 1749 near Mission Espiritu Santo (see above). It grew into one of the more important forts on the Spanish frontier, and is the finest example of a complete Spanish presidio in Texas. Its chapel is still in regular use for religious services.

Excavation and restoration of massive stone walls and other structures of fort have been completed by Kathryn O'Connor Foundation.

It was in this presidio that Fannin's men, during 1836 Texas Revolution, were imprisoned after their surrender, and were massacred in violation of honorable terms upon which they had laid down their arms. (See Grave of Col. Fannin, above.)

A museum houses articles discovered during restoration, memorabilia of the Texas Revolution, and artifacts indicating nine levels of civilization at the site. Open daily 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. except Good Friday and Christmas. Two miles south off U.S. 183, immediately south of San Antonio River. Admission.

GONZALES Grid K-12 Pop. 5,854 Alt. 301

General — Often called the "Lexington of Texas" because first battle of Texas Revolution was fought here. Settled 1825 by Green C. DeWitt, American empresario from Missouri, named for Rafael Gonzales (then governor of joint state of Coahuila-Texas); town was designed by Mexican government. Interestingly, streets were named for saints, and markers today show original plan. Seat of Gonzales County, center of large pecan and poultry production.

Major Event — "Come and Take It" Celebration, three days in Oct., observes famed battle cry of opening conflict for Texas independence. Highlights are parade, rodeo, art exhibit, antique show, and historical pilgrimage.

Gonzales Memorial Museum — Handsome monument to those who fought first battle of Texas Revolution and the 32 patriots who answered Travis' call for help at the Alamo. Features replica of the cannon which precipitated that first battle. Mexican relics and Texana. Open Wed. - Sun. 1 - 5 p.m. E. St. Lawrence Street. Contributions.

HELENA Grid L-12 Pop. 39 Alt. 305

General — Though a few homes remain, Helena is a ghost town — killed, so they say, by one gunfight too many. Helena was laid out about 1854 near routes of famed Chihuahua Trail and Indianola-San Antonio Road. Named county seat, it thrived for 30 years and reached 3,000 population — a boisterous frontier settlement with more than its share of outlaws and sudden death. During a saloon shooting one night in 1884 a stray bullet cut down 20-year-old Emmett Butler, son of the area's wealthiest rancher, Col. William Butler. Unable to determine who fired the fatal shot, Butler vowed to kill the town that killed his son. He persuaded the railroad, then building across South Texas, to bypass Helena by offering free land miles away. Other towns sprang up along the railroad; Helena lost its county seat, and its citizens melted away. Today a deserted courthouse, cobwebby church and other silent ruins are testimony of Butler's vow.

HEMPSTEAD Grid J-14 Pop. 1,891 Alt. 251

INDIANOLA Grid L-14 Pop. 14 Alt. 6

General — From what she was, she's the biggest ghost of them all, but not to the eye. At the terminus of Texas 316 south of Port Lavaca, all is clean tranquillity—a deception. Sea and desert have defeated many towns. The sea is more ruthless—implacable until every trace is scoured away, until all is virgin sand where the footprints of men apparently never trod.

The prints of 6,000 and more did tread here, when concrete and stout-timbered structures lined what was considered the finest harbor on the Gulf of Mexico. Piers thrust into the bay for half a mile, funneling rich cargoes to and from great ships. In the 1840s German colonists landed, led by Prince Carl of Solms-Braunfels (see NEW BRAUNFELS, Ranch & Hill Country Section). In the 1850s an army depot supplied the frontier forts of all Texas. Here two shiploads of Arabian camels landed, beginning that imaginative experiment of Jefferson Davis (See CAMP VERDE, Ranch & Hill Country section). Warehouses stored ice, winter-d on the Great Lakes, prized during Texas summers.

The bustling, prosperous town survived shelling, capture and recapture during the Civil War, yellow fever epidemics, and storm thought severe in 1866. But all were only preludes to Sept. 17, 1875. The sea that had created and nourished Indianola rose in monstrous gray hummocks, lashed by shrieking winds — hurricane! Nine hundred perished, and three-fourths of the city lay in matchbox shambles. Disaster on an unimagined scale.

But Indianola was too prosperous, too vital to quit because of one freak tragedy. Larger warehouses were raised; new piers of heavier pilings sprouted. Eleven years passed before a brutal fate was driven home: that other black September was no freak. An even more severe storm sounded the death knell.

Indianola was literally gone. Even wreckage was scarce. Those who somehow survived did not return. The county seat, in name was moved to Port Lavaca for there was really nothing left to move.

Today the tide laps at a few stones of the courthouse foundation. Inches above the smooth sand, outlines of a few shattered concrete cisterns remain. Some fishermen's homes have come of late, and the state has erected an historical marker.

One thing more, appropriately: a solitary rose granite statue of Rene Robert Cavelier, Sieur de la Salle. The French explorer was first to leave a bootprint on the sands of Indianola almost 300 years ago. Today his stone likeness surveys the same featureless, unmarked sands.

KARNES CITY Grid L-12 Pop. 2,926 Alt. 40

Historical Sites — Many settled in this area before Texas Revolution; within city are monuments detailing history of compound where Mexican troops captured at San Jacinto were held, and settlement founded by French veterans of Napoleonic wars. Marker is at site of Sam Houston's law office, and others where original Mexican town squares were laid out. Old homes include Thomas Jefferson Chambers Home built in 1860, and Cleveland-Partlow Home built about 1869.

NEDERLAND Grid J-17 Pop. 16,810 Alt. 25

General — Founded just before the turn of the century by immigrants from Holland. Early efforts at rice farming and dairying played important role, but growth began in earnest after discovery of Spindletop Oil Field. Dutch name means "down" or "low" land. Within a dozen miles of city are more than 15 major petrochemical plants.

Windmill Museum — Built by Nederland population to preserve Dutch heritage; three-story building with 60-foot revolving blades houses artifacts dating from city's founding. Open Sat., Sun. 1 - 6 p.m.; summer Tues. - Sun. 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. 1528 Boston Ave.

ORANGE Grid J-17 Pop. 24,457 Alt. 20

General — Texas' easternmost city, established 1836, year of Texas independence from Mexico. Area's first known inhabitants were Attacapa Indians. Attacapa (combination of two Choctaw words meaning eaters of men) arrived around 1600. City name derives from orange groves that attracted attention of boatmen navigating Sabine River.

Chemical Row — Rising from windswept plain, a miles-long complex of modern plants producing myriad products derived from petroleum is impressive day or night.

Port of Orange — One of America's most modern and efficient deepwater terminals; port is near intersection of Sabine-Neches Waterway and Intracoastal Canal. Location makes it a vital distribution center for ocean vessels and barge traffic.

"Rainbow Bridge" — Crosses Neches River on Texas 87 between Orange and Port Arthur, tallest bridge in the South over a navigable stream. Span, 177 feet above water level, provides tourists with "bird's-eye" view of area and waterways. Total length, with approaches, is 5.7 miles.

Tourist Bureau — One of 11 bureaus provided by the state at key highway entrances to Texas, in the State Capitol, and at the Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center in Langtry. Bureaus are operated daily throughout the year, staffed by uniformed, trained travel counselors. Services free to all visitors include information, maps, literature on every part of the state, and expert assistance in charting routes. At Texas-Louisiana state line on I.H. 10 about three miles northeast of downtown Orange; operated by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

PALACIOS Grid L-14 Pop. 3,642 Alt. 17

General — Founded 1903, said named by shipwrecked Spaniards who supposedly saw a vision of Tres Palacios (three palaces). Fishing is dominant industry, both sport and commercial, along with seafood processing plants.

Major Events — Valentine's Day is celebrated on Sat. nearest Feb. 14 with parade, dance and coronation of a "Sweetheart."

In early Mar. residents join in trail ride to rodeo and fat stock show at Bay City.

In late summer, usually Aug., traditional blessing of the fleet, and shrimporree are held. Procession of boats, memorial ceremony, and day-long festival.

Luther Hotel — Built 1903, a recorded Texas historic landmark; served as headquarters for early land developers. During heyday, formally-attired orchestra entertained guests at mealtimes along rambling front porch, said to be longest in Texas. On bayshore between 4th and 5th Sts.

Marine Fisheries Research Station — Research facility where studies include adaptability of saltwater species to freshwater. Tours are of interest to those with knowledge of marine biology. Appointment advisable. West 7.5 miles on Texas 35, south 5.5 miles on Well Point Rd.

Parks — Three free lighted fishing piers, public boat ramps, and camping areas along bayshore drive. City-operated Palacios Camper-Trailer Park, across from Luther Hotel, provides free water, electrical hookups and dump station.

PANNA MARIA Grid L-12 Pop. 96 Alt. 325

General — Community reputed to be oldest Polish settlement in America; is certainly mother of Polish settlements in Texas. Established Dec. 1854 by Polish Catholics; in fulfillment of vow, immigrants named their new town Panna Maria, meaning Virgin Mary in Polish. Community is rich in historic buildings, churches and schools, and is said to have established first Polish school in United States.

PASADENA Grid J-15 Pop. 89,277 Alt. 35

General — Name is Spanish for "Land of Flowers," so chosen for blooming meadows along Vince's Bayou. Bayou figured prominently in Battle of San Jacinto. Now a residential community occupied chiefly by employees of nearby refineries, industrial plants and Houston businesses. Town became a rural post office in 1900, mushroomed into bustling residential suburb and continued to grow with rise of Houston. Northeast is site of capture of Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna at Battle of San Jacinto.

Pasadena Historical Museum — Local history from pioneer times to present; displays of industrial development. Open daily 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. in summer; Sat., Sun. 1 - 5 p.m. in winter. On Tex. 225 at Pasadena Memorial Park.

San Jacinto Junior College — Coed, municipal junior college founded 1961. Enrolls more than 7,000 students. On Spencer Highway.

PORT ARTHUR Grid J-17 Pop. 57,371 Alt. 18

General — On northwest shore of Sabine Lake nine miles from Gulf of Mexico, site of a settlement known as Aurora in 1840.

City named after Arthur E. Stillwell, Kansas City financier, who was instrumental in building railroad to edge of townsite.

Ports of Port Arthur, Beaumont, Orange and Lake Charles (in Louisiana) comprise Sabine Customs District, of which Port Arthur is headquarters port.

Cargo tonnage, annually averaging about 23,000,000, justifies the claim "We Oil the World" because nearly a million barrels of crude oil are refined in area daily.

City is also year-round fisherman's paradise. Average temperature varies from 55 degrees in winter to 82 in summer. Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce furnishes free fishing map showing many excellent locations to catch more than 25 varieties of freshwater and saltwater fish.

Major Events — Port Arthur Spring Flower Show, two days late Mar. - early Apr.

Sunday afternoon sailboat regattas on Lake Sabine, May through Aug.

Mexican Independence Day (Diez y Seis), observed in Sept. CavOILcade, three days in Oct., city's annual salute to petroleum industry. Festivities include Queen coronation, downtown street parade, musical events and competition, contests, banquets, regattas and fishing rodeo on Pleasure Island.

Dick Dowling Park — About 12 miles south via Texas 87. (See SABINE PASS this section.)

Pleasure Island — Connected to city by Gulfgate Bridge which arcs 138 feet above the ship channel; access from island via toll causeway to Cameron Parish, La. Island is in Sabine Lake, 100-square mile saltwater lake which opens into Gulf of Mexico. Golf course, marina, boat ramps and miles of free roadside fishing levees from which anglers take redfish, drum, speckled trout, croakers and other species; excellent crabbing throughout the year.

Port Arthur College — Private Methodist college, founded in 1909, has regular term enrollment of about 350.

Port Arthur Historical Museum — Depicts great strides made in the span of Port Arthur's history. Relics from Battle of Sabine Pass, mortgage note issued by Santa Anna ($500 mortgage bond issued by Mexican general on his personal property to raise

RICHMOND Grid K-15 Pop. 6,925 Alt. 104

General — Settled in 1822 by members of the Old Three Hundred (Stephen F. Austin's colony) and named by two of those settlers for their home in Virginia. Early settlers were largely Southern plantation owners. Jaybird-Woodpecker War pitted residents against carpetbaggers, and monument at city hall is topped with jaybird. Carrie Nation's crusade began here.

Fort Bend County Historical Museum — Artifacts from original settlement days, photographs and documents. Cited by Historical Commission as "one of best small museums in the state." Open Tues. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Sun. 1 - 5 p.m. 500 Houston St.

ROCKPORT Grid M-13 Pop. 3,879 Alt. 20

General — Established 1867 as shipping point for wool, hides, bones and tallow. Became seat of Aransas County in 1871; today important commercial fishing area. Tourists, boaters and fishermen gather to enjoy abundant access to saltwater recreational opportunities; on peninsula between Copano Bay and Aransas Bay, sheltered from Gulf of Mexico by St. Joseph Island.

Aransas National Wildlife Refuge — Famed as principal wintering ground for near-extinct whooping crane, refuge is on broad peninsula about 12 miles across the bay northeast of Rockport. Administered by U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service as refuge for protection and management of various species of wildlife inhabiting this coastal area. Some 300 species of birds — Canada geese, pintail and baldpate ducks, sandhill cranes, etc. — have been recorded. Other inhabitants include white-tailed deer, javelina and raccoon. Sightseeing, nature observation, hiking and photography permitted along designated public use roads, trails, and at observation towers; also picnic areas. Most rewarding time to view wildlife: Nov. through Mar., when greatest number of species are at refuge (including whoopers). Open daily 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Access to refuge entrance about 40 miles northeast of Rockport via Texas 35 north, F.M. 774 east, and F.M. 2040 south. Admission.

One of the best ways to view wildlife, especially whoopers, is from 65-foot motor vessel Whooping Crane. Regular trips each height. Highway rest area is adjacent to monument; about 14 miles south on Texas 316. (See INDIANOLA this section.)

Port Lavaca Causeway State Recreation Park — Old highway causeway, replaced by modern span, now a popular lighted fishing pier extending 3,202 feet into Lavaca Bay. Swimming, boating and saltwater fishing. Facilities include snack bar, bait stand and rest rooms. Port Lavaca City Park at base of pier has boat ramp, camping and picnicking facilities. Fee for pier use. Alongside Texas 35 causeway.

PRAIRIE VIEW Grid J-14 Pop. 3,589 Alt. 250

General — Town derived name from plantation home of Col. Jack Kirby. Following death of his son, plantation became a girls' school; in 1876 became property of the State, and Texas Legislature established college for Negro youth on the site.

Prairie View Agricultural and Mechanical College — Established as private school 1885, became state Negro college in 1876. Coed, currently enrolls over 4,000 students. Large campus just off U.S. 290.

ROSENBERG Grid K-15 Pop. 12,098 Alt. 106

General — Once shipping site on Brazos River; established upon building of Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railroad in 1883. Discovery of oil in 1920s brought brief boom town flurry. Today center of rich farming and ranching area on fertile coastal plains. Industries include oil, salt and sulphur production, canned foods, mixed feeds, cottonseed processing, and steel fabrication. Chamber of Commerce provides literature for self-guided farm and ranch tours of area, including recreational and historic sites.

Thomas Barnett Home — Frame home, constructed 1836, was burned by Santa Anna's army. Rebuilt same year by Thomas Barnett, one of Stephen F. Austin's Old Three Hundred colonists, alcalde, signer of Texas Declaration of Independence, and chief justice of Austin County. Five miles northwest off Texas 36.

SABINE PASS Grid J-17 Pop. 850 Alt. 8

General — Sabine City laid out in 1836 by Sam Houston and Philip A. Sublett. Name changed to Sabine Pass in 1839; first of several incorporations as town in 1861. At one time population numbered around 6,000, but storms in 1886, 1900 and 1915 took heavy tolls in community. Commercial fishing and marine repair are significant industries. Historical significance lies in Battle of Sabine Pass during Civil War.

Battle of Sabine Pass — Occurred on Sept. 9, 1863; was attempt by Union forces to invade Texas. Lts. Richard Dowling and N. H. Smith with six cannon and 42 men successfully defended the fort and Sabine Pass, capturing three attacking Union gunboats. So successful was rout that no more attempts were made to invade Texas by Sabine Pass.

Dick Dowling Park — Near Sabine Pass, named in honor of hero of that famous battle, statue of Dick Dowling stands on a base of Fredericksburg pink granite at Dowling Point in the park. Picnic facilities with fine view of ships entering and leaving Gulf of Mexico.

SAN FELIPE Grid J-14 Pop. 422 Alt. 155

General — Known as the "Birthplace of Anglo-American settlement in Texas," San Felipe de Austin was named for Stephen F. Austin, who located his first Texas colonists here in 1823. Historic village was home of Texas' first newspaper (the Gazette, 1829), origin of Texas postal system, and saw beginning of legendary Texas Rangers. Location of Conventions of 1832 and 1833, and Consultation of 1835 — meetings which led to Texas Declaration of Independence. Community razed by fire and occupied by Santa Anna's invading Mexican army in 1836; restored after Texan victory at San Jacinto. Stephen F. Austin Park Association operates information center at San Felipe Post Office

VICTORIA Grid L-13 Pop. 41,349 Alt. 93

General — Anglo-American settlers lived in area before 1824 when Don Martin de Leon brought his colony of 41 families to site he named for his friend Gen. Guadalupe Victoria who became Mexico's first president. The de Leon Grave Shrine is enclosed area in historic Evergreen Cemetery (Red River and Vine Sts.) with graves of de Leon and his family. Several historical markers detail the lives and accomplishments of this important family in Texas colonization. Historic town boasts several distinctions: one of first three towns incorporated by Republic of Texas; first artificial ice in the South (1868); and the Victoria Advocate is second oldest continuous newspaper in Texas. Large industrial complex and cattle are major economic factors.

Major Events — Victoria County Livestock Show, four days in Mar., features prize stock and agricultural exhibits.

International Armadillo Confab and Exposition, early May. World Championship Armadillo Races, wacky contests and food.

McNamara-O'Connor Historical and Fine Arts Museum — Preserves permanent "backward look" with mementos ranging from document signed by Sam Houston as President of Republic of Texas, to photographs of early Victoria baseball teams; antique furniture from pioneer homes. House built about 1869, example of traditional Southern architecture. Open Sept. - June, Wed. 10 a.m. - noon. 3 - 5 p.m.; Sun., 3 - 5 p.m. 502 N. Liberty. Admission.

Riverside Park — 400 acres of woodland bordered by Guadalupe River; 200 picnic areas with tables and barbecue pits; several locations provide playground equipment.

Victoria Children's Zoo, also in park, contains many rare specimens.

Victoria College — County junior college established 1925. Coed, with enrollment of 1,700. At Ben Jordan and Red River Sts., just north of U.S. 59.

Victoria Memorial Square — Landmark is old grist mill; hand-shaped logs fastened by wooden pegs and homemade nails of early German farmers. South Texas winds once turned giant blades, grinding corn into feed for livestock, or cornmeal for family table. Mechanical parts of mill brought from Germany before 1860; park also features Southern Pacific oil-burning locomotive. E. Commercial and De Leon Sts.

WEST COLUMBIA Grid K-15 Pop. 3,335 Alt. 40

General — During Texas Revolution known simply as Columbia; town figured importantly in history of Texas: from Sept. - Dec. 1836, was capital of Republic, period when first Congress convened and Sam Houston inaugurated president; late that year, Congress decided to move seat of government to Houston because Columbia did not have adequate accommodations. Today a center for farming, livestock and oil. Area known for white-tailed deer, waterfowl and upland game birds. Fishing available in nearby San Bernard River.

Varner-Hogg Plantation State Historic Park — Feature is dignified Greek Revival plantation home built mid-1830s on rich Brazos River lands by Columbus R. Patton, planter from Mississippi. Land originally obtained in early grant from Stephen F. Austin Colony by Martin Varner, pioneer who established first rum distillery in Texas. Last private owner was James Stephen Hogg, first native governor of Texas. Filled with period furnishings and relics of epic past, house and 53 surrounding acres donated to state by Hogg heir. Open daily except Mon. and Wed., tours 10 a.m. - noon, 1 - 5 p.m. Admission. One mile north via county road off Texas 35.

WHARTON Grid K-14 Pop. 7,881 Alt. 111

pecos frontier

A century separates the wild west that was, and the wide west that is—but it's hardly noticeable in the Pecos Frontier. When shadows lengthen and coyotes howl, it seems like yesterday.

Those who look can still find ruts of wagon trains. Those who listen can—almost—hear echoes of the last defiant Kiowa cry.

Legends which grew from this land were only a trifle more incredible than truth. Pecos Bill, fabled king of cowboys, was credited with fantastic feats just to stay ahead of his real-life compadres. Here was Judge Roy Bean's domain, the real-life "Law West of the Pecos."

At every turn, today's travelers will find splinters of a rough-hewn past: gunfighter graves and stagecoach stops, plus the easy-going nature of people unaccustomed to modern pressures.

Like barbecue over mesquite coals, slice yourself a generous travel portion of the Pecos Frontier.

ANDREWS Grid G-6 Pop. 8,625 Alt. 3,410

General — Became county seat in 1910, year Andrews County was organized. Today a commercial center for surrounding ranching and petroleum interests.

Major Events — Annual Spanish Fiesta, in May, is recent addition to event calendar; one-day citywide celebration.

All-Night Gospel Singing, June event. Nationally known Gospel singers take part.

Andrews Junior Rodeo in June is four-day attraction; draws youthful rodeo competitors.

Andrews Amateur Rodeo, July, also spans four days and attracts many riders and ropers.

Andrews County Museum — Pioneer tools, household items, Indian relics, pictures. Open Sun., Mon., Tues., 1 - 5 p.m. 212 N.W. 2nd St.

Andrews High School — $3,000,000 complex is genuine tourist attraction with unusual construction and employment of some of the nation's newest ideas in educational architecture and operation. Central dome serves as both hall and gym. Carpeted classrooms and Olympic-sized indoor swimming pool.

Municipal Parks — Six public parks offer variety of outdoor recreation; barbecue pits and picnic areas, playgrounds, lighted baseball fields, basketball and tennis courts, and swimming pool. Lakeside Park features small lake for skiing, fishing, and scenic picnic sites. For campers or trailers, free overnight campground with water, rest rooms, showers, fireplaces. On Texas 176 seven blocks west of intersection with U.S. 385.

BARKSDALE Grid K-9 Pop. 71 Alt. 1,498

General — Called "Dixie" by first settler in 1876, later named for Louis Barksdale who located on a grant there about 1880. Indian raids delayed settlement of area; settlers killed by Indians as late as 1879. Presently serves as marketing center for surrounding cattle, sheep and goat ranches.

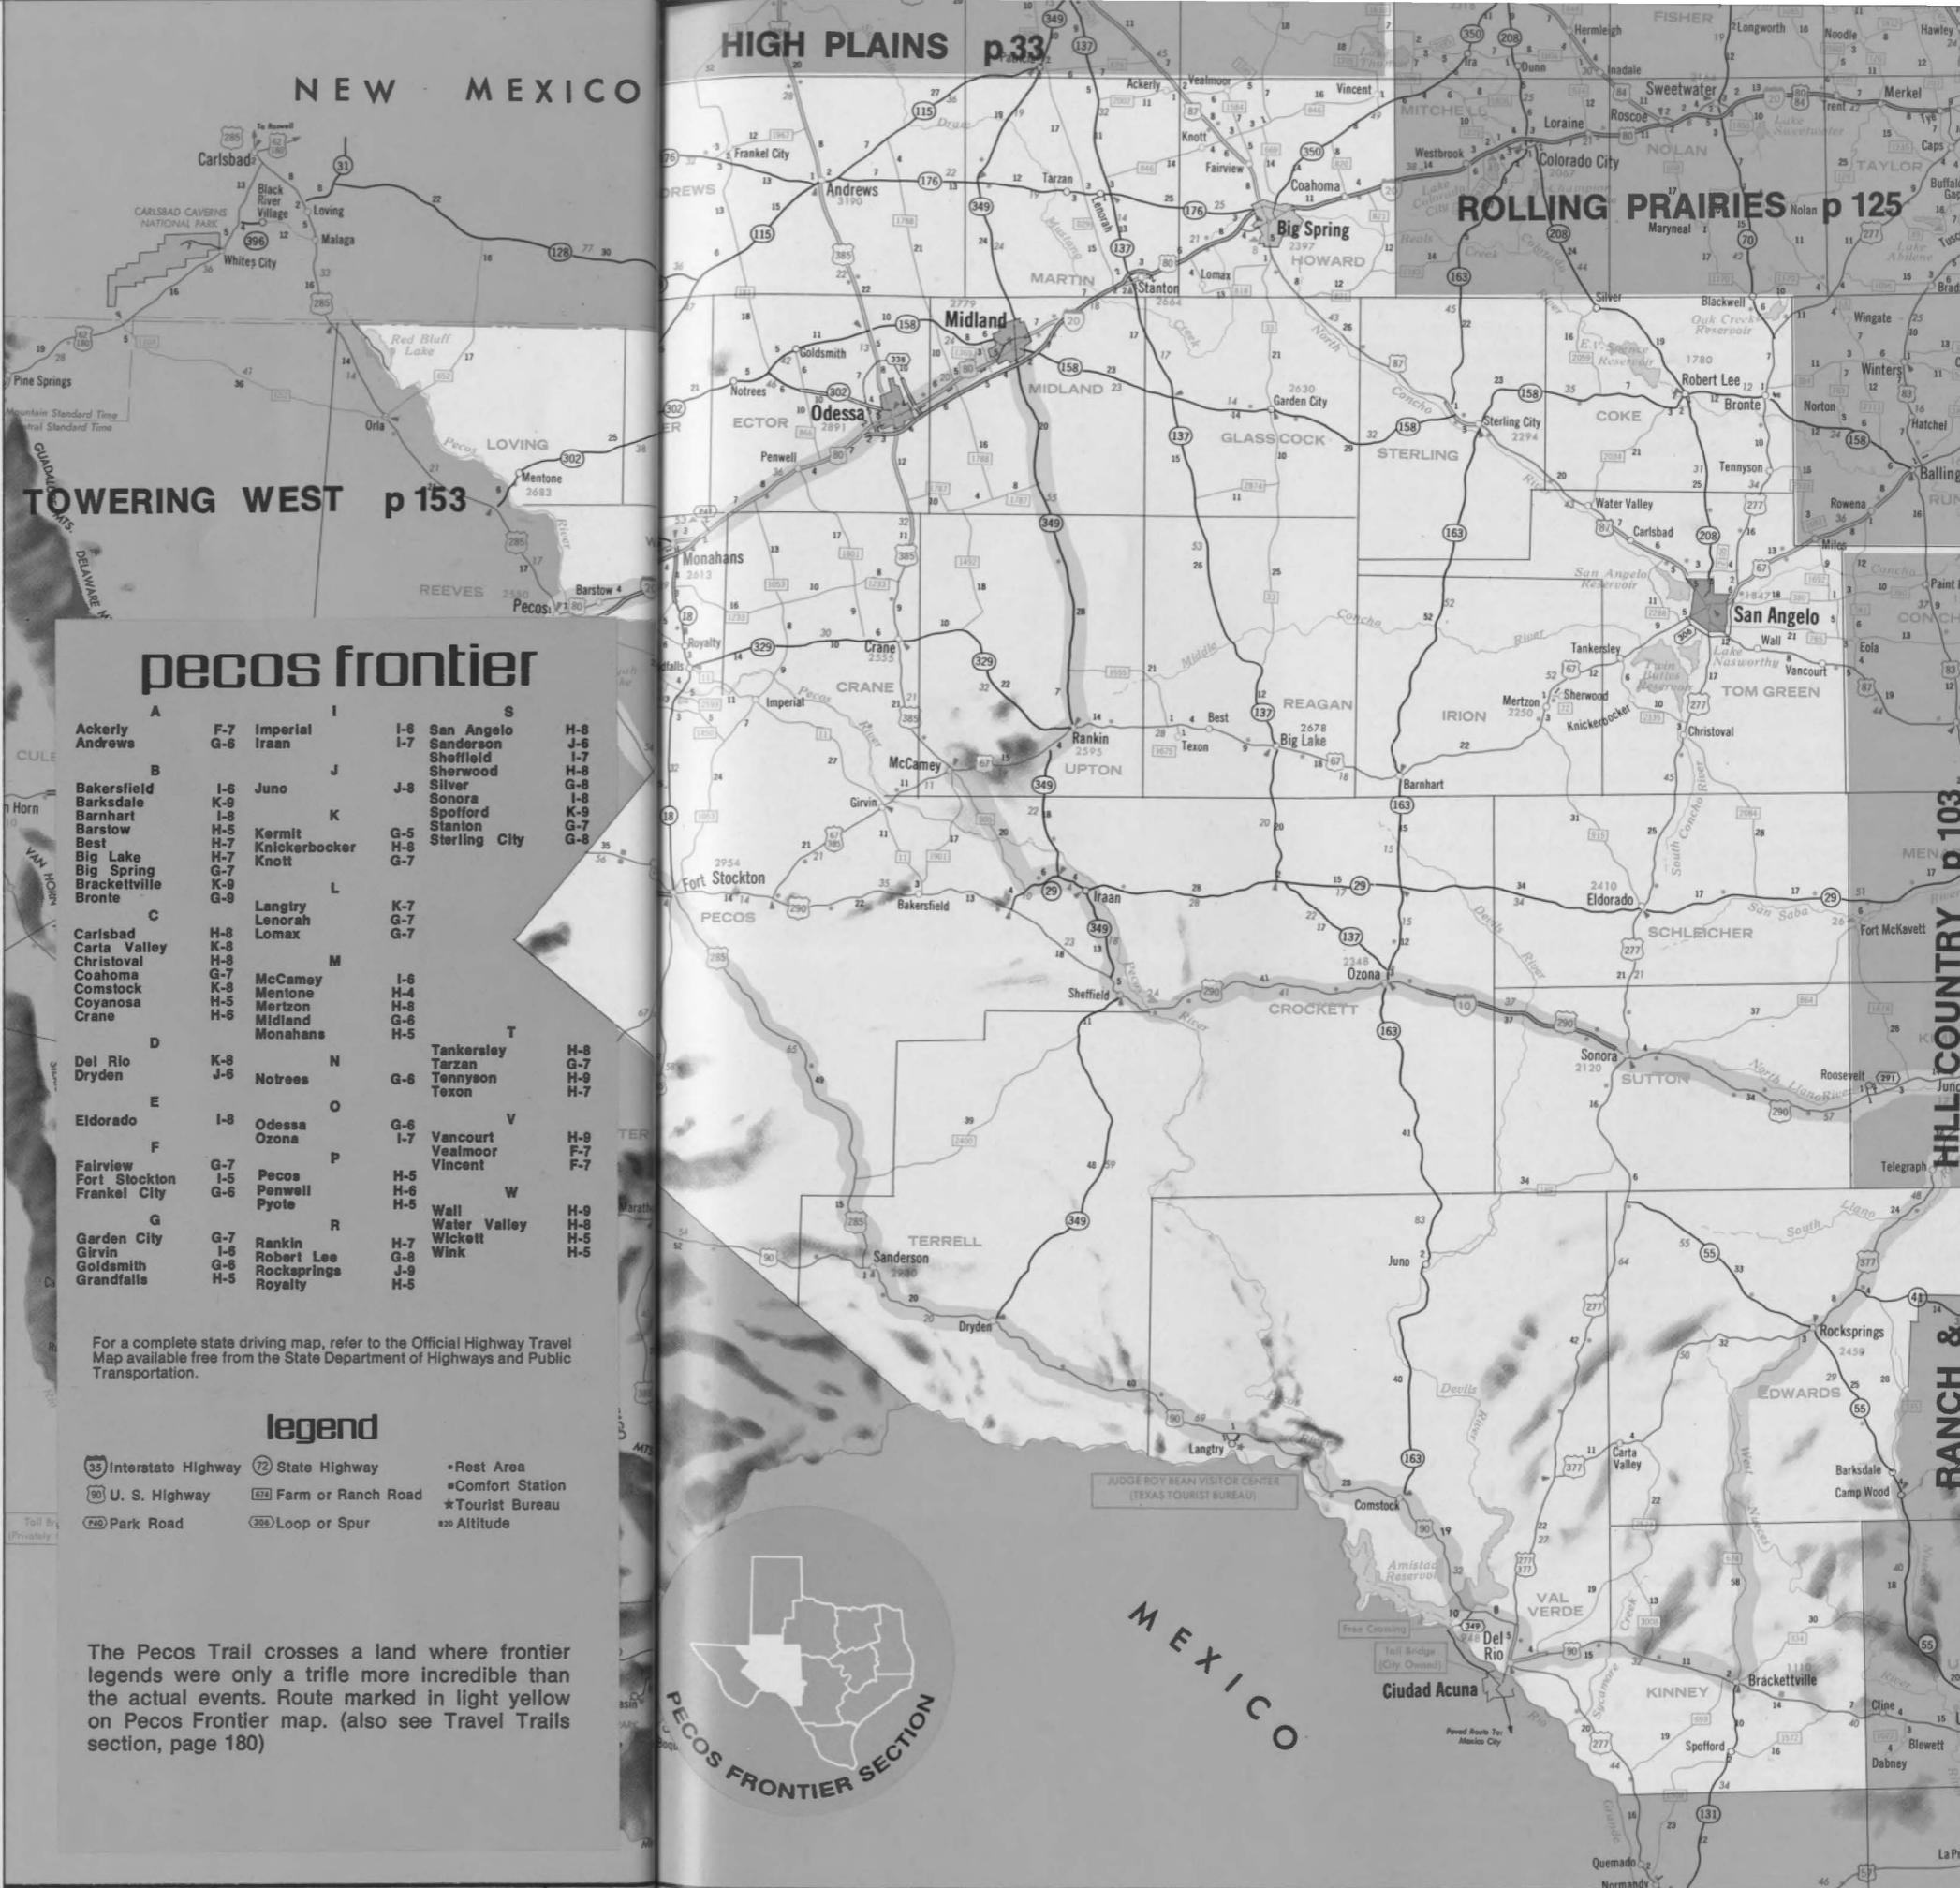

Camp Wood — Established 1857 as U.S. military post on Nueces River. At approach of Civil War, post was abandoned on Mar. 15, 1861. Historical marker is at site four miles east on a county road. Another marker is on Texas 55 just north of city limits.

Mission San Lorenzo de la Santa Cruz — Established 1762 by a captain of San Saba Presidio and Fray Diego Jimenez, president of missions of the Rio Grande. Though it gathered a number of Lipan-Apache Indians, mission never became strongly operating unit, since approval of viceroy was never obtained; abandoned after a few years. Ruins of mission, also known as El Cañon, four miles southeast, but not easily accessible.

BIG LAKE Grid H-7 Pop. 2,489 Alt. 2,678

General — Community developed with building of Orient Railroad in 1911; served as marketing and retail center for surrounding cattle and sheep ranches. The University of Texas owned much of rather arid grazing lands around Big Lake where in 1923 a large oil pool was discovered with the Santa Rita No. 1. Within a year 17 more producing wells were drilled. These discoveries, and others in following years, made the University of Texas one of richest schools in nation. Today Big Lake is seat of Reagan County; name derives from large, shallow depression to the south which forms a broad lake during wet seasons.

lands and low hills, two-story building of native stone in community of Stiles, one-time county seat. Prospects were good in 1903 when county was organized; Stiles had a newspaper; Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad surveyed route through town. Familiar tragedy occurred when large landowner refused to let railroad cross his land—the Orient built through Big Lake and Stiles withered.

Reagan County Park — Large park area with community center, pool, picnic shelters, camping (no hook-ups), replica of Santa Rita No. 1. North of city via Utah Ave.

BIG SPRING Grid G-7 Pop. 28,735 Alt. 2,397

General — Seat of Howard County; derived name from spring which served as watering place for buffalo, antelope, and wild mustangs. Spring was source of friction between Comanches and Shawnees, and camp site for early expeditions across western Texas. Headquarters and shipping point for livestock, cotton and small grains; since 1927 oil discovery a refining and distribution point for oil well machinery.

Major Events — Rattlesnake Hunt, in Mar., is a search for deadly reptiles which must be brought in alive. After catch is weighed, venom is extracted, and snakes sold for medical and scientific purposes.

Big Spring Rodeo, in June, has unusual feature of being staged in bowl-type arena much like a football stadium. World championship rodeo spans four days; Junior Rodeo in Aug. covers three days.

Big Spring State Park — 343-acre park contains popular dance pavilion and picnic facilities. Its scenic drives overlook city. At south edge of city off F.M. 700. Admission.

City Park — Large municipal park has facilities for camping, swimming, golf, picnicking; also pavilion, baseball field, and playground. At southern edge of city off F.M. 700 and U.S. 87.

Heritage Museum — Pioneer and Indian artifacts; art exhibits; local history displays. Open Mon. - Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sat. - Sun. 1 - 5 p.m. 510 Scurry St.

Howard County Junior College — Established 1946, coed; enrolls more than 1,000. South of I.H. 20 on Birdwell La.

Lake — J. B. Thomas. See LAKES this section.

Webb Air Force Base — An advanced jet pilot training school, 2.5 miles west off I.H. 20/U.S. 80.

BRACKETTVILLE Grid K-9 Pop. 1,539 Alt. 1,020

General — Established as supply village for adjacent Fort Clark in 1852. Fort was one of the most historic military posts in the Southwest. Over the years many infantry regiments and most of Army's cavalry units saw duty at Fort Clark. Deactivated in 1946, property is now housing development. Town also became trade center for surrounding ranches and irrigated farms. Seat of Kinney County. Hunting in area for white-tailed deer, wild turkey, javelina and upland game birds.

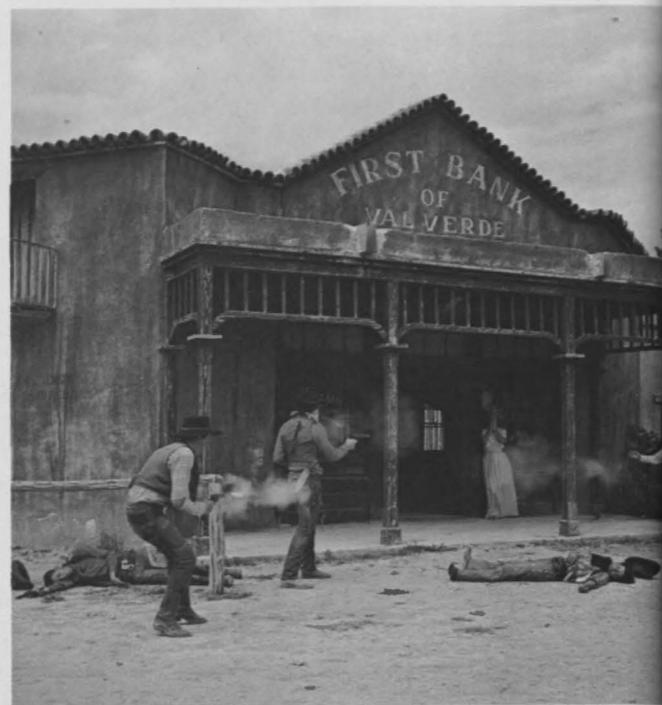

Major Event — Labor Day Horse Races at Alamo Village offer excitement. Rules are simple: no registered horse can be entered nor any horse that has ever raced on a recognized track, no known jockey may ride, all mounts must have Western saddles — and a Colt .45 signals start of each event.

Alamo Village — Western family recreation center built around movie set constructed for John Wayne's "The Alamo," filmed in 1959. Set was one of largest and most complete ever constructed in U.S. Authentic replica of the Alamo built by adobe craftsmen imported from Mexico, plus complete frontier village of Southwest. Continues as center of movie production in Texas. Facility, now operated by Shahan Angus Ranch, includes cantina-restaurant, trading post, souvenir shop, jail, Wells Fargo station, saddle shop and other typical Old West structures. Visitors may see frontier lawmen and desperados shoot it out on the streets, and take ride in genuine stagecoach. Six miles north on R.M. 674. Admission.

Historic Buildings — Several in area are of historical interest. St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church dates from 1878; Masonic Lodge Building, circa 1879, was original county courthouse. It stands next to present courthouse, and is dated by outside staircase. Information on these and other sites at chamber of commerce on Ann St. (R.M. 674) downtown, next to Post Office.

Scenic Drives — Two highways lead north into scenic landscapes of the Edwards Plateau. Locally known as the Hill Country, area rich in wild game and beautiful vistas. Among sheep, goats and cattle in rocky pastures, travelers may catch glimpses of white-tailed deer or wild turkey, especially in late afternoon. Several views of West Nueces River winding among steep cliffs and hills. R.M. 674 north to Rocksprings, or R.M. 334 northeast to intersection with Texas 55.

Seminole Indian Scout Cemetery — Dating from frontier era, scouts were descended from slaves stolen from plantations by Florida Seminoles. Moved to Oklahoma after Seminole War, many migrated toward Mexico. U.S. government hired 150 to serve as scouts with Army, following trails of raiding Indians. A group settled in Brackettville around Fort Clark. Descendants remain as farmers and ranchers, maintain old cemetery on county road about three miles south.

BRONTE Grid G-9 Pop. 925 Alt. 1,893

General — Established 1887; named for famed English novelist, Charlotte Bronte. Local park offers swimming pool, nine-hole golf course and playground.

Fort Chadbourne Ruins — Established 1852 by elements of 8th Infantry to protect frontier settlers. Early picket-type structures were built, but eventually stone was quarried for a number of substantial buildings. Fort depended upon Oak Creek for water, but stream proved unreliable, and water was serious problem at Fort Chadbourne for years. Federal troops left fort in 1859, and with outbreak of Civil War two years later, fort was occupied by Confederates. U.S. forces reoccupied fort 1865-67, but chronic water shortage forced abandonment and transfer to Fort Concho in San Angelo (which see this section).

Ruins of fort are on private property, not open to public. Accessible is historical marker beside U.S. 277 about 10 miles north, and nearby old cemetery of Fort Chadbourne town, now vanished. Many of oldest graves are unmarked, inscriptions on soft sandstone markers often illegible. Several still readable date back to 1870s, and some poignant stories are told by brief lines.

Lake — Oak Creek Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

CRANE Grid H-6 Pop. 3,427 Alt. 2,580

General — Crane County seat and only town in county. Located in oil-rich Permian Basin area, county has more than 6,000 producing oil wells.

Major Events — Crane County Exposition and 4-H Achievement Show is mid-Jan. event.

Crane County Rodeo features three days of arena action, early Sept.

Lake — Imperial Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

DEL RIO Grid K-8 Pop. 21,330 Alt. 948

General — Early Spanish missionaries twice tried to establish colonies on San Felipe Creek at site of present Del Rio, but isolation and Indians prevented permanent settlement until late 1870s. Presently seat of Val Verde (green valley) County, and important gateway to Mexico. (See Ciudad Acuna below.) Hunters visit area for white-tailed deer, javelina, white-wing and mourning dove, blue quail and wild turkey. Hunting leases available on nearby ranches; fishing excellent on Rio Grande and Amistad Reservoir. County is state's leading producer of sheep and lambs, plus substantial numbers of Angora goats. Contact Del Rio Chamber of Commerce, intersection U.S. 90/U.S. 277, for details on area attractions.

Major Events — Val Verde County Stock Show in Jan. has two days of exhibits and competition by area's best stockmen.

Bullfights in Ciudad Acuna, first Sun. of each month from Apr. to Nov.

Prized animals of Southwest are displayed at Val Verde Quarter Horse Show, one day in May.

4-H Club Junior Rodeo, late May-early June, sees three days of performances by young riders, ropers and all-round horsemen. Partnership Golf Tourney is popular three-day meet each June.

Labor Day Golf Tourney; four-day competition which draws participants from a wide area.

Del Rio Quarter Horse Show exhibits champion specimens of the traditional cowboy mount, one day, Oct.

Fiesta de Amistad spans five days in Oct. when Del Rio and Ciudad Acuna combine to celebrate international friendship (amistad). Features are Miss Amistad Beauty Pageant, Abrazo (clasp of friendship) on International Bridge, huge Good Neighbor Parade (Gran Desfile del Buen Vicino), fly-in breakfast, golf and bowling tournaments, fireworks, dances and chariade (rodeo) in Ciudad Acuna bull ring.

Ciudad Acuna — City of 25,000 across Rio Grande from Del Rio.

Bullfights, intriguing night spots, restaurants, fascinating markets offering handmade silver, decorative wrought iron, jewelry, woven goods, leather craft, pottery and souvenirs. (See MEXICO: Entrance & Exit Regulations at end of book.)

Lake — Amistad Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

San Felipe Springs and Moore Park — Lush oasis in arid setting, springs were important watering stop on historic Chihuahua Road that connected Texas port of Indianola with Chihuahua City, Mexico. Springs flow some 65 million gallons of clear, pure water daily. San Felipe Country Club golf course surrounds springs, and Moore Park provides a large swimming pool.

Val Verde Winery — Small family enterprise founded in 1880s by Italian immigrants who brought cuttings from Europe to establish vineyard. Still operated by same family; winery welcomes visitors during regular business hours.

Whitehead Memorial Museum — Dedicated to life and legends of frontier Southwest, museum in rustic structure that was early trading post serving both Texas and Mexico. Judge Roy Bean (see LANGTRY this section) and his son are buried on museum grounds. Open Mon. - Sat. 9 - 11 a.m.; 2 - 5 p.m. Admission.

ELDORAÑO Grid I-8 Pop. 1,446 Alt. 2,410

General — Seat of Schleicher County, established 1895. Located in scenic, rugged Hill Country of West Central Texas, city is headquarters for large ranching area, especially sheep and goats. El Dorado Woolens is only woolen mill in the Southwest weaving fabrics from virgin wool and mohair produced on West Texas ranches. Heavy concentration of white-tailed deer makes entire county popular with hunters each fall and winter.

FORT STOCKTON Grid I-5 Pop. 8,283 Alt. 3,052

General — Town developed with establishment of Fort Stockton military post in 1859, an outpost at crossing of Old San Antonio Road and ancient Comanche War Trail. Popular spot with Indians long before white men arrived because of large natural springs nearby. Area represented one of earliest irrigated farming efforts in Texas. Some 8,000 acres irrigated as early as 1877. Today seat of Pecos County, retail and shipping headquarters for vast ranching, natural gas and oil activities, and major West Texas crossroads. Hunting excellent over broad area south for mule deer and pronghorn antelope.

Major Event — Pecos County Livestock Show, two-day Jan. event with exhibits, livestock shows and varied competition.

Comanche Springs — Once one of largest flowing springs in Texas, now site of Olympic-sized swimming pool. Historical notations date from early days of Cabeza de Vaca's explorations, 1534, and other explorers such as Espejo in 1583, Mendosa in 1684.

Courthouse Square — Historic features include courthouse (1883), first Catholic church (1875), first schoolhouse (1883), and Zero Stone placed by survey party in 1859, used as origin point for all land surveys in this part of West Texas. Nearby St. Stephens Episcopal Church (1872), was first Protestant church west of the Pecos River.

Dinosaur Park — County Park with preserved footprints of prehistoric animals. Adjacent to highway rest area, 22 miles northeast on U.S. 67/385-U.S. 290 intersection gives additional details.

Grey Mule Saloon — Preserving nostalgic remembrance of times past, restored old saloon was one of early day "red-eye" (whiskey) dispensaries of West Texas. Callaghan and Main Sts.

James Rooney County Park — Green and spacious park on southern edge of city at historic Comanche Springs. Swimming, picnicking and tennis courts.

Lake — Imperial Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

Old Fort Cemetery — Records on existing tombstones indicate no person lived beyond age of 40; indication of hardships of those who opened and settled this harsh country.

Old Fort Stockton — Typical frontier military post established 1859, abandoned in 1886. Many original buildings of adobe and handhewn limestone still stand. Officers' Row and old guardhouse on Williams St. between 4th and 5th Sts.

Riggs Hotel — Popular stop on Butterfield Overland Mail Route; built 1899. Now a museum restored and maintained by Fort Stockton Historical Society, featuring area-related displays of life at turn of century. Open daily except Wed. 9:30 - 11:30 a.m., 2:30 - 5:30 p.m.; Sun. 3 - 6 p.m. 301 S. Main St.

Tunis Creek Stagecoach Stop — Former way station on Butterfield Overland Mail Route; later a Texas Ranger station. Historic structure has been moved, stone by stone, to a highway rest area on U.S. 290, 20 miles east. Original location was approximately two miles south.

GARDEN CITY Grid G-7 Pop. 286 Alt. 2,510

General — Established near turn of the century, town is seat of Glasscock County, one of state's most sparsely populated areas. Principal market and commercial center for surrounding farming and ranching areas, and extensive oil production.

IRAAN Grid I-7 Pop. 996 Alt. 2,200

General — With 1928 discovery of oil, town exploded into existence of hastily constructed frame buildings and tents. Name chosen in a contest, combines names of the townsite owners, Ira and Ann Yates.

City Park — 40-acre park adjacent to Fantasyland (see below). Picnicking, grills, swimming pool, camping. On Texas 29.

Discovery Well A No. 1 — Gusher blew in more than four decades ago, remains one of largest producing oil wells in North America. Tremendous jet of oil sprayed tent city four miles away. Sign at well site details impact of discovery.

Fantasyland — Alley Oop, comic strip caveman, was created by V. T. Hamlin while he lived in Iraan. Giant statues at playground immortalize Oop, his girl friend Ooola, and his dinosaur Dinny. Dinny is 65 feet long, 16 feet tall and 80,000 pounds heavy. Favorite spots for snapshots are astride his head, or sliding off of Oop's 20-foot top hat. Also in Fantasyland is Iraan Archeological Museum with artifacts of prehistoric man, other area antiquities. On Texas 29.

KERMIT Grid G-5 Pop. 7,884 Alt. 2,890

General — County seat town was mere village in 1926 when population of entire county was 81. Then oil was discovered nearby in the fabulous Permian Basin, and the boom was on. Today a center for oil and petroleum-based industries including natural gas, butane, propane, carbon black and sulphur.

Comanche Trails Museum & Zoo — Museum features gun collection, furniture, contents of medicine man's grave, artifacts collected by Dr. D. T. Thrower, noted North Plains collector. Zoo has over 60 species including Bengal tiger, many tropical birds. Primitive camping permitted; catfish ponds for fishing. Open daily 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. (8 p.m. in summer). 12 miles west off Texas 302. Admission.

Monahans Sandhills State Park — About 25 miles southeast (See MONAHANS this section.)

Pioneer Park — Outdoor museum includes Moorhead Derrick, a cable tool derrick with walking beam. Last active equipment of its type; was in operation until 1966. Other items are oldest house in Kermit, and "Nester's Shack" which were moved to site. Park area nearby offers swimming, picnicking, athletic courts. Open daily. Four blocks north of Texas 302 at east limits.

Amistad Reservoir — Joint project of United States and Mexico. Amistad (Friendship) Dam impounds waters of the Rio Grande just below its confluence with Devils River. Huge reservoir covers some 67,000 acres at normal level, extending 74 miles up the Rio Grande, 25 miles up the Devils River, and about 14 miles up the Pecos River. International boundary is marked by buoys on huge lake which hosts sportsmen from both countries. Fishing, boating, and sightseeing are superb on clear blue waters. The U.S. side is controlled by National Park Service; two marinas currently available, others planned. Diablo East Marina near southeast end of U.S. 90 bridge over Devils River arm of reservoir; Rough Canyon Marina off U.S. 277/377. For details about reservoir facilities and regulations, contact U.S. project headquarters at the dam, 12 miles northwest of Del Rio via U.S. 90, Spur 349. Toll-free access to Mexico across dam. K-8

Oak Creek Reservoir — Largest of three lakes supplying municipal needs for Sweetwater (Rolling Prairies section); 2,375 acres provide area with water sports including fishing, swimming, boating. Services and accommodations at lakeside. About 11 miles north of Bronte, also accessible from Robert Lee. G-9

San Angelo, Lake — (Also called North Concho Lake.) Reservoir on North Concho River, completed 1960, serves flood control, conservation and recreational capacities. Covering 5,440 acres with ample room for camping, fishing, swimming and other water sports. Three miles northwest of San Angelo. H-8

Twin Buttes Lake — Impoundment on Middle and South Concho Rivers has one of longest earthfill dams ever built by U.S. Bureau of Reclamation: 8.1 miles long with maximum height of 131 feet. At conservation level Twin Buttes covers 8,400 acres; offers boating, swimming, fishing and other water sports, lake-side camps and service facilities. About eight miles southwest of San Angelo. H-8

LANGTRY Grid K-7 Pop. 136 Alt. 1,315

General — Established 1881 when Galveston, Harrisburg, and San Antonio Railway survey was conducted, was junction of construction from east and west. Two origins of town's name exist: one prosaic, the other romantic. One credits town name to a civil engineer named Langtry who directed group of Chinese laborers in railroad construction. But colorful Judge Roy Bean (see below) insisted he named town after his idol, English actress Lillie Langtry, the "Jersey Lily."

JUDGE ROY BEAN VISITOR CENTER, LANGTRY

DIORAMA, JUDGE ROY BEAN VISITOR CENTER

DIORAMA, JUDGE ROY BEAN VISITOR CENTER

Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center — Features rustic saloon, courtroom and billiard hall of Judge Roy Bean, the colorful and controversial "Law West of the Pecos" in 1880s. The center preserves historic site where Judge Bean ruled with high-handed, but appropriate, brand of homespun law, outrageous humor, and six-gun justice. Adjacent modern visitor center interprets highlights of Judge Bean's career in six dioramas with special sound programs. Travel counselors provide literature and information about every part of Texas. An impressive cactus garden displays flora of Southwest; plaques label specimens and cite Indian/pioneer lore about the thorny plants. Free attraction, open daily; operated by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Scenic Overlook — U.S. 90 spans arid, primitive land little changed since pioneers first made their way across it in creaking wagons. One of most formidable barriers to early day travel — and civilization — was precipitous canyon of the Pecos River. Modern travelers can pause in roadside park by U.S. 90 on east rim of canyon, about 18 miles east of Langtry. View is spectacular, and provides insight into difficulties faced by pioneers who had to negotiate crossing without a bridge of any kind.

McCAMEY Grid I-6 Pop. 2,647 Alt. 2,441
General — Before 1920, only a lone boxcar occasionally stood on siding at this featureless site. Then a driller named McCamey brought in a gusher. Within less than a year McCamey was brawling boom town of 10,000 housed in tents and hastily constructed buildings. Much quieted, McCamey today is still a center of oil activity and livestock shipping point for surrounding ranches.

Major Event — Labor Day horse racing and huge barbecue attract area residents and visitors.

Castle Gap Park — Before earliest written history of area, Castle Gap was busy crossroads for nomadic tribes of Indians. Through it each fall, marauding Comanches followed their ancient war trail down from high plains to Northern Mexico, there to raid and pillage. Spanish explorers crossed here, as did later floods of pioneers moving west. Ruts of countless wagons and trails of Indian ponies can still be seen etched into barren surface. In

DOWNTOWN MIDLAND

1860s Goodnight-Loving Trail was blazed and tens of thousands of Longhorns were driven to market. About this period, according to legend, Emperor Maximilian of Mexico buried gold and jewels worth a quarter million dollars in area as he fled from Mexico. 232-acre park is on all-weather road from U.S. 385 about 15 miles northwest.

Mendoza Trail Museum — In historic Adrian House, restored in 1900 period; exhibits include relics of this recent frontier: Indian artifacts, fossils, mementos of oil boom. Open Tues. - Sat. 1:30 - 5 p.m. On U.S. 67 east.

Santa Fe Park — Huge pecan and elm trees shade areas for overnight camping, picnicking or traveling pause. Electric outlets, grills and grassy playground. At east limits on U.S. 67.

Scenic Drive — By night or day, the drive across King Mountain offers outstanding views. Mesa, at an altitude of 3,100 feet, has acres of ranchland shared by cattle, sheep and producing oil wells. Make local inquiry about county road from U.S. 67 east to U.S. 385 northwest.

MENTONE Grid H-4 Pop. 44 Alt. 2,680
General — Noted as smallest county seat in Texas, the town was established in 1931. Loving County is state's last organized and most sparsely populated. Mentone has no bank, doctor, hospital, newspaper, lawyer, cemetery or water system. (Most water is hauled in.) Discovery of adjacent Wheat Oil Pool occurred in 1925.

MERTZON Grid H-8 Pop. 513 Alt. 2,180
General — Established 1910 as stop on Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad; named for a director of the road. Seat of Irion County, a rolling to hilly area devoted primarily to ranching. County is one of Texas' leading sheep producing areas.

Sherwood Courthouse — One of best examples of early Texas courthouses still stands in Sherwood, a mile north and a mile east of Mertzson. Community was seat of Irion County from 1889 until 1936. The courthouse now belongs to Sherwood Baptist Church.

MIDLAND Grid G-6 Pop. 59,463 Alt. 2,779

General — Established prior to 1880 by thrifty, substantial mid-western farm families, city had quiet agricultural existence until 1923 when oil was discovered nearby in fabulous Permian Basin. Today headquarters of vast Permian Basin oil activity, housing more than 650 petroleum and related businesses. City lies on former Chihuahua Trail, Immigrant Road to California, and Comanche War Trail. Name derived from location halfway between Fort Worth and El Paso. Has famed theatre center, symphony orchestra.

Cole Park Zoo — Animals of West Texas area including Texas Longhorns, buffalo, elk, deer, antelope, wild pigs, groundhogs, badgers, wolf, bear, peacocks and geese. Zoo has picnic tables and playground equipment in shaded area of beautiful trees.

Midland College — State junior college, founded 1970. Enrolls about 800 students. 1801 W. Wall St.

Midland County Museum — Exhibits include Indian artifacts, pioneer relics; mementos of Civil War and World Wars I and II. Open Mon. - Thurs. noon - 6 p.m.; Sat. 9 a.m. - noon, 1 - 4 p.m. In city library at 301 W. Missouri.

Midland Man — Anthropologist Dr. Fred Wendorf authenticated remains (calvarium, upper skull) of what is known now as the Midland Man. Discovery proves existence of man in Midland area 22,000 years ago; site on Scharbauer Ranch south of city limits. Reproduction of remains on display in historical museum portion of Midland County Library.

Museum of the Southwest — Art, history and science of the Southwest. Permanent and traveling exhibits. Open Mon. - Sat. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sun. 2 - 5 p.m. 1705 W. Missouri. Planetarium at Indiana and Ave. K. Call 915/683-6441 for hours.

Parks — In a city of fine parks, three are exceptional: Cole Park and Zoo (see above) Dennis the Menace and Hogan Parks. Dennis the Menace Park is a three-acre duplicate of original in Monterey, Calif., with pastel colors and unusual areas of wading pools, walks, slides, playhouses and fountains. Hogan Park has excellent facilities: picnic area, playgrounds, swimming pool, ball diamonds, 18-hole golf course and driving range.

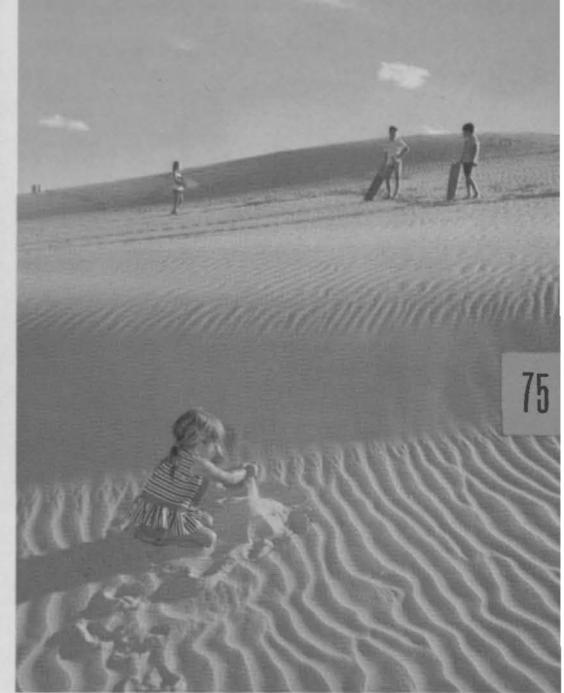

Pliska Museum — Blacksmith Johnny Pliska probably built and flew first airplane in Texas. Restoration of the frail craft, apparently designed by Pliska, is in glass-walled building on ramp side of Midland-Odessa Air Terminal. Airplane was flown several times in 1906, just three years after Wright Brothers flew at Kitty Hawk. Exhibits include articles and historical items depicting aviation history of area including a Roberts four-cylinder, 50-hp, two-cycle engine. Can be viewed daily all hours. Terminal off U.S. 80 between Midland and Odessa.

MONAHANS Grid H-5 Pop. 8,333 Alt. 2,613

General — Spanish explorers crossed area of present Ward County more than 400 years ago, but it remained undisturbed habitat of Indians until mid-1800s. City established about 1881 as a stop on Texas and Pacific Railroad building west from Fort Worth. County seat, today a financial and marketing center for more than 800 square miles of oil and cattle country.

Major Events — Prized livestock including sheep, cattle and quarter horses are displayed for four days during first week of Mar. at Ward County Livestock Show.

On Pecan Perfection Day, usually last week in Nov., area growers compete for prizes for best nut specimens, and luscious variety of pecan dishes and pastries receive culinary attention.

MONAHANS, LIKE THE GREAT SAHARA!

Downtown Oil Production — Unusual example of oil drilling techniques downtown where six pump jacks sit side-by-side. Pumps are grouped for convenience, while holes slant thousands of feet down and away beneath midtown area, drawing oil from beneath city hall, courthouse, banks and business houses. On Texas 18 one block north of U.S. 80, adjacent to Texas & Pacific depot.

Lake — Imperial Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

Million-Barrel Tank — In 1928 when gushing oil fields were producing faster than oil could be hauled or stored, Shell Oil Co. constructed world's largest oil storage tank. Hundreds of men and mule-powered scrapers and wagons excavated huge oval tank. Floor and sloping walls were sheathed with concrete. Leaks, technical problems and advancement of pipelines doomed project; giant, empty reservoir is unusual sight, with floor able to accommodate nearly five football fields. Off U.S. 80 at east limits.

Monahans Sandhills State Park — 4,000 acres of wind-sculptured sand dunes like classical landscape of the Sahara. Park has modern museum and interpretive center, picnicking, camping, and thrilling "sand buggy" rides over steep dunes. Huge sandhills area, only part of which is in park, was formidable obstacle to pioneer travelers and wagon trains. Indians knew it better; frequently camped here because pure, fresh water could be found between dunes by scooping a trench in sand. Not apparent to eye is one of largest oak forests in nation, stretching over 40,000 acres of arid land. "Forest" is not apparent because mature trees (Harvard oaks) are seldom over three feet high, yet send down roots as far as 90 feet to maintain miniature surface growth. Unusual park is on I.H. 20/U.S. 80 five miles east. Admission.

ODESSA Grid G-6 Pop. 78,380 Alt. 2,891

General — Established 1881 as stop on Texas and Pacific Railroad, said that name originated from Russian railroad laborers who compared wide, flat prairies with their homeland on steppes of Russia. City is in heart of vast area which was once an ancient sea. Area today, geologically speaking, is known as the Permian Basin, containing tremendous quantities of anhydrite, potassium salt, natural gas and oil. Oil boom beginning in 1929 brought great population growth. Symphony orchestra and chorale, Civic Music Association, Permian Playhouse Theatre and Globe of the Great Southwest.

Major Events — Sand Hills Hereford & Quarter Horse Show & Rodeo in Jan., eight days; first of the year draws top RCA cowboys. Square Dance Festival in Feb., two days. Leading callers and 100 squares at Ector County Coliseum.

West Texas Relays in Mar., two days; has top high school competition.

National Hot Rod Triple Point Meet, three days in Apr. Hundreds of entrants compete on one of fastest and finest strips in U.S.

Fine Arts Festival, citywide throughout April.
Jazz Festival in May, five nights with outstanding artists.
Shakespearean Festival with professional talent; mid-June to mid-Aug.

Highway 80 Tennis Tourney in June, three days, draws 700 amateur players in all age brackets.

Independence Day Festival ends with fireworks and new Miss West Texas entry for Miss America competition.

A.J.R.A. Rodeo Finals in Aug., three days.

Permian Basin Oil Show is in Oct. on even-numbered years. Four-day show is exposition of oilfield equipment; attracts worldwide attention.

Junior College Invitational Basketball Tourney in Dec., three days at Odessa College.

Ector County Coliseum — 10,000-seat coliseum hosts varied cultural attractions. Just north of coliseum is re-created cable tool drilling rig circa 1920. In "driller's shack" adjacent to rig is a collection of photographs and relics of "boom" days of West Texas oil industry. Andrews Highway and 42nd St.

Globe of the Great Southwest — On grounds of Odessa College, theater is authentic replica of original Shakespearean Globe Theatre. Only group in Southwest offering year-round classics with professional talent. National road shows, local productions share unusual facilities.

Jackrabbit Statue — Billed as "the World's Largest Jackrabbit," 10-foot statue is in 400 block of N. Lincoln St., two blocks west of U.S. 385 and two blocks north of U.S. 80. A popular photo spot.

Odessa College — Founded 1946; two-year, coed, with some 3,000 students. Present campus occupied in 1949; school is rated one of outstanding junior colleges in Texas and nation.

On campus is museum with Indian artifacts, mementos of Permian Basin pioneers, literary exhibits, and items of research which led to re-creation of Globe Theatre. (See above.) Open Mon. - Fri., 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. Andrews Hwy. at 25th St.

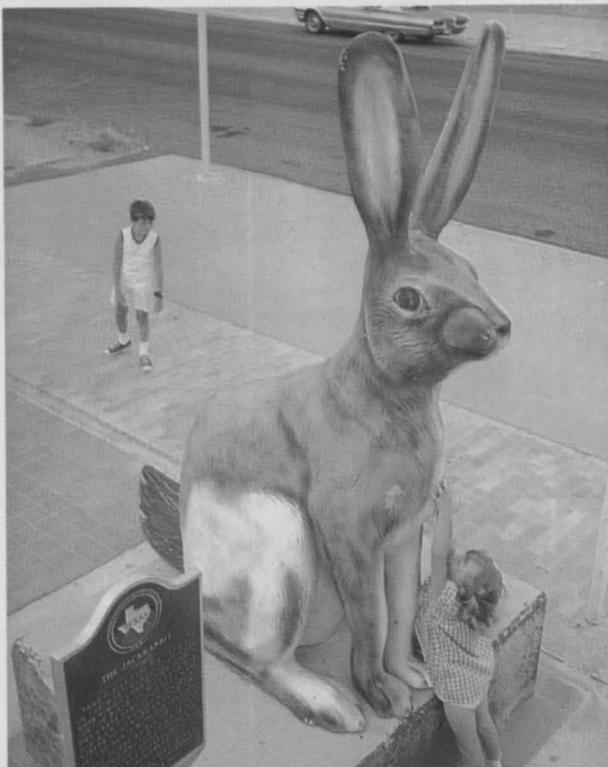

Odessa Meteor Crater — Site of second largest meteor crater in U.S.; believed to have been formed more than 20,000 years ago; now silted almost level with surrounding plain. Displays include meteoritic fragments, documents and photographs, plus general and Texas meteorological exhibits. Open Thurs. - Mon. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Five miles west, two miles south of U.S. 80. Admission.

Presidential Room — In Ector County Library (622 N. Lee St.) room houses furniture, documents and other relics of presidents of Republic of Texas and of United States. Open Mon. - Fri., 10 a.m. - noon; 1 - 5 p.m.

ROBERT LEE Grid G-8 Pop. 1,119 Alt. 1,850

General — Promoted as townsite in 1889 by two Confederate veterans, name honors Robert E. Lee. Graves of 34 Civil War veterans are in local cemetery. Seat of Coke County, area of rolling grasslands cut by Colorado River. Southern Overland Mail route (Butterfield Stage) crossed county near Robert Lee. Oil discovered in 1942, and more than 200 million barrels have been produced in county.

County Park — Neat, small county park off Austin St., offers public golf course, swimming pool, shaded picnic pavilions.

Dripping Springs — Scenic spot on Salt Creek about eight miles west on Texas 158 offers popular picnic facilities.

Ghost Town of Hayrick — In the Kickapoo Mountains, named for a nearby hill shaped like a hayrick, the abandoned town was once county seat. Only a few crumbling structures remain about eight miles northeast of Robert Lee. Inquire locally for directions.

Indian Relics — Coke County area was popular with many Indian tribes; several excellent local collections of artifacts. Flint points and other Indian items still found at numerous sites. Inquire locally and always obtain permission from landowners.

Lakes — E. V. Spence, Oak Creek Reservoirs. See LAKES this section.

SOUTH LLANO RIVER NEAR ROCKSPRINGS

FORT LANCASTER STATE HISTORIC SITE, OZONA

PRESERVED FORT CONCHO, SAN ANGELO

ROCKSPRINGS Grid J-9 Pop. 1,221 Alt. 2,450

General — Established 1891, named for springs prized as a water source by wagon trains and Indians. Located in highest area of rugged, scenic Edwards Plateau known locally as the Hill Country. Climate is cool and dry in summer, mild and sunny in winter. Area is popular year-round vacation spot offering camping, picnicking, hiking, rock collecting and frequent finds of Indian artifacts. During specified seasons hunters take white-tailed deer, wild turkey and upland game birds. Fishing on nearby South Llano and Nueces Rivers.

Angora Goat Breeders' Association Museum — On Austin St., includes pictures, records and early history of Angora goat-raising industry. Only registry office for industry in the nation. Open Mon. - Fri. 9 a.m. - noon, 1:30 - 4:30 p.m.

Scenic Drives — Most highways from Rocksprings are scenic routes through the rugged Hill Country, especially R.M. 674 south, U.S. 377 southwest toward Del Rio, and U.S. 377 northeast toward Junction.

SAN ANGELO Grid H-8 Pop. 63,884 Alt. 1,847

General — Community grew around frontier site of Fort Concho, established at junction of north and middle branches of Concho River in 1867. Town became center of early ranching efforts, both cattle and sheep; today the largest primary wool market in U.S. as well as a great livestock and oil region. In recent decades substantial development of diversified industry including petroleum equipment, plastics, medical supplies and jet aircraft. In season, hunters take white-tailed deer, wild turkey, javelina, migratory waterfowl and upland game birds. Excellent fishing on lakes and rivers. Symphony orchestra.

Major Events — San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo, five days in Mar., attracts top entrants for stock competition and arena events.

Miss Wool of America Pageant in late June marks week of festivities climaxed by coronation of queen from among national contestants.

Angelo State University — Coed, liberal arts, established 1927; enrolling more than 3,000. Four-year state-supported school.

Fort Concho — Among best preserved of Texas frontier military forts; many original buildings in excellent condition. Established 1867 as pivot post on frontier line, replacing Fort Chadbourne (see BRONTE this section). Most stone structures built with pecan wood beams and rafters by skilled German craftsmen from Fredericksburg.

Frontier troopers protected stagecoaches and wagon trains, escorted U.S. mail, explored and mapped new territory, and clashed frequently with raiding Indians. Among commanders was fabulous Col. Ranald S. Mackenzie whose bold, successful campaigns against the Indians finally secured the frontier and opened area to peaceful settlement.

The bluecoats were no longer needed when the frontier moved farther west. In a sentimental ceremony the colors were struck and a last column of troops moved out of Fort Concho on Mar. 27, 1889, as the regimental band played "The Girl I Left Behind Me." Extensive remains of fort are centered along Burges St. and Aves. C and D.

Fort Concho Museum displays diorama of post as it appeared in the previous century, plus military artifacts, geological and wildlife displays, guns, pioneer relics and old vehicles. Museum open Mon. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sun. and holidays 1 - 5 p.m. 716 Burges St. Admission.

General Telephone Exhibit Museum — Models of telephones from Alexander Graham Bell's "Gallows Frame Phone" (only five ever built) to present models. Open Mon. - Fri. 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. 2701 Johnson St.

Goodfellow Air Force Base — U.S. Air Force Security Service training facility.

Lakes — Nasworthy, San Angelo and Twin Buttes. See LAKES this section.

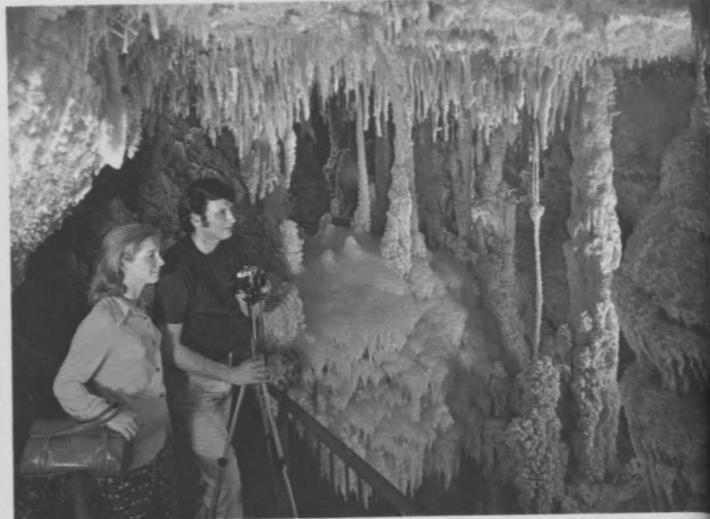

Parks — Seven city parks covering 124 acres; golf, tennis, fishing, swimming and picnicking.

SANDERSON Grid J-6 Pop. 1,229 Alt. 2,780

General — Seat of Terrell County, established with survey of Texas and New Orleans Railroad prior to 1881. In early days frontier town was infamous for its population of outlaws, gunmen, border renegades and cattle rustlers. Roy Bean operated a saloon in the rough town along with his operation in Langtry, 60 miles away. Today a railroad center and supply point for surrounding sparsely settled ranching areas where fine-wooled sheep and cattle are grown. Hunters take both mule deer and white-tailed deer in season.

CAVERNS OF SONORA

The longest fenced cattle trail in world once extended from a railhead at Brady to Sonora. Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railroad purchased 250-foot wide right-of-way and fenced it for 100-mile distance. Holding pastures and windmills were along route that operated profitably for decade — until another railroad completed line to Sonora. The Sutton County seat is a leading wool, mohair and registered livestock center of the nation. Hunting seasons bring sportsmen for white-tailed deer and wild turkey.

Major Events — Quarter Horse Show, late May, exhibits prize specimens of the hardy, intelligent breed developed as cowboys' mounts.

Wool and Mohair Show and National 4-H Wool Judging Contest, mid-June.

Caverns of Sonora — Discovered and opened to public only a few years ago, fantastic caverns are called unbelievable by cave experts. Formations called "impossible" grow in delicate crystal beauty, and amazing profusion. Every hue of rainbow shimmers from intricate networks of cave growth. A past president of the National Speleological Society has said "This is the most indescribably beautiful cavern in the world. Its beauty cannot be exaggerated, even by Texans!" About 15 miles southwest via U.S. 290 and R.M. 1989. Admission.

Miers Home Museum — Ike Miers House, built 1888, furnished as a pioneer home. Miers came to county in covered wagon figured in area history. Open Thurs. 2 - 4:30 p.m. Oak St., across from jail.

STANTON Grid G-7 Pop. 2,117 Alt. 2,604
General — Settled 1881 by German Catholics, originally named Mariensfeld (Field of Mary). In 1882 Carmelite Monastery opened a boarding school for elementary and junior high students. Name changed 1890 in honor of Abraham Lincoln's Secretary of War, Edwin M. Stanton. Kelly home is only structure that remains of school which was called the Convent and Academy of Our Lady of Mercy. Half-mile north on Texas 137 is small adobe building said to be oldest hospital in West Texas. City is cotton compressing center for area.

Major Event — Old Settlers' Reunion in mid-July, held for nearly 40 years; one-day event features parade, barbecue, and community homecoming.

STERLING CITY Grid G-8 Pop. 780 Alt. 2,294
General — Grew from ranch headquarters of W. S. Sterling, Indian fighter and buffalo hunter, in late 1880s. Designated Sterling County seat in 1891. Rolling prairie land of the area had long been popular with Indians before coming of white men. Was location of several huge cattle companies before influx of settlers and introduction of barbed wire forced reduction in giant cattle operations. County remains ranching area today, with some oil production. City is principal retail center and shipping point.

SONORA Grid I-8 Pop. 2,149 Alt. 2,120

General — On western slope of the Edwards Plateau, Sonora began as trading post on Old San Antonio-El Paso road with Anglo-American settlement beginning about 1890; was connected by stage to San Angelo until 1915, and Western heritage is reflected still.

woodland lakes

This is the green-canopied region of Texas, the Piney Woods and the Big Thicket laced with wild azaleas, native orchids and passion flowers.

These lush woodlands border lakes of misty beauty—some secluded in small glades, disturbed only by a bullfrog's splash—others spreading like vast inland seas, miles of open water to test the yachtsman's skill.

Here are four national forests plus a myriad of state and local parks, for this is the place to meet Nature on her own terms. Here lingers the atmosphere of the Old South—a paddle wheeler that cruises moss-draped bayous—still-proud plantations, and architecture from a more gracious age.

Here is Texas' only Indian reservation, welcoming visitors to view traditional dances, and observe the making of intricate handicrafts.

For pine-scented draughts of relaxation, savor the vacation variety of the Woodland Lakes!

WHERE TO GO, WHAT TO SEE

ALTO Grid H-15 Pop. 1,045 Alt. 433

General — Originally a stop on the Old San Antonio Road, town is tomato-growing center in redland belt. Name derives from Spanish word for "high" because of location on highest point between the Angelina and Neches Rivers. Contact the local chamber of commerce for information about sites of interest in this historically rich area.

Major Event — "Showing of Past Treasures," weekend in Oct., features antiques at one of several historic sites such as Forest Hill Plantation, built 1847.

Davy Crockett National Forest — Nearest entrance southwest six miles on Texas 21. (See NATIONAL FORESTS IN TEXAS at end of book.)

Mission San Francisco de Los Tejas State Historic Park — See WECHES this section.

Mound Prairie — One of the chief archeological points of interest in Texas, these ceremonial mounds, two measuring 300 by 350 feet, are remains of Hasinal Indian culture. Six miles southwest of Alto.

Scenic Drive — Exceptional scenery in forested hills and streams lies along U.S. 69, Texas 21 (El Camino Real) and numerous local roads around Alto.

ATLANTA Grid E-16 Pop. 5,007 Alt. 264

General — Established 1872 with building of the Texas and Pacific Railroad, named for Atlanta, Ga., former home of many early settlers. Town today serves a farming, forestry and oil area. Sites of more than 25 early Caddo Indian villages have been noted in the region.

Major Events — Cass County Calf Show, mid-Mar., is a 4-H/FFA exhibition of animals raised by school-age stockmen.

Atlanta Forest Festival, three days in Sept.; dedicated to area forests and forest products. Name entertainment, forest skill contests, pageants and product displays are among highlights.

Atlanta State Park — Excellent trailer and campsites available at 1,475-acre facility on south shore of Lake Texarkana. Other features include swimming, boating, water skiing, fishing and hiking. About 14 miles northwest via F.M. 1154 off U. S. 59 north, or via F.M. 96 off Texas 77 west. Admission.

Lake — Wright Patman. See LAKES this section.

CAMDEN Grid I-16 Pop. 960 Alt. 322

General — Established as lumbering town 1898, activity still centers around timber growing, cutting and processing. County's largest lumber mill, handling both pine and hardwoods, located here.

Scenic Drive — Several highways linked to form a loop called Polk County Scenic Drive. Through a landscape of pines and dogwoods, the 100-mile route travels from Camden over F.M. 942, F.M. 2500 (to Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation,) F.M.

Admission.

Siecke State Forest — 25 miles south on U.S. 96. (See STATE FORESTS OF TEXAS at end of book.)

JEFFERSON Grid F-16 Pop. 2,866 Alt. 191

General — Various dates are cited as the beginning of Jefferson at a river landing on Big Cypress Bayou: 1836-1840. Whatever the date, early settlers were already established when the town was laid out in 1842. Today one of Texas' most historic towns. More than 30 structures bear Texas State Historical Medallions.

Jefferson early became the major East Texas river port of entry; Big Cypress was then navigable by steamboats from New Orleans. Discovery of nearby iron ore brought smelters and plow works, while plentiful pine and cypress stimulated a lumber industry.

Here was one of Texas' first breweries, and in 1873 the world's first ammonia refrigerant ice plant. It was the state's first city to utilize artificial gas for street lighting, and shortly after the Civil War, reached a peak transient population of 30,000 with as many as 15 steamboats at a time lining the docks, and scores of wagon trains passing through on the way West.

Steel rails were also reaching west, but Jefferson, confident in the steamboat, refused Jay Gould's offer for a railroad (see below). Gould angrily predicted death for the city, and laid his tracks elsewhere. He was right as far as "city" goes, because succeeding years, like the railroad, seemed to bypass Jefferson.

For today's traveler seeking quiet reflection of a past era, it was a fortunate result.

Major Event — Jefferson Historical Pilgrimage, first weekend in May. With all traditional flavor of the Old South, hoop-skirted belles usher guests through gracious and historic old homes, collections of antiques, and gardens at height of spring bloom. Highlights include a parade and re-enactment of the Diamond Bessie Murder Trial, a notorious scandal of the 1870s.

Apothecary Shop and Country Store — Apothecary antiques (including patent medicines of 1850-90) and country store supplies; a recorded Texas historic landmark. 312 E. Broadway St.

Caddo Lake State Park — See KARNACK this section.

Cypress Queen — Replica of a paddlewheeler skippered by a certified riverboat captain; 45-minute trip down Big Cypress Bayou with narrator. During summer daily except Tues., Thur.; leaves Cypress Queen dock hourly 1 - 7 p.m. Charter and special group trips and rates. Free playground and antique car ride at dock on Big Cypress Bayou and U.S. 59. Fare.

Excelsior Hotel — Numbered among its guests Ulysses S. Grant, Rutherford B. Hayes, Diamond Bessie, Jay Gould and Oscar Wilde. Period furnishings of maple, cherry and mahogany include marble-topped dressers, button and spool beds, many from original furnishings of the hotel when it opened more than a century ago. Still accepting guests. Open daily for tours 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. 211 W. Austin St. Admission.

Jay Gould Private Railroad Car — The "Atalanta," luxurious interior with four staterooms, lounge, dining room, kitchen, butler's pantry and bathroom. Ironically, the car is within a stone's throw of the Excelsior Hotel, in whose register Gould wrote "The end of Jefferson" when citizens indicated a preference for grass to grow in the streets rather than have them marked with railroad tracks. Open daily, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Admission.

Jefferson Historical Society Museum — Four floors of articles, documents and antiques from a bygone era. Mementos of pioneer days, early steamboat commerce, antebellum society. Paintings and sculpture from D. D. Feldman collection. Open daily, Lafayette and Vale Sts. Old Federal Building.

Lakes — Caddo, Lake O' the Pines. See LAKES this section.

The Manse — Built about 1839, probably Jefferson's oldest building. One-story structure is city's best example of Greek Revival architecture; also headquarters of Jessie Allen Wise Garden Club, the organization responsible for much of historic restoration in Jefferson. Delta and Alley Sts.

Woodlands Trail — Feature is 99-foot state champion yellow poplar, survivor of four transplanted from Georgia in 1887, and sire of hundreds now in the area. Other species identified. On U.S. 59, 8.5 miles north.

KARNACK Grid F-16 Pop. 775 Alt. 237

General — Adjacent to Caddo Lake and Caddo Lake State Park (see below), city is named from a point of ancient historical reference. The village was the same distance from Port Caddo, the northeast port of entry for the Republic of Texas, that Karnak, Egypt, was from Thebes. The Thiokol Chemical Corp. here manufactures solid fuel for rocket engines.

Birthplace of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson — Constructed of bricks made by slaves, the birthplace of the former First Lady (born Claudia Taylor) is a handsome two-story structure on a sloping hill. Built before the Civil War, it was the family home of T. J. Taylor, a well-known merchant; 2.7 miles southwest on Texas 43.

Caddo Lake State Park — 478 acres beside Caddo Lake (which see), an area once occupied by Caddo Indians, a tribe quite advanced in civilization. Camping areas, trailer sites, cabins, fishing, swimming, boating, hiking, nature trails and interpretive center. Two miles north off Texas 43. Admission.

Lake — Caddo. See LAKES this section.

KILGORE Grid F-15 Pop. 9,495 Alt. 371

General — Plantation owners settled the area before the Civil War, but town was not established until building of the Missouri Pacific Railroad in 1872. Town is at geographic center of huge East Texas Oil Field discovered 1930; more than 1,100 oil wells once located within city limits, many still producing. Home town of internationally acclaimed concert pianist Van Cliburn.

Kilgore Junior College; "Kilgore Rangerettes" — Established 1935, known for academic and sports programs. Coed, enrollment of about 3,000 students. Widely known as "Sweethearts of the Gridiron," the school's 53-member Rangerette precision drill and dance team receives applicants from girls throughout the United States. The red-white-and-blue Texan-hatted beauties perform at the nearby Texas Rose Festival (see TYLER this section) and various bowl games throughout the nation.

World's Richest Acre — On part of one downtown block, actually about 1.2 acres, once stood the greatest concentration of oil wells in the world. One of the original 24 derricks is preserved, and an historical marker details the history of the plot, which is now landscaped. Business Route Texas 135 at Main and Commerce Sts.

An interesting sidelight is that one of the wells was drilled through the terrazzo floor of the Kilgore National Bank building that once stood on the site.

KOUNTZE Grid I-16 Pop. 1,703 Alt. 85

General — Established as railroad town 1881. Seat of Hardin County, an area more than 89 per cent forested that produces over 5.5 million board feet of lumber monthly.

The Big Thicket — Kountze describes itself as "The Big Light in The Big Thicket" — that vast area of tangled, often impenetrable woods, streams and marshes in East Texas. Local inquiry will direct visitors to roads offering typical views of the Thicket. At Saratoga, 15 miles west via Tex. 326 and F.M. 770, the Big Thicket Museum has exhibits centering on the pioneer and natural history of the Thicket. Open Sat., Sun. year round; Tues. - Sun. in summer.

LAKES

B. A. Steinhagen, Lake — 13,700-acre Corps of Engineers impoundment also known as Dam B and Town Bluff Reservoir. Modern public parks, marinas and camps are at lakeside. Very popular for fishing, boating and swimming. Also location of Martin Dies Jr. State Park (see Jasper this section). For details on lake facilities contact project headquarters at the dam off F.M. 92. Midway between Jasper and Woodville. I-17

Caddo Lake — A huge expanse of 32,700 acres that spreads over portions of both Texas and Louisiana. It is rich in Indian legends which say the lake was formed at night, in the dark of the moon, by powerful shaking earth spirits who were angered at a Caddo Indian chief. There could be a factual basis for the legend because the lake may have resulted from the great New Madrid (Mo.) earthquake of 1811. Steamboats from New Orleans and elsewhere regularly plied the lake in the mid-1800s. In 1869 a tragedy took 60 lives when the riverboat Mittie Stevens burned near Swanson's Landing. Had the victims known the water was only a few feet deep they could have waded to shore. Pearls in freshwater mussels brought a swarm of pearl hunters about the turn of the century. Today the lake has a primeval aura, edged by dense forests which frequently invade the waters; Spanish moss drapes the trees, and lush aquatic growth appears jungle-like. Because the maze of channels can be confusing, the state has marked 42 miles of "boat roads" on Caddo. Fishing is superb, and many camps and marinas are at lakeside, including Caddo Lake State Park (see KARNACK this section). Lake is a few miles north of Karnack, also accessible from Jefferson. F-16

Cherokee, Lake — 3,987 acres popular with residents and tourists who enjoy boating, skiing, fishing and other water sports. The lake also provides power generation and the municipal water of Longview. 12 miles southeast of Longview off Texas 149, also accessible from Henderson and Tatum. F-16

Gladewater, Lake — 800-acre impoundment on Glade Creek offers fishing, water sports and sites for weekend outings. Northern edge of Gladewater. F-15

Hawkins, Lake — One of four small Wood County lakes for flood control and recreation, 1,064 acres. Lakeside facilities cater to boaters, fishermen and campers at Lake Hawkins Camp Park. A few miles northwest of Hawkins, accessible from Mineola. F-15

Holbrook, Lake — 653-acre Wood County lake designed for recreation and flood control. A county-operated campground is at lakeside. All water sports and fishing. On Keys Creek, four miles northwest of Mineola, also accessible from Quitman. F-15

Houston County Lake — A small impoundment of 1,300 acres on Little Elkhart Creek, popular with area fishermen and boaters. Lakeside picnic and camping areas. Inquire locally for details of facilities. About seven miles southwest of Grapeland, also accessible from Crockett. H-15

Jacksonville, Lake — 1,760 acres rated by area fishermen as one of the best bass lakes in Texas. Water skiers and boaters enjoy the waters, while picnicking and camping are popular along the scenic wooded shore. About four miles south of Jacksonville, also accessible from Rusk. G-15

Lake O' the Pines — Large 38,200-acre Corps of Engineers reservoir amid scenic rolling forestlands; one of the most attractive lakes in East Texas. Modern Corps of Engineers public parks, commercial marinas and camps at lakeside. Excellent fishing, boating, sailing, water skiing, swimming and camping. For details on facilities contact reservoir headquarters at east end of Ferrell's Bridge Dam, F.M. 726. About 10 miles west of Jefferson, also accessible from Gilmer, Ore City, Lone Star, Daingerfield and Avinger. F-16

Livingston, Lake — Huge new 84,800-acre reservoir on the Trinity River, spreads into four counties. Operated by Trinity River Authority and city of Houston. Stretching 52 miles long, the lake has a timbered shoreline of 452 miles devoted mainly to recreation. A host of lakeside parks, camps and marinas offer a complete range of services for boating, fishing, camping and other water sports. About six miles west of Livingston, also accessible from Coldspring, Huntsville and Trinity. I-15

Murvaul, Lake — 3,820 acres, built for industrial purposes, but also furnishing recreational facilities for residents and visitors. Excellent fishing, water skiing, boating and swimming, plus campsites at lakeside. Waterfowl hunting during winter season. 12 miles southwest of Carthage, also accessible from Henderson, Tenaha and Mount Enterprise. G-16

Palestine, Lake — 25,500-acre impoundment for recreation, municipal and industrial water supplies, on the Neches River in a hilly timber area. Very popular for boating, water sports and fishing. Facilities include a marina, bait and tackle shops, swimming beach, boat launching ramps and camping areas. Some 13 miles northwest of Jacksonville, also accessible from Palestine, Tyler, Frankston and Bullard. G-15

Quitman, Lake — 814 acres, one of four small Wood County lakes for flood control and recreation. All water sports, fishing, and a county-operated campground. At east end of dam is large Caddo Indian burial ground. Four miles north of Quitman. F-15

Sam Rayburn, Lake — Giant lake in the heart of Angelina National Forest, one of the most popular recreation areas in East Texas. Largest body of water wholly within the state, it covers 113,410 acres at normal capacity. Corps of Engineers and National Forest Service parks, camps, marinas and recreational areas dot the 560-mile shoreline. Open water for all types of boating activities, plus huge areas of flooded timber providing prime fish habitat. Boat roads through flooded timber areas. Fishermen take black bass, white bass, crappie, catfish, and bream. For details on facilities, contact project headquarters at west end of the dam on FM 255, or chambers of commerce in nearby towns. The huge lake is accessible about 20 miles north of Jasper, and also from Zavalla, Huntington, Lufkin, Etoile, San Augustine, Broaddus, Hemphill, Pineland and Brookeland. H-16

Striker, Lake — (Formerly Striker Creek Reservoir) 2,400 acres used for recreation, power generation and industrial water supply. A great bass lake with marina services and boat launching facilities, plus picnicking and camping areas. 18 miles southwest of Henderson, also accessible from Jacksonville, New Salem and New Summerfield. G-15

Toledo Bend Reservoir — Gigantic impoundment on the Sabine River between Texas and Louisiana, 65 miles long, covering 186,500 acres with 650 miles of shoreline. Joint project of the two states, the largest lake in Texas or on its borders. Parks of Sabine River Authority and National Forest Service at lakeside, plus almost unlimited commercial camps, resorts and marinas. Vast open water areas provide room for sailing and boating of all kinds; equally large regions of submerged timber are prime fish habitat. Fishing is superb with black bass the favorite game fish, plus white bass, crappie, catfish, bluegills and bream species. Maps and information about lakeside facilities available at nearby towns, and at seven offices of Texas Sabine River Authority: at the dam north of Burkeville, F.M. 692 and F.M. 3125 (not shown on section map); off Texas 87 south of Hemphill; off Texas 21 as it crosses the lake east of Milam; southeast of Patroon on local roads; east of Shelbyville on F.M. 2694 (not shown on section map); northeast of Shelbyville via F.M. 417, F.M. 139 north; and southeast of Joaquin off F.M. 139. Lake is accessible from Center, San Augustine, Hemphill and many other nearby towns. H-17

Tyler and Tyler East, Lakes — Municipal lakes, both are water supply impoundments and provide public recreation sites. Lake Tyler East, formerly Mud Creek Dam Lake, has an area of 2,580 acres; Lake Tyler 2,450 acres. Both about 12 miles southeast of Tyler, also accessible from Arp, Troup and Whitehouse. G-15

Winnsboro, Lake — 806 acres, designed primarily as a recreational lake. Fishing, water sports, camping. Six miles southwest of Winnsboro, also accessible from Quitman. F-15

MISSION TEJAS STATE HISTORIC PARK

TYLER MUNICIPAL ROSE GARDEN

Home of "Apache Belles," famous precision dance-drill team. Campus east of downtown just off Texas 64.

Tyler State Park — 994-acre scenic playground is one of the finest forested sections of Texas. Facilities include camping, picnicking, nature trail, screened shelters, rest rooms and showers, snack bar, miniature golf, fishing, swimming, and boats; 10 miles north via F.M. 14, Park Road 16. Admission.

WASKOM Grid F-17 Pop. 1,460 Alt. 371

General — Established 1850, originally known as Powellton. Name changed to Waskom Station in 1872 to honor man who was instrumental in bringing Southern Pacific Railroad through the community. Waskom Gas Field discovered in 1924.

Tourist Bureau — One of 11 bureaus provided by the state at key highway entrances to Texas, in the State Capitol, and at the Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center in Langtry. Bureaus are operated daily throughout the year, staffed by uniformed, trained travel counselors. Services free to all visitors include information, maps, literature on every part of the state, and expert assistance in charting routes. At the Texas-Louisiana state line on I.H. 20; operated by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

WECHES Grid H-15 Pop. 26 Alt. 450

General — A rural community first settled before 1847. Originally called Neches, the citizens chose Weches when a post office application revealed the first name was already in use. A Spanish mission (see below) had been established 150 years earlier at a large Tejas Indian village nearby. Town is within the boundary of Davy Crockett National Forest (see NATIONAL FORESTS IN TEXAS at end of book).

Mission San Francisco de Los Tejas State Historic Park — Landmark in the 118-acre state park is replica of Mission San Francisco de Los Tejas, the first Spanish mission in East Texas, built in 1690 to stem tide of French encroachment. Park is southwest of Weches off Texas 21 to Park Road 44. Camping, picnicking and nature study. Admission.

WINNSBORO Grid F-15 Pop. 3,064 Alt. 533

General — Although named for John E. Wynn, an 1854 settler, the spelling was supposedly changed by a newspaper editor in the 1870s because of a shortage of "y's" in his type. Poultry, beef and dairying are important agriculturally. Strawberry production ranks second in the state.

Major Events — Old Fiddlers' Contest, 4th of July. (Held on Monday if 4th is Sunday.) Festival of old-time country music.

Autumn Trails weekends from late Sept. to early Nov. Special routes through autumn beauty of forestlands. Associate attractions include an old syrup mill in operation, century-old cider mill (free cup for visitors!), Queen Autumn coronation, one-act plays, Gospel Songfest, Pilgrimage of Early Texas Homes, barn and square dances, turkey shoot, and a round trip Horseback Trail Ride to Duncanville. Art and flower shows also lend color to the popular event.

Lake — Winnsboro. See LAKES this section.

AUTUMN TRAILS ARE FALL FEATURES AT WINNSBORO

SIDEWALK ART, WINNSBORO AUTUMN TRAILS FESTIVAL

General — A commercial center for lumbering and forest products; seat of Tyler County, an area more than 90 per cent forested. Named for George T. Wood, second governor of Texas.

Major Event — Tyler County Dogwood Festival, late Mar. - early Apr., relives area history in pageant, story and song as landscape is dotted with beautiful white blooms. First event is Western Weekend with trail rides and horsemanship competition followed by dancing. The second weekend features an historical pageant and coronation of Festival Queen.

Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation — Home of several hundred Alabama and Coushatta Indians, part of the Southern forest tribes, the reservation is in a dense wooded area known as the Big Thicket. Sam Houston, a staunch friend of Indians, was influential in having the reservation created in the 1850s. Today an excellent visitor program features attractions including the Living Indian Village where tribal members employ traditional techniques to make jewelry, basketry and leather items; Big Thicket tours via swamp buggy and miniature railroad; museum and crafts shop; colorful tribal dances; reptile garden; petting zoo, and Inn of the 12 Clans restaurant offering customary fare plus genuine pit cooked barbecue, and traditional Indian foods. Scenic campground areas, fishing lake, and swimming. Open daily (except Sun. morning). Closed second weekend in Dec. through Christmas. U.S. 190 between Livingston and Woodville.

"Beyond the Sundown" — Historical drama in outdoor theatre. Dramatic story of Alabama and Coushatta Tribes. Nightly except Sun., late June through late Aug. On reservation. Admission.

Big Thicket Garden — Natural garden of wild plants of the Big Thicket. Guided tours with interpretative lecture. Interesting gift shop. Open Mar. - Dec. 24, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Dec. 26 - Feb., Sat., Sun, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. One mile west on U.S. 290. Admission.

Heritage Garden — Texas' past preserved in unusual setting created by ceramist Clyde E. Gray, honored by the Texas Heritage Society for his efforts in historical preservation. Open-air display features old buildings, shops, homes and vehicles, plus pictures, historical documents, maps and pictorial records of everyday life from the pioneer days through the Roaring Twenties. Outstanding among the buildings is a log cabin built in 1866, and in continuous use through 1960. Restored to its original condition, cabin has handmade pegged windows and wooden door hinges oiled with washers of bacon rind. Open daily, 9 a.m. - sundown. One mile west of Woodville on U.S. 190. Admission.

Kirby State Forest — 14 miles south on U.S. 287. (See STATE FORESTS OF TEXAS at end of book.)

Lake — B. A. Steinhagen. See LAKES this section.

Martin Dies Jr. State Park — See JASPER this section.

Scenic Drives — In an area of rolling hills, lively springs and streams, thousands of wild flowers and 250 species of trees, any highway provides scenic treasures.

Shivers Library and Museum — Former Texas Governor and Mrs. Allan Shivers made a gift of this restored Victorian home to the people of Woodville. Among handsome furnishings is carpeting from France. Mementos and historical documents of the Shivers administration are among many items on display. Open Mon. - Tues. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Wed. - Fri. noon - 5 p.m.; Sat. 9 a.m. - noon. 302 N. Charlton. Admission.

General — Rural community which grew around Concord Church before the Civil War; once an important shipping point for forest products on the Texas and New Orleans Railroad. Located in Angelina National Forest, town is a gateway to several recreation areas on Sam Rayburn Reservoir (which see).

Angelina National Forest — Town is within the forest boundary. (For details see NATIONAL FORESTS IN TEXAS at end of book.)

Harvard Home Museum — A log cabin, circa 1853, the oldest house in the county. Display of pioneer furnishings and artifacts. Open daily June-Aug.; two miles south via U.S. 69 and F.M. 1270 (not shown on section map).

Lake — Sam Rayburn Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

In every season the camping's great in Texas! Sites listed below are administered by local, state and federal agencies. Not included are commercial camps whose listings are usually available in commercial guides. Camps are listed under nearby city name; driving directions are provided to each. The grid letter and number by each city name correspond to the camp's location on the sectional map for this region.

Directions are by standard compass abbreviations: N (north), NE (northeast), E (east), SE (southeast), S (south), SW (southwest), W (west), NW (northwest). Highways are indicated by standard abbreviations: IH=Interstate Highways, shown on maps as 35. US=U. S. Highways, shown on maps as 80. Tex=Texas State Highways, shown on maps as 21. FM or RM=Texas Farm or Ranch Roads (all are excellent paved routes), shown on maps as 229.

Unless otherwise noted, drinking water is available; the facility is open year round; showers are "hot," and tent and wheeled campers can use the camping area.

ranch and hill country

Here's a study in contrasts—from classic ranches on brushy plains to the broken skyline of the Hill Country—verdant valleys ablaze with wild flowers, and arid regions thorny with cactus and yucca.

This traditional home on the range is now dappled with lakes, and there are more boats in Texas than horses. Dude ranches, still savoring the Old West, offer runways for fly-in guests.

Discover centuries-old Spanish missions dozing beneath the soaring Tower of the Americas, or the Texan-hatted and booted rancher who speaks German as his native tongue. Discover African game animals roaming the Texas landscape, and a colorful gateway to Mexico.

Marvel at a Venice-style waterway winding through a Spanish city, the music of mariachis mingling with Dixieland jazz. Then, beneath a Polynesian volcano, view an underwater show from a submarine theater.

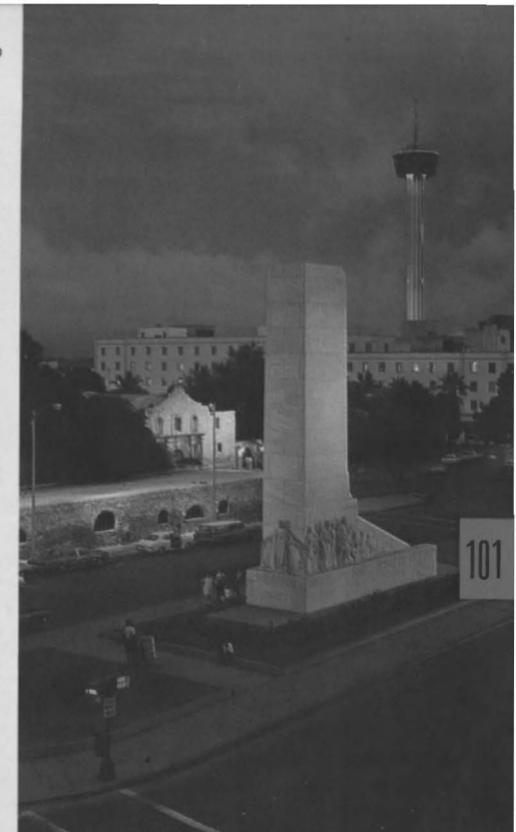

Ranch & Hill Country . . . land of surprises!

AUSTIN Grid J-12 Pop. 251,808 Alt. 550

General — In 1839 five mounted scouts ranged over a broad area of wilderness seeking a site for a new capital city for the Republic of Texas. Location on the north bank of the Colorado River was chosen, where rich blacklands meet scenic hills. Site occupied at the time by a four-family settlement called Waterloo. Name honors Stephen F. Austin, the "Father of Texas." About the first of Sept., 1839, archives and furniture of Texas government were transported from Houston to Austin by 50 ox-drawn wagons. Today the hub city of Texas, seat of government, education, industry and diversified recreation.

For details about city attractions contact the Austin Chamber of Commerce, 901 W. Riverside Dr. (south side of Town Lake adjacent to Municipal Auditorium) or the Tourist Information Center in the State Capitol, operated by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Major Events — Austin Livestock Show, nine days in Mar., exhibits prize animals from throughout Central Texas.

Highland Lakes Bluebonnet Trails, two weekends in Apr., lead visitors into scenic Hill Country where roadsides are splashed with colors of bluebonnets, Indian paintbrush, buttercups, and other wild flowers.

Texas Relays, a major track and field event scheduled two days each Apr.

Laguna Gloria Art Fiesta, two days each May. A great variety of art originals and crafts in atmosphere of gala outdoor fair.

Travis County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo, three days in July. Traditional rough-and-tumble arena competition.

Aqua Festival 10 days in Aug. Parades, pageants and water-related contests centered around Town Lake in the city, with other events scheduled on the chain of Highland Lakes northwest of Austin. Boating events range from opening canoe race to power boat races in all classes with some of the fastest boats in the nation. A lighted night water parade and fireworks extravaganza are other features.

Highland Lakes Arts and Crafts Trail, two weekends in Sept. or Oct., leads visitors to participating Hill Country towns where paintings and handicrafts of local artists are displayed.

Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary — Founded as Austin School of Theology 1884 by the Synod of Texas, Presbyterian Church. Coed, enrollment about 170. On a five-acre tract at 27th and Speedway.

Bergstrom Air Force Base — Large U.S. Air Force installation a few miles east of city on Texas 71. Not open to the public.

Concordia Lutheran College — North central Austin; beautiful grounds and classic structures of a junior college that enrolls about 275 students; 3400 East Ave.

CASTROVILLE Grid K-11 Pop. 1,788 Alt. 760

General — Rich in French-German traditions, founded 1844 by Henri Castro, an empresario of the Texas Republic who brought a group of Alsatian settlers. Today in this quaint Texas village, past and present intermingle within a curve of the Medina River.

Major Event — St. Louis Day Homecoming, Aug., held on banks of Medina River in tree-shaded Koenig Park. More than 12,000 visitors feast on five tons of prime beef barbecue with Alsatian-style sausage and trimmings. A dance and tours of pioneer homes are other features.

Lake — Medina. See LAKES this section.

Landmark Inn (Vance Hotel) — Once a stagecoach stop; a recorded Texas historic landmark. First floor completed 1848 and second nearly 10 years later. Has separate kitchen and lead-lined bathhouse, a luxury feature in early days. Small museum contains furniture brought from Europe, and other memorabilia. Operated by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. U.S. 90 west and Florence St. Admission.

St. Louis Catholic Church — The "new" church was built in 1869, replacing original tiny chapel, still standing on grounds. The little stone chapel, built by colonists themselves, was first community project of Alsatian pioneers.

COMFORT Grid J-10 Pop. 1,444 Alt. 1,437

General — Established by German settlers 1854. Wearied by their journey from New Braunfels, small group was so pleased by picturesque site and pure water that they named it "Camp Comfort." Now a popular tourist area with numerous camps along Guadalupe River sponsored by various civic organizations. Visitors enjoy fishing, swimming and camping during summer months, hunting during fall and winter.

Major Event — Fourth of July Homecoming, annual celebration in which entire town participates. Features huge community barbecue at noon, contests, games, traditional German band music and dancing.

Comfort Historical Museum — Photos and histories of area pioneers; household items. Open Sat. 1 - 5 p.m. and by appointment. 838 High St. Contributions.

Monument — On high school campus, recalls event of Civil War era and fierce passions which wracked the nation. Predominantly German settlers of Comfort were openly sympathetic with Union cause. Friction developed with Confederate forces, and some 65 men led by Fritz Tegener determined to leave area and go to Mexico. Group was surprised and attacked by mounted Confederate soldiers on west bank of Nueces River about 20 miles from Fort Clark. Nineteen settlers were killed and nine wounded. Confederate losses were two killed and 18 wounded. The nine wounded settlers were captured and executed a few hours after battle. Monument commemorates the Unionists killed in this tragic episode of a violent era.

CONCAN Grid K-9 Pop. 150 Alt. 1,260

General — Settled about 1840, supposedly named for "coon can," a Mexican gambling game. Located in scenic Frio River Canyon, an area of numerous dude ranches and resort camps.

Garner State Recreation Park — 630 acres on the Frio River, named for John Nance Garner, a former vice president. In addition to wide range of adult activities, park is popular with teenagers because of programs in their behalf. Accommodations for two to eight people in comfortable stone and timber cabins. Camping area provides shaded sites for tents and trailers, and screened shelters. Rest rooms with showers, grocery store for supplies. Other facilities include snack bar and restaurant in summer season, pedal boats, miniature golf course, swimming, fishing, boating, hiking, and nature study. Located six miles north of Concan (31 miles north of Uvalde) off U.S. 83 on Park Rd. 29. Admission.

Scenic Drives — Explore Frio River Canyon along U.S. 83, F.M. 1050 and Texas 127 — all routes offering exceptional scenery.

COTULLA Grid M-10 Pop. 3,415 Alt. 442

General — Retaining much of the atmosphere of its pioneer era, located in typical South Texas brush country on Nueces River. In early years town had its share of Indian raids, gunplay politics, and organized outlawry. It is said the largest roundup of horses (1,000 head) ever staged in Texas was held in Cotulla to fill contract for Argentine government. Today seat of La Salle County, banking and marketing center for vast ranching areas and agricultural products including onions, spinach, tomatoes, peppers, cabbage, squash, peas and watermelons. During specified seasons county attracts hunters seeking some of state's largest white-tailed deer, plus doves, quail, wild turkey, javelina and wolves. Fishermen take catfish, bass and bream in Nueces River.

Welhausen Elementary School — Modest red brick schoolhouse typical of such structures familiar to generations of students; noted by political historians as site of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's first school teaching assignment in 1928.

CRYSTAL CITY Grid L-9 Pop. 8,104 Alt. 581

General — Seat of Zavala County, town is a primary center for packing, processing and shipping vegetables; also serves a large ranching region. Most famous for its spinach crop (see below), this "winter garden" area also produces large quantities of onions, carrots, tomatoes and peppers.

Major Events — Zavala County Exposition Junior Fair, late Jan. - early Feb. Parade precedes livestock show on Exposition grounds. Miss Crystal City Beauty Pageant, Apr.; winner goes to Miss South Texas Pageant.

Christmas Parade, early Dec., officially opens holiday season.

Popeye Statue — A whimsical salute to area's spinach crop, statue depicts the cartoon sailor man who eats his spinach and fights to the finish. A favorite spot for snapshots with children; downtown city square.

EAGLE PASS Grid L-8 Pop. 15,364 Alt. 797

General — First U.S. settlement at site on Rio Grande began during Mexican War with establishment of temporary Camp Eagle Pass. In 1849 permanent Fort Duncan was ordered constructed. Today a primary international gateway and tourist center, seat of Maverick County, and retail shipping center for 40,000-acre irrigated winter garden region. International bridge to Piedras Negras, just across Rio Grande. Bridge connects U.S. 57 with Mexico 57 which leads to Monclova, Saltillo, San Luis Potosi and Mexico City. Portions of Mexican route are through scenic areas of the Sierra Madres. Sportsmen enjoy fishing for the famous (and huge) Rio Grande catfish, hunting for large white-tailed deer and upland game birds.

Major Events — George Washington International Fiesta, three days in Feb. Piedras Negras joins with Eagle Pass for Latin-accented balls, pageantry and parades.

Old Men's Roping, mid-Oct., sees old timers and former champions sling fancy loops and tall tales.

Fort Duncan — Established 1849 and occupied by three companies of 1st U.S. Infantry Regiment. During Civil War post was occupied by Confederate troops of Frontier Regiment. Federal troops reoccupied post 1868; it remained under military authority until 1916. Many restored stone buildings form center of municipal park and spacious country club. Museum open daily in summer; weekends in winter.

Piedras Negras — Mexican city across Rio Grande from Eagle Pass, population about 33,000. Handicraft items at bargain prices in many shops and traditional Mexican market area. Restaurants and popular night clubs; bullfights at intervals throughout summer months. (See MEXICO: Entrance and Exit Regulations, at end of book.)

FISCHER Grid J-11 Pop. 20 Alt. 1,200

General — Established 1853 by Hermann Fischer to serve neighboring settlers. Store grew from a one-room log cabin to business requiring a dozen wagons pulled by six-mule teams to haul products for community. Post office established 1875 has never failed to have a Fischer as postmaster. The weather-beaten store is almost only remainder of once-thriving community. Located on one of most scenic drives in state, a winding, razor-backed ridge known as the Devil's Backbone — officially R.M. 32.

FLORESVILLE Grid K-11 Pop. 3,707 Alt. 389

General — Name derives from early Mexican rancher, Don Francisco Flores de Abryo (or Abreyo), who built his headquarters about six miles northwest in 1832. In 1883 nucleus of present city was established on land donated by the Flores family; became Wilson County seat in 1885. With annual growing season of 285 days, is marketing and shipping point for watermelons, peanuts, flax, cotton, beef cattle, dairy and poultry products.

Major Event — Floresville Peanut Festival, two days in Oct. Highlights include coronation, parade, fiddlers' contest, street dances and rodeo.

Canary Islanders Cemetery — Predates the church built in 1732; Canary Islanders formed first regularly organized civil government at San Fernando de Bexar, now San Antonio. Several old Texas families trace lineage to these colonists. One block north of U.S. 181/F.M. 536 intersection (Plum and 10th Sts.).

FORT MCKAVETT STATE HISTORIC SITE

FORT MCKAVETT Grid I-9 Pop. 103 Alt. 2,155

General — Community occupying site and several of the original stone buildings of U.S. Army fort established 1852 as protection for settlers from Indians.

Fort McKavett State Historic Site — Extensive ruins; major restoration program underway. Established 1852 by Maj. Pitcairn Morrison, U.S. 8th Infantry, called Camp San Saba. Later named for Capt. Henry McKavett, killed at Battle of Monterrey in Mexican War. Abandoned during Civil War, reoccupied by Col. Ranald S. Mackenzie in 1868. By 1876 there were stone barracks for eight companies, 12 officers' quarters, hospital, guardhouse, magazine, bakery, post office, large headquarters building, storehouses and stables. Fort's usefulness declined after 1874 when army offensive against Indians produced several major victories — the most significant one led by Mackenzie in Palo Duro Canyon. (See CANYON, High Plains section.) Post abandoned 1883. Historical interpretation being developed at site.

FREDERICKSBURG Grid J-11 Pop. 5,326 Alt. 1,743

General — Settled by German families from New Braunfels in 1846, led by John O. Meusebach. Although settlement was on Indian frontier, Meusebach-Comanche Treaty of following year established lasting peace. Many older buildings retain traditional continental styles. German is spoken as often as English, and old customs are regularly observed: Saengerfests (song festivals), Easter fires and Schuetzenfests (marksmanship tournaments). Visitors attracted by scenic beauty, European atmosphere, historic landmarks, excellent fall and winter hunting; famous breads and pastries. Birthplace of Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet during World War II.

Major Events — Easter Fires Pageant (see separate entry below).

July Horse Races, three days around July 4th.
A Night in Old Fredericksburg, usually third weekend in July. Old world traditions with music, food, colorful costumes.

Gillespie County Fair, three days in Aug. Traditional events, exhibits and competitions of a Texas county fair.

Admiral Nimitz Center — Naval exhibits from World War II with emphasis on career of native son Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz. Housed in historic Nimitz Hotel originally constructed by admiral's grandfather in 1847. Hotel guests included Rutherford B. Hayes, Robert E. Lee, Phil Sheridan. Open daily. 340 E. Main St.

BALANCED ROCK — Scenic highway rest area; popular picnic spot. A huge boulder, easily accessible, is perched on an incredibly small base. About four miles north on R.M. 965.

Easter Fires — An unknown pioneer mother told first Easter Fires story to quiet fears of her children — a charming tale of Easter rabbit who lit and tended hillside fires to boil traditional eggs. In reality fires were those of Indians watching new settlers carve out a community in the Pedernales Valley more than a hundred years ago. A cherished tradition remaining today, hillside fires still glow each Easter eve, while pageant retells the story in city's Fair Park.

Enchanted Rock — Massive dome of solid granite famed in Indian legend far before recorded history. Site of human sacrifices, some tribes feared to set foot on it, while others used height as rallying point. All held it in awe and reverence. Indians believed ghost fires flickered upon crest on moonlit nights. Weird creaking, groaning sounds emitted at night are explained by geologists as result of cooling and contraction after day's heat. Covers about 640 acres, 500 feet high. Park area, picnic grounds and screened cabins. Off R.M. 965, 20 miles north. Admission.

Lady Bird Johnson Park — 190-acre municipal park features golf, swimming, tennis, badminton, hiking trails, picnicking and camping facilities. Also small lake where sailboats, canoes and paddleboats are permitted. 3.5 miles south on Texas 16.

Lange's Mill — Century-old, well-preserved gristmill and sawmill of burr type on Threadgill Creek near community of Doss. About 22 miles northwest via U.S. 87 and R.M. 648.

Old Gillespie County Courthouse — Built 1882, served as courthouse until 1939. Restored and converted to library/community hall. Library's German Room houses prized German collection. Open Mon. - Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. W. Main St.

Pioneer Museum — Relics, documents, furniture, clothing, tools and weapons of earliest settlers. Open daily 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. May - Aug.; Sat. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. and Sun. 1 - 5 p.m. and by appointment Sept. - May. 309 W. Main St. Admission.

Scenic Drives — R.M. 965 north through geologic and scenic beauty, leads to Enchanted Rock. Travelers may often glimpse area wildlife.

U.S. 87 to R.M. 648 to community of Doss, and Lange's Mill on Threadgill Creek.

Sunday Houses — Almost miniature houses built by early settlers for use only on weekends. From their farm and ranch homes miles away from town, early residents would journey into Fredericksburg on weekends for Saturday marketing and church on Sunday. Several of the little stone houses remain today, marked by historical medallions. (Not open to the public.)

Vereins Kirche — Reconstructed "coffeemill church," eight-sided structure was first public building in city, serving as house of worship, school and meeting hall. Now houses chamber of commerce office. W. Main St., midtown.

KERRVILLE Grid J-10 Pop. 12,672 Alt. 1,645

General — Seat of Kerr County, one of state's most famous health and recreation centers. Area within a hundred mile radius believed by many to have most ideal climate in nation. More than a dozen boys' and girls' camps, scores of hotels, motels, adult camps, dude ranches, and religious encampments attract thousands annually. Rugged cedar and live oak covered hills, picturesque green valleys and beautiful streams edged by towering cypress. White-tailed deer are so numerous that highway signs caution motorists to be on the alert for them, especially at night. Center of extensive beef, wool and mohair production.

Capt. Charles A. Schreiner, born in Riguewihir, France, was early, prominent Kerrville settler. He served with the Confederacy and as a Texas Ranger, established general merchandising business in Kerrville, 1869. The Charles Schreiner Co. owned more than 600,000 acres of land by 1900, extending some 80 miles northwest to Menard. Among Schreiner's philanthropic efforts was establishment of Schreiner Institute (see below).

Major Events — Junior Livestock Show and Auction, Jan., features prize animals raised by local youths.

LEAKEY Grid K-9 Pop. 393 Alt. 1,609

General — Small community (pronounced LAY-key) is in one of most scenic and picturesque areas of rugged Edwards Plateau, locally called the Hill Country. Elevations range from 1,500 to 2,400 feet with deep, dramatic canyons cut by Frio and Nueces Rivers. Archeological excavations show evidence of prehistoric civilizations in area. At time of first Spanish explorers, game-rich area was inhabited by Comanche, Apache and Lipan-Apache Indians. Ranching predominates today featuring cattle, sheep and goats. The flocks of registered Angora goats produce prized mohair. Camping, fishing and hunting are popular with visitors. Game birds and animals include white-tailed deer, wild turkey, mourning dove, quail, squirrel, javelina, rabbits, ringtails and an occasional mountain lion.

Scenic Drives — Series of highways in a loop to the west span some of the most spectacular scenery in the Hill Country — land of massive timbered hills, steep cliffs, small secluded valleys and streams. West on F.M. 337 to Camp Wood, Texas 55 north to Barksdale, F.M. 335 north to Texas 41; then east to F.M. 336, and south back to Leakey.

U.S. 83 north skirts East Frio River. About 12 miles north a highway rest area offers a spectacular view and picnic facilities. Texas 39 east is another picturesque route, along Guadalupe River to Ingram.

LLANO Grid I-11 Pop. 2,608 Alt. 1,029

General — Settled about 1855, pioneers were plagued by hostile Indians who stole livestock, equipment and even clothes of settlers during the first year. By 1860 town was well established with stores, several saloons and a hotel, though a church had not appeared in the rough frontier village. Located in ranching country of scenic beauty. Fine fishing along picturesque Llano River and on nearby lakes. Hunting, especially for plentiful white-tailed deer, is among best in Texas. Early Spanish are said to have mined gold and silver, and there are legends of lost mines. Mineral production today includes a dozen varieties of fine granite plus feldspar, talc and graphite. Minerals and outcroppings of ancient rocks lure rockhounds from throughout nation. (See TEXAS ROCKS AND MINERALS at end of book.)

Major Events — Highland Lakes Bluebonnet Trail, two weeks in Apr.; art shows and handicraft exhibits during season when the state flower is at blooming peak.

Llano Rodeo, first weekend in June; rough and thrilling cowboy competition.

Enchanted Rock — About 20 miles south of Llano, Texas 16 and R.M. 965. (See FREDERICKSBURG this section.)

LOCKHART Grid J-12 Pop. 6,489 Alt. 518

General — Originally called Plum Creek, town is near site of a fierce Indian battle which took place on Aug. 12, 1840. Large war party of Comanches successfully swept down Guadalupe Valley all the way to the Gulf Coast, killing settlers, stealing horses, plundering and burning settlements. A volunteer force of settlers and Texas Rangers met the returning war party and defeated them near present Lockhart.

Major Event — Fun-Tier Festival, a week in June. Parade, rodeo, hobby and art show, and beauty revue for selection of festival queen.

Emanuel Episcopal Church — One of Texas' oldest Protestant churches, built 1856 of stone and wood, still in use as originally constructed with only minor alteration.

Lockhart State Park — 257 acres feature fishing, swimming, picnicking, and golf. Tent camping permitted, also trailer sites. About four miles southwest of Lockhart via U.S. 183 and F.M. 20 to Park Road 20. Admission.

LULING Grid K-12 Pop. 4,719 Alt. 418

General — Established 1874 as terminus of a branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad. In early years a cattle center, shipping point and end of a freight trail from Chihuahua, Mexico. Cross-roads frontier town was once known as "the toughest town in Texas." Oil discovered 1922, and today visitors will see active wells in and around the town, some on such incongruous spots as church lawns, residential back yards and city parks.

Major Events — Luling Watermelon Thump and Queen Coronation, late June, pays tribute to a major crop of area. Beauty queen selection, arts and crafts exhibits, golf tournament, parade and dance are attractions, highlighted by Grand Champion Melon Auction. ($625 record price for the Grand Champion Melon.)

Caldwell County Youth Rodeo, three days in July. Arena performances by school-age youngsters.

Palmetto State Park — A rare botanical garden, almost tropical profusion of plants includes an amazing variety, many found nowhere else in Southwest. On San Marcos River, the 178-acre park is used as a field laboratory by several Texas universities. Descriptive folders interpret the nature trails. Tent and trailer camping, rest rooms, swimming, fishing, picnicking, hiking, nature displays. Seven miles south of Luling on U.S. 183, Park Road 11. Admission.

Scenic Drive — Park Road 11 through Palmetto State Park (see above).

MARBLE FALLS Grid I-11 Pop. 2,209 Alt. 764

General — Named for Colorado River waterfalls over marble outcroppings. Area known as the Central Mineral Region of Texas, a rockhound's delight! (See TEXAS ROCKS AND MINERALS at end of book.) Hunting, fishing and camping activities are popular. Native game fish abound in lakes and streams. Fall and winter hunting seasons offer plentiful white-tailed deer, wild turkey and excellent wing shooting of migratory and native game birds.

Major Events — Highland Lakes Archers' Invitational Tourney, Mar., attracts state's top bowmen.

Highland Lakes Invitational Tennis Tourney, two days in Apr. Marble Falls Junior Rodeo, two days in Apr. Arena performances by school-age cowboys.

Marble Falls Annual Rodeo and Parade, two days in July. Texas Elimination World Series Bass Tourney, three days late Sept. on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson. Cash and prizes for anglers who land biggest and most bass.

Fox Memorial Marker — A monument overlooking Colorado River and scenic Hill Country is dedicated to Oscar J. Fox, composer of the classic song, "Hills of Home." In roadside park on U.S. 281 just south of town.

Granite Mountain — Huge dome of high-quality red and pink granite, prized the world over. Quarrying was begun in 1880s for construction of the Texas Capitol. An unending flow of this superb granite has continued ever since, yet bulk of the mountain has hardly been touched. Half mile west of R.M. 1431.

Lakes — Buchanan, Inks, Lyndon B. Johnson, Travis. See LAKES this section.

Scenic Drives — R.M. 1431 offers breathtaking scenery both northwest and southeast over winding curves and hills, with frequent glimpses of the Highland Lakes. Spring scenes are exceptionally beautiful.

Both R.M. 2147, (not shown on section map) along western shore of Lake Marble Falls, and Texas 71 through the Hill Country are routes to be remembered.

MASON Grid I-10 Pop. 1,806 Alt. 1,934

General — Seat of Mason County, grew under protection of Fort Mason, one of series of Texas frontier forts. In rolling, scenic Hill Country noted for camping, hunting and fishing. White-tailed deer and wild turkey attract hunters each fall and winter, while fishing in beautiful Llano River is year-round sport. Historical interest centers around Indians who once roamed the area; a bloody feud known as the Mason County War, and the fort. Profuse bluebonnets blanket surrounding hillsides and valleys during the spring.

Major Events — Mason County FFA Livestock Show, Jan. Youthful stockmen show their prize animals.

Jaycee Annual Rodeo, two days in July, sees thrilling cowboy competition in arena events.

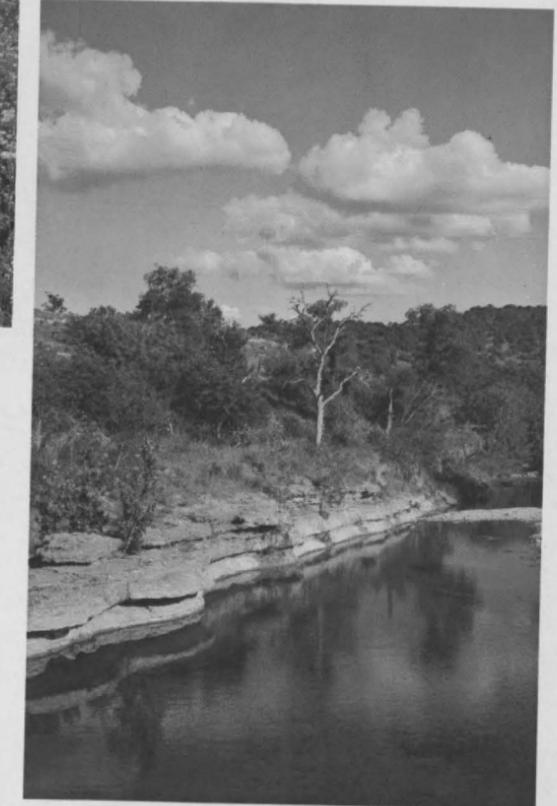

Mason County Fair, two days in Aug., features exhibits and festivities.

MENARD Grid I-9 Pop. 1,740 Alt. 1,960

General — Established 1858 near ruins of an ancient Spanish fort, Real Presidio de San Saba, which had been abandoned a century before. Town served as trading post and overnight stop on north and west cattle trails. Old compound of a Spanish mission near the presidio served as corral, holding as many as 3,000 cattle on way to market. Legends of lost silver mine still circulate in area. Sheep and wool production are of primary importance today, followed by beef cattle and Angora goats. City park provides picnic facilities in attractive tree-shaded area along San Saba River.

Ruins of Real Presidio de San Saba — Spanish fort established 1757 to protect nearby San Saba de la Cruz Mission. Mission suffered increasing dangers from Indians, and the presidio commander urged missionaries to abandon effort. They refused, and on Mar. 16, 1758 a strong force of Comanche and other Indians attacked mission, murdered occupants and burned the buildings. Only three escaped to the presidio, which successfully withstood the attack. In following years depredations of Indians became increasingly severe until the presidio was virtually in a state of siege with fierce attacks almost daily. The site was abandoned in 1769. Ruins maintained as a county park two miles west off Texas 29.

MOUNTAIN HOME Grid J-10 Pop. 96 Alt. 2,135

General — Established 1890 by storekeeper Thomas A. Dowdy to serve surrounding ranchers with staple foods and supplies. Community still provides much the same service in a rather sparsely populated area of several very large ranches.

Y. O. Ranch — Established 1880 by Capt. Charles Schreiner (see KERRVILLE this section), the vast ranch in scenic Hill Country is one of the Southwest's largest deer and exotic game preserves. Guided hunting tours throughout year (but only during seasons for native species) can produce such trophies as blackbuck antelope of India, wild Corsican rams, East African oryx, Axis deer and aoudad sheep. Both resident and non-resident hunting licenses available at ranch. Hunting fee guarantees success, or no charge. Of historic interest is substantial herd of Texas Long-

SAN ANTONIO Grid K-11 Pop. 654,153 Alt. 701

General—An area of pleasant, wooded springs at southern edge of Central Texas Hill Country had long been popular with Indians of the region, and was site of an Indian village in 1691 when area became of interest to Spanish officials for future development. Spain took first steps in 1718 with establishment of a mission called San Antonio de Valero, and the customary accompanying presidio (fort) called San Antonio de Bexar. Although several other missions were soon established nearby, forming the nucleus of a community, the city's growth actually dates from establishment of a villa (civil settlement) in 1731, the first Spanish effort to implement colonization of Texas.

The civil settlement was called San Fernando de Bexar, and the original colonists were a group of Canary Islanders. From its beginnings, the town suffered great difficulty from Indian raids, but remained the chief Spanish, then Mexican stronghold in Texas until the Texas Revolution.

Today the state's third largest city remains indelibly stamped with the colorful flavor of its multicultural heritage. It is a bilingual city, both Spanish and English being heard at every hand. Educational facilities, art museums and theaters are among finest in the state; symphony orchestra rates with the nation's best, and love for fiesta is unsurpassed!

For complete details on city attractions, local events, maps to the missions and other information, visit the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, corner of Commerce and S. Alamo Sts. across from Joske's.

The Alamo — Mission San Antonio de Valero was the first of five Spanish colonial missions established in San Antonio in first part of 18th Century to Christianize and educate the Indians. In 1718 Spanish Viceroy of Mexico authorized Father Antonio de Olivares to establish the mission that was to become internationally famous as the Alamo. The church structure, standing today in downtown San Antonio, was begun about 1755. Less than a century later, in 1836, it established undisputed claim as the "Cradle of Texas Liberty." During 13 days to glory — Feb. 23 to Mar. 6 — it became the focal point of one of the most heroic struggles in the annals of mankind. Outnumbered Texans at the Alamo gallantly challenged a seasoned Mexican army — but in vain. The defenders died to the last man, among them such storied names as William Travis, Davy Crockett and Jim Bowie.

Alamo Cenotaph — Erected in memory of heroes of the Alamo, monument dominates Alamo Plaza. Names of those who fell defending the Alamo are inscribed in marble around the sides.

Alamo Museum — D.R.T. Library — Located on grounds of state park surrounding the Alamo. On view are relics of famous Battle of the Alamo, and others associated with days of early colonization and Republic of Texas period. Open weekdays 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Sun. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Daughters of the Republic of Texas Library closed Sun.

Brackenridge Park — Includes rustic stone bridges and winding walks, gleaming pools, and Chinese Sunken Garden. On occasion the Sunken Garden Theater presents entertainment. An aerial skyride and the Brackenridge Eagle, a one-fifth scale model of a diesel train. Innumerable picnic spots; bridle paths.

Buckhorn Hall of Horns — Formerly located in heart of San Antonio, Buckhorn Saloon developed one of world's finest animal horn collections. When time caught up with old Buckhorn, the Lone Star Brewery intervened, and today the saloon's famous horn and mounted animal collection is on free display at brewery, along with comparable "Hall of Fins," and a famous collection of custom and antique firearms. Also preserved is home in which O. Henry lived. House is stocked with authentic copies of The Rolling Stone, newspaper the short story writer published in San Antonio. Brewery at 600 Lone Star Blvd.

General Cos House — Outstanding example of an early San Antonio dwelling located in La Villita (see below). Was scene of signing on Dec. 9, 1835 of Articles of Capitulation, by Gen. Perfecto de Cos, after Texans had captured San Antonio from Mexican forces.

HemisFair Plaza — Site of 1968 Texas World's Fair is a focal point of downtown entertainment and relaxation. Among structures retained from the fair is 750-foot Tower of the Americas with dining levels at 550 and 560 feet, topped by an observation deck offering panoramic views of the city; open daily; admission. Also open daily is the Witte Confluence Museum; admission.

The Hall of Texas History features life-sized dioramas depicting Texas' colorful past; open Mon. - Thurs. 10 a.m. - 7 p.m.; Fri. - Sun. 10 a.m. - 10 p.m. Noted Institute of Texan Cultures is open Sept. - May, Tues. - Fri. 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.; June - Aug. 1 - 6 p.m. Also in Plaza are Casa San Miguel Philippine restaurant, boutiques, food stands, aerial tramway, monorail and amusement rides. Waterways thread the area, edged by tree-shaded walks and flower beds.

Hertzberg Circus Collection — Vividly depicts, for "big top" fans of all ages, evolution of "the greatest show on earth." Festive oil paintings, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb's carriage, antics of a mechanical Viennese clown! It's all in miniature — but its entertainment value would win P. T. Barnum's unqualified approval. 210 W. Market St., third floor of Public Library. Open daily except Sunday, 9 a.m. — 5:30 p.m.

Incarinate Word College — Catholic college for women chartered 1881. Outstanding medical and nursing career programs. Enrolls about 2,000, located on 230-acre tract on Broadway and Hildebrand just north of Brackenridge Park.

La Villita — (The Little Village), a re-created genuine Mexican village captures charming past of a century ago amid narrow streets, shaded patios and authentic adobe houses. A romantic setting for fiestas as well as an art and recreational center.

Arneson River Theatre in the open air presents Latin-flavored performances several times weekly during much of the year.

Old San Antonio Museum is in one of oldest houses in city. Guided tour of 12 life-size displays of Texas and San Antonio historic events. Open daily (except Christmas and New Year's) 10 a.m. - noon; 2 - 4 p.m. 511 Villita St. Admission.

McNay Art Institute — Works of artists who charted course of 20th Century painting. Once occupied by Marion Koogler McNay, patroness of modern art, institute houses Postimpressionistic paintings of Cezanne, Gauguin (one a self-portrait), Toulouse-Lautrec and Van Gogh. Winslow Homer and John Marin number among Americans, but the international collection also includes works of Diego Rivera and El Greco. Two galleries devoted to Indian arts and crafts from New Mexico. Open Tues. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sun. 2 - 5 p.m. 6000 N. New Braunfels St.

Mexican Market — Colorful area of small shops and stalls offering local handicrafts and imports from Mexico including wrought iron, leather goods, pottery, glassware, wood carvings, paintings, curios and fresh farm produce. Santa Rosa and Commerce Sts.

Military Bases Complex — Since San Antonio's founding as a presidio more than two centuries ago, the military has been an integral part of the city. Most military installations require a visitor's pass, which may be obtained at the gate. For security reasons, some areas are restricted.

Brooks Air Force Base — Founded in 1917 and scene of history's first mass paratroop drop; present home of U.S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine. Also headquarters of Aerospace Medical Center, first institution of its kind in world. Scientists and researchers at the aerospace facility engaged in studies of high altitude problems encountered in space flight. Regular tours of the center are on first two Fridays of the month at 1 p.m.

Hangar 9, Edward H. White II Memorial Museum; displays of medical research and testing equipment for aviation medicine from 1917 to present. Also a Curtiss J-1 trainer, aircraft engines, propellers, bombs, aircraft photos and paintings. Open Mon. - Fri. 8 a.m. - 4:45 p.m. Closed weekends and holidays.

Fort Sam Houston — Established 1876, has witnessed evolution of military from cavalry and foot soldier to today's airborne and motorized might. Dominated by famous watchtower, historic quadrangle which once detained Geronimo and his renegade Apache band, now confines only tame deer and peacocks. Today, Fort Sam Houston headquarters both the Fifth Army and Brooke Army Medical Center.

Kelly Air Force Base — Young aviator named Charles Lindbergh trained here, as did Billy Mitchell and "Hap" Arnold. Both the San Antonio Air Materiel Area, one of world's largest aircraft repair and supply depots, and the Air Force Security Service are headquartered at Kelly, nation's oldest military airfield.

Lackland Air Force Base — History and Traditions Classroom, the small air museum at Lackland, is open free to the public daily. Collections include aircraft equipment dating from World War I to current operational turbojet engines and aircraft displays. "Gateway to the Air Force" aptly describes Lackland, where most airmen first train.

Randolph Air Force Base — Official Air Force Records Center, also provides pilot training. The base's famous landmark, dubbed the "Taj Mahal," has become a symbol of professional flying training to thousands of Air Force pilots.

Missions of San Antonio — In addition to the Alamo, four other San Antonio missions were established by Franciscan Friars in the early 18th Century. "El Dia de las Misiones" (The Day of the Missions) is an annual Aug. 6 salute to these historic structures.

Mission Nuestra Senora de la Purisima Concepcion — Established in 1731, more than 20 years under construction. Massive church with twin towers and cupola is oldest unrestored stone church in the U.S., standing as completed in 1755. Beside it is a cloister arcade, partly restored. Church acoustics are equated with the Mormon Tabernacle. 807 Mission Rd. Admission.

Mission San Francisco de la Espada — Also established 1731, favorite of many students of Spanish period in Texas, and popular with photographers. The little church building dating from 1745 has been restored several times, is still in use. Ruins of walls which once surrounded the mission compound; foundations of a granary; baluarte, or fortified tower, can still be seen. Espada Rd. south. Admission.

Near the mission is an aqueduct over Piedra Creek, part of mission's irrigation system built in 1740s. System includes dam on San Antonio River and acequia (irrigation ditch) still in use after more than 200 years. The aqueduct is a National Historic Landmark.

Mission San Jose y San Miguel de Aguayo — Known as "the Queen of Missions," is both a State and National Historic Site. Founded 1720, with church constructed between 1768-82. Entire mission compound has been restored, including outer wall with Indian dwellings, granary and workshops. An old flour mill outside north wall was built about 1790, first in Texas. Visitors are fascinated by rich facade of domed church, and by famous sculptured exterior of sacristy window known as "the Rose Window," or "Rosa's Window." Legend has it that an artisan named Pedro Huizar spent seven years embellishing that stone masterpiece. In granary is model of mission as it looked in late 1700s. 6539 San Jose Dr. at Mission Rd. Admission.

Mission San Juan Capistrano — Like both Espada and Concepcion, was established 1731. Extensive restoration work, based on archeological excavations, has been carried out. Besides charming little chapel with open bell tower, there are ruins of a more elaborate church which was never completed. Restored missionary residence houses displays and artifacts from Spanish colonial period. Church still serves community of Berg's Mill, now part of city. Graf Rd. off Mission Rd. Admission.

Our Lady of the Lake College — Catholic college for women established 1896 by Sisters of Divine Providence. Enrolls about 1,500. Noted for music and library science departments. 24th and Durango Sts.

River Walk — One level below busy streets of San Antonio, the Paseo del Rio is a picturesque retreat in time . . . and a world away. Walk meanders for several miles through heart of San Antonio, following bends of the river under graceful trees, past tropical foliage and flowering shrubs that scent the air. Gift shops and sidewalk cafes offer authentic wares and foods of faraway lands.

Safari Room — An outstanding collection of mounted African game trophies located at Pearl Brewery. Also huge mural depicting countless scenes from Texas history. Tours daily. 1700 Broadway.

St. Mary's University — Founded 1852 for male students, oldest institution of higher learning in city. Noted for School of Law, pre-med and engineering courses. Now coed, enrolls more than 4,000 students. In northwest San Antonio, just off Texas 16.

St. Philips College — Founded 1898 as private institution, became municipal junior college 1942. Originally all-Negro institution, became fully integrated 1955. Affiliated with San Antonio College, enrolls more than 1,400. At 2111 Nevada St.

San Antonio College — Coed junior college established 1925 under sponsorship of the University of Texas. Enrolls more than 12,000. San Pedro and Ashby Sts.

San Antonio Zoo — Ranked as one of finest zoos in world, sprawls across 70 acres adjacent to Brackenridge Park. Habitat of many species of animals and birds; baboons scamper over Monkey Island . . . formally attired penguins converse in realistic, chilly setting . . . and exotic flamingos preen. They're all here — from antelope to zebra, plus a modern aquarium. Tour of rolling terrain and high limestone cliffs designed to simulate native habitats requires leisurely day. Admission.

Spanish Governor's Palace — In 1772 San Antonio became seat of Spanish government in Texas, headquartered at 10-room Spanish Governor's Palace on Military Plaza. It was to this thick, adobe-walled structure that Moses Austin came in 1820 for permission to bring a colony of U.S. citizens into Spanish Texas. Many commandants of Presidio de Bexar and Spanish governors lived and ruled here. And here in 1830, the dashing Jim Bowie courted his beautiful, aristocratic future wife, daughter of Mexican vice governor (later governor) of Texas. Building is typical of colonial Spain with carved doors, low-beamed ceilings, grape arbor, and mosaic-tiled patio. Date of construction is uncertain, ranging from 1749 (date carved on entrance arch keystone along with Hapsburg coat of arms) to 1772, when government was officially established. Camaron St. at Military Plaza. Admission.

Stev's Homestead — Elegant furnishings of bygone era preserved in historic Victorian mansion which was fashionable German residence in 1870s. Open daily, 10 a.m. - noon; 2 - 4 p.m. except Friday morning. 509 King William St. Admission.

Trinity University — Coed Presbyterian university, founded 1869, moved to Waxahachie 1902 and San Antonio 1942. Modern "sky-line campus" of 107 acres at 715 Stadium Dr. Enrollment exceeds 2,400.

Witte Memorial Museum—An original stagecoach, a Curtiss "Jenny" of World War I, and the 49.40-carat Myrtle McFarlin Canary Diamond are among diversified exhibits. Archeological examples of Oriental, Negrito and Indian tribes. Rebuilt on grounds are four early Texas houses and furnished log cabin. Open weekdays 9:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.; weekends 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. 3801 Broadway. Admission.

SAN MARCOS Grid J-12 Pop. 18,860 Alt. 581

General—Seat of Hays County, located at edge of the Hill Country; was once temporary site of two Spanish missions being relocated from East Texas because of French and Indian difficulties. Laid out for Anglo-American settlers in 1851. Clear, cold San Marcos River rises from mammoth springs within town; noted for profusion of both plant and animal aquatic life, river is ranked as one of world's most fertile. rolling prairies

Texas lore and legends were born on the Rolling Prairies . . . nurtured by Indians and cowboys, frontier forts, and oil boom towns.

Along Rolling Prairies streams flints and beads mark camps of Indians who trailed buffalo herds, and gathered for war during seasons of the Comanche moon. Blue-clad troopers protected wagon trains, and built rude forts that secured a sparsely settled frontier. Huge ranches like the Four Sixes (they say named for a poker hand) still field cowboys who ply their timeless skills, and test them at rodeos. Here are oil towns like Ranger and Burkburnett, once the wildest, gaudiest boom towns in petroleum history.

Add the lore and legends to the modern face of Texas—leave room for water sports, rattlesnake roundups, air shows, and the Fort Griffin Fandangle. The result is a slate of enjoyment seasoned by a hearty frontier heritage.

Such are the Rolling Prairies. Such is Texas!

ABILENE

WHERE TO GO, WHAT TO SEE

ABILENE Grid G-9 Pop. 89,653 Alt. 1,738

General — Established by cattlemen as stock shipping point on Texas and Pacific Railroad in 1881, named for Abilene, Kan., end point on the Old Chisholm Trail. Along with cattle, soon became major sheep and wool producing area, later center of diversified agricultural activities. Oil and industry add impetus to present economic structure. Cultural aspects are influenced by two colleges and a university, community theater, philharmonic association and fine arts museum.

Major Events — Abilene Fat Stock Show in Jan. features prize animals from West Texas farms and ranches.

Abilene Festival of Arts, two weeks in Apr., offers art, drama, music and entertainment.

Hardin-Simmons University Intercollegiate Rodeo in Apr. showcases college students in traditional rodeo events.

West Texas Fair, six days in Sept., features exhibits and amusements reflecting early days of Abilene, plus modern attractions of West Texas.

Abilene Christian College — Coed liberal arts college affiliated with the Church of Christ, founded 1906. Enrollment exceeds 3,000. In northeast Abilene on E. North 16th St.

Abilene Fine Arts Museum — Cultural center located in Fair Park; permanent display of art, plus numerous special shows during the year. Open Tues.-Fri. 10 a.m.-noon, 1-5 p.m.; Sat., Sun. 1-5 p.m.

Abilene State Park — 507-acre parkland near Lake Abilene; camping, trailer facilities, picnicking, shelters, swimming pool, rest rooms and showers, hiking and fishing. Large grove of some 4,000 native pecan trees, now a favorite picnic area, was once a popular campground for Comanche Indians. About 15 miles southwest on F.M. 89. Admission.

Dyess Air Force Base — Houses units of the Strategic Air Command, Tactical Air Command, and U.S. Army missile personnel. Visitors not admitted to portions of the base.

Fort Phantom Hill — Established 1851 to protect the frontier from Indians, the post suffered a series of hardships; was abandoned in 1854. Duty was hard; historians say desertions were frequent because of monotony and loneliness. The fort burned shortly after abandonment; chimneys and foundations are principal remainders. Only the stone commissary, guard house, and powder magazine are intact. Ruins open to the public with interpretive signs and literature. Located 10 miles north via F.M. 600.

Hardin-Simmons University — Baptist coed university founded 1906, enrolling more than 1,700. Campus almost due north of downtown business section, facing the city on W. Ambler Ave.

Lakes — Local Lakes Kirby and Lytle within city offer fishing and picnic sites. For information on Lakes Abilene and Fort Phantom Hill see LAKES this section.

McMurry College — Founded 1923 and associated with the Methodist Church; coed, average enrollment 1,600. Campus on S. 14th St. along Sayles Blvd.

BALLINGER Grid H-9 Pop. 4,203 Alt. 1,637

General — Present seat of Runnels County, city established in 1886 as Hutchins City. The Colorado River, popular with fishermen, sportsmen and campers throughout its length, cuts the county from northwest to southeast. County altitudes range from 1,600 to 2,000 feet. Agricultural interest predominates with extensive beef, dairy cattle, sheep and poultry production, plus cotton, grain sorghum, melons, forage crops, and fruits. Minerals include oil and natural gas.

City Park and Lake — 10-acre park features camping facilities, playground and picnic areas, a large swimming pool and miniature golf course. Excellent fishing and water skiing on the lake; about six miles west of Ballinger.

Cowboy and His Horse Statue — Honors Charles H. Noyes, local cowboy killed in range mishap, and all range riders who played such colorful roles in settling the West. The work is by world-famed sculptor Pompeo Coppini. On courthouse lawn, intersection U.S. 83/87.

BENJAMIN Grid E-9 Pop. 308 Alt. 1,456

General — Located on the divide between the South Wichita and Brazos Rivers, city was established in 1884 when 12 houses were built with lumber hauled from Wichita Falls. Early center of cattlemen's activities, present seat of Knox County, still a major ranching area.

Knox County Museum — Barbed wire collection and other relics of early settlers. In county courthouse. Open Mon. - Fri. 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Scenic Drive — 36-mile loop northeast provides views of farm and ranch lands cut by South Wichita River breaks; fantastic shapes in layers of multicolored soils. North on Texas 283 to F.M. 1756, east to F.M. 267, south to U.S. 82, then west back to Benjamin. A pair of roadside parks on U.S. 82 provide impressive views north toward the Wichita River and south toward the Brazos. The parks are located at a point called "the narrows" on a ridge line separating the two major watersheds.

BROWNWOOD Grid H-10 Pop. 17,368 Alt. 1,342

General — Established 1856, city became one of state's largest cotton buying centers. Oil discovered in 1920s; substantial industrial development in recent decades. A number of fine old structures of native sandstone — homes, a former mill, stores and schools — are reminders of city's history.

Major Events — Stage Band Festival, two days in Feb., sees competition between high school bands from wide area.

Rattlesnake Roundup & Antique Show, three days in Mar., provides entertainment at opposite ends of recreational spectrum. Rattlesnake hunters "bring 'em back alive," and both dealers and individuals show prize antiques.

Brown County Rodeo, three days in July.

Texas Amateur Softball Tournament, four days in Aug., brings the state's top softball teams into competition for championships.

Partnership Golf Tourney, three days around Labor Day, attracts area golfers.

Camp Bowie Memorial Park — Honors men of famed 36th Infantry Division ("T-Patch"). Small park features vintage military equipment, cannon, armor. At intersection of Burnett Dr. and Travis Rd., Camp Bowie Industrial Area.

Douglas MacArthur Academy of Freedom — Established 1966 in affiliation with Howard Payne College, specializing in history and government, directed toward interpretation and preservation of man's personal freedom in the context of Western civilization. Dedicated to and endorsed by the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur; displays some of his personal souvenirs. Unique study settings lure visitors to the academy. Mediterranean Room entrance is flanked by replicas of the famed Egyptian statues of Rameses. Magna Carta Hall is a replica of a Gothic English castle room; Independence Hall is exact replica of room where John Hancock and Benjamin Franklin presided at founding of the United States. Magnificent three-story mural highlights academy entrance foyer. Austin Ave. (F.M. 2524) at Coggin St.

Howard Payne College — Southern Baptist, coed, established 1889; enrolls more than 1,300. Austin Ave. near downtown.

RANGER Grid F-11 Pop. 3,094 Alt. 1,429

General — When oil boom towns are recalled, Ranger usually leads the list. It was a quiet rural community established near a Texas Ranger camp in the 1870s. In October 1917 a gusher (see McClesky Number 1 below) blew in and touched off the greatest boom in petroleum history. World War I demand for oil was at an all-time high. The lure of instant riches was irresistible; the town erupted with every kind of frenzied activity. In one year population exploded from 1,000 to 30,000. Small farmers became millionaires. Four railroads raced to complete lines, and one railroad's receipts jumped from $94,000 to $8,000,000 in two years. As in every instance, the boom was short-lived, and today there is no evidence of that bigger-than-life era. Oil activity is evident in orderly fields, while farming and ranching comprise a major interest of area citizens.

Major Event — Ranger Jaycee Annual Rodeo, first Thurs. - Fri. - Sat. after 4th of July. Top rodeo cowboys compete in rough series of eliminations for trophies and prizes.

Lake — Leon. See LAKES this section.

McClesky Number 1 — Site of the 1,700-barrel-per-day oil gusher that touched off Ranger's fantastic oil boom in 1917. Marked by a granite monument at T&P depot downtown.

Parks — Two city-maintained parks, with shaded picnic facilities, playground equipment, swimming pool and a lighted tennis court.

TEXAS COWBOY REUNION RODEO, STAMFORD

ROBY Grid F-9 Pop. 784 Alt. 2,110

SEYMOUR Grid E-10 Pop. 3,469 Alt. 1,291

General — Seat of Baylor County, grew at site where old Western Trail was crossed by a major trail route to California. The Western Trail, also called the Dodge Trail, was main route for the great Texas cattle drives to Dodge City, Kan., and other northern markets. Town experienced years of traditional rivalry between landowning settlers and open-range cowboys. Rich oil discovery early 1900s brought rapid growth and measure of industrialization.

MCCLESKY #1, THE 1917 GUSHER THAT CREATED RANGER

Major Events — On first Monday in May entire town closes down and everybody "goes fishin'" on Lake Kemp. Festivities include beauty pageant, boat and motorcycle races, skiing contests. Tagged fish are good for prizes until next "Fishin' Day."

Annual rodeo (one of oldest in Texas), early July, is also occasion for old-timers' reunion.

Lake — Kemp. See LAKES this section.

Park — Spacious 87-acre city park includes broad tree-shaded areas for picnicking, plus a swimming pool and variety of playground equipment.

SNYDER Grid F-8 Pop. 11,171 Alt. 2,316

General — Settled 1878 by W. H. (Pete) Snyder, who opened a trading post. Townsite laid out 1882, county organized two years later. Present seat of Scurry County. In 1950 the city grew from 4,000 population to more than 12,000 after discovery of Canyon Reef Oil Field. Now the center of the largest unitized (operated by a single operator) oil field in the world. Industries include magnesium production, petroleum processing, brick, tile, concrete products, mobile homes, livestock feed and cottonseed breeding.

Major Events — Annual Scurry County Rodeo, four days mid-July; RCA-sanctioned amateur elimination event.

Scurry County Fair, three days in Oct.; farm and livestock exhibits, old fashioned cooking, canning and bakery competitions, carnival.

Industrial firms include two gypsum plants, cement plant, three meat packing facilities, cottonseed oil mill and garment manufacturer.

Major Event — Junior Indoor Rodeo, three days in late Mar. - early Apr. One of world's largest junior events where many famous rodeo stars began careers.

Rattlesnake Roundup, three days in Mar. Prizes awarded to hunters bringing in the most snakes by weight. No firearms allowed; all snakes brought in live. Venom is extracted for snake-bite serum and medical research.

Pioneer City-County Museum — Ten display rooms depict lives of early settlers with period rooms, photographs, furniture, farm and ranch exhibits, Indian artifacts. Open 2 - 5 p.m. except Monday. 304 Locust St.

Lakes — Sweetwater (and Park,) Trammell, and Oak Creek Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

THROCKMORTON Grid E-10 Pop. 1,105 Alt. 1,441

General — Established 1879; seat of Throckmorton County, vast agricultural and oil-producing area. The town serves as shipping point and retail center for surrounding ranches, one of which is huge 96,000-acre spread. Excellent fishing for catfish, crappie, bass and bluegills at small Throckmorton Lake, just south of town.

Major Events — Throckmorton County Pioneer Day Celebration and Rodeo, three days mid-June. Events include parades (one features vehicles and costumes of the early West), tours, costume and old fiddler's contests.

THURBER Grid F-11 Pop. 8 Alt. 1,100

General — Ghost town. Founded 1888 by Texas & Pacific Coal Company (now Texas Pacific Oil Company); flourished as a coal mining town; reached a population of 10,000. Town was totally owned by the company; believed to have been first city with totally unionized industries. Electricity provided in 1895, one of the first towns in the world with complete electric service. Miners recruited from throughout the world; 17 nationalities represented. With discovery of high grade clay, large brick manufacturing added. The mines closed in 1921; brick plant in 1930. City was abandoned in 1933, and almost entirely razed. Former company store building now serves as a restaurant displaying photos of Thurber in its heyday. Adjacent service station is replica of a tippie mine. About 16 miles east of Ranger; intersection U. S. 80, Texas 108. Appropriately for a ghost town, there is a ghost story: A pretty young woman is said to walk the old streets some nights, singing in a foreign language. When approached, she disappears.

VERNON Grid D-10 Pop. 11,454 Alt. 1,205

General — First called Eagle Flats because of eagles nesting nearby. Seat of Wilbarger County, headquarters for huge W. T. Waggoner Ranch, and commercial center for rich farming, ranching and oil area. About 15 miles north is Doan's Crossing, one of the most famous of historic cattle crossings on Red River. Industries include agricultural supplies and processing, seed breeding, drylot feeding, textiles, meat packing, cottonseed and alfalfa milling.

Indians padded these glades and dells, stalking fat deer and iridescent wild turkey. With wicker nets and bone hooks they took silver fish from the pure river called by names now forgotten. Later Spaniards came upon the limpid river and named it Brazos de Dios, the "Arms of God."

Anglo Americans, with a primitive empire to choose from, picked the Brazos Valley as their seat of colonization. It nurtured pioneer Texas, saw the flowering of a plantation economy, and the disaster of civil war. The region recovered and adapted to the 20th Century, but history still lingers here.

Enjoy the Brazos Valley—streams still pure for fishing and swimming—broad highways and quiet country lanes—graciousness and leisure savored by residents, and hospitality exercised much as it was in bygone days.

More than a region, the Brazos Valley is a way of life.

ANDERSON Grid I-14 Pop. 320 Alt. 215

General — Historic seat of Grimes County, established 1834 on La Bahia Road, centuries-old Indian trail that stretched from Louisiana through Texas. Route had been used by Spanish explorers, later became important as a cattle trail, the Opelousas Road. During Civil War was assembly point for troops and ordnance. Local arms factory produced cannon, cannon balls, rifles, pistols, swords and gunpowder. Today a commercial center for rich agricultural area, contains many historic structures.

Major Event — The Anderson Texas Trek, one Sunday annually in early May, based on tours of notable historic homes, many over a century old. Hosts are dressed in costumes of bygone years; there is an antique show, and a parade featuring horse drawn vehicles of the 19th Century.

Oberkampff Pharmacy — Dark, polished wood cabinets, small marble-topped tables with traditional wire-frame chairs, square glass jars with sticks of licorice and rock crystal candy, little changed since established in 1911. Visitors will enjoy this change-of-pace stop along with rich ice cream still made the old-fashioned way.

Sam Houston National Forest — Nearest entrance about 13 miles east on F.M. 149. (See NATIONAL FORESTS IN TEXAS at end of book.)

Steinhagen Log Cabin — More than 100 years old; frontier furnishings, family heirlooms, antiques, cut glass, dishes, clothing, albums, records. Farm and hand tools from era of cabin's construction. Open by appointment only. Two blocks south of Main St. at Texas 90.

BASTROP Grid J-13 Pop. 3,112 Alt. 374

General — One of Texas' oldest settlements, named in honor of Baron Felipe de Bastrop whose influence aided Stephen F. Austin's original group of colonists. Rich in history, century-old buildings and homes. A jumble of geological formations popular with rock collectors; Indian artifacts still found. Obtain complete details at Bastrop Chamber of Commerce, Main and Pine Sts.

Major Events — Special Easter Sunrise Service attended by thousands.

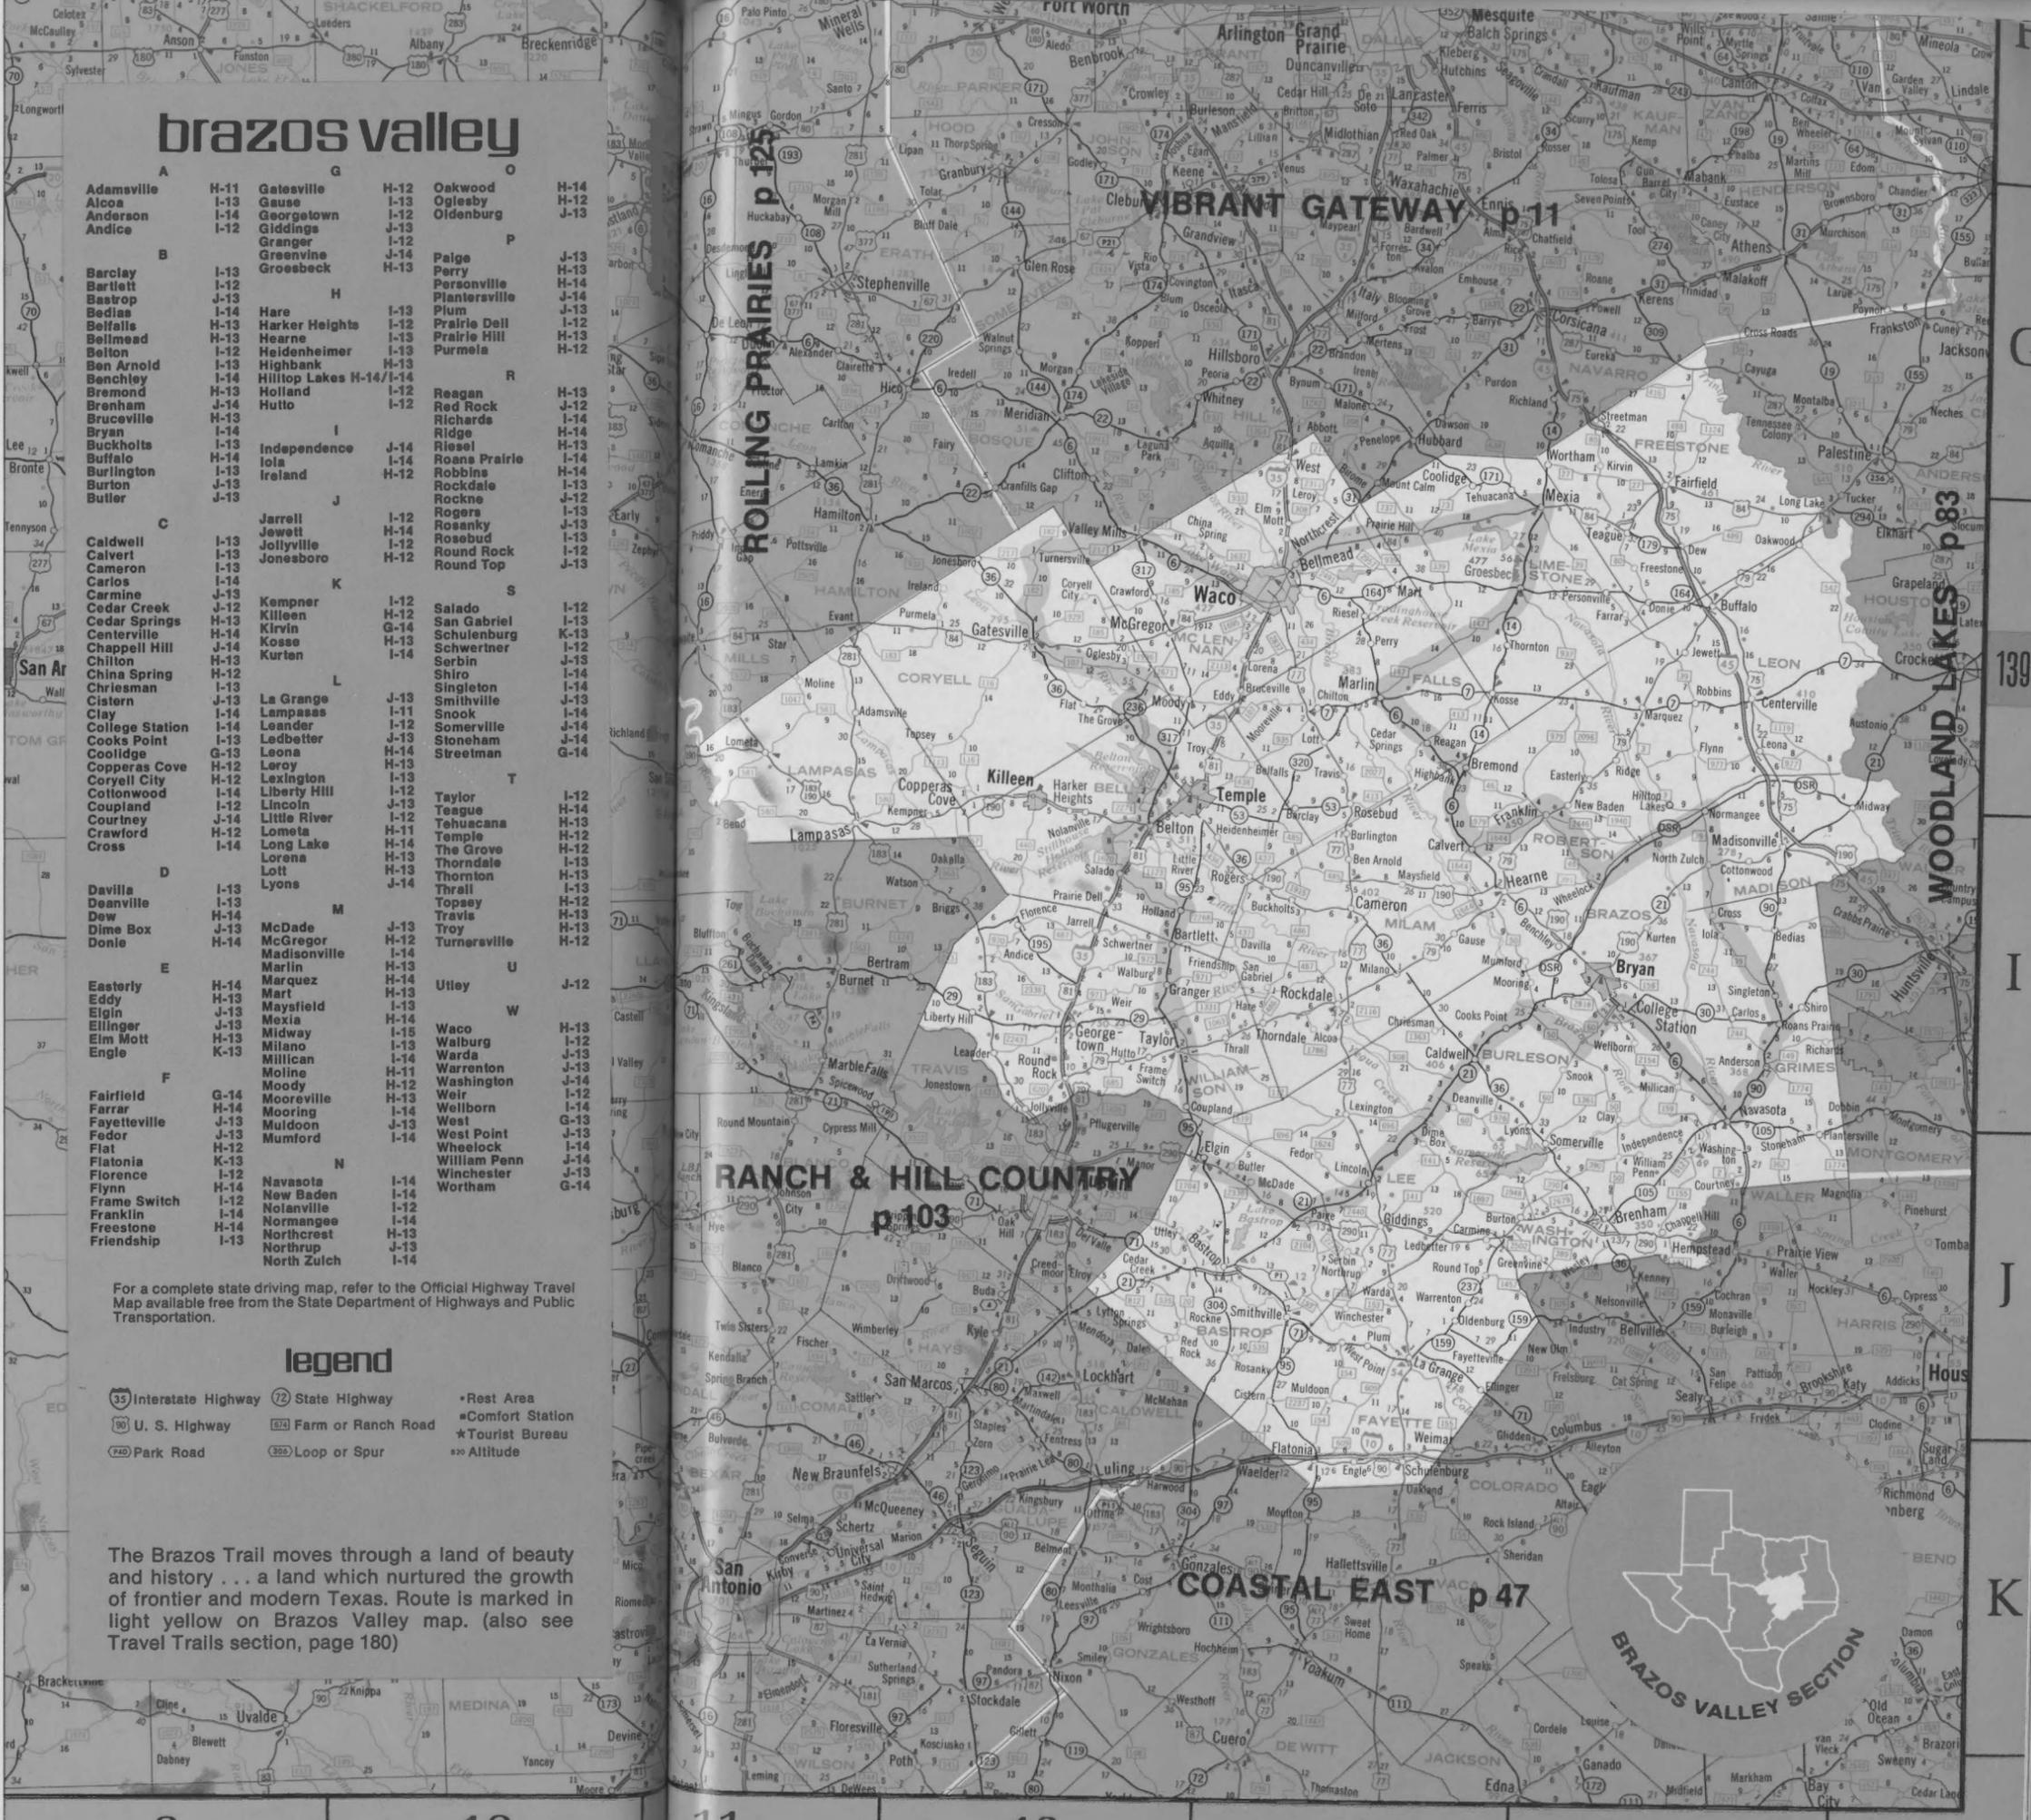

Lost Pines Garden Club Flower Show, an Apr. attraction at height of spring flower season.

Lost Pines Invitational Golf Tourney on a May weekend.

Annual Homecoming and Rodeo brings hosts of visitors and former residents in late July or early Aug. Parades and pageantry during three days.

Bastrop Advertiser — Oldest weekly newspaper in Texas, established 1853. 1105 Main St.

Bastrop Museum — Frontier tools, artifacts, pictures, documents and furnishings in a restored house, built 1850. Open Sat. 10 a.m.-5 p.m.; Sun. 1-5 p.m. 702 Main St. Admission.

Bastrop State Park — 2,100 acres of quiet, rolling parkland shaded by the strange "Lost Pines" — an isolated area of stately pine trees far from the vast pine forests of East Texas. Camping and group camp facilities, trailers, rest rooms, cabins, picnicking, fishing, swimming, golf, nature study, hiking. One mile east of intersection of Texas 21/71. Admission. Scenic Park Road 1 connects with Buescher State Park 15 miles to the east.

C. Erhard & Sons Drug Store — Oldest drug store in Texas, established 1847, still owned by same family. Fascinating history in furnishings and products still on display: "French Quinine," "Bull's Sarsaparilla," "Mexican Mustang Liniment," "Cherokee Ointment" and "Sweet Pea" perfume. 921 Main St.

Lake — Bastrop. See LAKES this section.

Lock's Drug — Like stepping back into history; furnishings and equipment of a 19th Century doctor's office and drug store are preserved, along with old-fashioned ice cream parlor. 1003 Main St.

OLDEST DRUG STORE IN TEXAS, BASTROP

MARY HARDIN-BAYLOR COLLEGE, BELTON

Memorial Medallion Trail — Marked route of several miles within town leads to many historic sites, from the Bastrop Museum to antebellum homes, churches and business houses. Obtain map and interpretive folder from the chamber of commerce.

BELTON Grid I-12 Pop. 8,696 Alt. 511

General — Established 1850, first merchant sold goods from his wagon before any stores were built. First saloon said to have been a barrel of whiskey and a tin cup under a shade tree. Once a stop on the famous Chisholm Trail, now a gateway to two large water sports recreation areas.

Major Event — Belton Rodeo and July 4th Celebration offers three days of fun plus a colorful July 4th parade.

Lakes — Belton and Stillhouse Hollow. See LAKES this section.

Mary Hardin-Baylor College — Established 1845, was oldest college for women west of Mississippi River before becoming coed in 1971; enrolls some 900 students. Celebrated Easter pageant presented annually by student body.

Old Sommers Mill — Built 1866, still in working order after grinding more than a million bushels of corn. Located on Salado Creek some six miles south of the I.H. 35/Texas 317 interchange in Belton. From this interchange, drive southeast on F.M. 436 approximately two miles to a junction with F.M. 1123, then four miles south to mill site.

BREHAM Grid J-14 Pop. 8,922 Alt. 320

General — Located in east central Washington County on land of an original Spanish land grant. German population began settling in the latter 1860s. Today the county seat and commercial center for a farming area. Cotton, feed mills, foundry, bottling works, and furniture factories.

Major Events — The state's best known "modern" trail ride begins in Brenham and winds some 95 miles to Houston where the conclusion marks the opening of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, late Feb. The four-day horseback, wagon, and camp-on-the-trail event attracts up to 2,000 riders.

Lake Somerville Open Bass Tourney, a weekend in Apr., at Somerville Reservoir. See LAKES this section.

Bluebonnet Trails are charted each spring in surrounding area where blossoms are most profuse; three weekends in Apr.

Bluebonnet Antique Show in nearby Chappell Hill, staged on one of the Trail weekends, features dealer displays at Community Center. Chappell Hill Library and Museum are added attractions.

Maifest, traditional Germon Volksfest, dates from 1874. Entire town joins in two days of festivities, usually second weekend in May; dances, feasts and parades.

Washington County Fair has been staged for more than 100 years. Four days in Sept., includes all traditional county fair festivities plus rodeo.

Blinn College — Texas' first countywide junior college, founded 1883. Coed, with about 1,800 enrollment.

Lake — Somerville. See LAKES this section.

Scenic Drive — Pastoral beauty along F.M. 389 southwest to F.M. 2502 to Burton.

Washington-on-the-Brazos State Park — Several miles northeast on the Brazos River. (See WASHINGTON this section.)

BRYAN Grid I-14 Pop. 33,719 Alt. 367

General — Located in area where Stephen F. Austin's colonists settled between 1821-1831. City formally chartered 1855. Economy long based on diversified agriculture, enhanced by early educational centers including Villa Maria Ursuline Academy for girls, Allen Academy and nearby A&M University. Since World War II, increasing industrial development includes chemicals, furniture and metal fabrication. Extensive dairying; production of clay and fuller's earth. Hunting, fishing and camping popular almost year-round in nearby streams and woodlands.

Major Events — Southwest Conference competition in sports, art and drama at Texas A&M in nearby College Station. Throughout the regular semesters.

Allen Academy — Private high school and preparatory school known for academic, athletic and military standards; now coed, enrolls about 600 students. Founded 1886 by R. O. and James H. Allen; located within city limits on Texas 6.

Junior Museum of Natural History — Collections on natural history, archaeology, prehistory, others. Open Mon. - Fri. 9 a.m. - noon. 3100 S. College Ave.

Texas A&M University — At nearby College Station, the school is Texas' first state-supported institution of higher learning, established 1876. Granted university status 1963. Coed; enrolls more than 14,000 students. Noted for technical and scientific studies; famed for military Cadet Corps and ROTC. In World War I school was credited with furnishing more officers to the armed services than any other in the nation. Some 20,000 men from A&M served in World War II, 14,000 as officers.

Texas World Speedway — See COLLEGE STATION this section.

CALDWELL Grid I-13 Pop. 2,308 Alt. 402

General — Founded 1840, has been seat of two counties. Before Burleson County organized in 1846, was seat of Milam County. Named for Mathew "Old Paint" Caldwell, noted Indian fighter and a signer of Texas Declaration of Independence. In 1880s town was rendezvous for immigrants going west, and had one of finest hotels on Old San Antonio Road. One of state's best country inns still located in Caldwell; visitors enjoy Sunday afternoon rides in authentic surrey.

Major Event — Burleson County Fair, late Sept. or early Oct., three days of traditional county fair activities.

Burleson County Historical Museum — Items and relics of area pioneers, plus exhibits about Fort Tenoxtitlan (see below); open Wed. 2 - 5 p.m. Burleson County Courthouse.

Fort Tenoxtitlan — Planned for restoration, but now a determined effort is necessary to reach the site near where Damn Creek flows into Brazos River. At the site in 1830 a Mexican cavalry force established what was to have been the seat of empire in Mexican Texas. Ordered to stop flow of Anglo settlers and introduce Mexican colonists. However, Lt. Col. Jose Ruiz, troop commander, felt the wilderness area needed settlers from anywhere, even if from "Hell itself." An earlier Mexican government had given Sterling Robertson's colonists a settlement contract. Finding some of those colonists on the site, Ruiz wrote Mexico City for instructions. Before the reply came Ruiz became friendly with the men and additional settlers who arrived. Finally Mexico City wrote, "Drive the Anglos out!" Ruiz wrote back that (1) the settlers had never actually arrived, (2) those who had arrived were scattered all over the territory, and (3) his horses were in no shape to go looking for them. Mexican colonists never arrived; the plan collapsed, and Ruiz with his troops returned to San Antonio. Ruiz later cast his lot with the Anglo colonists; both he and Robertson were signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence. Inquire locally for exact directions.

Lake — Somerville. See LAKES this section.

CALVERT Grid I-13 Pop. 2,072 Alt. 335

General — "Victorian" describes Calvert — from business buildings and residences to Virginia Field Park. Named for descendant of Lord Baltimore, Robert Calvert, plantation owner who donated townsite. In 1871 had largest cotton gin in world. Cotton still important — 30,000 bales annually in county.

Historic Buildings — Historical medallions mark Cobb's Market, 517 Main St.; Church of Epiphany, Gregg and Elm, and First Presbyterian Church, 401 N. Barton Ave. Cobb's Market built 1868; Church of Epiphany in use since parish founded about 1870; First Presbyterian Church built before Civil War with materials from Calvert Plantation (except for leaded-glass windows), moved to town 1868.

Virginia Field Park — Features large gazebo and shady playground. Once the site of an unusual prison during Reconstruction Days. A "sky parlor" jail was built atop a tall pole, and held Southern sympathizers.

CENTERVILLE Grid H-14 Pop. 831 Alt. 353

General — Rolling plains and prairies characterize the topography of this East Texas area. Seat of Leon County; lumber manufacturing; farm marketing center. Nine-tenths of the farm income is from livestock and poultry.

Leon County Courthouse — When the Leon County Courthouse burned in 1885, the smoke had scarcely died away before a contract was let to erect a new one. Completed in 1887, the "new" courthouse was built of slate bricks handmade near the site. The courthouse is one of the oldest such buildings in Texas.

CHAPPELL HILL Grid J-14 Pop. 315 Alt. 317

General — Settled in 1848, soon had two institutions of higher learning. Small schools thrived a while, but faded with closing of last century. Rural community still reflects quiet pace of bygone times. More than 25 homes and buildings bear historical markers. Local library, organized 1893, is a self-service facility; patrons have individual keys.

Major Event — Bluebonnet Antique Show, two days in Apr., attracts collectors and dealers. Staged in conjunction with Bluebonnet Trails at Brenham (which see, this section).

Chappell Hill Historical Museum — Site of former Chappell Hill Female College. Pioneer utensils, furniture and memorabilia. Open Sun. 1:30 - 5 p.m. Admission.

Scenic Drive — F.M. 1155 north to Washington-on-the-Brazos State Park winds through beautiful pastoral landscapes of the Brazos River Valley, along an historic route used by early settlers.

Washington-on-the-Brazos State Park — A few miles northeast, on the Brazos River, accessible via F.M. 1155. (See WASHINGTON this section.)

COLLEGE STATION Grid I-14 Pop. 17,676 Alt. 308

General — Municipality adjacent to Texas A&M University. Texas A&M University — State's first public institution of higher education, established 1876. Granted university status in 1963. Coed, enrolls more than 12,000 students. Noted for technical, scientific and agricultural studies; famed for military Cadet Corps and ROTC. In World War I school was credited with furnishing more officers to the armed services than any other in the nation. Some 20,000 men from A&M served in World War II, 14,000 as officers.

Texas World Speedway — Three-mile grand prix road course, two-mile oval super-speedway, opened for competition 1969. One of the nation's finest racing facilities, attracts top names in auto racing. Grandstand provides visibility of entire two-mile banked super-speedway; almost all of road course. Seats 26,000, infield parking for 10,000 cars. The multimillion dollar racing facility is just off Texas 6, eight miles south of intersection with Texas 30.

FAIRFIELD Grid G-14 Pop. 2,074 Alt. 461

General — Freestone rock in this area gave county its name, and this county seat is recognized as banking, market and shipping center. Rock quarry and sawmill contribute to town's economy.

(NOTE: Visitors should see historic Val Verde Cannon on courthouse lawn, part of famous Confederate battery used in unsuccessful attempt to drive Federal forces from New Mexico.)

Major Event — Freestone County Fair and Homecoming, three days in Aug., draws 10,000 visitors. Outgrowth of former Confederate Reunions. Festival calendar includes parade, livestock show, rodeo, and lots of country music.

Bradley House Museum — Antebellum home with antique furnishings; china doll collection. Open daily, June - Sept. Coleman St. (off N. Bateman Rd.)

Freestone County Museum — Generally referred to as "Old Jail." Period furniture, historical documents, artifacts. Century-old jail's "guest list" supposedly included such infamous names as John Wesley Hardin, Texas gunman-lawyer and reputedly "the deadliest preacher's son who ever lived." Open Wed., Sat., Sun. 302 E. Main St., one block E. of courthouse. Admission.

FRANKLIN Grid I-14 Pop. 1,063 Alt. 450

General — Established under different name 1871, seat of Robertson County, a popular health resort in last decades of previous century. Mineral springs attracted visitors from throughout state. Today a shipping center for livestock, cotton, alfalfa, vegetables, fruits and pecans. Minerals include oil, fuller's earth and lignite. Wild flowers, especially the Texas state flower, the bluebonnet, are beautifully profuse in spring.

Walter Williams Grave — In a rural church cemetery a few miles southeast of Franklin is the grave of the last survivor of the Civil War. Walter Williams, Confederate veteran who survived all of his comrades-in-arms, both South and North, is buried in the Mount Pleasant church cemetery, F.M. 2446 southeast less than four miles.

GATESVILLE Grid H-12 Pop. 4,683 Alt. 795

General — Grew from U.S. Army Fort Gates established as protection from Indians 1849. Designated county seat when Coryell County was organized 1854. Land of mesas cut by narrow valleys of Leon and Cowhouse Rivers; peaks to 1,200 feet. Abundant underground water from wells 50-200 ft. Plentiful grasses support livestock year-round.

Few traces remain at site of frontier Fort Gates, about five miles east. Current military installation Fort Hood takes up some 20 per cent of county. (See KILLEEN this section.)

Two notable old structures are the Coryell County Courthouse, 1872, and a log jail, 1855. Jail now a restored museum curiosity, city's Raby Park.

Major Event — Annual Gatesville Rodeo, three days early June.

Buckhorn Museum — Appearance of early West barroom. Displays include Indian artifacts, branding irons, settlers' household items, guns, mounted animal horns, photographs, barbed wire. Open Mon. - Sat. 8 a.m. - 10 p.m.

Mother Neff State Park — 22 miles east via F.M. 107, Texas 236. (See MOODY this section.)

Scenic Drives — F.M. 182, F.M. 107 and F.M. 116 traverse a pleasant countryside of large Spanish oaks, cedars and wild flowers in season.

GEORGETOWN Grid I-12 Pop. 6,395 Alt. 750

General—Established 1848 as trade center for agricultural region. Today seat of Williamson County, one of Texas' most productive farming areas. Fertile, black waxy soils; 50,000 bales of cotton annually, extensive livestock in western portion of county.

Major Events—Quarter Horse Show, one day in June, features champion stock of this traditional cowboy horse breed.

Western Week, three days late June. Festivities and rodeo competition attract nearly 20,000 attendance.

Inner Space Caverns—Texas' newest and most accessible cavern; subterranean beauty of stalactites, stalagmites and flowstones plus remains of prehistoric mastodons, wolves and Ice Age animals. Creative lighting and acoustics dramatize the natural beauty. Average temperature, 72 degrees year-round. Located on I.H. 35, one mile south. Admission.

Lakes—Austin and Travis. See LAKES, Ranch & Hill Country section.

Southwestern University—Texas' oldest institution of higher learning, established 1840, Methodist, coed. Traditional scenic campus in midtown. Enrollment limited to around 800; more alumni included in Who's Who in America than any other college of similar size in nation.

GIDDINGS Grid J-13 Pop. 2,783 Alt. 520

General—Seat of Lee County noted for livestock, poultry and manufacturing; deposits of fuller's earth, clay and lignite coal. Settled 1872 chiefly by Wendish Lutherans from Serbin community. Newspaper, the Giddings Star, has only type in the U.S. to print copy in the Wendish language.

Major Event—Lee County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo, three days in May; local and regional performers competing in bronc and bull riding, roping, bulldogging and other traditional rodeo fare.

Lee County Museum—Artifacts from 1854 Wendish Colony (Serbin) including photographs, books, clothing, household items. Open Sat. 3 - 5 p.m. Old jail, U.S. 77 South.

Serbin Community—German-settled town six miles south on F.M. 2239 (not shown on section map). The old Wendish (an early German sect) church has unusual seating arrangement. Men occupy the balcony, women and children sit in downstairs pews.

GROESBECK Grid H-13 Pop. 2,396 Alt. 477

General—Founded 1870 by Houston and Texas Central Railroad, named for a railroad director. At the peak of a small boom as a railroad terminus, Groesbeck became seat of Limestone County.

Fort Parker Memorial Cemetery—Large monument and graves of settlers massacred by Indians in 1836. Two miles north on F.M. 1245 (not shown on section map).

Fort Parker State Park—1,485 acres of wooded and open parkland offer natural beauty, varied recreational opportunities; on Navasota River and 750-acre Lake Springfield. Camping, trailers, fishing, swimming, nature study. Nearby is restored Old Fort Parker (see below). State park is five miles north via Texas 14, Park Road 28. Admission.

Lake—Mexia. See LAKES this section.

Old Fort Parker State Historic Site—Established 1834 by Silas and James Parker and other members of the family of Elder John Parker. The private fort was to protect a settlement of eight or nine families. However, in 1836 a mass attack by several hundred Comanches overran the fort, killing five of the Parker family and carrying into captivity five persons including Cynthia Ann Parker, then age nine. She grew up, married a Comanche chief and lived with the Indians until captured with her two-year-old daughter, Prairie Flower, 24 years later in 1860. She was the mother of the last great Comanche chief, Quanah Parker. Cynthia Ann never became reconciled to her forced return to the life of her white kinsmen, and tried several times to escape. Unhappy and virtual prisoners, both she and her daughter died about four years after they were separated from the wild, free life of the Comanche. Restored in 1967, the old fort has pioneer memorabilia, authentic log blockhouses and stockade. Open during daylight hours. Four miles north via Texas 14, Park Road 35. Admission.

Old Springfield—Once the county seat, and only town in the county 1838-1870. Historical marker on Texas 14 near entrance to Fort Parker State Park details history of the village; along park entrance road is old cemetery. Five miles north on Texas 14.

INDEPENDENCE Grid J-14 Pop. 125 Alt. 321

General—Settled 1824, known as Coles Settlement for John P. Coles, one of Stephen F. Austin's original colonists. Present name suggested by Dr. Asa Hoxey who, during presidency of Sam Houston, was appointed medical censor of the Republic of Texas. Town square was designated as county courthouse site, and so remains although Brenham won courthouse location by two votes in a heated election.

Dr. Asa Hoxey Home—Built 1833 as dog-run log cabin, home of prominent Republic of Texas figure, developed into story-and-a-half home with cedar-lined library and overhanging porches. Two daughters of Sam Houston married here while Houston and his family lived with the doctor. F.M. 390 one mile west, local road one mile north.

Lake—Somerville. See LAKES this section.

Ruins of Old Baylor University—Birthplace of present Baylor University (Waco). Only ruins remain—four pillars of original administration and classroom building, foundations and some walls of girls' dormitory, old college well, cook room and storehouse. Baylor University and Baylor Female College were here until 1886.

Sam Houston Homesite—Near spring which served pioneers and Indians; granite marker at F.M. 390/Spur 390 intersection.

Scenic Drive—F.M. 390 east and west from Independence offers attractive scenery and exceptional vistas.

Texas Baptist Historical Center—Part of old Independence Baptist Church, organized 1839, where Sam Houston was baptized. His wife, Margaret Mofette Lea, and her mother lie in cemetery across the highway. (Fear of spreading the yellow fever which caused Mrs. Houston's death prevented her burial beside her husband in Huntsville.) Records, books, relics and family information. Open Wed. - Sun. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Washington-on-the-Brazos State Park—A few miles east on the Brazos River. (See WASHINGTON this section.)

KILLEEN Grid H-12 Pop. 35,507 Alt. 833

General—Keyed to the military life, edged by three important military installations (see below). Town grew around the Santa Fe Railroad as it built across county in 1883. Birthplace of Oveta Culp Hobby, first commanding officer of Women's Army Corps, later U.S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Major Events—Arts and Crafts Festival, two days in Apr. Killeen Rodeo, three days early May, combine traditional rodeo events with area-wide beauty contest.

Central Texas College—Municipal junior college founded 1967, coed, enrolling more than 3,000 students. Campus off U.S. 190 between Killeen and Copperas Cove.

Lakes—Belton, Stillhouse Hollow. See LAKES this section.

Military Bases—Fort Hood, nation's greatest concentration of armored power on huge 200,000-acre reservation immediately north of Killeen. Headquartered at the base named for Confederate General John Bell Hood is the Army's III Corps, 1st Armored Division ("Old Ironsides"), and 2nd Armored Division ("Hell On Wheels"). Base is "open" facility which welcomes visitors without requirements for special passes. Two museums feature venerable combat hardware from N. African and European campaigns of WW II. Museum of the 1st Armored Division: Building 2832, Battalion Ave. Museum of the 2nd Armored Division: Building 411, Battalion Ave. Main gate on U.S. 190 one mile west of Killeen. Inquire for directions and information at any Military Police post.

Gray Army Airfield, few miles southwest of Killeen, support facility for Killeen Base (see below). Restricted, not open to visitors.

Killeen Base, 9,000 acres west off U.S. 190. Defense Atomic Support Agency installation, restricted, not open to visitors.

Parks—Three spacious city parks offer facilities for swimming, picnicking, softball, tennis, playground equipment.

General—Located where old Indian trail known as La Bahia Road crossed the Colorado River. Developed 1831, became seat of Fayette County 1837. County and town were named by settlers either for their home town in Tennessee, or in honor of General Lafayette and his estate in France.

Major Events—Junior Livestock Show, one day in Mar., features animals raised and lovingly pampered by school-age youngsters.

Fayette County Fair, four days in Sept., includes events from pie-eating to an "armadillo scramble." Livestock and agricultural exhibits, parade, rodeo and dances.

LAKES

Alcoa Lake—703-acre lake operated by Aluminum Company of America for cooling in plant operation, and for recreation: swimming, boating, fishing and skiing. Not shown on section map. About 10 miles southwest of Rockdale. I-13

Bastrop, Lake—1,000-acre constant-level lake set amid low hills. Two recreational areas, on north and south sides of lake, operated by Lower Colorado River Authority. Picnic areas, fishing, swimming, boating, water skiing, boat launching ramps. About five miles northeast of Bastrop. Admission. J-13

Belton, Lake—Scenic 7,400-acre reservoir with numerous arms and coves along 110-mile shore. Corps of Engineers lake with boat ramps, picnicking, camping, trailer sites. Details at headquarters, F.M. 2305 at dam. Just northwest of Belton, also accessible from Killeen and Temple. H-12

Brazos, Lake—Stabilized course of Brazos River through Waco. Parks and campsites are located on lake. H-13

Mexia, Lake—Navasota River and lesser streams form the 1,200-acre recreational spot for boating, swimming, skiing, lake-side camps, and excellent year-round fishing. One of the smaller streams is Baines Creek. (George Washington Baines, great-grandfather of former President Lyndon Baines Johnson, was circuit-riding Baptist preacher in area during Civil War years.) About 10 miles southwest of Mexia, also accessible from Groesbeck. H-13

Somerville, Lake—85-mile shoreline around 24,500 acres of water. Corps of Engineers lake has numerous camping and park areas, commercial marinas and public areas. Obtain details at headquarters, north end of dam off Texas 36. About 13 miles northwest of Brenham, 18 miles southeast of Caldwell, also accessible from Somerville. J-13

HIGHLANDS MANSION, MARLIN

Stillhouse Hollow Lake—Corps of Engineers project impound Lampasas River to form 6,430-acre lake. 58-mile shoreline has recreational and picnic areas, campsites, boat ramps, marina facilities. Details at headquarters at dam, F.M. 1670 off I.H. 35, or off U.S. 190. Eight miles southwest of Belton, also accessible from Killeen, Salado and Temple. I-12

Waco, Lake—7,260-acre impoundment, 60 miles of shoreline much within the city limits of Waco. Boating of all kinds, long sand beaches, swimming, year-round fishing, lakeside camps, marinas and parks. Northwest edge of Waco. H-13

General—Established as Burleson in early 1850s, name changed with creation of Lampasas County; designated county seat. Mineral springs were popular among Indians in the area long before white settlers arrived, and they still flow, hardly half a mile from the native stone courthouse. A number of historic pioneer homes remain with many original furnishings, including the Keystone Hotel, an early Texas landmark and stagecoach stop. Sportsmen find prime hunting for plentiful white-tailed deer in the rugged Hill Country region, and excellent fishing in local creeks and nearby Lampasas and Colorado rivers.

Major Events—Golf: Women's Invitational Golf Tournament, one-day competition in late Apr. Invitational Tournament of the Lampasas Golf Association, three days late May.

Spring Ho Festival, mid-July, historical tour, arts and crafts, parades, beauty contest, horse show, other events.

(Mrs.) Albert R. Bullion Collection—Items are personal relics of Isaac Newton Loveless, Confederate veteran. Books, furniture, photographs. Open Mon. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sun. 2 - 5 p.m.; 406 S. Walnut St.

Lake—Buchanan. See LAKES, Ranch & Hill Country section.

Parks—Privately owned Gunderland Park, 430 acres on Sulphur Creek; campsites, fishing, swimming and picnic facilities. Two miles east, access via local roads from U.S. 190. Admission.

Hancock Park, 109-acre municipal facility at Hancock Springs which flow millions of gallons of water daily. Picnic grounds, swimming pool, a nine-hole golf course. Southwest corner of city, access off U.S. 281.

General—Named for the fourth President of the United States; center for cotton, cattle and lumber in this local region, and is the seat of Madison County.

Major Event—Madisonville Sidewalk Cattlemen's Association Celebration, three days in June. El Camino Trail Ride opens the festivities which include a horse and cattle show, and an R.C.A.-approved rodeo.

Yesteryear—Pioneer atmosphere in setting of re-created frontier town including barbershop, log cabin, bank, saloon, blacksmith shop, livery stable, doctor office, general store, cobbler shop, museum-art gallery. Homemade ice cream and lemonade in summer. Free picnicking. Buffalo, bighorn sheep, pet deer. Twelve miles north on I.H. 45 at OSR (Old San Antonio Rd.). Admission.

General—Established in the 1830s, town and early settlers suffered numerous attacks by Indians—with the outnumbered colonists often on the losing side. Sites of such Indian conflicts are marked about town. Drillers struck a hot artesian well in 1891, and its curative qualities soon made town a health spa. The steaming mineral water still gushes 380,000 gallons a day. Still favored for mineral water baths and popular as a vacation and retirement area; many enjoy fishing and golfing facilities. Two miles west of the city, scenic falls area on the Brazos River provides fishing and swimming.

Highlands Mansion—Although not as imposing on the outside as some mansions of its day, this 19th Century house displays exceptional elegance within. Building reflects graciousness of its era in details including a leaded stained-glass dome, cut glass china cabinet and tufted leather paneling. One mile northeast on F.M. 147. Open 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. daily except Sun., 1 - 4 p.m. Admission. No unaccompanied children under 12.

General—Established 1871, named for Mexican General Jose Antonio Mexia whose family donated the townsite. The general first served under Santa Anna, but later joined an uprising against the Mexican dictator. The rebellion failed, and the city's name-sake died before a firing squad. Natural gas discovered nearby in 1912; oil gusher blew in nine years later. Resulting boom brought a rowdy period marked by violence and martial law. As in all cases the boom faded quickly, and Mexia today is a small, quiet city devoted to modern agriculture, oil and gas production.

Fort Parker State Park—1,485 acres of wooded and open parkland offer natural beauty, varied recreational opportunities. On Navasota River and 750-acre Lake Springfield. Camping, trailers, fishing, swimming, nature study. Nearby is restored Old Fort Parker (see below). State park is five miles southwest on Texas 14, Park Road 28. Admission.

Lake—Mexia. See LAKES this section.

Old Fort Parker State Historic Site—Established 1834 by Silas and James Parker and other members of the family of Elder John Parker. The private fort was to protect a settlement of eight or nine families. However, in 1836 a mass attack by several hundred Comanches overran the fort, killing five of the Parker family and carrying into captivity five persons including Cynthia Ann Parker, then 9 years old. She grew up, married a Comanche chief and lived with the Indians until captured with her 2-year-old daughter, Prairie Flower, 24 years later in 1860. She was the mother of the last great Comanche chief, Quanah Parker. Cynthia Ann never became reconciled to her forced return to the life of her white kinsmen, and tried several times to escape. Unhappy and virtual prisoners, both she and her daughter died about four years after they were separated from the wild, free life of the Comanche. Restored in 1967, the old fort has pioneer memorabilia, authentic log blockhouses and stockade. Open during daylight hours. Eight miles southwest on Texas 14, Park Road 35. Admission.

Tehuacana Hills—Highest point between Houston and Dallas, a focal point of history for nearly two hundred years. In 1797 Philip Nolan's trading expedition found peaceful Tehuacana Indians farming the land. Fierce Cherokees destroyed the farming tribe around 1830. Tehuacana Academy, organized 1852, provided incentive for founding of Trinity University, now located in San Antonio. Silvery-towered former administration building dominates the site.

General—Established 1881 on the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railroad. Diversified agriculture featuring cattle, poultry, dairying, cotton, corn and oats.

Mother Neff State Park—First state park in Texas, site donated by mother of former Gov. Pat Neff. Shady 259-acre site traversed by Leon River. Fishing, tent and trailer camping, nature study, hiking, bird watching. Eight miles northeast via F.M. 107, Texas 236. Admission.

General—Historic town that dates from earliest days of Anglo-American settlement in Texas. Soon after Stephen F. Austin's first advertisement for Texas colonists, issued in New Orleans 1822, settlers from Louisiana began to arrive in the Navasota area. Local chamber of commerce can supply information on historical sites. Today a banking and commercial center for large agricultural area.

La Salle Monument—More than 130 years before the first Anglo-American settlers, the French arrived in Texas led by Robert Cavelier, Sieur de La Salle. It was a mistake: La Salle was actually seeking the mouth of the Mississippi River, but after a series of misadventures his fleet of three ships landed at Matagorda Bay. He established a coastal colony called Fort Saint Louis. Two years later while exploring inland, one of his men murdered La Salle near present Navasota. The statue on Texas 90 downtown honors the noted French trader-explorer.

Washington-on-the-Brazos State Park—A few miles southwest on the Brazos River, via Texas 90. (See WASHINGTON this section.)

FORT PARKER STATE PARK, MEXIA

ROCKDALE Grid I-13 Pop. 4,655 Alt. 467

General — Established 1873 in a rich agricultural district, town is known for its cotton, corn, fruits, vegetables and prize watermelons. Largest shipping point in Texas for lignite coal. Mine near the town has a capacity of 900 tons daily. A large aluminum plant operates nearby.

Lake — Alcoa. See LAKES this section.

ROUND ROCK Grid I-12 Pop. 2,811 Alt. 720

General — Established 1850, named for large round rock in the bed of Brushy Creek. Site of historic St. Charles Hotel, built 1850. El Milagro, rock farmhouse built in 1859, was home of Washington Anderson, veteran of the Battle of San Jacinto. Best known as site of killing of notorious outlaw Sam Bass, now buried in Round Rock Cemetery. Bass' gang plagued stagecoaches, trains and banks in the area, and was object of intensive chase by Texas Rangers. An informer warned Rangers and Round Rock lawmen of a planned raid on a local bank. The Bass gang was ambushed there on July 18, 1878. Wounded in the gun battle, Bass died two days later.

Major Events — Frontier Days, two days in July prior to Old Settlers' Days (see below) features pageantry, dances and parades, Sam Bass Shoot-Out, trail ride and cookout.

Old Settlers' Days, eight days in July, staged since turn of the century. Festivities include old fiddlers' contest, square dances, concerts, gospel singing, and memorial programs.

El Milagro Museum — Four-generation personal collection of American and Oriental antiques, in historic 1859 structure. Open by appointment; U.S. 79. Admission.

Inn at Brushy Creek — Built about 1850 as the Cole House, a recorded Texas historic landmark. Restored, today a restaurant featuring antique decor, table setting reproductions of Colonial era patterns; Continental cuisine. Off I.H. 35 at U.S. 79 east.

Lakes — Austin and Travis. See LAKES, Ranch & Hill Country section.

COTTON IN THE BRAZOS VALLEY

WINEDALE PLANTATION HOUSE, ROUND TOP

Round Top Academy was founded; advertised tuition for the five-month session was $10, with board, laundry, fuel and lights to cost an additional $12 to $15 per semester. The school closed in 1861. Judge Henkel Square contains eight historic homes enclosed by split rail fence.

Bethlehem Lutheran Church — Center of Lutheran faith in Fayette County; dedicated 1866. Unique pipe organ of hand-shaped cedar. Stone construction and simple lines show German architectural influence. Located one block west of Texas 237.

Winedale Outdoor Museum — Restored plantation house of the 1830s includes pioneer homes and barns. Authentic furnishings and relics. A University of Texas center for study of cultural influences of immigrant groups (predominantly German) who settled the area. Open Thurs. - Sat. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.; Sun. noon - 6 p.m. Four miles east via F.M. 1457 and F.M. 2714 (not shown on section map). Admission.

SALADO Grid I-12 Pop. 300 Alt. 695

General — Established prior to 1860; location of first Grange formed in Texas; home of early Salado College (1860-85) which was unique in that tuition supported operation. Ruins of college are amid trees on hill east of F.M. 2268 at south limits.

Major Events — Pilgrimage to Old Salado, weekend in Apr. Salado Art Fair, year's feature event, first weekend in Aug. Thousands attend exhibits, auction, and sales booths offering works of more than 150 artists.

Gathering of Scottish Clans of Texas, weekend nearest Nov. 11. Attracts some 2,000; accented by skirl of bagpipes and colorful tartan banners.

For details on all events, contact Central Texas Area Museum.

Central Texas Area Museum — Across from Stagecoach Inn (below). Depicts area history with documents, antiques and exhibits. Open Mon. - Sat. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.; Sun. 1 - 6 p.m. Admission.

Historic Homes and Buildings — Local inquiry will provide directions to several historic residences, mills and sites dating from early pioneer days. Most contain authentic furnishings, household articles, clothing and documents of a century ago.

Lake — Stillhouse Hollow. See LAKES this section.

Stagecoach Inn — Historically the Shady Villa Inn, now the Stagecoach Inn, included among early guests Robert E. Lee, Jesse James and Shanghai Pierce. The restored old structure, a recorded Texas historic landmark, today houses a restaurant. F.M. 2268 (off I.H. 35) immediately south of Salado Creek.

camping, picnicking, swimming, boating and fishing.

WACO Grid H-13 Pop. 95,326 Alt. 4

General — One of Texas' 13 major cities, located in rich agricultural region of the Brazos River Valley. Modern industry thrives but the city retains flavor of its past when the five "C's" were support: cattle, cotton, corn, collegians and culture. Large, cotton springs on the Brazos River were long popular with the Wa Indians. First white men to see area were remnants of DeSoto's band in 1542. Texas Ranger fort established near the Indian village in 1837; first white settlers came 12 years later.

DOWNTOWN WACO

plantations along the Brazos prospered briefly, but Civil War wrecked the plantation economy and scattered the population. Renewed Western movement and the Chisholm Trail through Waco brought another boom — and frontier wildness that nicknamed the town "Six-shooter Junction." Today known for educational, cultural, convention and recreational facilities.

Major Events — Brazos River Festival & Pilgrimage, Cotton Palace Pageant, last weekend Apr. Pilgrimage visits five historic houses, museums from Waco's early days, plus other historic sites; features outdoor art shows, food booths, children's center, "Thieves' Market," and old-fashioned melodrama. Cotton Palace Pageant depicts early Waco and Texas history, plus coronation of Cotton Palace royalty.

Texas State Technical Institute — Established in 1965, coed, offers courses in technical and vocational education to some 2,200 students. Located at former James Connally Air Force Base, north of city.

WASHINGTON Grid J-14 Pop. 250 Alt. 200
General — Usually known as Washington-on-the-Brazos, dates from 1822, when a ferry was operated across Brazos River just below mouth of Navasota River. A significant part of early Texas history was written here. The provisional government of Texas organized here March, 1836; Texas Declaration of Independence and Constitution in 1836, and a full corps of executive officers was created. A year later Washington was incorporated, and in 1842 was briefly the capital of Texas.

Washington-on-the-Brazos State Park — Extensive restoration program underway at the historic site on the Brazos River. Several old structures are in place; an unusual new museum is the focal point. Star-shaped, two-level museum contains auditorium, special showcase on Anson Jones, biographies and pictures of signers of Texas Declaration of Independence, library. Glass-walled second level features exhibits on colonial influences in Texas. Open daily except Mon., Tues., Thanksgiving and Christmas. Landscaping in park based upon flora common to Texas in 1836. Additional reconstruction will include pioneer homes, shops and stores along original village streets. Extensive picnic areas in groves of trees along the Brazos. Admission.

In every season the camping's great in Texas! Sites listed below are administered by local, state and federal agencies. Not included are commercial camps whose listings are usually available in commercial guides. Camps are listed under nearby city name; driving directions are provided to each. The grid letter and number by each city name correspond to the camp's location on the sectional map for this region.

Directions are by standard compass abbreviations: N (north), NE (northeast), E (east), SE (southeast), S (south), SW (southwest), W (west), NW (northwest). Highways are indicated by standard abbreviations: IH = Interstate Highways, shown on maps as ⁽³⁵⁾. US = U. S. Highways, shown on maps as ⁽⁸⁰⁾. Tex = Texas State Highways, shown on maps as ⁽²¹⁾. FM or RM = Texas Farm or Ranch Roads (all are excellent paved routes), shown on maps as ⁽²²⁰⁾.

Unless otherwise noted, drinking water is available; the facility is open year round; showers are "hot," and tent and wheeled campers can use the camping area.

Here's the tallest region of Texas. Ninety peaks thrust above a mile high, while contorted cliffs plunge deep to secret canyons. This is sun-glinted desert land—all edges and thorns, unrelieved by softening greenery.

Yet here is a primitive, bewitching beauty. Purple mountains against a sky of crystal blue—sun-washed adobe villages—fiercely armed cacti unfolding spectacular blossoms.

Then . . . discovery! Shangri-La valleys nestled among granite crags—ponderosa pines in an alpine meadow—quivering aspens flecking a mountainside with gold—and the grandeur of Big Bend National Park.

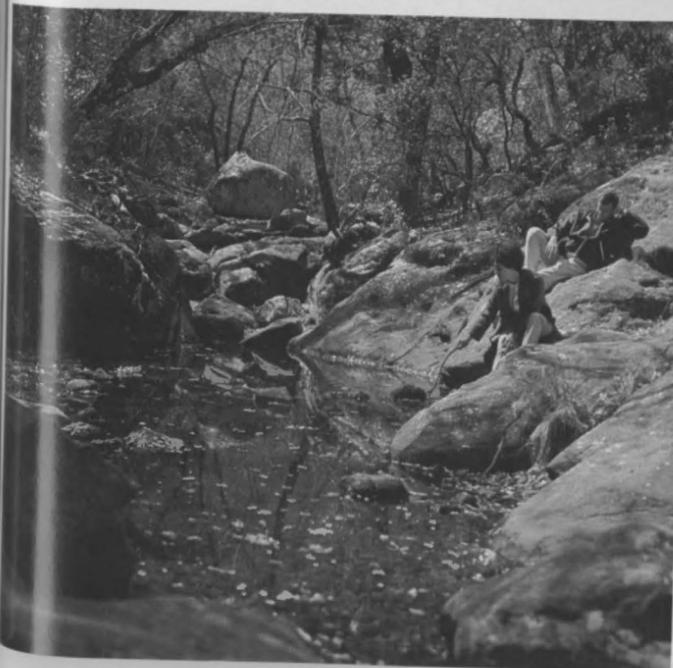

Discover too the exhilarating international atmosphere of two nations' largest cities on their mutual border: El Paso, Texas—and Juarez, Mexico. Separated by the Rio Grande, they're joined by ties of heritage, temperament and culture. Luxurious accommodations—colorful night spots—marimbas and mariachis.

Viva la Towering West!

WHERE TO GO, WHAT TO SEE

ALPINE Grid J-4 Pop. 5,971 Alt. 4,485

General — Established prior to 1882; seat of Brewster County, a vast mountainous area of 5,935 square miles, the largest county in Texas. (As a comparison, this single county is larger than the state of Connecticut.) Today the retail center and shipping point for a huge ranching area; headquarters for mining companies. Climate and location make the town a popular vacation area. Visitors enjoy golfing, mountain climbing, horseback riding, rock and mineral collecting, swimming and camping amid spectacular vistas. During season, hunters take mule deer, pronghorn antelope and varmint species, plus upland game birds.

Big Bend National Park — Approximately 80 miles south of Alpine on Texas 118. See BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK this section.

Scenic Drives — Texas 118 north to Fort Davis, then Texas 166 in a westward loop provides a host of mountain vistas on a grand scale.

Texas 118 south toward Big Bend National Park spans both desert and mountain landscapes of primitive grandeur.

U.S. 67 west to Marfa offers additional views of mountain majesty.

Sul Ross State University — Liberal arts, coed; established in 1920, enrolling some 2,600 students.

Sul Ross State University Museum of the Big Bend — Indian items, reconstruction of a frontier general store, blacksmith shop, stagecoach, buggy, and pioneer rooms. Panels, showcases and walls illustrate area chronological development. On campus. Open afternoons except Mon. Admission.

ANTHONY Grid G-1 Pop. 2,154 Alt. 3,800

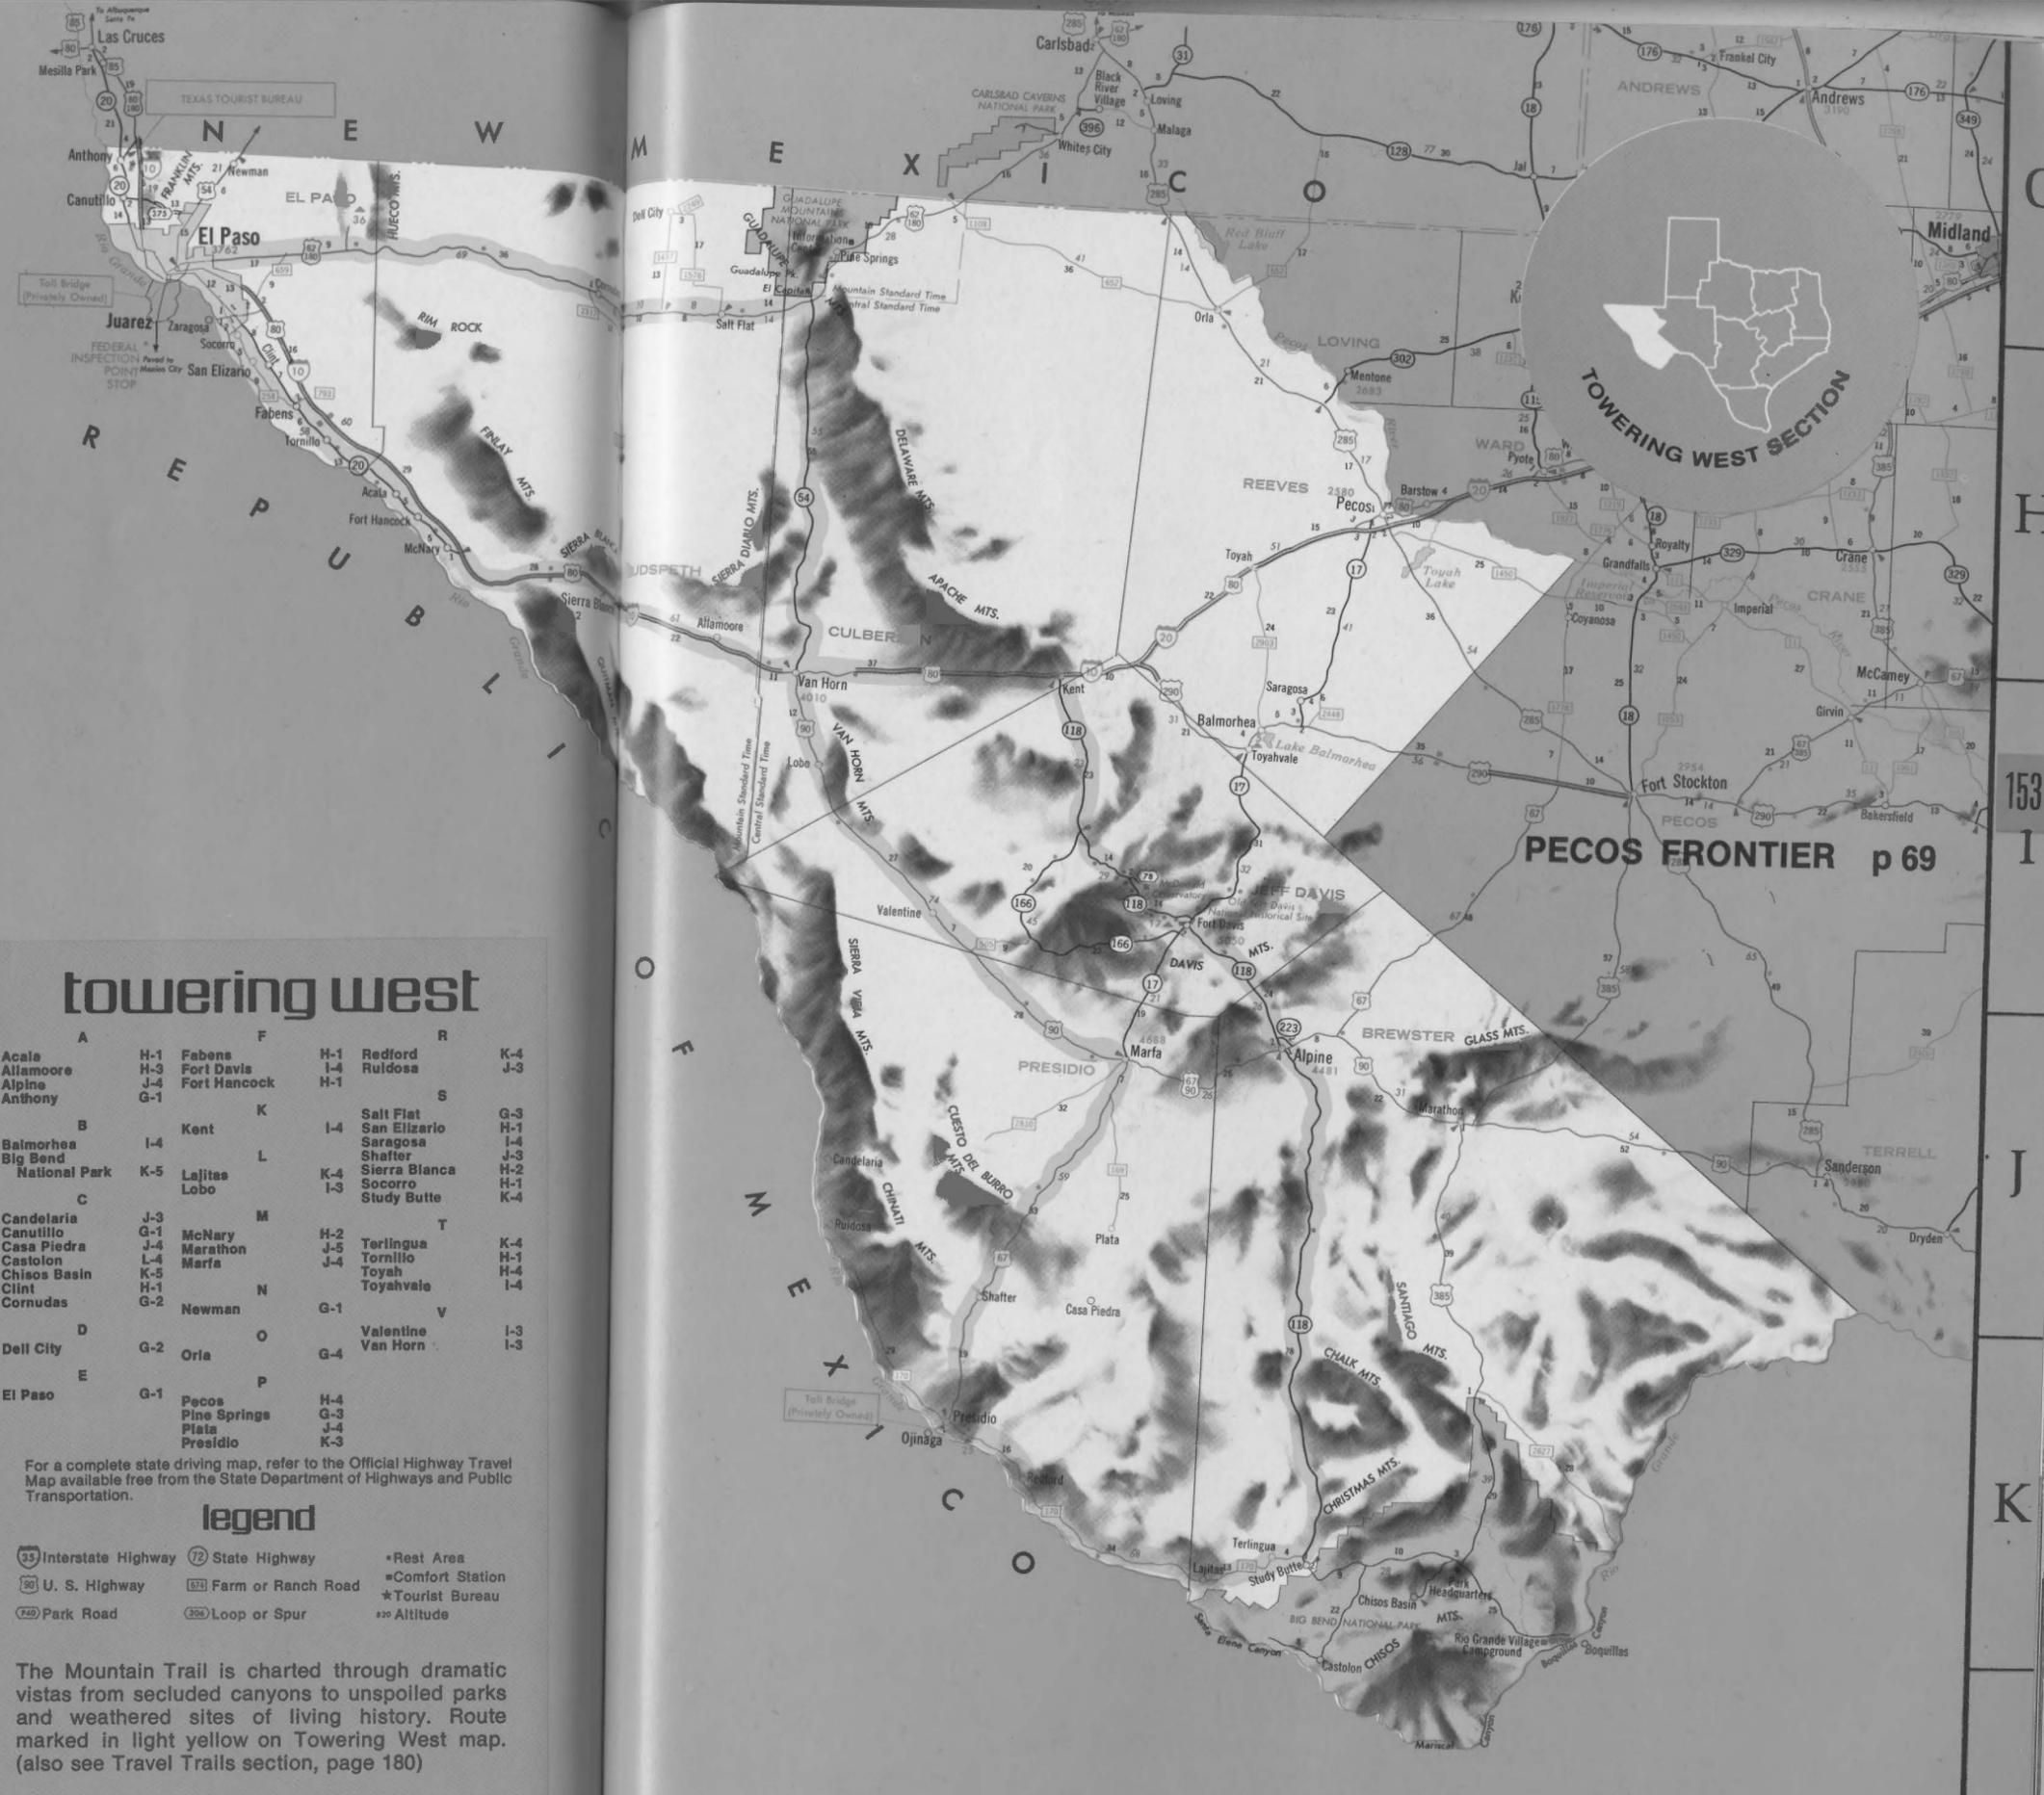

General — One of Texas' newest towns (incorporated in 1952); a two-state city. Located on Texas 20, which in this area follows historic route of El Camino Real, Spain's royal highway that connected Mexico with Texas, California and Florida. In 1598 Don Juan de Onate and band of colonizers traveled this road to settle Santa Fe, at rate of only 40 miles in 15 days. Present economy keyed to food canning and packing, cotton, and a federal correctional institution providing adult rehabilitation.

Tourist Bureau — One of 11 bureaus provided by the state at key highway entrances to Texas, in the State Capitol, and at the Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center in Langtry. Bureaus are operated daily throughout the year, staffed by uniformed, trained travel counselors. Services free to all visitors include information, maps, literature on every part of the state, and expert assistance in charting routes. Located on I.H. 10 at the New Mexico state line; operated by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

BALMORHEA Grid I-4 Pop. 655 Alt. 3,205

General — Established by a firm of land promoters in 1906, townsite was located in center of a 14,000-acre tract watered by the famous San Solomon Springs. Today remains a center of irrigated farming.

Balmorhea State Park — At historic San Solomon Springs, facilities include camping and trailer sites, cabins, swimming, play and picnic areas. Huge walled swimming pool fed by the springs, which flow 26 million gallons daily. With 68,000-square foot surface, pool is one of world's largest. Springs were important

SPECTACULAR SANTA ELENA CANYON, BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK

DELL CITY Grid G-2 Pop. 383 Alt. 3,698

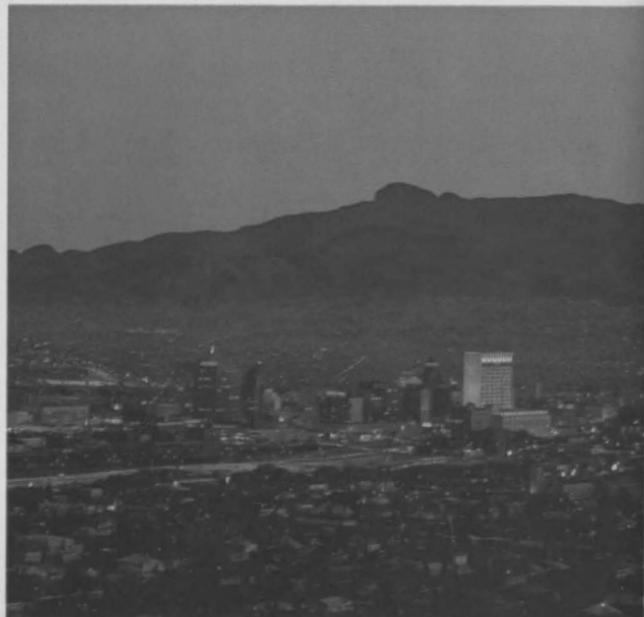

General—Only a few years old, the center of a remarkable agricultural venture. In 1948 a rancher, drilling a small well, struck an incredibly abundant water supply. Today huge wells produce three-quarters of a billion gallons daily for vast irrigation projects. More than 44,000 acres are cultivated, with a potential of three times that. Average water depth is 90 feet, and has shown no signs of diminishing. Extraordinary supply apparently originates from mountains that surround the area on three sides. Ten miles east of Dell City is a white sands area, as in New Mexico.

Major Event—Dell Valley Hudspeth County Fair, Oct., three days of traditional county fair activities, exhibits and events.

EL PASO Grid G-1 Pop. 322,261 Alt. 3,762

General—Grew from four earlier settlements, first of which established by Juan Maria Ponce de Leon in 1827. Largest U.S. city on the Mexican border, and neighboring Juarez (see below), is Mexico's largest border city. Combined populations exceed 700,000. Located in ancient mountain pass from which the name derived; surrounded by peaks reaching a mile high. Superb climate, dramatic scenery and proximity to Mexico make city one of Texas' most popular tourist and vacation areas. Symphony orchestras, theatre, museums, libraries, and diversified sporting activities including horse and greyhound racing, soccer, polo, baseball, tennis, football and basketball. For full details and literature on city attractions visit the El Paso Convention and Visitors Bureau, 10 Civic Center Plaza.

EL PASO

Major Events—Southwestern International Livestock Show and Rodeo, nine days in Feb. One of the top shows in the state.

Juarez bullfights, Sundays early Apr. - Sept.; Greyhound races year-round except late Jan. - early Feb.

Sun Kings, Texas League baseball at Dudley Field.

Fiesta Chamizal, six days, Oct. El Paso and Juarez events including sports, parades, dancing, and pageantry with festival king and queen.

Sunland Park horse racing, Oct.-May, four miles northwest of downtown El Paso, off I.H. 10. Modern grandstand seats enthusiasts in air-conditioned comfort.

Southwestern Sun Carnival, Dec. 20-Jan. 1, celebrates magnificent climate. Festivities include Sun Bowl football game, art shows in El Paso and Juarez, horse racing, polo, bullfights, tennis, bowling, basketball, golf, concerts, dancing, parades, floats and coronation of Sun Queen.

Aerial Tramway—Breathtaking ride in glass and steel gondola to top of Ranger Peak, 5,632 feet. From viewing platform see vast areas of Texas, New Mexico and Mexico. Tramway operates 10 a.m.-9 p.m. summer; 2 p.m.-9 p.m. winter. Admission.

Bullfighter Museum—Memorabilia from the bull ring, posters and art associated with the "sport." 5001 Alameda Ave.

Cavalry Museum—U.S. Cavalry mementos; valuable charro costumes and saddles; Southwestern history from the conquistadores to Pancho Villa in pictures; live Texas Longhorns. Open Mon. - Sat. 10 a.m. - 8 p.m.; Sun. 1 - 8 p.m. I.H. 10 at Loop 375 (Avenue of the Americas).

Chamizal Monument—Cites amicable settlement of a long-standing border dispute between Texas and Mexico. Monument in an area by the Rio Grande where a new channel marks adjusted international boundary. Border memorabilia, exhibits, film (in Spanish and English) on Chamizal and border history. Open daily, 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Off Alameda Ave.

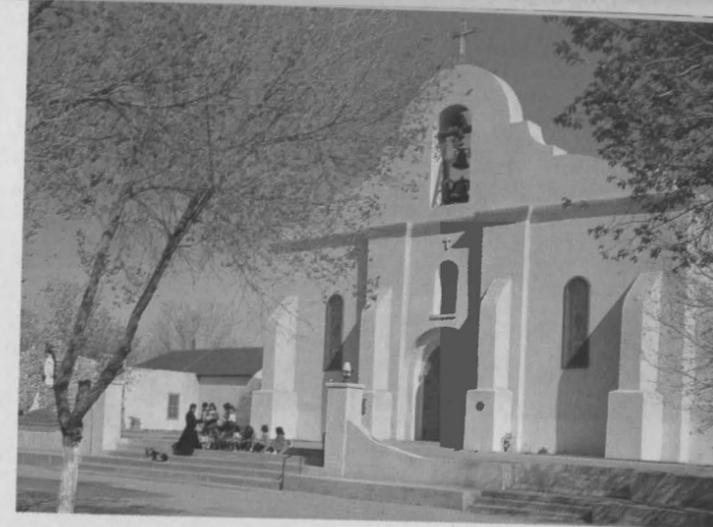

El Paso Centennial Museum—Archaeology, anthropology, geology, plants, animals. Photos and maps show historical development of El Paso. Open Mon.-Sat. 10 a.m.-5 p.m., afternoons Sun. and holidays. Campus, University of Texas at El Paso, University Ave. and Wiggins Rd.

El Paso County Historical Society—Documents, photographs, souvenirs. Guided tours. El Paso Library, 515 N. Oregon St.

El Paso Museum of Art—Multimillion-dollar Kress Collection, plus frequent exhibits of classical and contemporary Mexican and Southwestern art. Tues.-Sat., 10 a.m.-5 p.m.; Sun. 1-5 p.m. 1211 Montana Ave.

Fort Bliss—U.S. Army military post established 1848 as defense against hostile Indians and assertion of U.S. authority over lands acquired from Mexico following the Mexican War. Headquarters for Confederate forces in the Southwest during the Civil War, later a refitting post for military efforts against the wily, much-feared Apache chief, Geronimo. Today the U.S. Army Air Defense Center engaged in rocket research and combat training. A replica of original adobe fort and compound is maintained including a museum of frontier military era; Pleasanton Rd. and Sheridan Dr. Open daily, 9 a.m. - 4:45 p.m.

Hueco Tanks State Park—Precious water from infrequent rains "stored" in natural rock basins, for centuries a strategic site for travelers in this arid region. Located 33 miles east of El Paso, off U.S. 62/180. On rocks are Indian pictographs 2,000 years old, and names of 49'ers on way to California.

Juarez—Mexico's fourth largest city, and that country's largest city on the U.S. border. Linked to El Paso by four bridges across the Rio Grande, often only a dry arroyo. Juarez numbers more than 280,000 population, offers visitors handicraft bargains in quaint shops, elegant night clubs, luxury hotels and motels, glassblowing factories, art and craft center, and the modern, soaring Juarez Race Track, called "the most beautiful in the Western Hemisphere." (See MEXICO: Entrance and Exit Regulations at the end of book.)

Old Missions—El Paso's Lower Valley is site of several graceful old Spanish missions which antedate the better known missions of California. A tour of them has been mapped by the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

They include Nuestra Señora del Carmen, established as Corpus Christi de la Isleta, 1681; damaged by both floods and fires, but restored and maintained in original style. Oldest mission in Texas, founded 10 years prior to earliest East Texas mission. Franciscans maintained it to civilize and Christianize Tigua Indians. When established, the mission pueblo was estimated to be about three and one-half leagues southeast and east of modern Juarez. Left on Texas side of the Rio Grande following changes in river channel. Several acres of mission land have been in constant cultivation since 1682—more than 285 years! Known by several other names including San Lorenzo del Realito and San Antonio de los Tiguas. Village of Ysleta in which mission is located now incorporated into El Paso. (See below) watering place for buffaloes, Indians and pioneers. Today supply irrigation needs. Four miles southwest off U.S. 290. Admission. Lake—Balmorhea. See LAKES this section.

BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK Grid K-5 Pop. 105 Alt. 1,850-7,835

General—A gigantic area of 708,221 acres enclosing stark desert, lofty mountains and incredible canyons. Edged on three sides by the "Big Bend" of the Rio Grande, international boundary between Mexico and United States.

Millions of years ago the sea covered this area, and fossil shells can be seen along canyon walls. When the ocean receded, it left great marshes and tropic forests where dinosaurs lived and died. A giant crocodile possibly 50 feet long is known to have lived here before recorded history.

Today visitors may see mule deer, javelina (collared peccary), squirrels, cougar, gray fox, bobcat, coyote, ringtail, pronghorn antelope and perhaps a rare desert bighorn sheep.

More than 200 species of birds have been identified in the park. Watch for Mexican jay, Scott's oriole, cliff swallow and cactus wren. Also the roadrunner, weak-flying but fleet-footed member of cuckoo family. Only known U.S. nesting place of rare Colima warbler.

Accessible from Marathon via U.S. 385 (79 miles), from Alpine via Texas 118 (108 miles), and from Marfa/Presidio via U.S. 67 and F.M. 170 (156 miles).

Accommodations and routine auto needs available in "The Basin" of the Chisos Mountains. Facilities include cottages, modern motel-type units, campgrounds, trailer parks, small grocery store and gift shop, riding stable, restaurant and post office. Advance reservations for accommodations are advisable throughout the year. Write National Park Concessions, Inc., Big Bend National Park, Texas 79834.

Park rangers present illustrated lectures, guided hikes and horseback trail rides.

The impact of Big Bend on visitors was well told by a U.S. Treasury agent who came to establish a port of entry with Mexico. He wrote, in part: "Nowhere else have I found such a wildly weird country. Emotions are stirred by the grandeur of the scenery and the ever-changing play of light and shadow. A man grows watchful—awe-struck by Nature in her lofty moods."

Big Bend National Park Museum—Exhibits of geological and wild flower interest, plus brochures, trail maps and accommodation information. Lobby of administrative building at Panther Junction. Open 8 a.m.-8:30 p.m. daily.

Scenic Drive—El Camino del Rio, Spanish for "The River Road," popular name for F.M. 170 which stretches from the western edge of Big Bend National Park to Lajitas, Redford, Presidio and beyond. An excellent, well-traveled highway, one of the most spectacular drives in the nation, plunging over mountains and canyons along the sun-drenched Rio Grande.

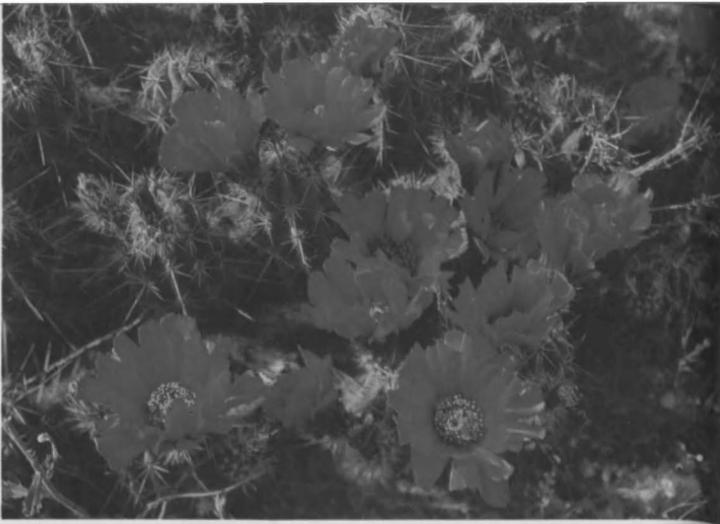

Nuestra Señora de la Concepción del Socorro, pueblo and mission complex, established by refugees from present New Mexico area who were forced to flee following general Pueblo Revolt in 1681. Original relocation was some seven and half leagues south of El Paso in Mexico, but an Indian uprising the following year forced another relocation to village of Socorro on the Rio Grande one league from Ysleta. Early 19th Century flood changed course of the Rio Grande and left village and mission on Texas side. Present village of Socorro adjacent to southeast El Paso.

Village of San Elizario served as seat of El Paso County for many years, and was location of a presidio (fort) of the same name. San Elizario Presidio Chapel was founded 1777 to serve Spanish military garrison and government there. Still in daily use, chapel stands as built almost 200 years ago, preserving a type of architecture that supplanted more austere styles of older Ysleta and Socorro missions. Museum open weekends.

Parks — Thirty-three parks, plus Ascarate Lake, McKelligon Canyon and Tom Mays West Mount Franklin Park, popular picnic areas.

Scenic Drives — Scenic Drive traces a winding course on southern flank of Mount Franklin above downtown El Paso, with view of Juarez across the river. Reached from Richmond St. on the east, from Rim Rd. on the west.

El Paso is shaped roughly like a "V", divided by imposing steep slopes of Franklin Mountains. Connecting top ends of the "V" is Loop 375 which climbs through mile-high Smugglers Gap and offers impressive views of rugged mountain-desert scenery. Accessible from I.H. 10 northwest of city, and from U.S. 54 northeast.

PITAYA CACTUS

A free museum in the Tigua Community Building (built between 1692 and 1744) traces the history and culture of the Pueblos from pre-Columbian to modern times. Museum open Tues.-Sat. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. and Sunday noon-5 p.m.

Dances are performed hourly in the afternoons throughout summer; weekends only in winter. Admission. Craft shop, and cafe featuring Pueblo bread baked in traditional oven. Across plaza from Ysleta Mission, 119 Old Pueblo Rd. (Ysleta exit on I.H. 10 east.)

FORT DAVIS Grid I-4 Pop. 896 Alt. 5,050

General — Established and grew under protection of U.S. Army military post of the same name which was founded in 1854 at crossroads of the famous Chihuahua Trail and the Butterfield Overland Mail Route. Has served as the county seat of Presidio County, and later Jeff Davis County created largely from Presidio. Altitude and climate make it a popular tourist and camping area. During each fall and winter season hunters are attracted by plentiful mule deer and pronghorn antelope.

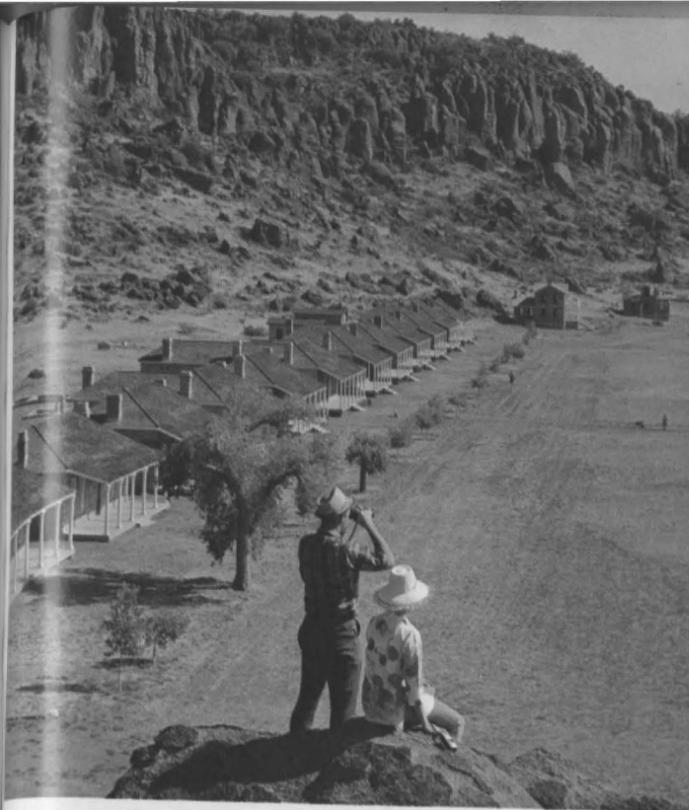

Davis Mountains State Park — In a sloping basin among the scenic Davis Mountains, 1,869 acres hosting more than 155,000 visitors annually. Primary service facility is multilevel structure called Indian Lodge, patterned in the pueblo style. A free interpretive center is open afternoons, June through Aug., featuring plant and animal material, both live and mounted; bird observation window and wildlife watering station. Camping, picnicking, dining room, trailer facilities, rest room, nature study, hiking. Six miles west of Fort Davis; Texas 118, Park Road 3. Admission.

Fort Davis National Historic Site — Ordered established in 1854 by Jefferson Davis, then U.S. Secretary of War, as a watering stop and protected stronghold for gold seekers, settlers, traders and troops on the way west. The original contingent of troops had to fight fiercely hostile Indians on their way to the site, and while they were building the first structures.

During the Civil War, Confederate troops occupied the buildings a few months, and then abandoned them. Indians vented their anger on the vacant fort, and little was left when Federal troops returned in 1867. However, substantial rock and adobe buildings were soon constructed, and Fort Davis became the hub of warfare with the Indians.

DAVIS MOUNTAINS STATE PARK, FORT DAVIS

After years of bloody conflict the Indians of the area were subdued, and there was no further need for troops by 1891. The post was deactivated and slowly fell into silent ruin. In 1961 it was declared a National Historic Site, and a restoration program was undertaken by the National Park Service. Fort Davis is described by the National Park Service as the most extensive and impressive existing example of Southwestern frontier forts.

A museum located in reconstructed barracks is open daily during daylight hours. Features include frontier military mementoes, dioramas, and films on historic aspects of the Southwest.

In addition, another element is often the most vivid experience for Fort Davis visitors. It is a sound re-creation of a military retreat parade from the previous century. It includes the sounds of a mounted review, and music from the military manuals of 1875. Echoing over the empty parade ground, the ceremony is a haunting experience in vivid history.

Neill Museum — Antique toys made in Texas, dolls, bottles and furniture. In historic Truehart House seven blocks west of county courthouse. June through Sept. daily 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Admission.

Scenic Drive — Utilizing several highways that describe a loop through the impressive Davis Mountains, the route is an easy way to absorb great quantities of scenery. Some 74 miles in total length (from and back to Fort Davis), the scenic drive passes Davis Mountains State Park, skirts Mount Locke upon whose summit stands McDonald Observatory, continues past beautiful Madera Canyon Roadside Park, over Nunn Hill, the Rockpile Roadside Park, Skillmans Grove and Merrill Roadside Park. Take along a camera and plenty of color film! The loop is comprised of Texas 17, Texas 118 and Texas 166.

University of Texas McDonald Observatory at Mt. Locke — Built 1932 following bequest from William J. McDonald, amateur astronomer. Located on 6,791-foot peak of Mount Locke. Site selected because of clear air, high ratio of cloudless nights, distance from concentrations of artificial lights, and the dust- and radiation-filtering growths of shrubs and timber. Original instrument was 82-inch reflector. In 1968 a new 107-inch reflector, third largest in nation, was installed in larger dome.

Tours of the observatory are scheduled on weekdays at 9 and 11 a.m., 1, 3, and 4 p.m.; Sat. at 9, 10 and 11 a.m. and 1, 2, 3, 4 and 4:30 p.m.; Sun. and holidays at 1, 2, 3, 4 and 4:30 p.m. (Tour schedule subject to change. To verify call Fort Davis 915/426-3263.) Visitors may look through telescope only on last Wed. of each month, and arrangements must be made by writing in ad-

Guadalupe Mountains National Park — See PINE SPRINGS, this section.

EL CAMINO DEL RIO (F.M. 170), SCENIC DRIVE ALONG THE RIO GRANDE

LAJITAS Grid K-4 Pop. 6 Alt. 2,200

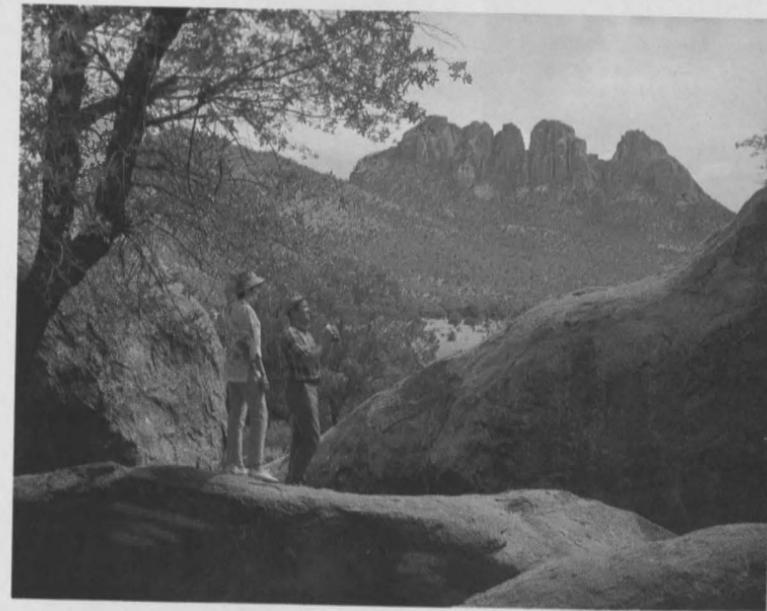

General — (La-HEE-tahs) First became centralized village in 1915 when U.S. Army troops were stationed to protect Big Bend area from the elusive flamboyant Mexican bandit, Francisco (Pancho) Villa. Name is a Spanish word meaning flagstones, from the Boquillas flagstone formation of that area. Area residents predominantly Mexican-American, who farm irrigated plots along the Rio Grande.

Big Bend National Park — Immediately east of Lajitas. (See BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK this section.)

Scenic Drive — El Camino del Rio, Spanish for "The River Road," popular name for F.M. 170 which stretches from Lajitas northwest to Presidio and beyond. It is an excellent paved route and is one of the most spectacular drives in the nation, plunging over mountains and canyons along the sun-drenched Rio Grande.

LAKES

Balmorhea, Lake — Impoundment on Sandia Creek covering 573 acres. Boating and fishing are permitted on lake which provides water for irrigating thousands of surrounding acres. Three miles southeast of Balmorhea. I-4

SAWTOOTH MOUNTAIN NEAR FORT DAVIS

AERIAL TRAMWAY, EL PASO

Sierra de Cristo Rey — The Mountain of Christ the King — looms above El Paso at point where territories of Texas, Mexico and New Mexico meet. Atop the 4,576-foot summit stands a massive monument of Christ on the Cross. Built of Cordova cream limestone quarried near Austin, Texas, figure and cross stand 33.5 feet high. A four-mile foot trail winds to the summit. Thousands of pilgrims make the climb on the last Sun. of each Oct. which is the Feast of Christ the King.

Tigua Indian Museum — See Ysleta, below.

Tourist Bureau — I.H. 10 north. (See ANTHONY this section.)

University of Texas at El Paso — Established 1913 as Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, destroyed by fire in 1916. Rebuilt with beautiful stone buildings in unusual slope-walled Bhutanese (Tibetan) style of architecture, blending perfectly with location on slopes of Mount Franklin. Liberal arts college enrolling more than 10,000 students. Primary athletic facility is the Sun Bowl Stadium. On campus is the El Paso Centennial Museum (which see).

Ysleta — Oldest community within the present boundaries of Texas, now part of the city of El Paso. Following revolt of Indians against the Spanish along the upper Rio Grande in present New Mexico, Spanish refugees and loyal Indians moved south to the protection of the Spanish fort called El Paso del Norte (now Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso). In 1681 refugees established community of Ysleta del Sur, and built the first mission in Texas. Today in the Ysleta section of El Paso, age-old whitewashed adobe buildings stand between modern structures built hundreds of years later. Blue painted doors and window frames may still be seen, an ancient charm to ensure happiness and good luck, and to ward off evil.

DEVIL'S HEAD CACTUS

see bobcat, mule deer, pronghorn antelope, cougar, mourning dove, white-winged dove, quail, fox and coyote. No hunting permitted, though excellent fishing available along a 20-mile stretch of Rio Grande. Approximately 55 miles south of Marathon via U.S. 385 and R.M. 2627.

Great Marathon Basin — Widely known geologic area noted for extensive surface outcroppings of varied rocks and minerals, popular with professional geologists and amateur rockhounds. Inquire locally for directions to many interesting spots.

MARFA Grid J-4 Pop. 2,647 Alt. 4,688

General — Established 1881 as water stop on Texas and New Orleans Railroad, now a trading point for many large ranches in the surrounding mountains. Superb climate makes Marfa a popular tourist center. Several large religious encampments are held each year. Soaring is a popular sport, and sailplanes may often be seen winging gracefully over the high mesas and mile-high peaks. In season, hunters are attracted by plentiful mule deer and pronghorn antelope.

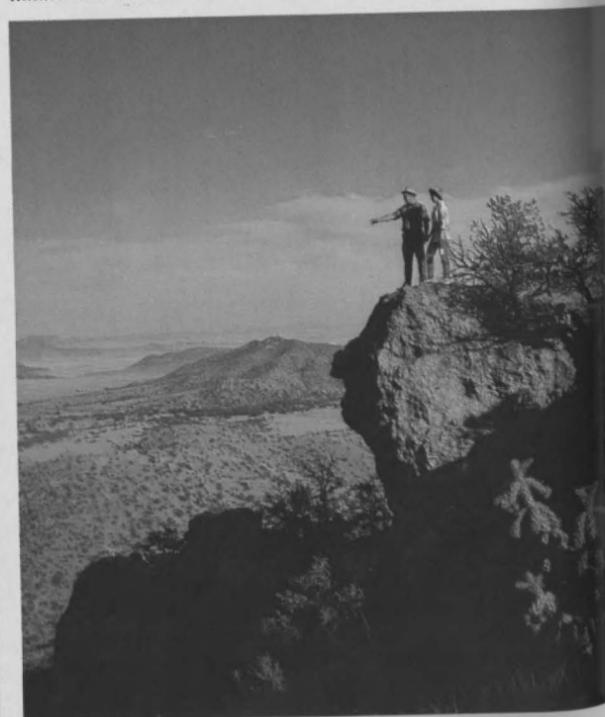

Major Events — Old-Timers' Team Roping event highlights traditional cowboy skills. Old timers and rodeo ex-champions from many states gather in Marfa for the annual spring event.

The annual Marfa Soaring Camp attracts sailplane competitors from throughout the world. Two national championships and a world championship soaring contest have been staged here in recent years. Scheduled during a week of late June or early July.

Big Bend National Park — Approximately 156 miles southeast of Marfa via U.S. 67 and F.M. 170. (See BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK this section.)

Highest Golf Course in Texas — Municipal nine-hole course nearly a mile high. Visitors and locals enjoy golfing in the clear, dry mountain air; several tournaments scheduled annually.

HIKING TRAILS OFFER SCENIC VISTAS

ORLA Grid G-4 Pop. 183 Alt. 2,885

General — Small community grew around a section house on Pecos River Railroad in 1890s. Name is Spanish, meaning border or fringe, applied to location near the Pecos River.

Lake — Red Bluff. See LAKES this section.

PECOS Grid H-5 Pop. 12,682 Alt. 2,580

General — Established 1881 as stop on Texas and Pacific Railroad, Pecos gained early fame as hangout for rowdy cowboys and fast-draw lawmen. One of the nation's earliest rodeos was staged here in 1883. It was an informal contest to settle arguments between cowboys of such early ranches as the Hashknife, the NA and the Lazy Y — about who was the best at roping and riding. Today a hub of travel both east-west and north-south; center of commerce for irrigated farming, industry, ranching, and oil production. Nearby hunting for mule deer, javelina and upland game birds. Rock collectors seek agate, jasper, desert amethyst and Indian artifacts. Visit the Pecos Chamber of Commerce for details.

Major Events — Sleek show animals featured two days in Jan., Reeves-Loving Counties Livestock Show.

Golden Girl of the Old West Pageant, June, immediately before Pecos' famed rodeo.

Pecos Rodeo, four days around July 4th; lengthy heritage and renowned reputation. Rodeo cowboys from throughout the nation gather to compete for top prizes.

Pecos Fall Fair Festival, prize agricultural specimens from irrigated acres in Reeves County. Four days in Oct.

Lake — Red Bluff. See LAKES this section.

Pecos Cantaloupes — Grown in sun-drenched fields irrigated from vast underground sources of water, this luscious melon is the delight of gourmets throughout the United States. Produced from a rare natural combination of alkali soil, western sunlight and altitude, Pecos cantaloupes enjoy comparable status with lobsters from Maine, wines from France and cheeses from Switzerland. Harvested from late July through September, these Pecos delicacies are much in demand and are distributed nationally.

West-of-the-Pecos Museum — Occupies an historic old hotel and saloon (once the area's finest). See restored ornate fixtures, accurate displays of life in the late 1800s, and site where two outlaws were gunned down by quick-draw bartender, Barney Riggs. Provides information on other Pecos tourist attractions. Open 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. in summer; 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. in winter. Admission.

PINE SPRINGS Grid G-3 Pop. 20 Alt. 5,634

General — The tiny community on U.S. 62/180 was the location of a station on the famous stagecoach run, the Butterfield Overland Mail Route. The station was established in 1858; tumbled stone ruins and a granite historical marker are all that remain today.

Guadalupe Mountains National Park — Dedicated 1972, this new park contains 77,518 acres with elevation ranging from 3,650 to 8,751 feet at the summit of Guadalupe Peak, the highest point in Texas. Four of the state's highest peaks are in the park, along with deep canyons, and a rare mixture of plant and animal life. Very limited visitor facilities are available.

U.S. 62/180 REST AREA, EL CAPITAN MOUNTAIN

A small, primitive "dry" campground is at The Pinery near Pine Springs on U.S. 62/180. Only containerized fuels are permitted; wood gathering is prohibited.

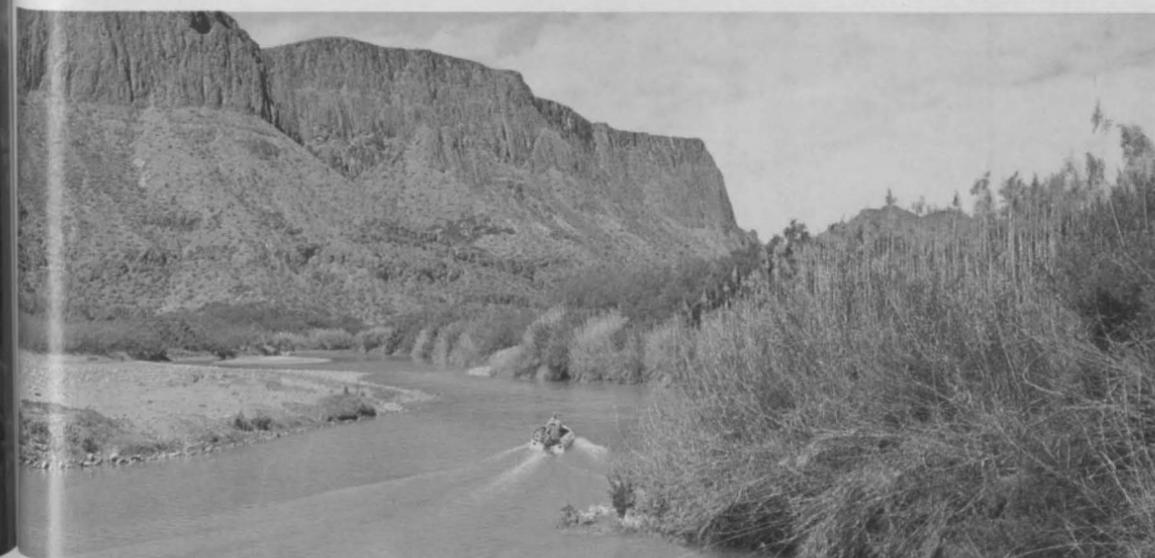

Access to the park's scenic but wild interior is limited to hiking and backpack camping. The National Park Service cautions that only experienced, well equipped backpackers should enter the rugged backcountry. All should check in and out at the Frijole Information Station near Pine Springs.

PRESIDIO Grid K-3 Pop. 1,050 Alt. 2,594

General — Isolated village on the Rio Grande which grew from an early Spanish settlement once protected by a presidio (fort). Today the Mexican town south of the river is Ojinaga. The Texas town north of the river is Presidio. Surrounding terrain is arid, rugged, and often spectacular (see Scenic Drive below.) NOTE: Tourist facilities in Presidio are quite limited.

El Ferrocarril Chihuahua al Pacifico — (The Chihuahua to the Pacific Railroad) — A dream for more than 60 years, the new railroad slices across Mexico from Ojinaga (across the Rio Grande from Presidio) south to Chihuahua City, then southwest to Los Mochis on the Gulf of California. While the destination is beautiful and pleasant, it is the ride which is spectacular. The route climbs and twists through the soaring Sierra Madres, utilizing 73 tunnels and 27 bridges over its 572-mile distance. The train skirts the shoulders of towering peaks, while below are green tropical valleys and waterfalls. Brief photo stops are made along the way, such as at Barrancas del Cobre (Copper Canyon), said to be as spectacular as the Grand Canyon. The trip requires about 24 hours one-way. Passengers may choose either vintage, comfortable Pullman coaches on standard trains, or modern Italian Fiat coaches, each unit propelled by its own diesel electric power. (See MEXICO at end of book.)

Red Bluff Lake — Water conservation/irrigation project on Pecos River, just south of Texas-New Mexico line. The 11,700-acre impoundment provides a variety of water sports in this arid region, excellent fishing for native catfish and white bass, and is the site of an unusual fisheries experiment. Waters contain a significant amount of salt, and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has stocked Red Bluff with several species of fish from the Gulf of Mexico. Recovered saltwater species such as redbfish, flounder and speckled trout have shown remarkable growth characteristics — the largest weighing more than 20 pounds. However, reproduction of those saltwater species has not yet been confirmed. Five miles north of Orla, 43 miles north of Pecos. G-4

MARATHON Grid J-5 Pop. 800 Alt. 4,043

General — Indian artifacts still found in area indicate inhabitation for centuries prior to arrival of white man. Fort Pena established here 1879 to guard frontier against Indian uprisings; town developed 1882 with arrival of Texas and New Orleans Railroad. Name suggested by sea captain who said the area reminded him of Marathon, Greece. Today a tourist crossroads, headquarters for ranching activities and shipping point for fluorspar ore.

Big Bend National Park — Approximately 80 miles south of Marathon via U.S. 385. (See BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK this section.)

Black Gap Wildlife Management Area — 100,000 acres devoted to study and development of management practices for protection of native wildlife. Visitors welcome, though formal guided tours not available. Among many birds and animals, visitors may

NATIONAL SOARING MEET AT MARFA

Fort Leaton State Park — Established as a Spanish mission in 1683, Fort Leaton became a pioneer trading post around 1846. The ruins, with the original building now more than 280 years old, are located about four miles east of Presidio off F.M. 170. Easily accessible to tourists, the site is being restored by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Scenic Drive — El Camino del Rio, Spanish for "The River Road," popular name for F.M. 170 which stretches from Lajitas near Big Bend National Park, northwest through Presidio into the Chinati Mountains. It is a modern highway that follows the twisting bed of the Rio Grande, one of the most spectacular drives in the nation, plunging over mountains and through canyons in a land of primitive grandeur.

SALT FLAT Grid G-3 Pop. 35 Alt. 3,715

General — Small community grew up near extensive surface salt deposits left by intermittent lakes near foot of Guadalupe Mountains. Area was cause of a bloody dispute known as the Salt War in the 1860s and 70s. Before the dispute reached a confused, tragic end, it had involved both Mexican and U.S. citizens, political parties, judges and legislators, mob action, army troops and Texas Rangers. Murder, assassination and revenge killings took place on both sides. Some of the gray-white salt deposits may be seen today from U.S. 62/180.

SHAFTER Grid J-3 Pop. 31 Alt. 4,000

General — Established as silver mining town, early 1880s. Mines produced silver for many years, reaching peak of 1,000,000 troy ounces annually in late 1920s. Mining activities slowly dwindled thereafter, and no production has been reported by U.S. Bureau of Mines since 1952. Scenic ruins.

ADOBE REPLICA, FRONTIER FORT QUITMAN, SIERRA BLANCA

SIERRA BLANCA Grid H-2 Pop. 600 Alt. 4,512

General — Established as railroad town 1881, named for Sierra Blanca Peak (6,950 feet) northwest of town. Seat of Hudspeth County. Both central and mountain time are used. Federal offices and railroad use central time — city, county and schools use mountain time, zone in which the town is actually located.

Dogie Wright Collection — Fascinating display of photos, firearms, relics of frontier lawmen and desperados, collected by E. A. "Dogie" Wright, son of a Texas Ranger, and former ranger and sheriff himself. Tax Assessor-Collector's office, Sierra Blanca Courthouse, only adobe courthouse in Texas. Open Mon. - Fri. 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Fort Quitman Replica — Authentic adobe replica of frontier Fort Quitman recalls primitive conditions of Old West military service. Weapons and artifacts span period from prehistoric Indians to 20th Century. West 18 miles on I.H. 10 at F.M. 34. Admission.

Scenic Drive — F.M. 1111 north 43 miles to intersection with primary east-west route of U.S. 62/180. Generally flat ranching areas edged by mountains on the horizon. Profuse stands of giant yuccas growing 15 to 20 feet high. These desert "forests" are most spectacular in March and April when each stalk is topped by huge cluster of white blossoms.

STUDY BUTTE Grid K-4 Pop. 115 Alt. 2,500

General — The wild, harsh area of the Big Bend region was for centuries only the retreat of bandits, smugglers and fierce Apache and Comanche warriors. Civilization came slowly, was admitted grudgingly, and at the first opportunity was swept away as an intruder in this primitive land. Rich deposits of mercury were discovered here about 1900, and the mining town of Study Butte came into being around the Big Bend Cinnabar Mine, managed by Will Study. But fame and progress, elusive as the quicksilver itself, faded as the mines became less and less profitable. The mine closed in the early 1940s. A later attempt to reestablish production failed. Today a few families live among the old stone and adobe structures. Visitors pause to absorb silent impressions of a colorful past, and occasional rockhounds search the tailing heaps for fragments of cinnabar, agate or other colorful rocks. Located on Texas 118 at western edge of Big Bend National Park.

Scenic Drive — F.M. 170 or El Camino del Rio, Spanish for "The River Road." (See LAJITAS this section.)

TERLINGUA Grid K-4 Pop. 25 Alt. 2,720

General — In the late 1800s the area around Terlingua was inhabited by a few scattered Mexican herders, living in a precarious relationship with Apache and Comanche Indians who regularly moved through the wild country. Mercury was discovered in 1890, and soon a thriving city of almost 2,000 was devoting its energies to extracting the rich red ore from beneath the barren hills. Millions of dollars worth of quicksilver were marketed before the boom tapered off, and today the stillness of Terlingua is broken only by the footsteps of curious visitors. The hundreds of wooden shacks are gone entirely; the scores of rock and adobe buildings stand roofless, walls crumbling. The ghost town is located near the western edge of Big Bend National Park, off F.M. 170.

Major Event — Annual World's Chili Cook-off in early Nov. decides the champion chili cooker. Up to 5,000 contestants, hecklers and spectators converge on downtown Terlingua for the unpredictable event. Dirt airstrip hosts planes from throughout the nation, and since there are no accommodations in Terlingua, campers and makeshift facilities are much in evidence. Texas is represented by winner of earlier state chili cook-off; other contestants include individuals and representatives from world-wide chapters of Chili Appreciation Society International. Event is controlled by CASI and members of Terlingua "city council," composed of columnists, writers and humorists — all non-residents. Every contest sees heated debate, charges of fraud and skulduggery, and occasional masked "outlaws" stealing or switching ballot boxes.

Old Waldron Mine — Visitors may tour inactive cinnabar mine, and rockhounds are welcome to search tailing heaps. Camping permitted. Admission for tours. West three miles on F.M. 170; north on local road.

VAN HORN Grid I-3 Pop. 2,889 Alt. 4,010

General — Grew at junction of historic Bankhead Highway and Old Spanish Trail in mid-1800s. Still a primary road junction of I.H. 10 (U.S. 80), U.S. 90 and Texas 54. Located in a broad basin devoted to irrigated farming, surrounded by Van Horn, Sierra Diablo and Apache Mountains. Mining includes talc, sulfur and marble, plus undeveloped indications of copper, uranium and feldspar. A popular stop for east-west or north-south travelers; caters to longer-staying vacationers with sunny climate, camping areas in the nearby foothills and mountains, interesting rock and mineral deposits, hunting for white-tailed deer, mule deer, pronghorn antelope and upland game birds.

Major Event — Frontier Day Celebration, three days in June. Events include a junior rodeo, parade, barbecue and dance.

In every season the camping's great in Texas! Sites listed below are administered by local, state and federal agencies. Not included are commercial camps whose listings are usually available in commercial guides. Camps are listed under nearby city name; driving directions are provided to each. The grid letter and number by each city name correspond to the camp's location on the sectional map for this region.

Directions are by standard compass abbreviations: N (north), NE (northeast), E (east), SE (southeast), S (south), SW (southwest), W (west), NW (northwest). Highways are indicated by standard abbreviations: IH=Interstate Highways, shown on maps as (35). US=U. S. Highways, shown on maps as (80). Tex=Texas State Highways, shown on maps as (21). FM or RM=Texas Farm or Ranch Roads (all are excellent paved routes), shown on maps as (32).

Unless otherwise noted, drinking water is available; the facility is open year round; showers are "hot," and tent and wheeled campers can use the camping area.

This is the southern slice of Texas, Latin latitudes accented by sighs of surf, rustling palms and liquid notes of Spanish guitars. Bougainvilleas flame and orange blossoms scent the air in this land that Jack Frost forgot.

These Border Tropics are edged on one hand by uncrowded miles of beach along the Gulf of Mexico . . . on the other by a lazy international boundary called the Rio Grande.

Inland, brushy ranch lands stretch to infinity, recalling cattle empires that shaped the destiny of the Old West. Along the coast shrimp fleets ply their colorful trade, and fair weather sailors command hosts of gleaming pleasure craft.

Although Jack Frost forgot the Border Tropics, Canadian ducks and geese haven't. Nor have sun-and-fun seekers who know that here fiestas are livelier, marlin strike harder, deer grow bigger, and vacations pass quicker each year.

CORPUS CHRISTI

CAMPING ON PADRE ISLAND

DECORATIVE HANDMADE GLASS, ALAMO

WHERE TO GO, WHAT TO SEE

ALAMO Grid P-12 Pop. 4,291 Alt. 29

General—In irrigated area of southern Hidalgo County; incorporated 1924 and named for Alamo Land and Sugar Co. Center for winter vegetables and citrus fruits; part of famed Lower Rio Grande Valley winter resort and retirement area, also serves as one of Valley's gateways to Mexico. (Via U.S. 281; McAllen-Hidalgo-Reynosa International Bridge.)

Live Steam Museum (The Engine Room)—Unique and educational exhibit of all types of steam engines and pumps—all in running order—that generated power since the 1880s. Engines range from the 140-ton World War II Liberty Ship power plant (acquired in 1972) to Japanese miniature that can be held in hand. Open daily 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Each Sun. from Dec. - Apr. is "live steam day." About two miles north of U.S. 83 on F.M. 907.

Santa Ana National Wildlife Refuge—About 2,000 acres set aside in 1943 to preserve species of South Texas region found nowhere else in U.S. Jungle-like growth is typical of Valley before it was converted to farmland; two of 435 species of plants here occur nowhere else in Texas. No overnight camping or fires. Gates open daily 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. 7.5 miles south. Entrance is .4 miles east of intersection of U.S. 281 and F.M. 907. Admission.

ALICE Grid N-12 Pop. 20,121 Alt. 205

General—Founded as depot for San Antonio and Aransas Pass Railway in 1888; once called Kleberg, presently named after daughter of one of founders of famed King Ranch. Alice is dividing point between noted brush country and coastal plains, also dividing point between the border region and rest of Texas. Town burned to the ground in 1911. Oil was discovered in 1930s, town became hub of area petroleum business while maintaining livestock and farming industries. The present Knolle Jersey Farms has world's largest Jersey herd, located at Sandia 23 miles northeast.

Major Events—Alice Youth Rodeo in June, sanctioned by T.Y.R.A.; four-day rodeo attracts high school students in bronc riding, barrel racing and other typical arena events.

ARANSAS PASS Grid M-13 Pop. 5,813 Alt. 20

General—Named for pass between Mustang and St. Joseph Islands; on mainland but connected to Mustang Island and Port Aransas by causeway and ferry. Shrimping, commercial and sport fishing are the top area industries.

Major Event—Shrimporée, usually in July, salutes the shrimp industry with a giant shrimp boil luncheon, beauty contests, rodeo, fishing derby and the colorful blessing of the shrimp fleet.

Fishing—Area is mecca for fishermen, long advertised as the place "where they bite every day." Countless bait and tackle shops supply all angling needs, including rental equipment. From shore, wharves, piers and jetties fishermen may expect to catch redfish, speckled and sand trout, sheepshead, flounder, croakers, skipjack and drum. Group boats provide bay and deep-sea fishing for half or full days; charter cruisers are available for off-shore sport. Species caught from group or charter boats may include tarpon, sailfish, marlin, kingfish, mackerel, ling, pompano, bonito, red snapper, warsaw and others.

TROPICAL ACCENTS EMBELLISH MODERN ACCOMMODATIONS

BROWNSVILLE Grid P-13 Pop. 52,522 Alt. 57

General — Texas' southernmost city, international seaport, airport and railroad interchange point on the Mexican border. Area dates from colonial days of Imperial Spain, covering periods of exploration, wars, revolutions, and colorful, though infamous, banditry.

City began in 1846 when Gen. Zachary Taylor established Fort Brown to maintain U.S. claim to Rio Grande as international boundary line won 10 years earlier by Texans' battle for independence. Several existing buildings of Fort Brown are now part of Texas Southmost College (see below).

Today the Lower Rio Grande Valley's largest city; more than 20 major industries include electronics, food processing and petrochemicals. Vacationers are attracted by subtropical climate, proximity to Mexico, and access to South Padre Island.

Major Events — Charro Days, spectacular pre-Lenten, four-day costume fiesta beginning Thursday preceding Ash Wednesday; held for nearly third of a century, combines charm and culture of this two-nation area. Swirling glittering skirts of China Poblana (national costume of Mexico) contrast with dashing mustachioed Mexican riders or "charros." Fiesta attracts some 350,000 visitors.

Cotton Carnival spans three days in Sept. Visitors are often surprised at major cotton production in Border Tropics.

Brazos Island State Park — Undeveloped beach on the Gulf of Mexico. Although no facilities, activities permitted include camping, surfing, fishing, swimming, picnicking, and nature study. About 22 miles east of Brownsville via Texas 4.

Fort Brown/Texas Southmost College — Established 1846, Fort Brown housed troops during Mexican War, defended border, changed hands during Civil War, and is noted for work of William Crawford Gorgas in fight against yellow fever. It was in Post Hospital, one of five remaining buildings of original Fort Brown compound, that Gorgas, later surgeon general of U.S. Army, first studied yellow fever. Today hospital is administration building of Texas Southmost College. Other buildings in original compound are Medical Laboratory, Military Police Headquarters and Post Guardhouse, Morgue and Post Headquarters. Texas Southmost College is municipal, coed facility; enrolls about 1,700 students.

At terminus of Elizabeth St.

Gladys Porter Zoo — Elaborate new zoological park without bars or cages. Rare exotic animals displayed in natural settings on a multitude of small islands; closeup views through one-way glass in a series of "caves" adjacent to animal dens. Zoo divided into four "worlds": Africa, Asia, Australia/Indonesia, and South America. Open daily, Ringgold and Sixth Sts. Admission.

Matamoros, Mexico — Just across Rio Grande from Brownsville, caters to hosts of U.S. visitors with night clubs, restaurants, cocktail rooms and gift shops. Bargains in pottery and wealth of handicraft in Mexican market area. Access via Gateway Bridge (toll) at terminus of E. 14th St. or via B&M Railroad Bridge (toll). (See MEXICO: Entrance and Exit Regulations, at end of book.)

Palmito Hill Battlefield — Last land engagement of Civil War fought near Brownsville at Palmito Ranch. Confederates under command of Col. John S. Ford, not having heard of Lee's surrender at Appomattox a month earlier, completely routed and captured Federal force in running encounter on May 12-13, 1865. After battle Confederates learned from their prisoners of South's capitulation. Victors then became formal captives of their former prisoners. An historical marker is 12 miles east on Texas 4.

Palo Alto Battlefield — North of Brownsville near intersection of F.M. 1847/F.M. 511 is site where an artillery duel opened Mexican War May 8, 1846. Cannon under command of Gen. Zachary Taylor proved superior to that of Mexican Gen. Mariano Arista. An historical marker gives details.

Port of Brownsville — Only seaport in U.S. within railroad switching distance of two nations; on ship channel connecting with Laguna Madre and Gulf of Mexico. Fleet of shrimp boats berths at port which hosts 63 domestic and foreign ship lines, handles over 5,000 vessels annually. About five miles east off F.M. 1729.

South Padre Island — Southern tip of storied Padre Island lies across Laguna Madre about 25 miles east of Brownsville, island sweeps in golden arc to Corpus Christi, more than 110 miles north; is accessible via causeway from Port Isabel (which see). Hotels, motels, marinas and seaside leisure homes on South

Padre, plus county parks offering trailer stands and opportunities for beach camping. Bright shells are plentiful on beach, fishing available from piers, jetties or surf.

Stillman House Museum — Residence built about 1850; home of Charles Stillman, founder of Brownsville. Contains his possessions, mementos of early Brownsville, furnishings, heirlooms, books, coins and pictures. Open Mon. - Fri. 10 a.m. - noon; 3 - 5 p.m. Sun 1 - 5 p.m. 1305 E. Washington. Admission.

CORPUS CHRISTI Grid M-13 Pop. 204,525 Alt. 35

General — City is major deepwater port and one of Texas' most popular seacoast playground cities. Built on two levels — newer section on 40-foot bluff, older area along bay near sea level. Historical records date from 1519 when bay was discovered and named by Alonzo Alvarez de Pineda, Spanish explorer. City began as frontier trading post founded 1839 by adventurer-empresario-colonizer, Col. Henry Lawrence Kinney; obscure settlement until about 1845 when began accelerated growth. In Corpus Christi today, climate, geography and local attitudes happily conspire to produce playground atmosphere year-round. Industries include huge chemical and petroleum complexes. Jet planes flash over bay from U.S. Naval Air Station (see below); clean, modern port is crowded with ships from every nation, yet prevailing atmosphere is relaxation and informal fun.

Major Events — New Year's Day Swim has been a Corpus Christi feature for years, and a publicity boost for the "sparkling city by the sea."

Another Jan. event of interest is four-day Boat Show. Gem and Mineral Show, three days in Mar., attracts many exhibitors and spectators; also Coin Show (three days in Mar.) and Antique Show (three days late Feb. or early Mar.)

Festival of Flowers, two days in Apr., features more than 4,000 floral designs.

South Texas Traditional Art Show is held in Apr. Buccaneer Days Celebration is outstanding attraction of the year; 11-day citywide festival includes pageantry, coronation ball, night parade, fireworks, statewide music festival, and sporting events. Held late Apr. or early May, Buccaneer Days recalls legendary early days of Corpus Christi.

SUN, SAND AND SURF ALONG CORPUS CHRISTI BEACHES

CORPUS CHRISTI

Navy Relief Festival in June is one of largest at any Navy installation. Two-day event features aerial shows and static displays. All-Texas Jazz Festival in July features top jazz talent from over Southwest and Mexico.

Golf events are year-round but two significant tourneys are in Oct. State Senior Golf Tourney (six days) and Emerald Beach Pro-Am (three days).

Diez y Seis Celebration in mid-Sept. is observance of Mexican Independence Day.

Art Museum of South Texas — Strikingly designed building directly on Gulf houses significant permanent collection; displays frequently changed works of local and visiting artists. Open Tues.-Sat. 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Sun. 1-5 p.m. 1902 N. Shoreline Blvd.

Centennial House — Built in 1849 of the then-popular "shellcrete" construction, historic house has been restored, furnished and opened to public. Open Wed. and Sun. 3 - 5 p.m. 411 N. Broadway. Admission.

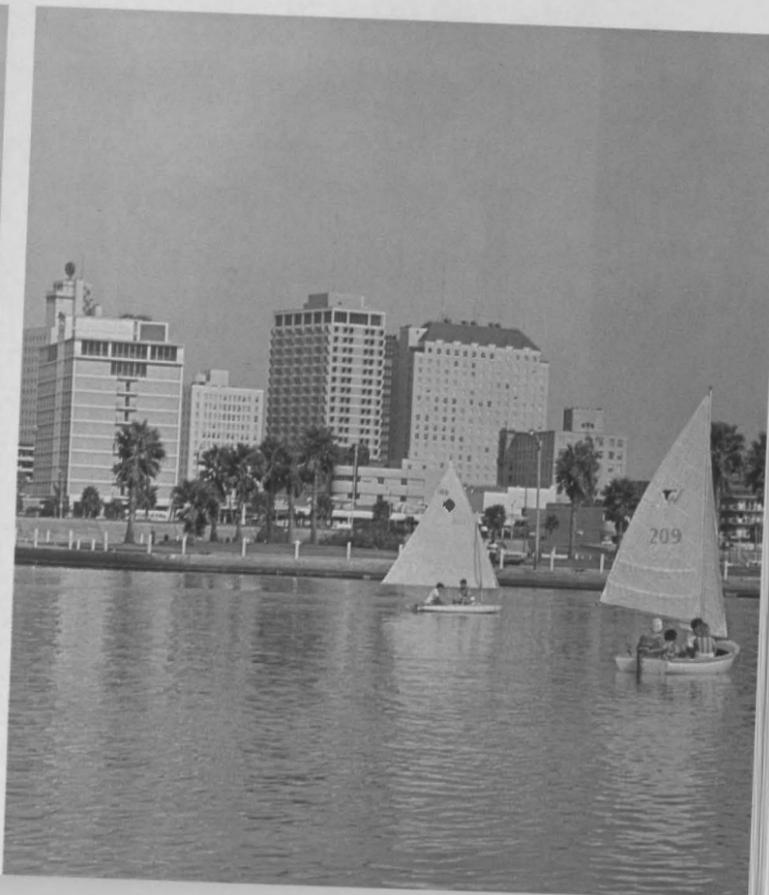

Corpus Christi Marina — Two "T" heads and "L" head thrust from bay front at heart of downtown; thousands of pleasure craft moor at neat, modern docks and slips. Probably most-photographed area of city. Excursion boats ply bay from docks; fishing boats based here too (see below).

Del Mar College — Coed junior college established 1935; enrolls more than 4,500 students.

Fishing — Free fishing from numerous municipal piers, jetties, miles of beach and seawall. Bait and tackle shops (tackle may be rented by the day) are numerous. Arrangements and reservations for party boat fishing may be made at Corpus Christi Marina.

Among species fishermen may expect to take, depending upon season and proverbial luck of moment, are (in the bay) sheepshead, sand and speckled trout, redfish, flounder, catfish, whiting, drum, pompano and Spanish mackerel. Deep-sea fishermen cruising Gulf waters may take tarpon, sailfish, wahoo, king mackerel, bonito and many others, plus red snapper and jewfish over offshore reefs.

Lake — Corpus Christi. See LAKES this section.

Lake Corpus Christi State Park — About 35 miles northwest of Corpus Christi. (See MATHIS this section.)

Padre Island National Seashore — Longest in the U.S., 110-mile-long Padre Island offers one of last entirely natural seashores in nation. Each end of long, narrow sand island is developing rapidly with parks and palm-fringed resorts. In between, nature reigns untouched and unspoiled. National Park Service pavilion at north end offers 1,200-car parking lot, recreation building with snack bar, beach rentals, showers and first aid station. Swimming beaches and primitive beach camping. Padre dunes, some 50 feet high, shift regularly—at times uncovering wrecks of ancient ships, at times hiding all beneath a smooth layer of golden sand. Beach-combers may find rare shells, glass floats from Portugal or Orient, arrowheads of vanished Indians, and perhaps a clue to pirate treasure. An 80-mile stretch along Padre's middle is the National Seashore. City is connected with north end of Padre Island by John F. Kennedy Causeway. Office of Superintendent of Padre Island National Seashore is at 10235 S. Padre Island Dr.; mailing address P.O. Box 8560, Corpus Christi 78412.

Parks, City — Ten major city parks offer variety of outdoor attractions and facilities, including picnicking, playgrounds, swimming, tennis, softball and other sports.

Parks, County — Nueces County Parks offer exceptional recreational facilities. John J. Sablature Park, near Banquete on Texas 44, has picnic, barbecue and camping facilities, and small zoo with animals of South Texas. Packery Channel Park, on Padre Island near junction of Park Road 53 and Park Road 22, is excellent day use park with good fishing. Padre Island Park, on Gulf side from Park Road 22, has bath house, white sand swimming beaches, overnight camping facilities and fishing pier. Port Aransas Park, at northeast end of Mustang Island on Gulf side, has similar facilities.

U.S. Naval Air Station — On peninsula at southeastern edge of city, naval air activities are shared with the Corpus Christi Army Depot. Free tour at 1 p.m. of both facilities weekdays in summer; Tues. and Thur. fall and winter.

DONNA Grid P-12 Pop. 7,365 Alt. 88
General — Named for daughter of promoter of townsite and town's first postmaster. By 1920 magic of irrigation changed featureless, brushy terrain into lush, highly productive agricultural region featuring cotton and citrus crops. Economy still relies on cotton, vegetable and citrus production, with added benefits from wholesale marketing.

Major Event — South Texas Lamb and Sheep Exposition in Jan. or Feb. Four-day event is jointly sponsored by Donna Chamber of Commerce and 4-H Club.

EDINBURG Grid P-12 Pop. 17,163 Alt. 91
General — First named Chapin for promoter of townsite; renamed Edinburg in 1911. Hidalgo County seat and western gateway to Lower Rio Grande Valley is center of irrigated citrus culture, and major shipping point. Industries include food processing, furniture and fixtures, foundry products, fertilizers, petroleum and dairy products.

Major Events — Tourist hobby and craft show, first Friday in Feb.

Pan American Days is five-day observance around Apr. 14, celebrated by 22 republics as symbol of "sovereignty and voluntary union of a continental community." Students of Pan American College stage flag ceremony of member countries; participate in model Organization of American States, meeting with students and faculties from U.S. and Mexico universities and colleges. La

BEACH PAVILION, PADRE ISLAND NATIONAL SEASHORE

Fiesta Hidalgo runs eight days in Oct. Colorful fiesta events keyed to observance.

Pan American Bronco Days in Nov. combines Thanksgiving, homecoming and frontier themes with feasting, dancing and parades. Western wear is the uniform for five-day event.

Hidalgo County Historical Museum — Interprets colorful history of the Latin-accented area; includes pioneer farm and home items, clothing, early documents and photos. Housed in restored county jail. Open Wed., Sat. & Sun. 2 - 5 p.m. Admission.

Lake El Sal del Rey — See LAKES this section.

Pan American College — Four-year state- and county-supported institution with enrollment exceeding 5,000. Coed, strong programs in science, engineering and liberal arts. 100-acre campus is west of U.S. 281 on Harriman Blvd.

FALFURRIAS Grid N-12 Pop. 6,355 Alt. 109

General — Established 1883, Falfurrias is Spanish for "Heart's Delight," the name of a local wild flower. Seat of ranch-oriented Brooks County, nationally noted for excellence in cattle breeding and meat production. Beefmaster breed of cattle originated in county.

Also known for Falfurrias Sweet Cream Butter. Original creamery established in 1909 by Edward C. Lasater who built ranch empire of 400,000 acres, and led introduction of purebred dairy and beef herds to replace native Texas stock. Lasater Jersey herds won more breeder and exhibitor awards than any other in the nation. Premium quality has always been the foremost consideration at the creamery plant, still operated by same family. Superb butter has always commanded premium price, and is available in markets throughout most of Texas.

Major Events — Heart's Delight Tennis Tourney, three days in Feb., attracts ever-increasing number of competitors.

Fourth of July Rodeo brings arena action to Independence Day Celebration.

Halloween Carnival originated to prevent vandalism; now a gala affair for entire city.

Texas Ranger Museum — Pictures, weapons and other mementos of early Texas Rangers of area on display, as well as artifacts of pioneer days in Brooks County. Museum adjacent to chamber of commerce. Open during business hours.

HARLINGEN Grid P-12 Pop. 33,503 Alt. 36

rich Lower Rio Grande Valley. In subtropical tip of Texas, visitors lured by balmy temperatures throughout most of year, landscapes edged by palm trees and flaming bougainvillea, nearness of enchanting Old Mexico, and proximity of surf-washed Gulf beaches. There is almost always a harvest in progress — peas, carrots, lettuce, spinach or cabbage; in winter, bounty of oranges and prized Texas Ruby Red grapefruit, in summer, tons of cotton. In June Harlingen sponsors the National First Bale of Cotton Contest, opening cotton season throughout U.S.

Major Event — Life Begins at 40 Golf Tournament, from beginning in early 1950s has been successful Lower Rio Grande Valley event each Feb. Open only to golfers more than 40 years old; match play tournament features entertaining sidelights. Mainly husband-and-wife teams tee off under tropical skies on beautiful 18-hole course. When contestants not on course, they enjoy parties, style shows and side trips to notable resorts such as Padre Island.

Casa del Sol — "House of the Sun" is modern civic center and setting for many Harlingen events. From mid-November until April also city's tourist center and primary meeting place for winter visitors. N. Third and Madison Sts.

Confederate Air Force Flying Museum — Dedicated to preservation in flying condition of obsolete military aircraft. Organization maintains impressive array of World War II planes of U.S., Britain, Germany and Japan. Flying demonstrations staged occasionally with biggest event usually on weekend early in Nov. On display are combat stalwarts such as P-40 Warhawk, P-38 Lightning, P-47 Thunderbolt, P-51 Mustang, P-63 King Cobra, F4F Wildcat, F6F Hellcat, F8F Bearcat, F4U Corsair, British Supermarine Spitfires and German Messerschmitts. Other flyable planes include B-17 Flying Fortress, B-26 Invader, B-25 Mitchell, A-20 Havoc, DeHavilland Mosquito, and trainers. At Harlingen Industrial Air Park. Admission.

Laguna Atascosa National Wildlife Refuge — 44,580-acre refuge at southern end of Central Flyway was established in 1946, named for largest lake in refuge. Thousands of ducks and geese may be observed Oct. - Dec., other species common year-round. Three-day camping allowed in designated areas; saltwater fishing and boating permitted on Intracoastal Canal. Walk-in and drive-in routes provided for visitors. Refuge Field Headquarters has maps and additional information. About 25 miles east, accessible by local road east from intersection F.M. 106/F.M. 1847.

Lower Rio Grande Valley Museum — Historical and scientific items, rock and shell collections, and map of Valley with pinpoint lighting. Open Tues. - Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sun. 2 - 5 p.m. at Harlingen Industrial Air Park.

Marine Military Academy — Accredited private institution, first college preparatory school in nation to maintain atmosphere, customs and traditions of U.S. Marine Corps. Dedicated as "a living memorial to the Corps and to Marines who fought and died in its service." On F.M. 507 north, adjacent to Harlingen Industrial Air Park.

Parks — Several spacious city parks provide recreational facilities both for visitors and residents. Hill Park preserves old plantation headquarters of Lon C. Hill, founder of Harlingen and pioneer Valley developer. Pendleton Park offers tennis courts, sports fields, playground, grills and picnic tables; an 18-hole Harlingen Municipal Golf Course is off U.S. 77/83 at southwest edge of city.

Port of Harlingen — Barge facility on Arroyo Colorado primarily handling incoming cargos of oil, gasoline, fertilizers, sand and gravel. Most petroleum products for Valley-wide service stations received in this port. Fishing excellent on Arroyo Colorado from port to Gulf. Off F.M. 106 about five miles east.

King Ranch — Largest ranch in continental U.S., famous King Ranch established in 1853 when Capt. Richard King purchased 75,000 acres which had been Spanish land grant called Santa Gertrudis. Holdings today comprise some 823,000 acres spreading over Nueces, Kenedy, Kleberg and Willacy Counties. Robert J. Kleberg, attorney and legal counsel for early ranch, married Captain King's youngest daughter; King-Kleberg descendants still control gigantic enterprise. Originally based upon Texas Longhorns, ranch led in introducing purebred cattle such as Hereford, Shorthorn and Brahman. Now famous Santa Gertrudis breed, first strain of cattle originated in Western Hemisphere, was developed on King Ranch. Ranch continues work in animal husbandry, agricultural research and wildlife conservation. Stables of Thoroughbreds and prized quarter horses have won honors throughout nation. Because of size and complexity of operations casual visitors are not accepted, but ranch makes available for public a 12-mile loop route which leads past headquarters, stables, other points of interest. Entrance to loop drive is immediately west of Kingsville off Texas 141.

Parks — City parks include swimming pools, tennis courts and playgrounds. Dick Kleberg Park, in grove of trees beside a lazy creek, features many picnic tables, grills, full-sized displays of Navy jet fighter and firetruck sure to delight youngsters. On Loop 428 near south edge of city. Kleberg County Park, Riviera Beach and Loyola Beach are all saltwater recreation areas on upper reaches of Baffin Bay southeast of Kingsville. Baffin Bay opens into Laguna Madre along Gulf Coast. Small fishing camps, bait-tackle shops, plus public pier and free boat ramp are at county park. From U.S. 77 south, access to parks is via F.M. 628 and F.M. 771.

Texas A&I University — Organized 1913 as state teachers college, now offers broad curriculum of liberal arts, industrial arts, commerce, education, agriculture and military science. Coed, enrollment about 8,000. In northwest Kingsville off Texas 141.

Lake, 10 minutes from downtown and adjacent to Laredo AFB, offers boating, complete bait-tackle shop, boat rentals, skiing and good fishing; picnic grounds with swimming area nearby. N-10

LAKE CORPUS CHRISTI STATE PARK, MATHIS

INTERNATIONAL FALCON RESERVOIR

Corpus Christi, Lake — 22,050-acre reservoir on Nueces River; popular South Texas water sports and recreational area also provides Corpus Christi municipal water supply. Swimming, boating, sailing and skiing. Large areas of submerged brush in upper reaches of 27-mile long lake provide prime fish habitat. All fishing good; noted especially for excellent catfishing — channels, flatheads and blues. Fishing camps and marinas accessible at several spots around shore, plus fine facilities at Lake Corpus Christi State Park (see MATHIS this section). A few miles west of Mathis, also accessible from Corpus Christi and Alice. N-12

El Sal del Rey, Lake — Name translates as "The King's Salt;" intermittent salt lake that was personal property of King of Spain during Spanish colonial period. Water accumulates in shallow depression during wet seasons, evaporates to leave deposits of crystallized rock salt. For two centuries salt was mined here; very important to Confederacy during Civil War. Salt lake is some 20 miles west of Raymondville (O-12) off Texas 186. Local inquiry will provide directions to site via county roads.

Falcon Reservoir — Owned jointly by U.S. and Mexico; 78,340-acre impoundment on Rio Grande built for conservation, power, irrigation, flood control and recreation. Dam is almost five miles long, averages 100 feet high. Lake has numerous private and public facilities, including the excellent Falcon State Park (see ROMA or ZAPATA this section). Famed for excellent fishing, especially black bass and huge catfish. About 14 miles northwest of Roma, also accessible from nearby towns of Falcon, Lopen and Zapata. O-10

LAREDO Grid N-10 Pop. 69,024 Alt. 438

General — Rich in south-of-the-border flavor, the major international crossing along U.S.-Mexican border. Established 1755 when Spanish government allotted 15 leagues of land for settlement; became county seat when Webb County organized in 1848. City tops state in number of flags served under: seven! Today Laredo derives economy from such diversified sources as apparel and hats, feeds and fertilizers, petroleum, brick and tile, smelting imported ores — and visitors from both sides of Rio Grande.

Major Events — Washington Birthday Celebration honors George Washington as first western hemisphere leader to free a New World country from the dominion of European rule; four-day fiesta celebrated on both sides of the border includes parades, fireworks, dances and impressive coronation ceremony. Festivities of the more than 70-year-old celebration strengthen friendly ties between Texas and Mexico.

Port Isabel Lighthouse State Historic Site — Built 1853, remained in use until 1905. Always a popular subject with photographers, and visitors may climb spiral staircase to the top, overlooking the flat coastal plain, with a fine view across Laguna Madre to South Padre Island. Off Texas 100 downtown. Admission.

PORT MANSFIELD Grid O-13 Pop. 731 Alt. 11

General — Until 1948 little-used highway from Raymondville to point on Laguna Madre called Redfish Bay was traveled by occasional fishermen going to deserted beaches. No community marked road's end at water's edge. People of Willacy County, employing own financing, set about creating port; built wharves, docks and turning basin; laid out townsite, and called it Port Mansfield. Ship channel completed 1962, slicing across shallow Laguna Madre, through Padre Island into deep waters of Gulf of Mexico. Today colorful shrimp fleet plies Gulf from home docks at Port Mansfield; industries moving in, and former "occasional" fisherman has lots of company — sports editors rate Port Mansfield one of 10 best fishing spots in nation. U.S. Weather Bureau and U.S. Coast Guard Stations.

Major Event — Texas Championship Redfish Fishing Tournament, each July 4th, is joint effort of Port Mansfield, Raymondville and Willacy County. Eligible species not limited to redfish — include drum, flounder, sea trout and other game fish. Prizes donated by area merchants, champion receives handsome plaque. Another highlight of fishing festival is bathing beauty contest. Anglers from many states and Mexico compete.

Boating and Fishing — Launching ramps, marine supplies, docking facilities and both wet and dry storage available. Fishing from piers in Laguna Madre for small daily charge; fishing from popular Gulf of Mexico piers, which includes round-trip boat ride across Laguna Madre to Gulf side of Padre Island, also available. Deep-sea charter boats available for fishing in Gulf, bay or Laguna Madre. Depending upon season, fishing location and proverbial luck, catches may include redfish, speckled and sand trout, sheepshead, flounder, croakers, skipjack, drum, tarpon, sailfish, marlin, kingfish, mackerel, ling, pompano, bonito, red snapper, warsaw and others.

RIO GRANDE CITY Grid P-11 Pop. 5,676 Alt. 238

General — Port of entry with international bridge between U.S. and Mexico; seat of Starr County. Area included in Jose de Escandon's Colony of 1753; when Gen. Zachary Taylor established Fort Ringgold (see below) in 1848, it added population and permanence.

Fort Ringgold — One of Texas' best preserved old military posts; named for Major Ringgold, first army officer killed in Battle of Palo Alto (see BROWNSVILLE this section) which opened Mexican War. Fort Ringgold was established after U.S.-Mexican War for protection against Indians, and to assure integrity of Rio Grande as national boundary. Post declared surplus and deactivated in 1944. Among distinguished landmarks are Lee House, once occupied by Col. Robert E. Lee when he commanded Department of Texas before the Civil War, and old Fort Ringgold hospital. Portions of fort are now part of Rio Grande City school system. Off U.S. 83 at east limits.

Our Lady of Lourdes Grotto — Replica of venerable shrine in Lourdes, France; contains statues of Our Lady of Lourdes and famed peasant girl whose visions led to establishment of the original shrine. Motion picture viewers will remember the story told in the film The Song of Bernadette. Located near the Starr County courthouse.

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND Grid P-13 Pop. 400 Alt. 3

General — Incorporated in 1974, small city is on southern tip of storied Padre Island just across Laguna Madre, the body of water separating the island from the mainland. Access is via free causeway on Park Road 100.

Padre Island — The long, narrow sand island sweeps in a golden arc north more than 110 miles to Corpus Christi. Visitors find wide range of accommodations; boatels, motels, marinas and seaside leisure homes. Restaurants specialize in delicious seafood harvested fresh daily from the Gulf of Mexico. Miles of beautiful, gently sloping beaches are perfect for swimming and surf fishing. Beachcombers will find bright shells, perhaps floats from Portugal or the Orient, driftwood, and occasionally the flint points of Karankawa Indians who once roamed the area.

ROMA Grid P-10 Pop. 2,154 Alt. 200

SAN JUAN Grid P-12 Pop. 5,070 Alt. 102
General—Located in irrigated valley of the Rio Grande on Missouri Pacific Railroad; organized in 1909, name derived from Spanish name given town organizer John Closner. One of South's largest plants for manufacture of concrete irrigation pipe located here. Colorful banks of scarlet bougainvillea edge the highway. On special days San Juan invites visitors to "pick a grapefruit" free.

Major Event—Sport Shirt Festival in Feb. Visitors from throughout Valley, tourists from northern states and Canada converge each Washington's Birthday for carefree festival. Prizes awarded winter visitors both for important and humorous reasons. Picnic lunch, shuffleboard contest and other competitions.

Shrine of Our Lady of San Juan of the Valley—The elaborate Catholic church, completed in 1954, included many imported objects of art. The church was destroyed by fire after an airplane crash (apparently deliberate) in 1970. The wooden statue of Our Lady of San Juan was, however, undamaged. A parish church is being rebuilt on the original site; a separate shrine is to house the statue. North of downtown on Business U.S. 83.

SARITA Grid N-12 Pop. 196 Alt. 34
General—Community is the county seat and only town in Kenedy County, an area devoted entirely to immense ranches. Named for Sarita Kenedy, granddaughter of Mifflin Kenedy who was associated with Richard King, founder of the King Ranch (see KINGSVILLE this section). Kenedy was among first Texas ranchers to fence land; financed 700 miles of San Antonio and Aransas Pass Railroad. The community remains a headquarters and supply center for the ranching area.

SINTON Grid M-12 Pop. 5,563 Alt. 48
General—San Patricio County seat established in 1885 as station on San Antonio and Aransas Pass Railroad. Greatest population surge came in 1909 when several large ranches divided into smaller farms; resulting diversity of agriculture still apparent. There is small downtown park with picnic area and zoo; 300-acre Rob and Bessie Welder Park with playground, golf, tennis, swimming pool and small lake; west of U.S. 181 north.

Major Events—San Patricio County Agricultural and Homemakers Show, usually in Jan.

Old Fiddlers' Contest, Sat. before Halloween.

Welder Wildlife Refuge—Largest privately endowed wildlife refuge in world; provisions for sanctuary made in rancher Rob Welder's will. Acreage and large administration-museum building occupy portion of Welder Ranch established from Spanish land grant more than 150 years ago. texas: a quick look

HISTORIC ERAS OF TEXAS

Texas Under Spain: 1519-1685; 1690-1821

Imperial Spain, first of six nations claiming Texas, flew her banner here for more than three centuries. Familiar early figures were legendary Conquistadores, in shiny armour and plumed helmets, and solitary missionaries who worked among the Indians, building a chain of mission-schools throughout the land.

Texas Under France: 1685-1690

France claimed the new territory in 1685 when explorer-nobleman Robert Cavalier, Sieur de la Salle landed here. La Salle's colony, Fort St. Louis on Matagorda Bay, was short-lived. He was murdered, and his colony had dwindled to a handful of survivors when found by the Spanish four years later.

Texas Under Mexico: 1821-1836

For more than a decade, Mexico's tricolor witnessed the intermingling of cultures — on one side, newcomers from the United States; on the other, spirited adventurers from Old Spain. The historic rift in 1836 freed Texas politically, but Latin influences remained prevalent in both thought and speech.

Texas as a Republic: 1836-1845

Texas in the Confederacy: 1861-1865

When clouds of national dissension erupted into Civil War, the Stars and Bars were raised to signal Texas' lot with the Confederacy. As in other Southern states, war brought devastation and economic collapse. But at its end, returning Texans found one thing of immense promise: Longhorns!

Texas in the United States: 1845-1861; 1865

Shrugging aside defeat and bitter reconstruction, Texas marshalled its forces for the climb to greatness. First, the fabled Longhorn — providing beef for a growing nation. Then black gold from deep underground, and a bounty of agriculture from rich topsoil. Today Texas looks up — to outer space.

Name: Texas, from Indian word meaning "friends."
Motto: Friendship.
Sobriquet: Lone Star State.

Capitol: Dedicated in 1888, the traditional pink granite structure is the nation's largest state-house. Austin.

State Tree: The Pecan, officially adopted in 1919.

State Bird: The Mockingbird, officially recognized by the Legislature in 1927.

State Song: "Texas, Our Texas," officially adopted by an act of the Forty-first Legislature in 1929.

Area: 276,000 square miles, which is approximately 1/13th or 7½ per cent of total U.S. land area.

Cities: 27 cities over 50,000 population of which 10 exceed 100,000 population.

Mountains: Rugged, lofty ranges rise dramatically in far West Texas. More than 90 peaks above a mile high.

Forests: Mainly in East Texas, over 26 million acres of forest and woodland, including four National Forests.

Seashore: 624 miles of coastline along the Gulf of Mexico. Major islands include Padre Island National Seashore.

Parks: More than 75 state parks and two national parks offer scenic, historic and recreational opportunities.

Hunting & Fishing: Native and exotic wildlife, waterfowl and upland game birds. Licenses required.

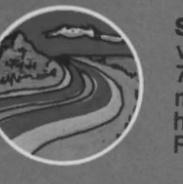

Climate: Year 'round sunshine, with mild winters. Annual average temperature in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, 73.

Petroleum: More than one-third of nation's oil production. Texas natural gas serves three-fourths of the U.S.

travel trails

The 10 adventure-packed regions described in this book each contain a well-marked travel trail to guide you effortlessly to major points of scenic, historic and recreational interest. These modern "trails" are fine, hard-surfaced byways off the beaten paths of fast-moving freeways and Interstate routes. Each is a "great circle" loop of from 500 to 780 miles which can be entered or left at any point along the way. You can spend a fascinating week on any trail, select a portion for a weekend jaunt, or drive segments of one or more on a cross-state trip. Special signs mark the routes, and detailed folders are available for each trail without charge from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Write for those you'd like to visit most, or ask for all 10 and drive as many as you can . . . when you can.

182 state parks

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department maintains nearly 80 state parks as scenic attractions, recreational areas and historic sites. State parks shown in the accompanying chart are also described under the city listing. No hunting of any kind is permitted in state parks, although fishing is permitted, and boats, fishing licenses and supplies are normally available. The state park system preserves much of Texas' historical heritage such as San Jacinto Battleground, frontier military forts, 18th Century Spanish missions. Preserved also are unique areas of natural phenomena such as the vast dunes of Monahans Sandhills State Park, and the rugged beauty of Palo Duro Canyon.

national forests

The four national forests in 11 East Texas counties total 658,023 acres. Recreational areas have varying facilities as shown in chart below; access to areas follows chart. Designated fee areas require daily or annual permit. Except for two small game management areas, all forestlands are open to public. Visitors may see wildlife, exotic flora, and controlled timbering operations.

DAVY CROCKETT NATIONAL FOREST — 161,556 acres in Houston and Trinity Counties, containing these recreational areas:

Ratcliff Lake — Between Kennard and Ratcliff, FSR 520 loops area.

Neches Bluff — On Neches River about seven miles southwest of Alto via Texas 21, FSR 511.

Kickapoo — About three miles southeast of Groveton via U.S. 287.

SABINE NATIONAL FOREST — Largest with 183,843 acres in Jasper, Sabine, San Augustine and Shelby Counties with these recreational areas:

Boles Field — About seven miles east of Shelbyville via F.M. 417, F.M. 2694.

Indian Mounds — On Toledo Bend Reservoir, east of Hemphill via F.M. 83 about 5 miles; and 7 miles southeast and south on FSRs 115 and 115A.

Lakeview — On Toledo Bend Reservoir, primitive camping area, 16 miles southeast of Hemphill via Texas 87 and local road.

Ragtown — On Toledo Bend Reservoir about 15 miles southeast of Shelbyville via Texas 87, F.M. 139, and FSRs 101 and 1262.

Red Hills Lake — About three miles north of Milam via Texas 87.

Willow Oak — On Toledo Bend Reservoir about 14 miles southeast of Hemphill via Texas 87, FSR 117.

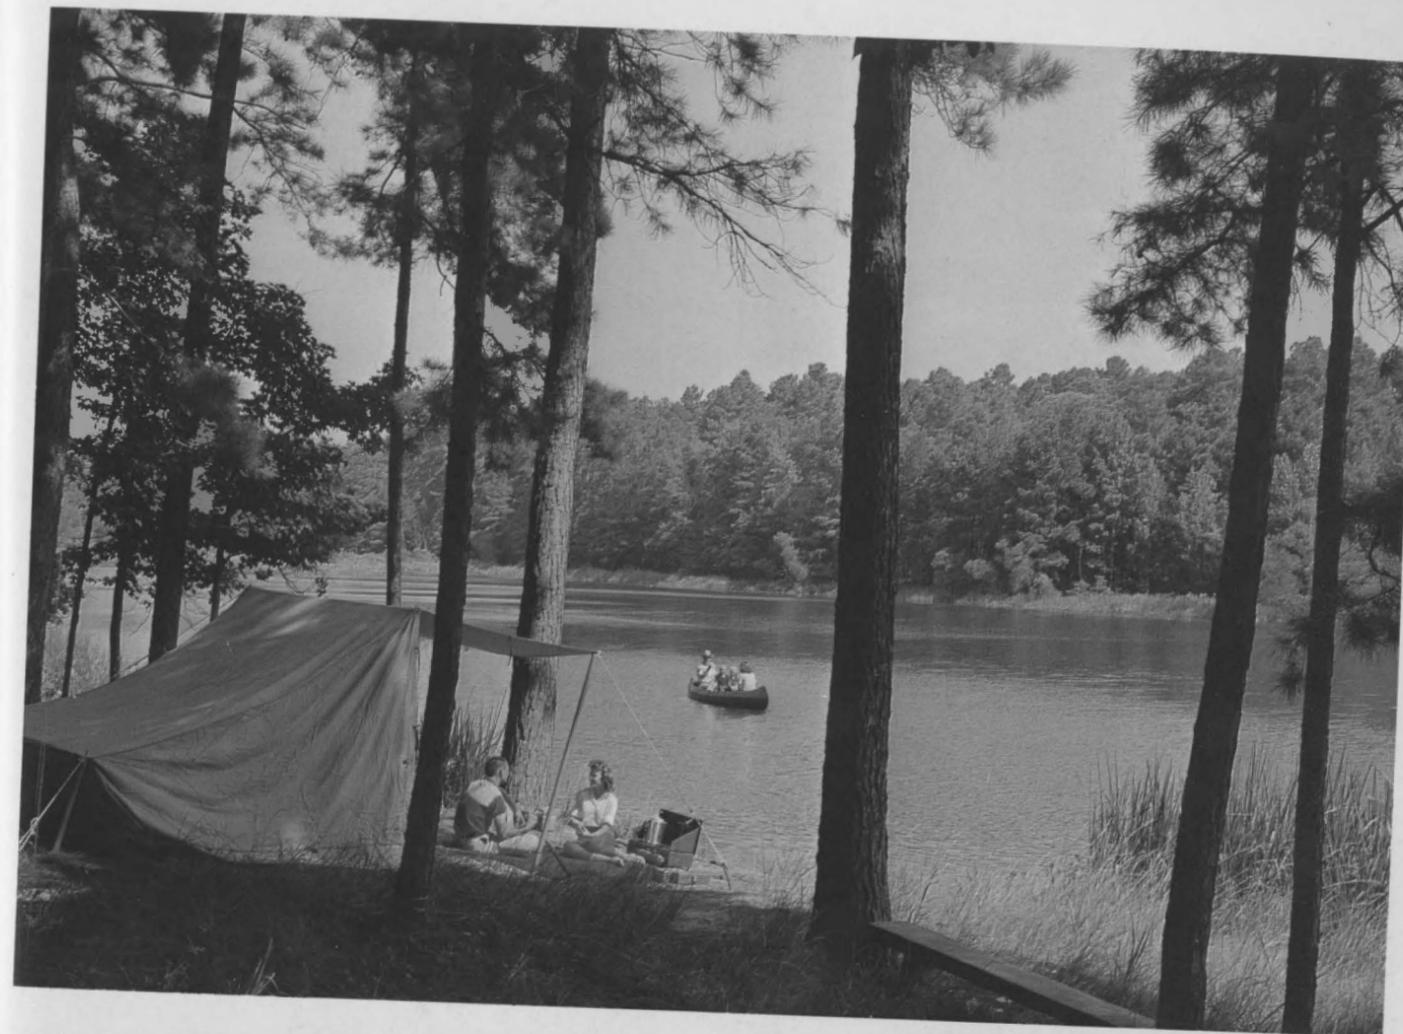

Patroon Creek — About 10 miles north of Milam via Texas 87, FSR 330-A.

SAM HOUSTON NATIONAL FOREST — 158,235 acres in Montgomery, San Jacinto and Walker Counties with these recreational areas:

Double Lake — About four miles south of Coldspring via Texas 150, F.M. 2025.

Stubblefield Lake — On West Fork San Jacinto River about 12 miles north and west of New Waverly. From I.H. 45: F.M. 1375 NW 7.8 mi; FSR 208 SW 3.3 mi.

Big Thicket Scenic Area — About eight miles south of Coldspring via Texas 150, FSR 217.

Texas' four state forests, managed by the Texas Forest Service which is part of Texas A&M University, display results of modern forestry techniques. State Forests are wildlife refuges and hunting is prohibited. Fishing is permitted in designated areas. Information concerning forestry demonstrations available from district foresters and Forest Service headquarters. Fire lookout towers may be visited when personnel are on duty.

Fairchild State Forest — Named for state Senator J. D. Fairchild of Lufkin; 2,896 acres in six tracts — largest 13 miles west of Rusk along U.S. 84. Originally owned by state prison system, most of area was first logged over in 1909-10. Small recreation area with fishing, swimming, picnicking in main tract one-quarter mile south of U.S. 84.

Jones State Forest — Purchased in 1926 and named for founder of Texas Forestry Assn., W. Goodrich Jones; 1,725-acre area five miles south of Conroe was first logged in 1892; 1923 fire burned over entire area. Nature trail of interpretive forestry in northwest corner of forest, and small pond near headquarters offers fishing, swimming, picnicking.

Kirby State Forest — Donated in 1929 by John Henry Kirby, pioneer lumberman; 600-acre area 14 miles south of Woodville off U.S. 287 has weather station, nature trail, picnicking.

Siecke State Forest — 1,722-acre forest is named for E. O. Siecke, State Forester 1918-1942. Main tract five miles southeast of Kirbyville via U.S. 96 and F.M. 82; 100-acre adjunct a mile west. Fishing permitted in small pond near headquarters and in Trout Creek; swimming in deep hole on Trout Creek; shelters and fireplaces along stream open year-round. Area plant and wildlife found along marked nature trail.

186 hunting and fishing

Hunting and fishing in Texas rank with the best in the nation. The variety of fish and game is great, and in many areas abundant.

Fishermen may try some 6,000 square miles of inland freshwater — hundreds of creeks, rivers and lakes — plus scores of tidal bays and 624 miles of shoreline along the Gulf of Mexico.

Primary freshwater game fish are black bass (largemouth), smallmouth or Kentucky bass, crappie, bluegills (bream), various other sunfish, white or sand bass, and catfish including channel, blue and flathead (yellow). Found in some areas are chain pickerel, northern pike, walleye, striped bass and rainbow trout.

Along the Gulf Coast some 250 different species await lure or bait. Among the most popular are speckled trout, king and Spanish mackerel, wahoo, bonito, tuna, sailfish, marlin, pompano, flounder, grouper, jewfish, red snapper, sheepshead, redfish and drum. Many can be taken from beach, jetty or pier.

The feature Texas game animal is the white-tailed deer, found almost statewide, but most densely in the Hill Country where they live in greater numbers than anywhere else in the nation. Mule deer and pronghorn antelope are found in West Texas. Other game animals include javelinas, wild boars and squirrels.

Game birds include a great variety of migratory waterfowl which winter in Texas, plus wild turkey, several types of quail, mourning and white-winged doves, pheasants, prairie chickens, sandhill cranes and chachalacas.

Of unusual interest are several ranches where exotic game animals are stocked for year-round hunting. Among popular species are Indian blackbuck antelope, wild Corsican rams, African aoudad sheep, axis and sika deer.

Hunting in Texas can be very rewarding, though requiring some special arrangements for the nonresident. Texas has no large areas of public lands freely accessible for hunting. Almost all lands are privately owned, requiring authority from the landowner before entering or hunting.

The situation has given rise to the hunting lease system: fees paid landowners for permission to hunt. For convenience of visitors, some leases may be had on a daily basis. No central list of leases is available from the state; inquiries should be made locally.

Hunting arrangements can be made by contacting individual ranchers and landowners, or through Guides, Outfitters & Resorts, 3444 Northhaven Road, Dallas 75229. A good reference book containing hunting locations, types of game, landowner names and addresses, and hunting fees, is Hunters' Guide to Texas (Pemberton Press), available by mail for $3.95 (plus 40c for tax, handling and postage) from P.O. Box 12013, Austin 78711.

REGULATIONS

The following is only a general summary of Texas hunting and fishing regulations. All persons intending to hunt or fish should obtain the free pamphlets, Texas Hunting Guide, and Texas Fishing Guide, available from the Texas Parks & Wildlife Dept., John H. Reagan Bldg., Austin 78701. The guides detail seasonal dates, size, bag and possession limits, and special provisions of fishing and hunting laws.

Licenses are sold at most sporting goods and tackle stores, at all county courthouses, and by game management officers. NOTE: A combination resident hunting and fishing license is $8.75.

Fishing — In general, every person fishing in Texas waters must have a license. License cost is $4.25 for both residents and non-residents, and is good for fishing both in salt and freshwater one year from purchase. A special 3-day saltwater license is $1.25.

Some exceptions are: no license is required of a person fishing with a throw line or fishing pole with no winding device, when fishing in the county of his residence. No license is required for fishermen under 17 or over 65 years of age, or if fishing on private waters.

Hunting — All nonresidents, regardless of age, must be licensed to hunt in Texas. A nonresident's 5-day license to hunt migratory game birds is $10.25. The general nonresident hunting license (for all game) is $37.50. A nonresident resort hunting license (for use on a licensed shooting resort only) is $5.00.

A resident hunting license is $5.25, and is required of every Texan who hunts outside the county of his residence, or who hunts deer or turkey. Exempt licenses (required to obtain deer and turkey tags) are available to residents under 17 or over 65 years of age, and cost 25 cents.

Hunting and Fishing in Mexico: See MEXICO, page 197.

With its diversity of geography, Texas is a bonanza for amateur rock and mineral collectors. Terrain ranges from sea level to mountains, with outcroppings in a multitude of types and ages from Quaternary to Precambrian. Localities in every part provide exciting specimens.

Among the most popular mineral regions are the Trans-Pecos of West Texas and the famous Llano Uplift of Central Texas. The Trans-Pecos (west of the Pecos River) includes vast volcanic igneous deposits, deserts, mountains, and ghost mining towns. The Llano Uplift is a region of ancient intrusive igneous and metamorphic rocks, now lifted to the surface with a glittering array of mineral specimens. It is roughly bounded by Brady, San Saba, Burnet, Johnson City, Fredericksburg and Mason.

Local inquiry is the best method to obtain information about specific collecting areas. Visit rock shops, and ask about local gem and mineral societies. Remember that the landowner's permission is always required before entering private property, and that collecting is not permitted in national or state parks.

Listed below are just a few of the interesting specimens found in Texas, and some areas where they appear. An excellent amateur's guide "Texas Rocks and Minerals," Guidebook 6, is available by mail from the University of Texas for $1.30. Orders (and remittance) should be addressed to the Bureau of Economic Geology, University of Texas, University Station Box X, Austin 78712.

Geodes and Nodules — Specimens from the size of walnuts to basketballs, lined or filled with beautiful crystals including amethyst, calcite, celestite, jasper, opal, onyx or quartz. Found in many localities including areas around Alpine and Marfa in West Texas, and around Austin, Georgetown, Lampasas, Roby, Robert Lee and Sweetwater in the central portion of the state.

Granite — Huge domes at the surface in the Llano uplift region; much red and pink granite prized for monuments and building material. (See FREDERICKSBURG, MARBLE FALLS and LAKE LYNDON B. JOHNSON, Ranch & Hill Country section.) Also found in the Big Bend region.

Graphite — Found in extremely old Precambrian rocks of the Llano uplift; some fine quality specimens. One of the country's most important graphite mines is located northwest of Burnet, but mine area is not ordinarily open to amateur collectors.

Gypsum — Mined in several places in Texas. Rock gypsum found in layers in Palo Duro Canyon southeast of Amarillo, also in many places along the edge of the Cap Rock (High Plains). Selenite gypsum rosettes near Sweetwater; gypsum crystals at Gyp Hill southeast of Falfurrias.

Jasper — Very attractive red, brown and yellow varieties, frequently banded. Found in stream gravel at several localities on and near the Rio Grande throughout its length.

Llanite — Beautiful mineral found only in Texas, Llano uplift area, a form of granite of gem quality. Mixture of crystals of sky-blue quartz and pink feldspar. Prized for cabochons.

Marble — Large outcroppings of many different colors and varieties in the Llano uplift region of Central Texas. Also found near Van Horn and Big Bend National Park.

Onyx — Honey (rich yellowish gold) and banded varieties, valued for cutting, carving and spheres. Often found in abundance at localities around Ozona, Pecos and Sanderson.

Opal — Almost every color of common opal in many localities from the Panhandle to the Gulf coastal plain and the Trans-Pecos. Superb precious opal in the Alpine region, milky white with fiery orange, red, blue and green interior colors.

Petrified Wood — Abundant in many localities; certain types eagerly sought by collectors. Agatized, carbonized, silicified and opalized. Petrified palm wood is the official state stone; takes a lustrous polish with beautiful dot pattern (called "straws"). Found in broad areas of East Texas, South Texas and the Trans-Pecos.

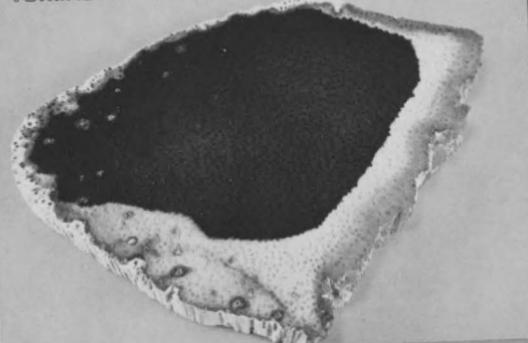

Quartz — Abundant in many forms; found in the Llano uplift region and throughout much of the Trans-Pecos. Rock crystal prized for jewelry, milky quartz and delicate rose quartz often found in masses. Smoky quartz frequently in six-sided prisms, especially beautiful specimens from Lake Buchanan area.

Tektites — One of the mysteries of geology, uncertain whether of earth or from outer space. Some specimens show heat pits and molten surface flow of a body that has moved through the atmosphere at extreme speed. Small marble-sized black glass, rare and highly prized. Found in stream gravel, weathering from highway cuts, and exposed by rains on soil surfaces; in a broad band roughly from Trinity to Gonzales, including areas near Hallettsville, La Grange, Giddings, Caldwell, Bryan and Navasota.

Topaz — The official Texas gem, eagerly sought by collectors. From colorless to the prized blue variety. Found in several localities in the Llano uplift region; the most famous area for gemstone specimens is west to northwest of Mason.

Tourmaline — Dark colored varieties, black and brown. Occurs both as masses and crystals. Often found in masses of milky quartz in the Llano uplift region, especially at Town Mountain north of Llano. Also in the Carrizo, Eagle, Van Horn and Wylie Mountains of West Texas.

In East Texas' humid marshlands, carnivorous pitcher plants trap unwary insects. Far across the state, rare, red Mexican silenes seek the seclusion of cool canyons. On sun-swept Padre Island, beach morning glories race across lonely dunes. Such is the story of Texas' 5,000 wild flower species — products of the state's diverse environment. More gregarious types such as bluebonnets, buttercups and Indian paintbrushes roam statewide, draping festive serapes over highway shoulders each spring.

While spring is the most spectacular season, other times offer their own specialties. The sun-drenched western desert can blithely ignore the calendar. In almost any month "spring" follows each rare, welcome rain. Thirst quenched — yucca, ocotillo and cacti erupt in a brief frenzy of blooms.

Throughout the year in the Border Tropics towering palms parade down bougainvillea-draped boulevards. In winter citrus orchards are heady with the scent of orange blossoms, and giant poinsettias decorate homes to the eaves for the holiday season.

With three-fourths of all known American birds represented in Texas, anywhere in the state, any time of the year, there are birds for the watching.

No other state offers the birding variety (or challenge) that Texas does. Varied vegetation, altitudes from sea level to over 8,000 feet, rainfall from less than 10 inches annually to more than 55 inches, and a strategic position on the North American continent, combine to provide a diversity of birdlife unapproached by any other state. In addition, Texas' large resident bird population is augmented by hosts of migrating species.

Refuges offer exceptional viewing of both rare specimens and large concentrations of familiar species. (See WILDLIFE REFUGES, Index.)

The 624-mile Texas coastline teems with shorebirds — gulls, pelicans, egrets and roseate spoonbills, plus the world's few remaining whooping cranes which winter at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge.

The Border Tropics area hosts tropical birds; Inca and white-winged doves, and is the only place in the nation where such species as white-fronted doves, chachalacas, and green jays may be observed. Santa Ana National Wildlife Refuge is an ideal spot to add those visitors from south-of-the-border to a "life list."

The Texas High Plains are home to horned larks, kites and prairie chickens. Lakes attract mallard, baldpate and pintail migrants. Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge is a haven for thousands of wintering sandhill cranes.

In the Towering West of Texas are rare Colima warblers and eagles, canyon wrens, desert-dwelling flycatchers and tiny verdins.

The Hill Country hosts large flocks of wild turkeys, almost countless resident and migrant species, and the nesting place of rare golden-cheeked warblers. More open terrain is habitat of fleet-footed roadrunners.

The Woodland Lakes region is the Texas home of several eastern species including the wood thrush, Acadian flycatcher and Kentucky warbler. A few swallow-tailed kites may live here, and perhaps, the once-thought-to-be-extinct ivory billed woodpeckers.

Birding in Texas can be a rewarding experience!

special events

Texans love parades and rodeos. They love fairs, festivals and fiestas. They welcome every opportunity to join with old and new friends for a good time. So the Texas calendar is always loaded with events.

Throughout this book major annual events are listed with each city. In addition, a complete semiannual calendar of events is published by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Whatever the season or place, visitors can be sure of a warm welcome at Texas events, because to Texans, fun is best when it's shared.

JANUARY

The year begins with the end of a rousing salute to the Texas climate, the Southwestern Sun Carnival in El Paso. From Dec. 20 to Jan. 1 El Paso swings with beauty contests and balls, swim, golf, tennis and polo meets, sports car races, rodeo events and the annual Sun Bowl football game. Jan. 1 winds it up with the glittering Sun Carnival Parade.

There's also the traditional Cotton Bowl football classic in Dallas.

Elsewhere in the state Texans are looking forward to another season of outdoor fun at a series of sport, vacation and boat shows. Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston all stage such events.

Down in South Texas the season is already underway. There's a New Year's Day Swim at Corpus Christi, and the Texas Citrus Fiesta gets underway at Mission.

MAY

Pirates invade Corpus Christi, setting off a reign of fun during the last days of April and the first days of May. The Buccaneer Days frolic features pretty pirate maids in fetching costumes, parades, balls, beach activities and a music festival.

Rodeos are going full blast all over the state. Usually presented for two or more days near the weekend, rodeos are scheduled at Carthage, Giddings, Jasper, Linden, Marble Falls, Marfa, Mineral Wells, Wolfe City and elsewhere. Burnet stages an all-girl rodeo, and Mesquite begins a Friday and Saturday night rodeo schedule that continues into September.

The skirl of bagpipes echoes at Waco during the annual Gathering of the Scottish Clans and Highland Games.

Toward the end of the month Athens hosts its annual Old Fiddlers' Contest and Reunion, while both Six Flags Over Texas and Astroworld begin their daily summer schedules.

SEPTEMBER

Old fashioned county fairs set the pace during September at towns including Abilene, Amarillo, Boerne, Clarksville, Coleman, Colorado City, Dumas, Greenville, Karnes City, La Grange, Lockney, Lubbock, New Braunfels, Rosenberg, Seguin, Stratford, Texarkana, Trinity and Tyler.

There's an annual Tourist Day (with free watermelons) at Shamrock, a fishing festival at Port Lavaca, and the annual Southwestern Regional Fly-In of sport and experimental aircraft at Georgetown.

Chili's pungent aroma wafts over San Marcos during the annual Republic of Texas Chilympiad, state chili cooking contest.

Celebrating Diez y Seis, Mexican Independence Day (Sept. 16), are several cities including Corpus Christi, Houston, Port Arthur and San Antonio.

FEBRUARY

February is Mardi Gras time in Texas — by a variety of names. In Brownsville it's Charro Days, an international fiesta that swirls in four days of fun on both sides of the border.

George Washington's Birthday has been celebrated for three-quarters of a century in Laredo and Nuevo Laredo. The twin cities honor the first New World leader to throw off European dominion. Bands, military units and floats from Texas and Mexico mingle in a week of good neighbor fun.

At McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, winter visitors from northern climes are greeted with special state picnics saluting Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Canada and others.

San Antonio stages its stock show and rodeo at mid-month and the historic Salt Grass Trail Ride opens the Houston Live-Stock Show and Rodeo during the closing week.

JUNE

Rodeos continue, and in the same vein Texans enjoy showing prize livestock. Horse shows, mostly quarter horses but also Arabians, appaloosas and other breeds, are slated at cities including Athens, Bastrop, Bellaire, Dallas, Decatur, Denison, Fort Worth, Georgetown, Hillsboro, Kermit and Madisonville. Annual cattle shows are featured at Madisonville and Waco.

On two successive weekends the colorful Fort Griffin Fandangle is presented by Albany townspeople in an outdoor amphitheatre. Some performers are grandchildren of original cast.

Festivals at Luling and Stockdale honor watermelons, while Stonewall crowns a peach queen.

A Shakespeare Festival begins the last week in Odessa at the Globe of the Great Southwest, reproduction of the original Globe Theatre. Shows nightly through August.

Also during the last week, "TEXAS!", spectacular outdoor musical drama in Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo, begins its season with nightly (except Sunday) shows through August.

OCTOBER

Many more county and regional fairs are on the October slate plus the biggest of them all, the State Fair of Texas which runs for 16 days in Dallas.

Playing to packed stands each Sunday in October, the Texas Prison Rodeo at Huntsville features convict performers in all traditional rodeo thrills and spills.

The state's greatest floral pageant blooms at Tyler, center of an area that produces nearly half of the nation's field-grown rosebushes. Magnificent displays of blossoms accent five days of related events during the Texas Rose Festival.

The lusty Wurstfest (sausage festival) spans 10 days at the last of October and first of November in New Braunfels. Rich in German heritage, the town and visitors join in a carnival of fun and feasting accented by plenty of polka music and genuineness (good fellowship).

MARCH

March introduces the lavish floral season in Texas. Beautiful white blossoms of dogwood spangle the Piney Woods, and scenic routes through the flowering countryside are charted at Palestine and Woodville. Azaleas begin their spectacle of blossom as spring temperatures spread northward. Beaumont, Dallas, Houston and Tyler schedule azalea tours.

For contrast, March is also a popular month for the intriguing sport of catching rattlesnakes. Rattlesnake roundups draw participants and spectators to Brownwood, Coleman, Jacksboro and Sweetwater. Outfitted with high boots and special capturing equipment, snake hunters "bring 'em back alive" by the thousands.

JULY

A rash of rodeos, including performances at Austin, Belton, Bonham, Brownwood, Burnet, Carthage, Cuero, Denison, Denver City, Earth, Hillsboro, Kaufman, Ladonia, Linden, Marble Falls, Mason, Mesquite, Mineola, Pecos, Port Aransas, Ranger, Rock-springs, Snyder, Stamford, Stephenville, Sulphur Springs, Sweeny, Weatherford, Wharton, Wimberley and Yoakum.

Fourth of July celebrations encompass everything from fishing (Brazosport Fishin' Fiesta, Freeport; Deep-Sea Roundup, Port Aransas) through golf tournaments (Alice, Jacksboro, Overton and Wolfe City) to the World Muleshoe Pitching Championship at the town of Muleshoe.

During the 4th of July weekend the Texas State Arts & Crafts Fair at Kerrville exhibits and demonstrates the best of Texas artists and craftsmen.

NOVEMBER

Autumn colors reach their peak in East Texas forestlands, and foliage trails are charted around Athens, Mineola, Palestine and Winnsboro. Related events include tours of pioneer homes, trail rides, fall flower shows, and traditional country food treats.

Pungent aromas scent the desert air as several thousand gather at the ghost town of Terlingua for the World Championship Chili Cook-Off.

This month introduces the major hunting season in Texas for white-tailed deer. The towns of Bandera and Hondo welcome hunters with free barbecues on the night before hunting season opens.

At Harlingen the Confederate Air Force presents its annual flying spectacular, featuring military aircraft of World War II. Planes flown in demonstrations include combat aircraft from the U.S., Great Britain, Germany and Japan.

APRIL

In April spring reaches its riotous climax of color. Dogwoods still blossom; carpets of bluebonnets appear along with Indian paintbrush, scarlet clover, wine cups and hundreds of other vivid varieties. Wild flower trails see caravans of viewers around such prime areas as Austin and the Highland Lakes region, Brenham, Ennis and Yoakum.

The most dramatic moments of Texas history are celebrated during the third week. On Apr. 21, 1836, Texas won its independence from Mexico on the battleground at San Jacinto near Houston. Statewide ceremonies mark the occasion, with the feature event at the San Jacinto Battleground including a review of the Texas Navy — scores of yachts and pleasure craft.

Fiesta San Antonio is a Latin-accented carnival spanning nine days around Apr. 21. There's the famous Battle of Flowers Parade, a night water parade on the beautiful San Antonio River through midtown, and a night street parade called the Fiesta Flambeau. Festivities center around La Villita, a re-created Mexican village of a century ago, in the heart of San Antonio.

AUGUST

Among August highlights is the Austin Aqua Festival, 10 days of water-oriented fun including canoe, sail and drag boat races, water ski competitions, a nighttime lighted water parade, plus special festivals dedicated to the cultural blends of Texas: Mexican, German, Czech and Western.

In San Antonio the Texas Folklife Festival celebrates the diverse cultural heritage of the state with ethnic food, fun, and games in a holiday atmosphere.

County fairs appearing at Canton, Emory, Fairfield, Fredericksburg and Mason. De Leon celebrates the diversity of its agricultural bounty during a four-day Peach and Melon Festival. And at Athens, the rousing Black-Eyed Pea Jamboree features fun, games, and championship pea cooking competition.

At Castroville descendants of Alsatian pioneers gather for their annual homecoming and St. Louis Day Celebration. The festival atmosphere is brightened by traditional Alsace-style costumes, dances and rich foods of European heritage.

DECEMBER

Besides the customary decorations of streets and town squares, many localities celebrate the Yule season with special events. Christmas parades are held at Athens, Denison, Franklin, Gainesville, Gladewater, Greenville, Hamilton, Huntsville, Lancaster, Mineola, Mineral Wells, Pampa, Temple and Wills Point. At Seabrook-Kemah (NASA-Clear Lake area) is a parade of lighted yachts, and in Houston a candlelight tour of historic homes in Sam Houston Park.

Poinsettias, the Christmas flowers, are featured at the annual all-poinsettia show in Mission. The crimson flowers grow lavishly in the subtropical tip of Texas, where Mission is headquarters for the National Poinsettia Society.

The Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at the Astrodome in Houston, and the Sun Bowl in El Paso; wind up collegiate football for the year. El Paso's Sun Carnival, from Dec. 20 to Jan. 1, is a fitting climax for a year-full of festival fun.

These monthly summaries are only random highlights among hundreds of Texas fun fests. See the Major Events category at each city listing, and consult local authorities for exact dates. Or write the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for a comprehensive semiannual calendar of events.

TOURIST BUREAUS

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation operates 11 tourist bureaus for the convenience of the traveling public. Trained travel counselors welcome visitors, and provide a wealth of literature, information, and suggestions to make every Texas trip more pleasant.

Working with an official state travel map, counselors expertly chart routes to any area of Texas. They point out the most convenient short line directions, or leisurely scenic drives. They supply comprehensive statewide travel publications, plus detailed brochures about your destination. And they'll advise about points of interest, attractions, and recreational areas along the way.

All those travel services are free. Their business is your travel pleasure.

The bureaus are open daily year-round. Nine are at major highway entrances to Texas; one is in the State Capitol in Austin, and one is the fascinating Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center at Langtry, an attraction in itself. Visit a tourist bureau to discover some fabulous details about Texas, Land of Contrast!

ROADSIDE PARKS

Throughout the superb system of Texas highways, motorists find extra bonuses of pleasure at roadside parks. Texas pioneered the concept of miniature parks along travelways, an idea that has been adopted nationally.

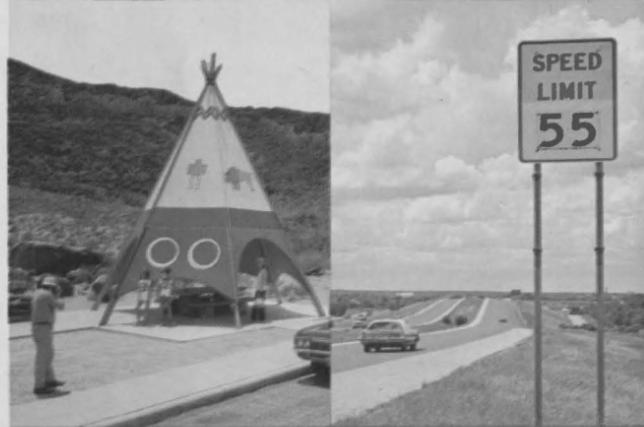

Today more than a thousand Texas roadside parks, rest areas, and scenic turnouts invite motorists to pause in pleasant settings, and relax from the concentration of driving. Each of the small parks is landscaped to complement individual surroundings. They are equipped with shaded arbors, tables, benches, and cooking grills. Quite often the site has been selected for its impressive landscape views.

Along the Interstate system all rest areas will soon be equipped with drinking water, comfort station/rest rooms, and display cases with travel information. Those travel displays provide details about nearby features, plus statewide attractions.

Pause and enjoy Texas roadside parks. They will enhance the pleasure of your trip.

SPEED LIMITS

Speeds, caution areas, stops and directions are marked along 70,000 miles of Texas highways by over half a million signs. No passing zones are identified by a continuous yellow stripe on the driver's side of the center line. Center lines are yellow dash stripes. White dash stripes separate dual lanes of traffic in the same direction. Painted or reflectorized pavement arrows often show approved directions or turns. Arrows pointing toward you or showing red reflectors indicate you are driving the wrong way on a freeway ramp or one-way street. Except where otherwise posted, the maximum speed is 55 m.p.h. (Speed limit for house trailers over 4,500 pounds or 32 feet long is 45 m.p.h.)

TRAILERS

Towing vehicle and trailers more than 55 feet long, or 8 feet wide, require permits to travel on Texas highways. Permits are available at all State Department of Highways and Public Transportation district offices and at Texas Tourist Bureaus. Permits are for single trips not exceeding 10 days of continuous movement. The $5 cost is payable only by cashier's check or money order. Applicant must have license number, make, model and weight of trailer, plus license and engine number of towing vehicle.

At the south-center of the nation, Texas is easily accessible from all directions. And once in Texas, you'll find that driving chores melt away. Miles are almost as short as minutes along an unequalled system of modern highways leading to your holiday destination with ease, pleasure and safety.

EXPLANATION

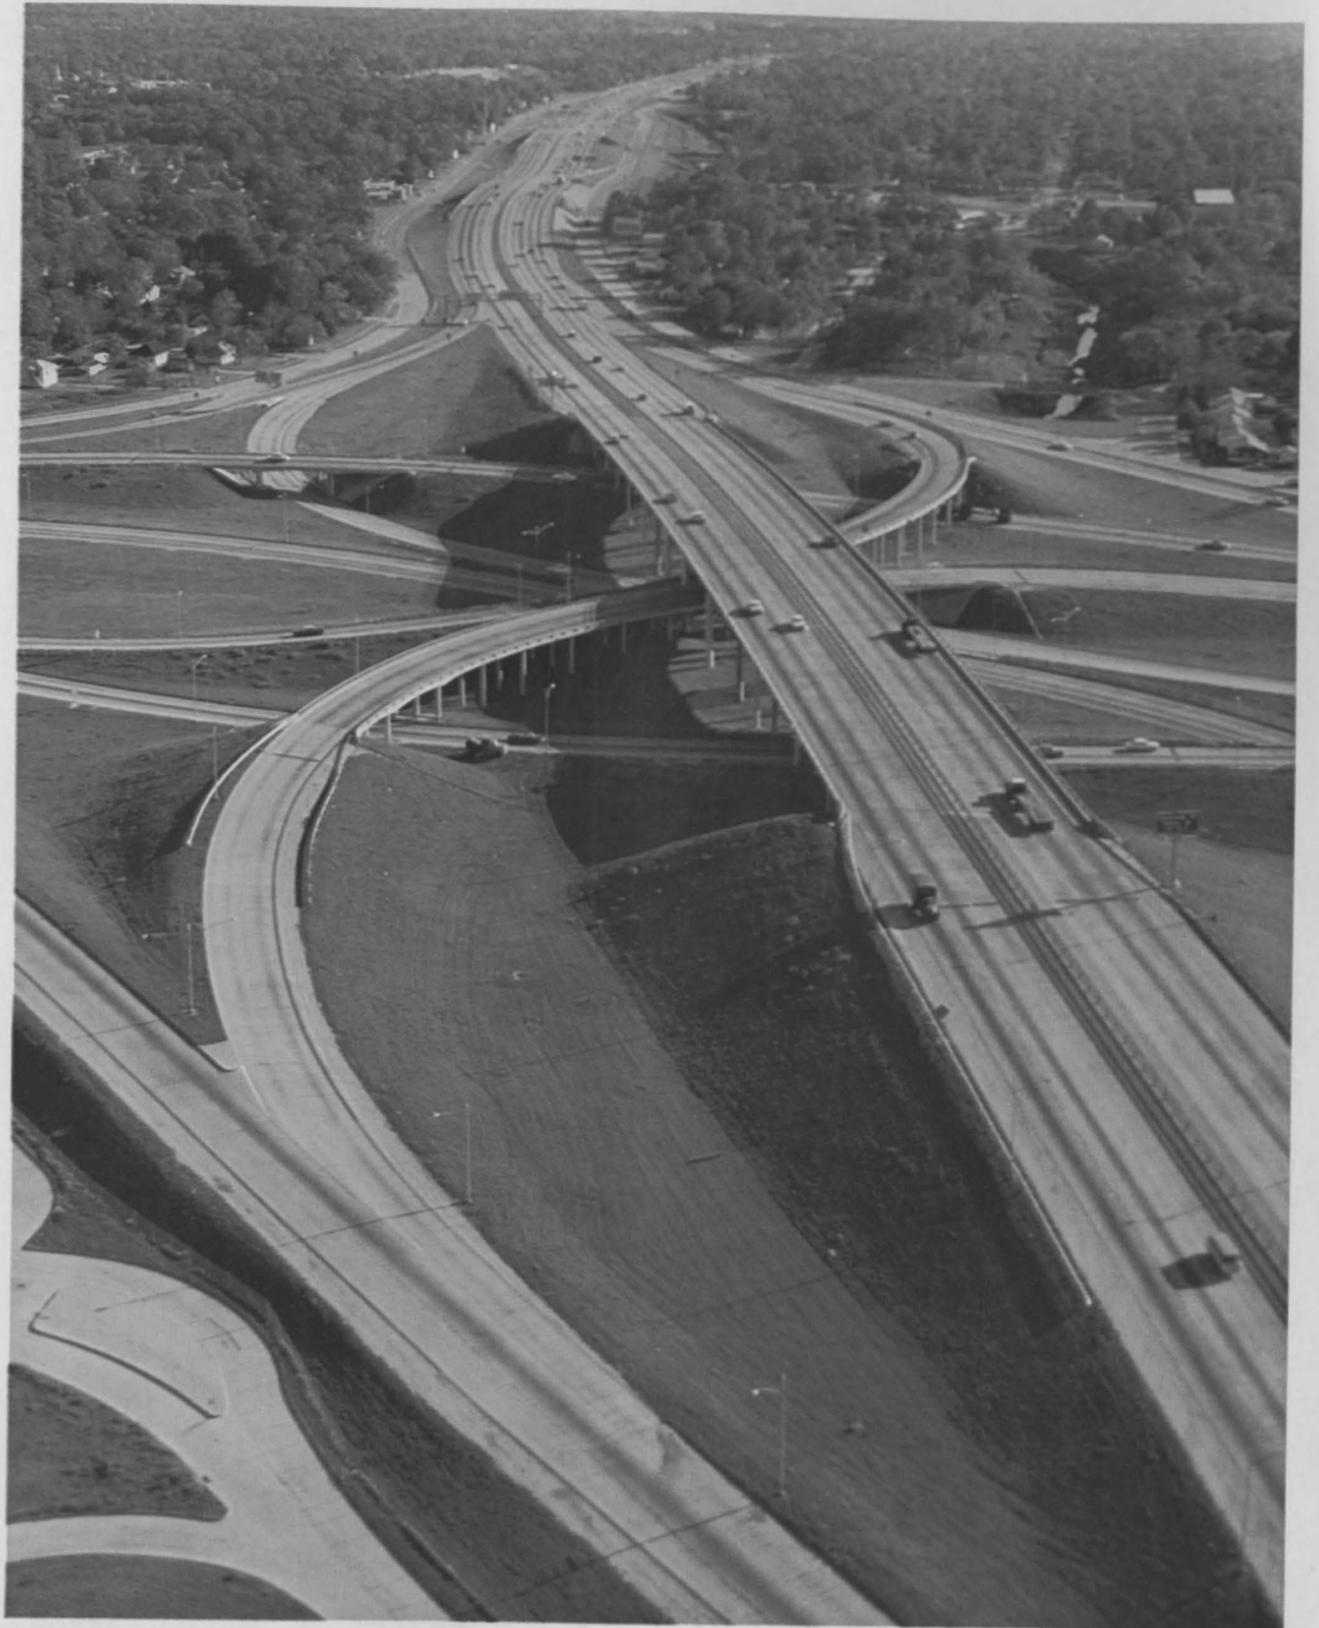

Light numbers (752) indicate mileage to Texas from city named. Heavy numbers (17) indicate average driving time in hours to Texas. The average driving time is calculated under normal conditions and includes consideration of topography, speed laws, and congested areas. Miles and driving time are figured along Interstate or other primary routes.

SAVOR THE HEARTY FOODS OF TEXAS

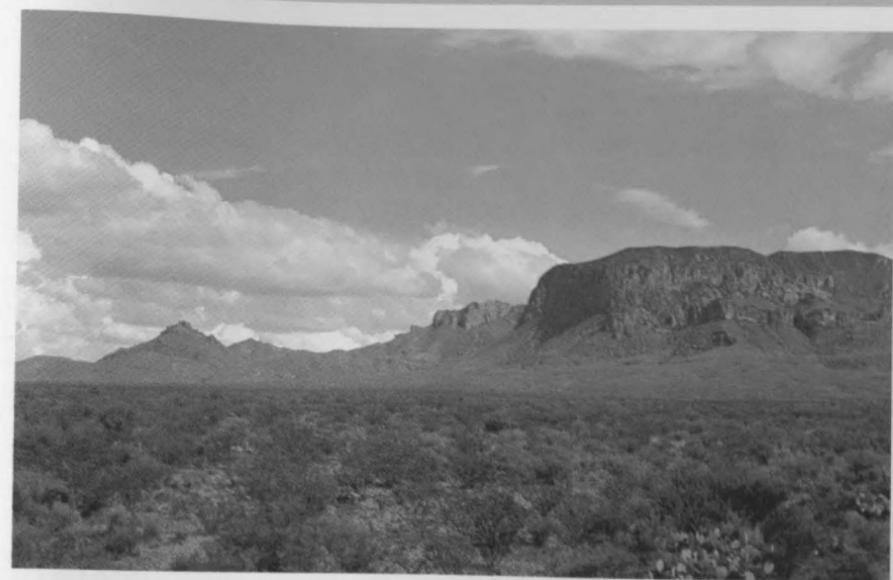

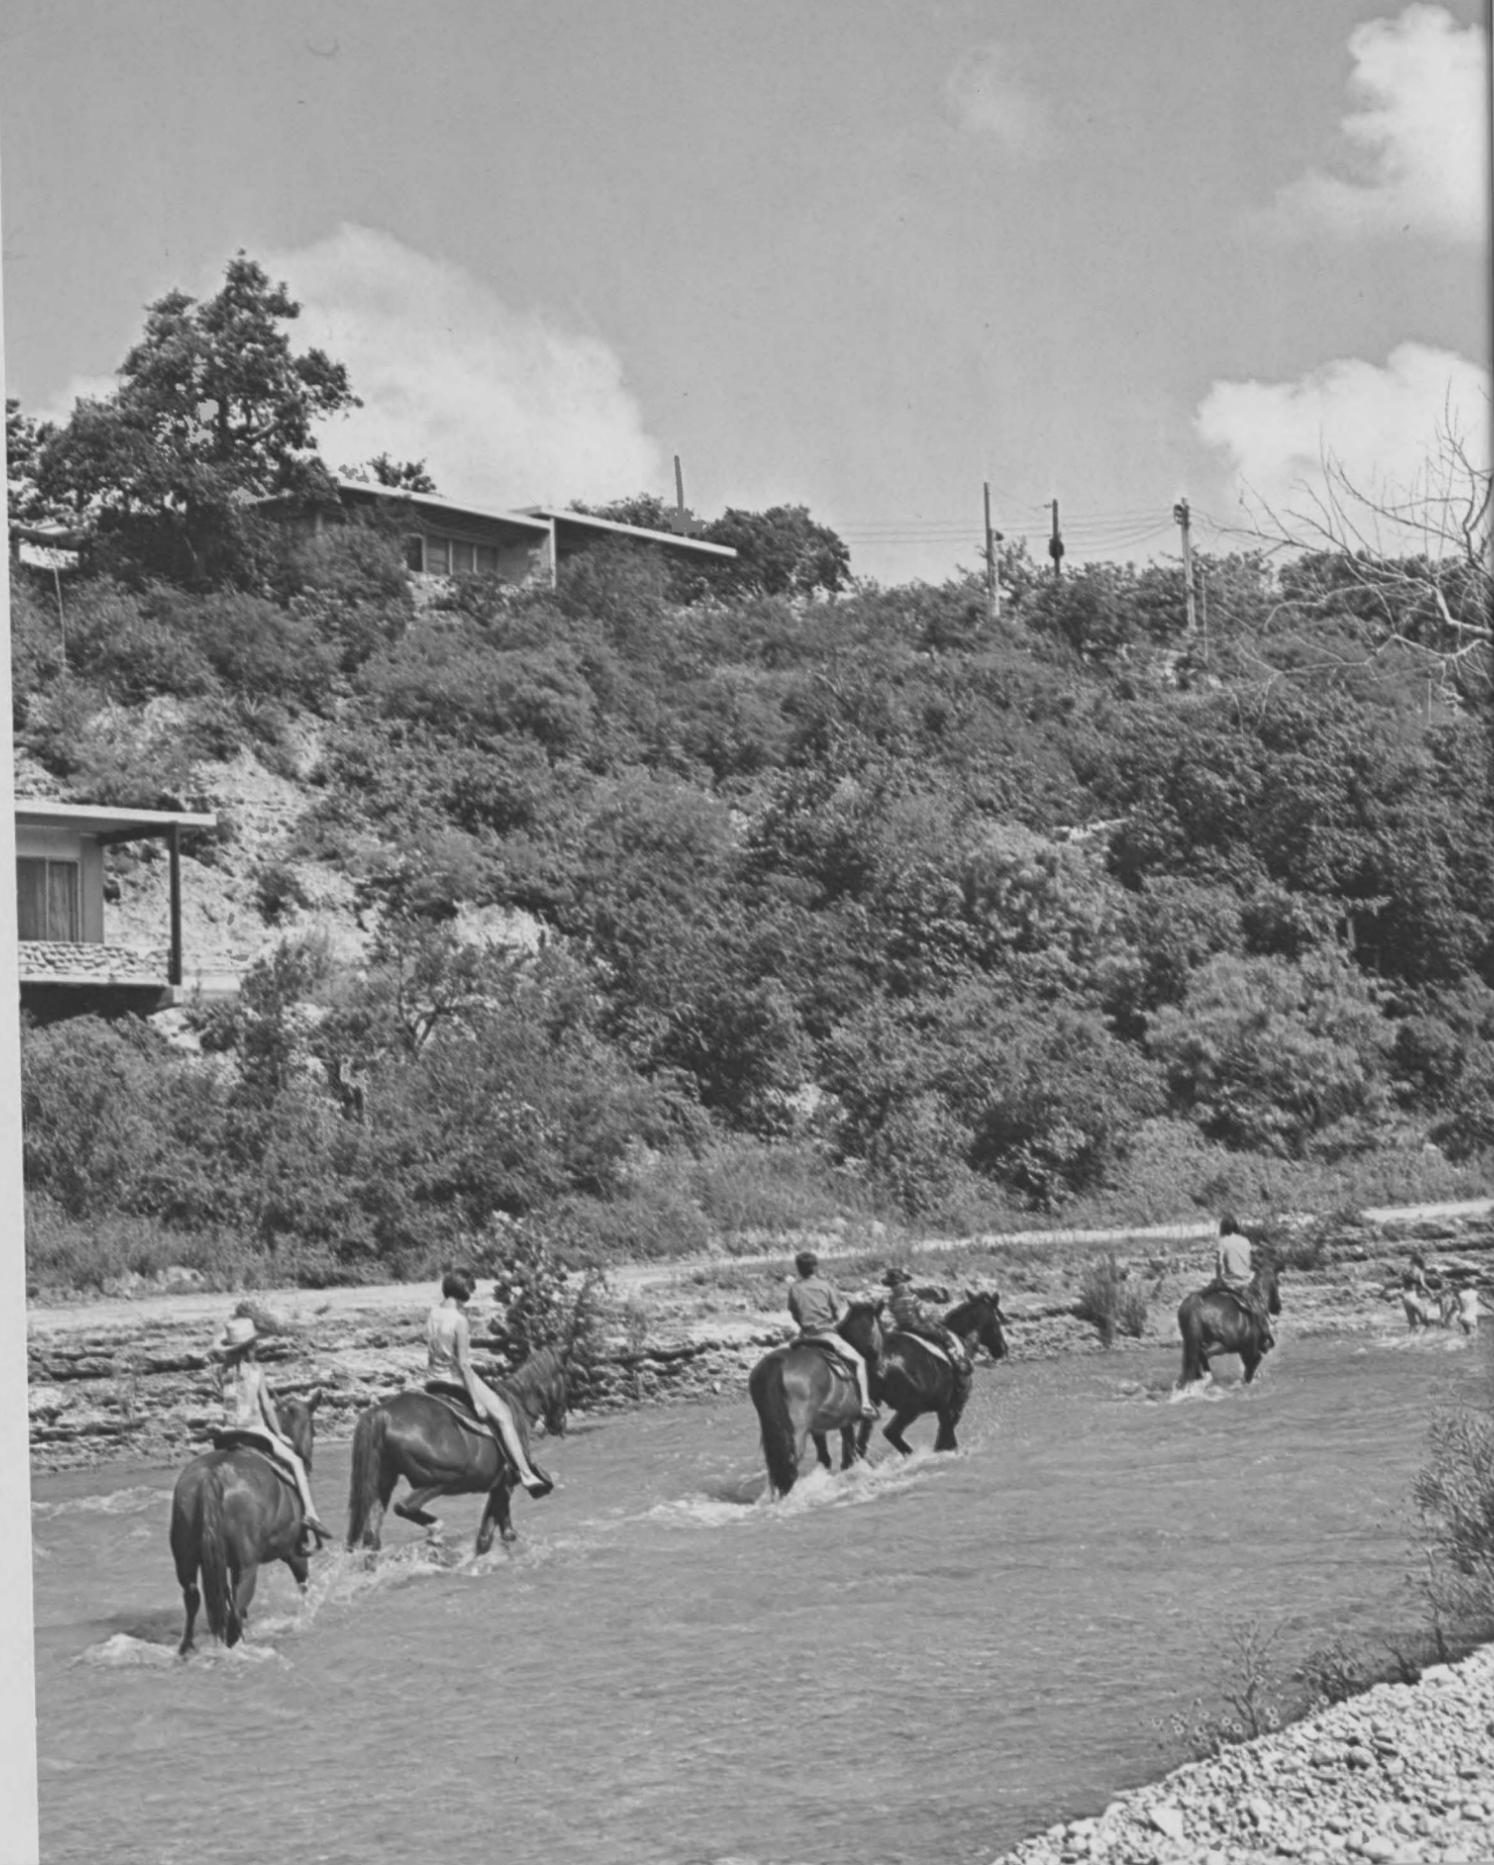

Authentic Western barbecue... hours-fresh shrimp and seafood... prime beefsteaks... spicy Mexican food... plus a host of exotic dishes from the far corners of the world. Eat heartily!

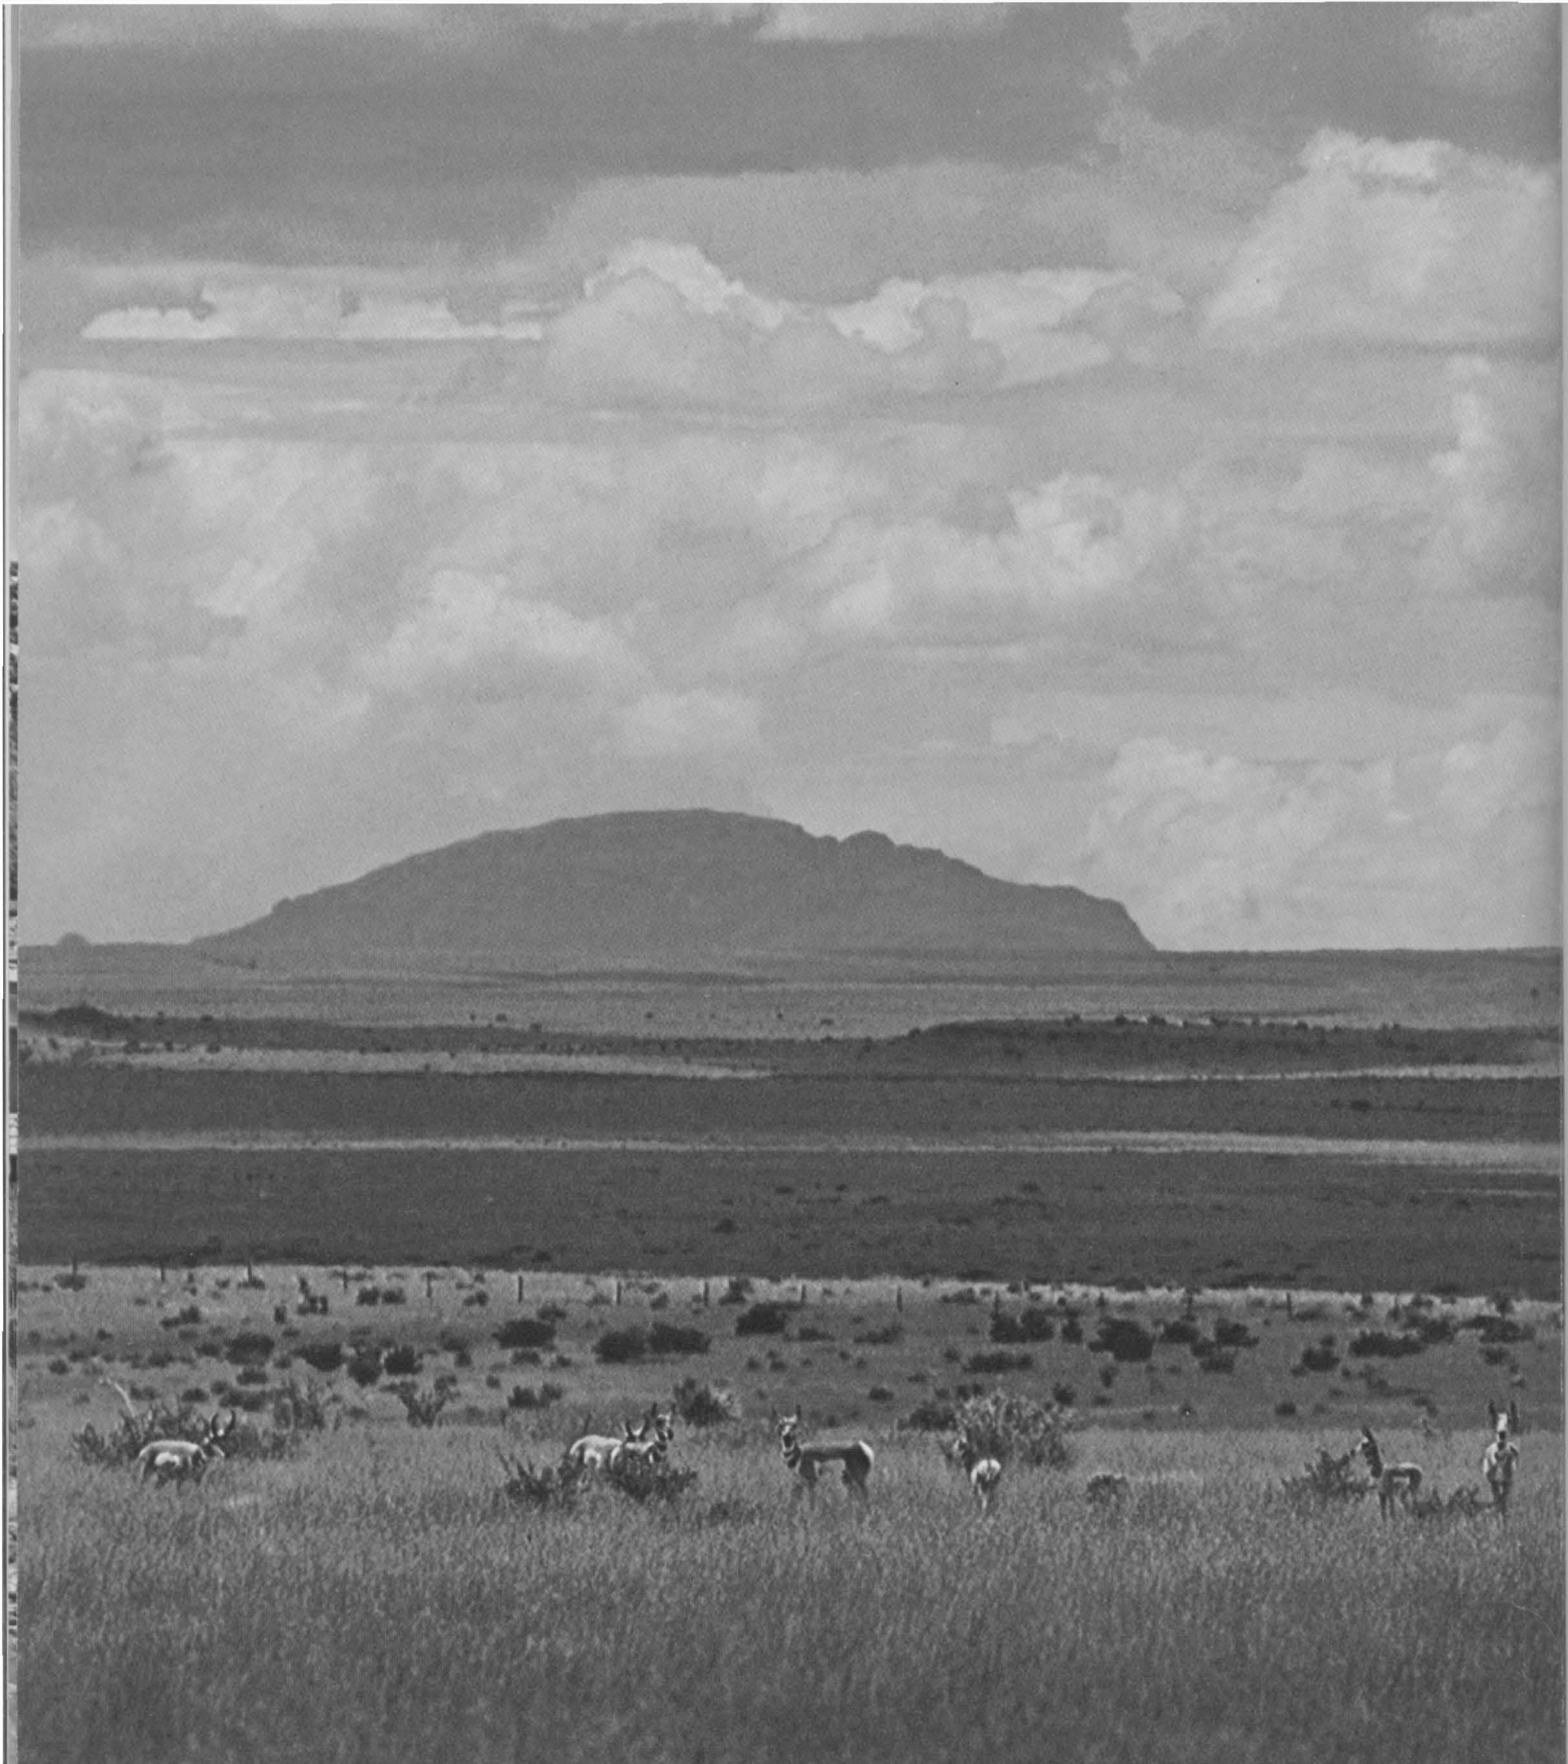

DRIVE THE HANDSOME HIGHWAYS OF TEXAS

Broad, smooth, and engineered to put pleasure back in pleasure driving. Cruise the rim of colorful canyons, the slopes of majestic mountains, and the shoreline of the Gulf of Mexico. Drive friendly!

Central Texas

... evokes scenic images of timber-sheathed hills and sun-dappled lakes, of state government debated in traditional, lofty chambers, of an unpretentious, white-columned ranch house that has assumed global significance. Indians roamed this game-rich, pure-watered land. Here some of Texas' first settlers furrowed virgin soils of fertile valleys. Here they levered stones from the hillsides, and shaped structures in remembrance of far lands from which so many came. Today's Central Texas reflects the colorful stamina of those early folk who laid the foundations of a vibrant present. Haciendas of colonial Spain and Gothic facades of 18th Century Germany are now edged by looping freeways. From the past, Central Texas boasts the state's first state park, its oldest drug store and its first institution of higher learning. In the present, one of its universities is the largest in the South, while another houses the world's most extensive collection of works and memorabilia of British poet Robert Browning. Scenic vistas reward the pleasure driver, the camper and hiker, while blue lakes prove irresistible to boatmen, swimmers and fishermen. Weirdly-sculptured caverns plunge beneath the land, while above, rock hunters probe cliffs and crevasses for glittering mineral specimens.

"Sanforized" clowns cavort among pretty mermaids on an underwater stage at San Marcos Springs, where visitors to the Aquarena view the show from a submarine theatre. Glass-bottomed boats, a sky ride over cliffside gardens and a Frontier Village are added appeals to enchant the entire family at this major attraction in San Marcos.

Shimmering blue lakes fleck today's Texas, a new aqualand where yachting caps now outnumber traditional stetsons!

This modest ranch home has become internationally known as the Little White House on the Pedernales River.

Hill Country Cascades.

Fiesta time!

White-tailed deer.

The music of falling water

... blossoming fire against a velvet sky ... a breathless glimpse of running deer ... soaring kite skiers ... and gemuetlichkeit at Texas' wurst festival! All this is Central Texas ... and more. Here rises that dramatic, broken skyline set to music in "The Hills of Home." Here are woodland glades, frothy cascades, quiet lakes and charming villages, all only a brief span of miles from modern cities humming with commerce. Here today's sportsman hunter pursues an incredible abundance of game and fish: fighting black bass and white bass, eager crappie, granddaddy catfish, wild turkey, upland game birds, and the greatest concentration of white-tailed deer in the United States! Here and everywhere throughout America's Fun-tier, celebrations are taken with serious abandon ... and in delightful variety. Texas' multi-cultural heritage is remembered in festivals by Scots, Swedes, Germans and Spaniards, to name but a few. One example: The Wurstfest (sausage festival), pictured here. At all, gemuetlichkeit (good fellowship) reigns supreme!

"Du Du Liegst Mir Im Herzen ..."
The Wurstfest, New Braunfels.

Nurtured by deep wells, rich red soils yield immense quantities of grain, vegetables and fiber.

Near extinction on the plains, these charming little burrowers are now protected in their own Prairie Dog Town, MacKenzie State Park, Lubbock.

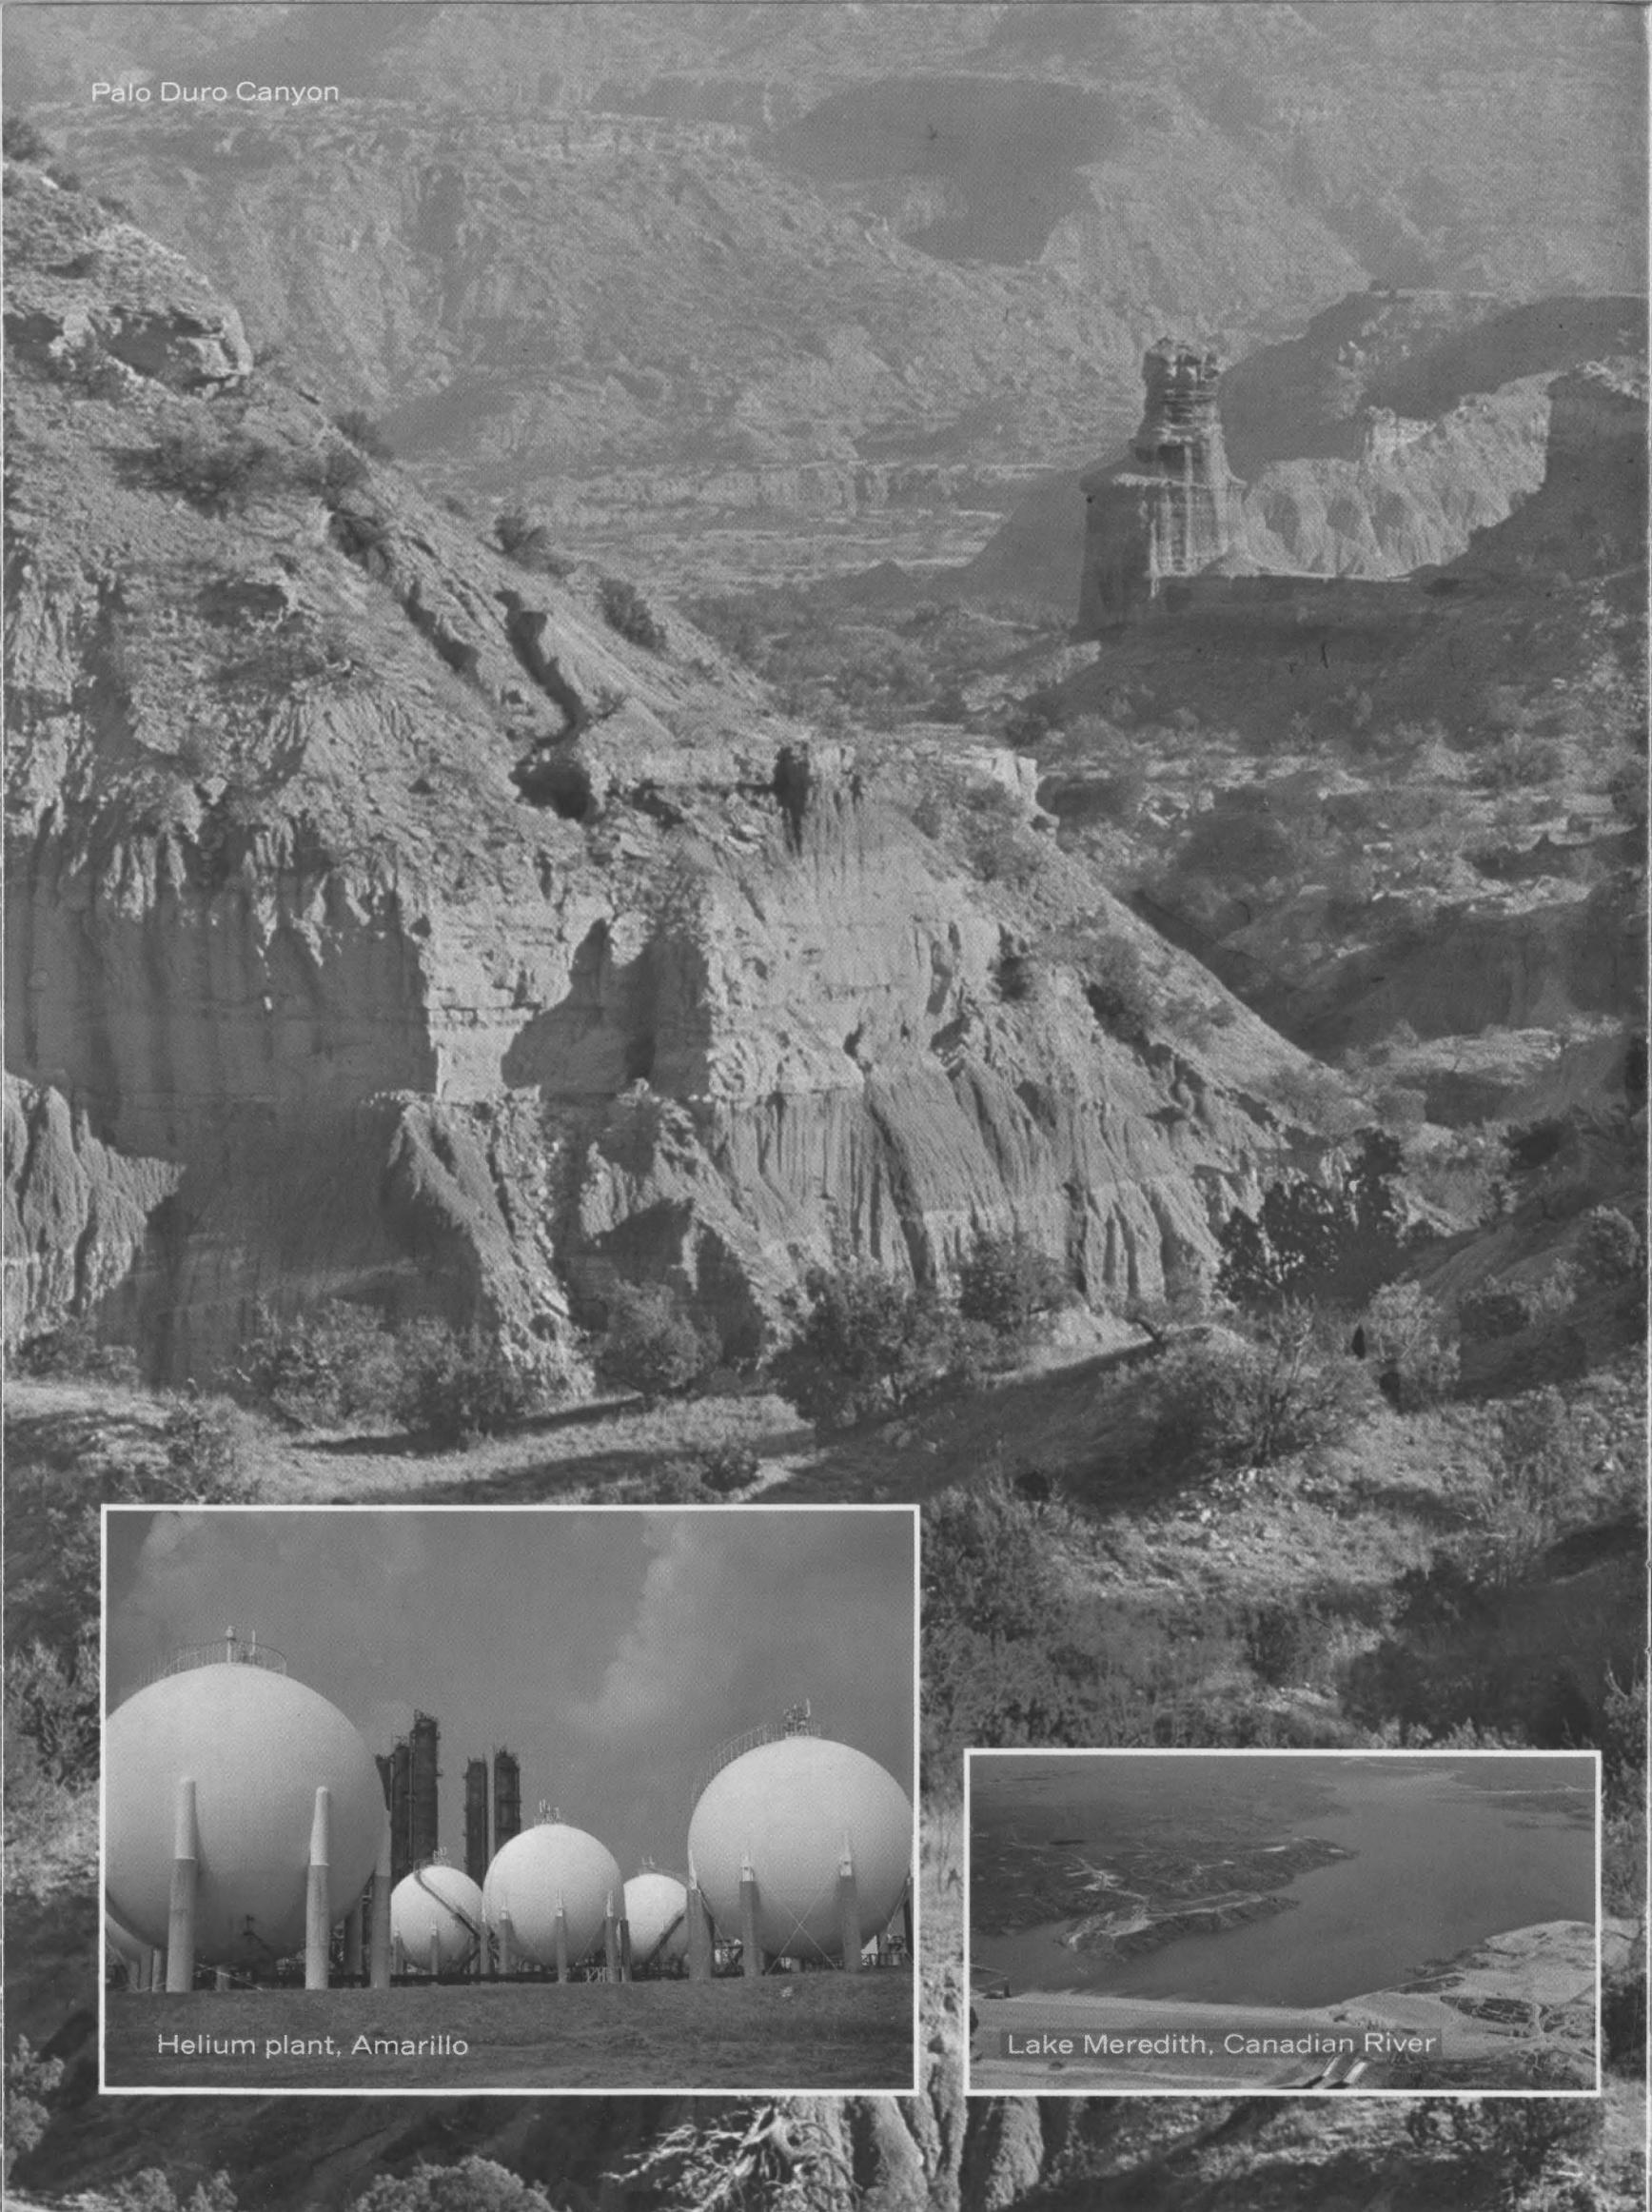

Modern cattle breeds have replaced the tough, lanky Longhorns, but cowboys still ride the not-so-lone prairie, sometimes in a helicopter!

... wide sky country ... an immensity of space by day, where senses sharpen and expand beyond daily routines that box us in ... where the heavens are close by night, and a million diamonds hang just beyond the fingertips. Once this land was a sea, green in spring and golden in fall ... a sea of grass stirrup-deep, across whose reaches a rider could move for days, his only landmark the transient ripples of a prairie wind. Here flourished the largest ranches the world has ever known. Today, cowboys still ride these plains, but native grass has given way to newer, richer strains, and other new riches flow from the land as well. Oil, natural gas and helium pour from secret depths. And a new sea has been discovered, a gigantic underground reservoir of pure, fresh water. Often its magic transforms the tableland as far as the eye can see, nourishing wheat, small grains, cotton and vegetables in quantities to stagger the imagination. Here too are clean cities thrusting skyward, and people enjoying a bountiful life to the fullest. Discover the wide sky country for yourself ... savor reminders of a colorful history ... enjoy a host of modern recreational opportunities ... and bask in that special brand of Texas hospitality awaiting every visitor.

Ninety million years

... of Nature's patient sculpture has produced this awesome contrast in the Panhandle-Plains country. Traveling those seemingly endless plains, it is the rare visitor whose breath isn't caught in a shock of surprise when the tableland suddenly splits, tumbling in a riot of color to the floor of enchanting Palo Duro Canyon. The name is an Indian term meaning "hard wood." Tough juniper growing here supplied straight arrows and sinewy bows for the fierce Comanche. Here is an amphitheatre, backdropped by a 600-foot cliff, where popular dramatic spectacles are staged on summer evenings. And here on the wooded canyon floor, amid fluted spires of ancient geologic erosion, is Texas' largest state park, with scores of campsites. Yet contrast is constant here and throughout America's Frontier. Only a few miles north of Palo Duro rises bustling Amarillo, metropolis of the plains, offering urban entertainment, splendid accommodations and superb dining experiences. For water sports, don't miss gigantic Lake Meredith on the Canadian River; for history, pause at the site of Adobe Walls (an incredible story!); and nearby at legendary Old Tascosa, queen of Texas ghost towns, is the renowned Boys Ranch, where youngsters are taught "It's not so hard to hang on . . . if somebody'll show you how."

Here today is multilingual Texas . . . Anglo and Latin, old and new, serene and exciting. The traveler may visit ranches of legendary size, coastal islands where pirates once sheltered, and the nation's most immense complex of petrochemical industries. Trophy-sized white-tailed deer inhabit the brushlands, and migratory waterfowl blacken coastal marshes. Texas cities thrive here too. Houston, the largest . . . growth without growing pains . . . space headquarters USA, and home of astronauts. Corpus Christi . . . a jewel on the Gulf of Mexico . . .

a sun city for those who take their recreation with heady draughts of sea breezes and foaming surf. San Antonio . . . citadel of history, fount of charm . . . a blossom-edged river walk meandering through mid-town . . . and beehive site of America's coming international exposition: HemisFair 1968! Birds from the far reaches of the North American continent gather here in a cacophony of bright sound and color, including the rare, stately whooping crane. And don't forget the Rio Grande . . . international boundary . . . the brilliant gaiety of Mexico only a bridge away!

Man-made islands for fun thrust from the immaculate waterfront of Corpus Christi, one of many pleasure ports in America's Fun-tier.

A sense of beauty, both from the past and the present, is reflected in a great many art museums throughout Texas. Here, the columned entrance to Houston's widely-famed Museum of Fine Arts.

Where the action is

... along a 624-mile crescent of creamy sand! Building in the blue bowl of the Gulf of Mexico, long surf rollers scrub an enchanting sweep of Texas coastline from lush bayous in the East, to palm-fringed dunes in the South. Sun-drenched pleasure havens include Galveston, Freeport, Rockport, Port Aransas, Corpus Christi and Port Isabel. Here is spontaneous conviviality . . . people at play. Those who prefer a solitary whisper of surf will find long, uncluttered stretches in between, like Padre Island National Seashore. Here is the angler's paradise. From beach, pier or boat . . . the swift nibble of delicious little sand trout, or the slashing strike of a six-foot tarpon or marlin. Remember a crab net for the kids, an unending source of squealing delight. For young and old alike, the sea's creatures are displayed at Galveston's new oceanarium, Sea-Arama. There are other lures, too. Modern industry throbs throughout this area, and ships of the seven seas call at major ports. For an experience in immensity, visit the Astrodome in Houston (an 18-story building would fit inside). "Other worlds" await . . . a re-created 100-year-old Mexican village, La Villita, in San Antonio . . . the subtropical Rio Grande Valley, where, in December, glossy green citrus groves are heavy with ripening fruit. America's Fun-tier? Absolutely!

HISTORIC ERAS OF TEXAS

Imperial Spain, first of six nations claiming Texas, flew her banner here for more than three centuries. Familiar early figures were legendary Conquistadores, in shiny armour and plumed helmets, and solitary missionaries who worked among the Indians, building a chain of mission-schools throughout the land.

Texas Under France: 1685-1690

France claimed the new territory in 1685 when explorer-nobleman Robert Cavelier, Sieur de La Salle landed here. La Salle's colony, Fort St. Louis near Navasota, was short-lived. He was murdered, and his colony had dwindled to a handful of survivors when found by the Spanish four years later.

Texas Under Mexico: 1821-1836

For more than a decade, Mexico's tricolor witnessed the intermingling of cultures — on one side, newcomers from the United States; on the other, spirited adventurers from Old Spain. The historic rift in 1836 freed Texas politically, but Latin influences remained prevalent in both thought and speech.

Texas as a Republic: 1836-1845

The unique flavor of many a Texas yarn even today took root during nearly a decade of Texas independence. While the Lone Star heralded the new Republic of Texas, tough cowboys, fast stagecoaches and faster guns branded a colorful and indelible imprint on this legendary land.

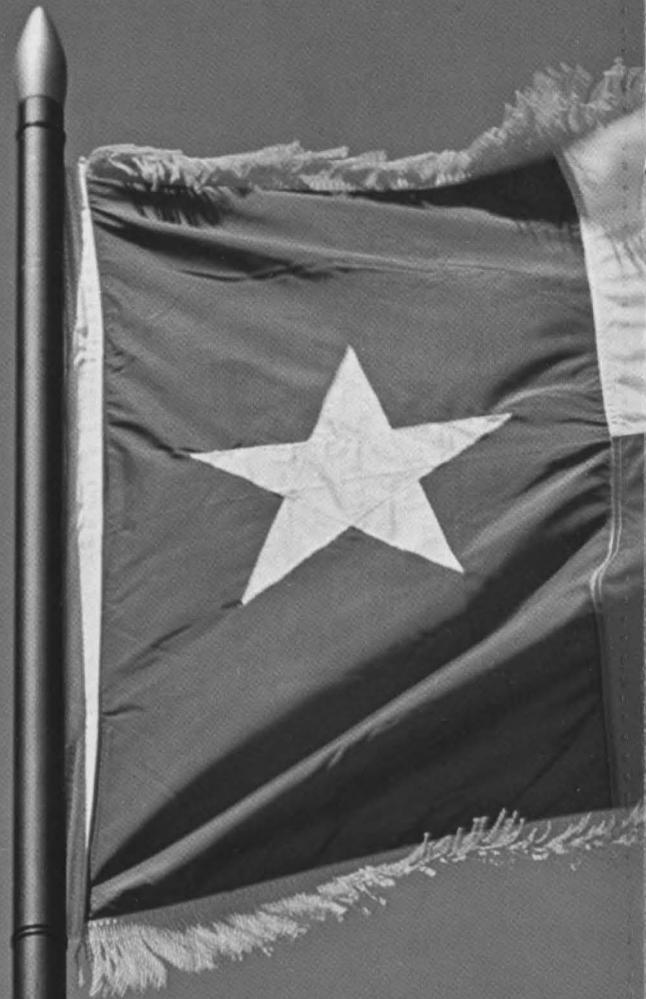

Texas in the Confederacy: 1861-1865

When clouds of national dissension erupted into Civil War, the Stars and Bars were raised to signal Texas' lot with the Confederacy. As in other Southern states, war brought devastation and economic collapse. But at its end, returning Texans found one thing of immense promise: Longhorns!

Texas in the United States: 1845-1861; 1865

Shrugging aside defeat and bitter reconstruction, Texas marshalled its forces for the climb to greatness. First, the fabled Longhorn — providing beef for a growing nation. Then black gold from deep underground, and a bounty of agriculture from rich topsoil. Today Texas looks up — to outer space.

Name: Texas, from Indian word meaning "friends."
Motto: Friendship.
Sobriquet: Lone Star State.

Capitol: Dedicated in 1888, the traditional pink granite structure is the nation's largest state-house. Austin.

State Flower: The Bluebonnet. Many varieties of this native lupine blanket hillsides and valleys each spring.

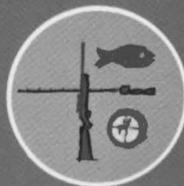

Forests: Mainly in East Texas, over 26 million acres of forest and woodland, including four National Forests.

Seashore: 624 miles of coastline along the Gulf of Mexico. Major islands include Padre Island National Seashore.

Parks: 58 state parks and Big Bend National Park host more than eight million visitors annually.

Hunting & Fishing: Licenses required. Nonresident hunting, 5-day, $5; annual, $25. Fishing, annual, $2.15.

Climate: Year 'round sunshine, with mild winters. Annual average temperature in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, 73.

State Tree: The Pecan, officially adopted in 1919.

Area: 267,339 square miles, which is approximately 1/13th, or 7½ per cent, of total U. S. land area.

Petroleum: More than one-third of nation's oil production. Texas natural gas services ¾ths. of the nation.

State Bird: The Mockingbird, officially recognized by the Legislature in 1927.

Cities: 22 metropolitan areas over 50,000 population; 13 cities exceed 100,000 population.

Inland Water: A total of 4,500 square miles of lakes and streams . . . surpassed only by Alaska.

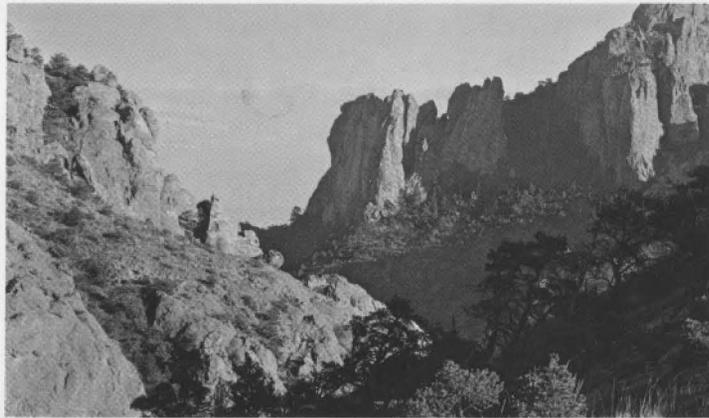

State Song: "Texas, Our Texas," officially adopted by an act of the Forty-first Legislature in 1929.

Mountains: Rugged, lofty ranges rise dramatically in far West Texas. More than 90 peaks above a mile high.

State Highways of Texas traverse over 66,500 miles . . . more than the total highway mileage of Russia.

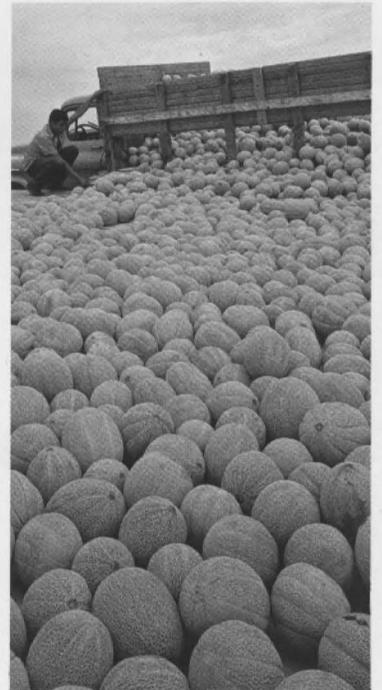

An experience in grandeur: Big Bend National Park. Camping, horseback riding, hiking and modern accommodations are added attractions.

Harvest time for the delicious Pecos cantaloupe! Soil, sun and altitude produce a melon that is famed throughout the world.

the pioneers, today's traveler experiences thrills of discovery: Shangri-La valleys nestled among towering granite crags . . . eternal mountains that have seen Indians give way to hardy settlers, whose descendants now shape energetic cities, surrounding them with productive ranches and irrigated farms. If your gaze likes to lean on mountains . . . and there are 90 peaks above a mile high here . . . far West Texas is the place for you. Chiseled millions of years ago for your enjoyment today, are majestic gorges of Big Bend National Park . . . the towering Davis Mountains . . . and unspoiled expanses of haunting desert scenery. Or, there's the cosmopolitan, international flavor of El Paso and its sister city, Juarez. Both are the largest cities on the Mexico-U.S. border. Here is a land with elbow-room, a dramatic land awaiting your pleasure and exploration.

A hush of deer

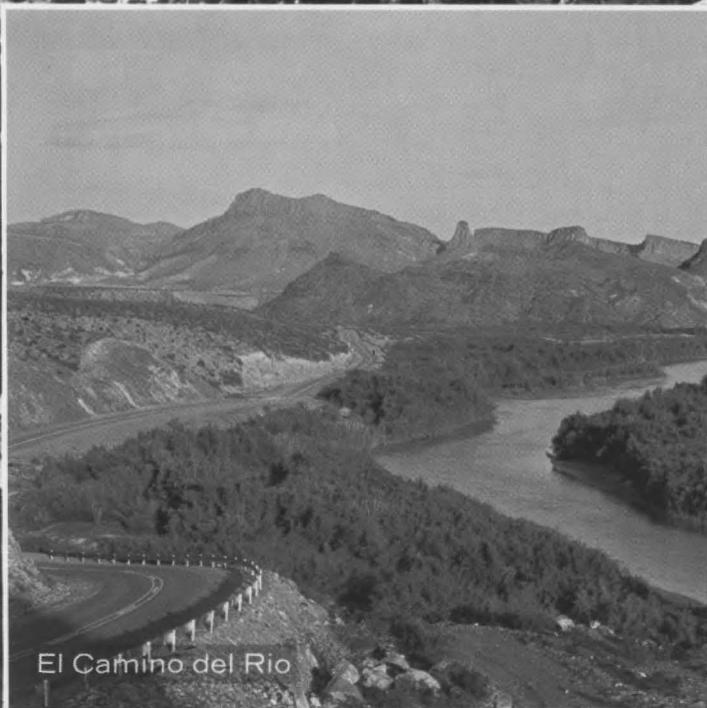

... alert, but unafraid by a mountain stream ... the incredible grace of antelope sweeping across grassy plains ... perhaps the glimpse of a rare bighorn sheep on a lofty crag. These are tiny gems that will adorn an entire kaleidoscope of personal experiences when you travel West Texas. Here are mountain vistas unchanged since the Apache counted them his stronghold. Here you may pace the eerie streets of genuine ghost towns ... stillness broken only by the moan of desert winds. Here are drives of such spectacular grandeur as to defy written description. One, marked F.M. 170 on your map, is better known as El Camino del Rio (the River Road). Drive it at your leisure; this excellent highway spans more than 90 miles from Big Bend National Park, northwest to Presidio and beyond. Other superb highways will take you through little adobe villages and shining new cities. Rising from the prairie, the towers of Midland are always a surprise. For contrast, visit a full-scale reproduction of Shakespeare's Globe Theatre in Odessa. Spend a night at Indian Lodge in Davis Mountains State Park. Pause at Old Fort Davis, the nation's best preserved example of a frontier fort. And don't let it surprise you, this is great sheep country too. San Angelo annually crowns America's "Miss Wool." Save a little time for a border crossing at Eagle Pass, Del Rio, Presidio or El Paso. The charm of Mexico is always worth an extra day or two! The charm of all this region of America's Fun-tier is worth a lifetime ... of colorful memories.

North Central Texas

... is green country, a land of lakes and forests ... or it's an arid region where only native grass and mesquite thrive without irrigation. North Central Texas is city: thundering traffic, bright lights and jostle ... or it is pastoral: tranquility wrapped in broad meadows, swans gliding on crystal pools. There's really no contradiction here. Call it contrast, or better still, "the land of take-your-choice." Fairs and farming, entertainment and education, culture and fun . . . each add to the mosaic of this varied land. Its cities are centers of trade, finance and fashion. Its farms are rich, and the depths of this land are rich, too. Around the clock, bits chew deep into the earth seeking oil. Just as diversity is the economic strength here, it is also the key to recreational appeal. Only steps from internationally known fashion salons are shops selling the boots, saddles and gear of the working cowboy. Most any week of the year, pick a rodeo, a symphony, a musical comedy show or dramatic theater. During season, there's excellent hunting for deer and migratory waterfowl, but there's no season on water-sports. Every sunny day finds thousands of boatmen, swimmers, fishermen and skiers enjoying a multitude of lakes and streams in this happy area of America's Fun-tier.

Entertainment unlimited!

For visitor or resident, this fascinating portion of America's Fun-tier serves up a variety of beguiling pleasures to whet even jaded tastes. And speaking literally, your palate can be caressed by most any delicacy known to the world. Doff your shoes and don a kimono for ritual feasting in the ancient Japanese tradition; enjoy a bounty of seafood from the Gulf of Mexico; savor both food and exotic atmosphere of the Middle East. Dine on specialties of Germany, France, Scandinavia and Mexico. Then for digestion amid tranquil beauty, seek out those lavishly landscaped parks and gardens so numerous here, like the enchanting Douglas Chandor Gardens in Weatherford. If you like company with your entertainment, join a few million people who annually visit the nation's most popular federal recreation area, Lake Texoma, where ten thousand boats are not crowded on its vast surface. (And Texoma is only one of 25 major lakes here in North Central Texas.) The Old West's flavor still lingers in historic Abilene, and the metropolitan lures of Wichita Falls captivate visitors and conventioners throughout the year. Finally, for a capsule of history and a barrel of fun, visit that fabulous family entertainment center, "Six Flags Over Texas," located in Arlington, between Dallas and Fort Worth.

East Texas

... forested, floral, festive, fishy and fruitful! In these pastoral reaches, shadows of oil derricks interlock with those of stately pines. This land has nurtured civilizations whose varied legacies are Indian mounds, elegant antebellum showplaces and contemporary homes secluded in woodland glens. The lush becomes hush in the mysterious and majestic Big Thicket, a dense tangle where azaleas, passion flowers and orchids grow wild. Water spills from lakes and rivers "bream-ing" over with tackle-busting bass 26 million forested acres annually produce nearly one and-a-half billion board feet of saw timber.

In every season, the floral palette of East Texas pulses with color. Here, wild azaleas in springtime.

and other species to delight the angler. East Texas claims many distinctions, including the birthplace of America's First Lady (Karnack), and showplace of more than half the field grown rose bushes produced in the United States (Tyler). Here are four large National Forests (excellent campgrounds!), an intriguing Indian reservation, and the shortest (six miles, one way) railroad. From the "World's Richest Acre," in Kilgore, rises the greatest concentration of oil wells in the history of petroleum. And from the history of the land itself, there are towns like Jefferson, lifted almost intact from the gracious sphere of a century ago. Here you'll find dining in the richest Southern tradition — crinkly golden fried chicken, steaming hot catfish and hush puppies, homemade breads of impossibly tempting aroma, and luscious fresh vegetables which only a nearby kitchen garden can provide. Cue your pace to leisure here in East Texas; you'll enjoy it all the more!

Example: One of the state's roughest, most entertaining and popular (by attendance) rodeos is staged each Sunday in October by inmates of the Texas State Penitentiary at Huntsville. Depend on it . . . your explorations in this green-canopied region of America's Fun-tier will reward you with sights, sounds and experiences beyond measure!

ENTER HOSPITALITY — Texas travelers find themselves the center of hospitality at eight Tourist Bureaus operated by the Texas Highway Department. Open daily year 'round, they're staffed by uniformed travel counselors to give you expert routing assistance, free maps and literature. Locations are at Anthony (IH 10, New Mexico State Line); Denison (U.S. 75/69 north); Gainesville (U.S. 77/IH 35 north); Orange (IH 10, Louisiana State Line); Texarkana (U.S. 67 west); Waskom (IH 20 east); Wichita Falls (U.S. 277/281, 287 north), and in the State Capitol Rotunda, Austin.

LINGER AWHILE — Relaxation and built-in safety team up at random along the highways of Texas wherever you see one of more than 1,000 Rest Areas and scenic turnouts. Most have shaded arbors, barbecue pits and tables. Some, like these teepees in West Texas, are strikingly unusual in design. All offer safe stopping places for a break from driving fatigue, and convenient facilities for a family picnic. Pause a while at these friendly Texas way stations; you'll enjoy your trip even more.

ENJOY, ENJOY — BUT SAFELY. On Texas highways, half a million signs indicate safe speed limits, caution zones, stops and directions. Stay alert for these signs, and no-passing zones indicated by a continuous yellow stripe on your side of the center line. Maximum legal speeds are:

| | Autos | *House Trailers | Trucks & Trailers | Buses |
|-------|--------|-----------------|-------------------|--------|
| Day | 70 mph | 45 mph | 60 mph | 70 mph |
| Night | 65 mph | 45 mph | 55 mph | 65 mph |

*House trailers of less than 4,500 lbs., or measuring less than 32 feet (excluding tow bar) may be towed 60 mph (day), 55 mph (night).

LET US ACCOMMODATE YOU — Lodgings in Texas vie for attention in both variety and price range. Travelers may sign the register at a luxury hotel in one of the population giants . . . at a Hill Country dude ranch, perhaps with a private landing strip . . . or at an Indian lodge in the lofty reaches of the state's mountain terrain. Costs may vary from modest to in-between to deluxe, but the atmosphere remains casual and informal, the service excellent and hospitable. When may we expect you?

HOUSE TRAILERS — Special permits are required if combined length of vehicle and trailer exceeds 55 feet, or if trailer is over eight feet wide. Permits are available at all Highway Department District Offices Monday through Saturday noon, and daily at all Tourist Bureaus. Good for 10 days of continuous movement, its $5 cost is payable only by cashier's check or money order. Applicants should have license number, make, model and weight of trailer; license and engine numbers of automobile.

MEXICO, OLE! — U.S. citizens do not need passports to visit the border cities of Mexico. Border crossing is quick and easy, and U.S. citizens are free to come and go. On returning, a simple declaration of citizenship is required. No duty is required on merchandise of less than $100. For visits of more than 72 hours, or into the interior of Mexico, visitors must supply proof of citizenship, auto registration, smallpox immunization, and obtain Mexican tourist card and auto permit.

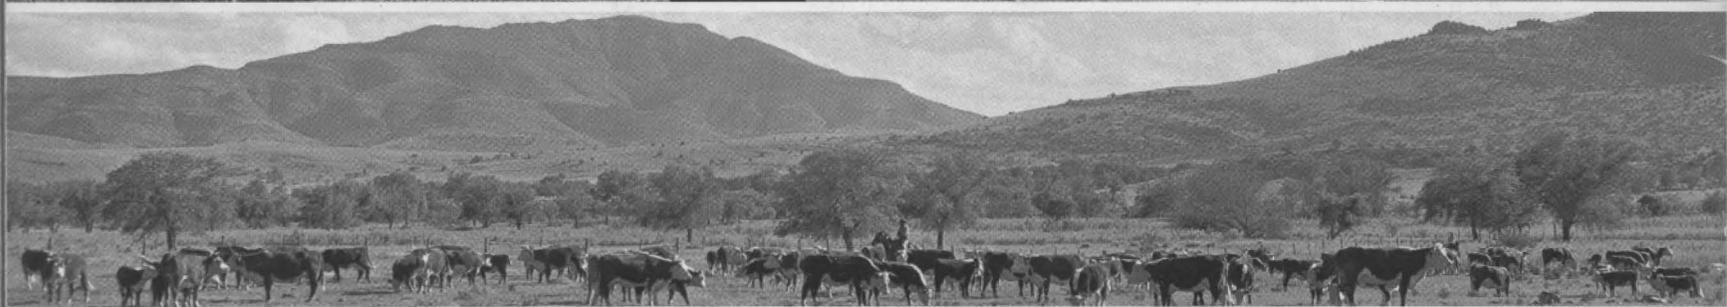

These few pages have been but a glimpse of Texas, an introduction to the varied sights, sounds, tastes, activities and interests that blend together in this fascinating Land of Contrast. For a broader view, travel the 66,500 miles of superb Texas highways that link every locality. The only limit to pleasure is the length of time you elect to spend here savoring the magic of . . .
