Office of the Press Secretary to Mrs. Ford

The President and Mrs. Ford, acting on behalf of the American people, are presenting a pair of Greater Sandhill Cranes to the people of Japan on the occasion of the state visit of the Emperor and Empress of Japan. The gift is a token of the friendship of the Japanese and American people.

The President informed the Emperor and Empress in the Yellow Oval Room preceding the white tie dinner at the White House in their honor.

In Japan, cranes are revered as a symbol of good fortune, long life and wisdom. The two cranes are being shipped to Tokyo, where they will be placed in the Ueno Zoo, the national zoo of Japan.

The birds, a yearling male and female, have been bred at the Interior Department's Patuxent Wildlife Research Center near Laurel, Md. The Greater Sandhill Crane is native to North America and is common in southeastern Oregon, southeastern Idaho and the Great Lakes Region.

In Japan, the Japanese crane has been declared a national monument by the Japanese Government.

In addition to the Greater Sandhill Cranes, the President and Mrs. Ford are presenting an inscribed photograph taken during the arrival ceremony. The inscription: "To your Majesties the Emperor and Empress. With great pleasure in welcoming you to Washington. Gerald R. Ford Betty Ford October 2, 1975."

Mrs. Ford also presented the Empress with the multi-colored scarf bearing her signature which she designed earlier this year.

Gifts presented Oct. 2, 1975 by the Emperor and Empress of Japan to the President and Mrs. Ford.

To the President:

To Mrs. Ford:

An Arita porcelain vase handmade by Imaemon Imaizumi XII. It is a blue vase decorated with red and yellow flowers. It is 11 1/2" tall and 9 1/2" wide.

A length of silk brocade woven by special command of Her Majesty the Empress. It is made of silk produced in the Imperial Cocoonery within the gardens of the Imperial Palace. It is pale blue with tiny silver threads. The design is a stylized floral over-all pattern.

To the President and Mrs. Ford:

A signed photograph of the Emperor and Empress in a silver frame with the Emperor's gold chrysanthemum seal. This is the first time their Imperial Majesties have presented a color informal photograph taken in the Imperial Gardens.

MEMORANDUM

TO : HEADS OF ALL FEDERAL AGENCIES

FROM : The Chief of Protocol Lawler

SUBJECT: Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act of 1966: Employee Responsibilities

The Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-673), as amended in 1967 (Public Law 90-83), 5 USC §7342, 22 USC §2621, declares Congressional policy that employees of the United States Government shall not request or otherwise encourage the tender of any gift or decoration from any foreign government or official thereof, and may not accept or retain any such gift or decoration, except as specifically provided in the Act. By Executive Order 11320, dated December 12, 1966 (31 F.R. 15789), the President delegated to the Secretary of State the authority to prescribe rules and regulations to carry out the purposes of the Act. These regulations were published on April 28, 1967 (32 F.R. 6569) and are contained in Title 22, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 3.

In furtherance of the responsibility delegated to the Secretary of State, this memorandum is being circulated to remind all employees of their responsibilities under the Act and regulations and to respond to inquiries concerning their provisions which have arisen from time to time. It is requested that all agency heads bring this information to the attention of employees of their agencies.

The Act is applicable to all employees of the United States Government as defined in 5 USC §7342. In addition, members of the families and households of such employees are included within the Act's coverage. These persons are under an obligation not to accept gifts from foreign governments or their representatives, except when the gift is of minimal value and tendered as a souvenir or mark of courtesy and except under circumstances in which refusal of a gift of more than minimal value "would be likely to cause offense or embarrassment or otherwise adversely affect the foreign relations of the United States." Decorations, including "any order, device, medal, insignia or emblem" from a foreign government, may be accepted, retained and worn only if "tendered in recognition of active field service in time of combat operations or awarded for other outstanding or unusually meritorious performance" and only upon approval by the employee's agency head, with concurrence of the Secretary of State. These restrictions affect gifts and decorations received on or after October 14, 1966.

Gifts of more than minimal value which are accepted by employees under circumstances described in the preceding paragraph may not be retained, but rather become the property of the United States and must be deposited with the Chief of Protocol for disposal. It is emphasized that members of the families of employees are subject to the same standards and responsibilities under the Act and regulations as the employees themselves. A "member of the family and household" is defined as "a relative by blood, marriage or adoption who is a resident of the household." An adult son or daughter, living in his or her own household, and not individually covered by the Act, would, thus, not be subject to its requirements. Even if a gift is tendered by a foreign government or foreign official for basically personal, as opposed to official, reasons, it must be treated as property of the United States and so deposited.

Under certain circumstances, the Chief of Protocol may authorize the agency in which the donee is employed to retain the gift for official use (such as display in a public room); otherwise, the Chief of Protocol must forward it to the General Services Administration for disposal. All gifts which become property of the Government under the Act must be handled in this way. All employees and family members covered by the law and regulations must deposit such gifts with the Chief of Protocol as quickly as possible.

In view of the importance of the matters described above, heads of agencies are encouraged to assist employees in familiarizing themselves with their individual responsibilities. The Department of State would be pleased to render further assistance in this effort and will respond to any inquiries which may be raised.

MRS. FORD-GIFTS

WASHINGTON (AP) -- FIRST LADY BETTY FORD DISCLOSED TODAY THAT THE PRESIDENT HAS BEEN EXCHANGING PHOTOGRAPHS IN SILVER FRAMES WITH VISITING HEADS OF STATE IN AN EFFORT TO ELIMINATE THE PRACTICE OF EXPENSIVE GIFT-GIVING ON STATE VISITS.

MRS. FORD SAID "THAT DAY IS GONE," REFERRING TO THE GIFT-GIVING, ALTHOUGH SHE CONCEDED IT IS "QUITE DIFFICULT TO GET OTHER COUNTRIES TO GO ALONG."

BUT, SMILINGLY, THE PRESIDENT'S WIFE SAID, "IF THE QUEEN CAN MAKE THEM HER STATE GIFTS," IT WAS EQUALLY APPROPRIATE FOR THE PRESIDENT TO DO IT, AN APPARENT REFERENCE TO ENGLAND'S QUEEN ELIZABETH.

MRS. FORD TOLD REPORTERS ABOUT THE NEW GIFT-GIVING POLICY WHEN SHE WAS MAKING A LEISURELY HALF-HOUR TOUR PREVIEWING A RENWICK GALLERY EXHIBIT OF AMERICAN CRAFTS MADE BY 126 CRAFTSMEN FROM 36 STATES AND THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, WHO WERE WINNERS IN A NATIONAL COMPETITION.

MRS. FORD EXPRESSED HER APPROVAL OF THE ITEMS RANGING FROM A HAND-MADE BIRCHBARK CANOE THAT SELLS FOR $850 TO A $5 EGG SEPARATOR. SHE SAID IT WAS "AN IDEAL SHOW" PARTICULARLY FOR THE BICENTENNIAL YEAR AND WAS PARTICULARLY IMPORTANT BECAUSE AMERICAN CRAFTSMANSHIP IS DYING OUT.

SHE WAS ASKED IF SOME OF THE ITEMS MIGHT BE CONSIDERED FOR OFFICIAL GIFTS AND SHE SAID IT WAS "A LOVELY IDEA -- IF HE COULD AFFORD IT." THAT'S WHEN SHE NOTED THAT THE FORDS ARE TRYING TO FIND ELABORATE GIFT EXCHANGES.

New Official Gifts Policy

By Maxine Cheshire

The Ford administration is preparing to announce a new record-keeping system that would provide for full public disclosure of all gifts to the First Family from heads of state and other foreign officials. But it is still uncertain what policy the White House intends to adopt toward gifts that do not fall under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act of 1966. These are private gifts from U.S. citizens and citizens of other countries who have no connection with foreign governments.

By far the largest number of gifts received by Presidents and their families in the past have come from these unofficial sources.

A White House spokesman confirmed that President Ford has given his "tentative approval" to a procedure that would open up the records of official foreign gifts to public scrutiny. He is planning to announce details later this week, the aide said, after "a few minor points are ironed out with the State Department."

In the meantime, the press office has released a list of "everything" President Ford and his family received from foreign "kings, princes and foreign states" during his first months in office. The list excludes only those gifts received on his recent trip to Japan and Vladivostok which have not yet been cataloged.

Under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act of 1966, all gifts from foreign officials worth more than $50 are deemed to belong to the U.S. government and are supposed to be turned over "as quickly as possible" to the Chief of Protocol for disposition as public property.

During the Nixon administration, all records of gifts from foreign officials and others were maintained in the White House Gifts Unit. The Chief of Protocol was given "access" to the records, but they were closed to reporters and anyone else seeking to examine them.

Under the new system proposed by President Ford's advisers, the White House Gifts Unit will continue to maintain original records for use by the correspondence section in writing acknowledgments and thank-you notes and for use by archivists in presidential libraries.

But duplicates, along with photographs, will be maintained in the Protocol Office and will be available for public scrutiny.

It is the Chief of Protocol who is charged, under the federal rules and regulations implementing the 1966 gift act, with keeping records of such gifts to either civilian or military personnel in all three branches of government.

He has done so in the past for everyone except for former President Richard M. Nixon and his family.

Nixon's advisers, deciding in 1969 that the First Family was "probably exempt" from the law, decided to keep their records in the White House Gifts Unit. In order to be in compliance, should Congress ever raise the issue, the Nixon administration officials gave the Chief of Protocol "access." That "access" apparently was never used, however.

The Nixons' records, and the gifts themselves, are currently in a legal limbo that may not be resolved for months, or even years.

Ambassadors Will 'Bring the World to the Governors' During Meeting

A party coup pulled off by one of Washington's top hosts will take place this week when the governors meet here. Two dinners are being tossed in honor of the state executives and their wives. The one on Thursday night will be given by the President and First Lady at the White House as is customary.

The other to be held the night before will be given by Argentine Ambassador Alejandro Orfila. This will be the first time in our history any ambassador has attempted to corral the governors of 50 states and four territories for the benefit of improved international understanding.

For the press it's a disappointment that two of the most colorful newsmakers—Gov. Jerry Brown of California and Gov. Ella Grasso of Connecticut, the only woman head of state—are not coming. Ac-shocking about it. For the most part she was giving her quiet attention to Billy Taylor's music. It's just that one isn't used to seeing a display of affection among guests seated in the upright gold chairs at one of those formal state functions.

Kennerly was invited to that dinner because Candice chose him as her escort but as the President's photographer he has the entire run of the White House including the private second floor. No man in his position has ever had such freedom. And the confident David is used to bringing dates to the White House. He has probably introduced more friends to Ford and his state visitors than even the Ford children have.

WHILE SEN. HENRY "SCOOP" JACKSON was

She was in California when the Governme Service Administration sold for only $10,000 a diamond "this big," she indicated, covering part her mammoth green tourmaline that looks like emerald and is set in diamonds. A diamond that si—about 40 carats—would have to be most inferior to sell for less than $100,000, according to Washin ton jeweler Charles Schwartz. So our governme; not only insult the donors but it throws awa money.
