THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN....

Dear Mr. President:

ME
There is a deep, gnawing sense of sadness in my heart knowing that our country will be losing one of its most decent and honorable men as President.

I've no doubt in my mind that you have made an indelible impression on Washington and on the history of our nation. At a time when the country was reeling from a severe crisis of trust, you bound the wounds, and helped us take up the business of running the government that scandal had caused us to forget.

Like that other great and good President who was caught up in the web of our country's divisiveness during the Civil War, you will surely be remembered for your sincerity, your honesty and your deep sense of commitment to the well-being of the nation and our people.

I hope that God will bless you and your loving family with some measure of the peace, comfort and happiness you have given so many others. With personal regards, I remain

Sincerely yours,

MARIO BIAGGI, M.C.

THE PRESIDENT HAS BEEN ...

Dear Mr. President:

There is a deep, genuine sense of sadness in my heart knowing that our country will be losing one of its most devoted and honorable men as President.

I've no doubt in my mind that you have made an indelible impression on Washington and on the history of our nation. At a time when the country was reeling from a severe crisis of trust, you bore the burden, and helped us take up the business of running the government that would lead us to a better future.

Like that other great and good President, you were caught up in the web of our country's history. As the 1970s unfolded, you will surely be remembered for your honesty and your deep sense of commitment to the well-being of the nation and our people.

I hope that God will bless you and your family with all the same measure of love, peace, comfort and happiness that you have given to many others. With personal regards, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
