Dear Mr. President,

I want you to know how very, very sorry I am about the election.

I am a Democratic public official in a heavily Democratic area. I bolted my party and probably placed my own political ambitions in fatal jeopardy. However, I would do it again tomorrow!

After meeting you in Lawton I was more convinced than ever in you as a person. You did give them hell, Mr. President, and there are millions of us who appreciate it.

I also want you to know that, in my opinion, you will be remembered as one of the greatest Presidents we have ever had. Your leadership in the wake of Watergate, your obvious honesty and integrity, your defiance of Congress and quest for true peace and prosperity have provided this Republic with some of her brightest hours.

Although a Democrat, I will remain always committed to your ideals. They have had a profound impact on me personally and have shaped my views of government.

I really did feel good about America. You did make me proud.

Thank you, Mr. President!

Sincerely yours,
