Dear Mr. President:

I have waited until now to write these few lines so that time would settle somewhat our feelings.

I joined with you in that frustrated anguish of almost crossing that goal line. However, I have something to fall back on. I had that great privilege of knowing and serving you. I know America is the loser in 1976.

I shall always remember you and my prayers will continue to be for great happiness, much good health and success for you and your loved ones. Furthermore, if ever there comes a time when I can be of further service to you I trust you will command. You will always be my "Chief".

All the best.

Respectfully,

Walter P. Kennedy
