IN HONOR OF THEIR MAJESTIES
THE KING AND QUEEN OF SPAIN

THE WHITE HOUSE
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2, 1976

In a relatively short period of time, the youthful New Jersey-born and American-trained violinist Gil Morgenstern has become one of the country's most exciting classical talents.

Mr. Morgenstern has been surrounded by music as far back as he can remember, having been raised in a family whose members were accomplished musicians, and having begun his formal study of the violin at the age of five. He is a graduate of the Juilliard School and continues to study with the famed pedagogue Ivan Galamian.

Debuting at an early age, Mr. Morgenstern performed at New York's Carnegie Recital Hall, and at Town and Cami Halls. Since these initial performances, Mr. Morgenstern has given numerous recitals throughout the United States and has recently made a most successful Canadian debut in Ottawa. Moreover, he has been eagerly engaged as a guest soloist by the National Symphony, the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, the Santa Barbara Symphony, and the Garden State Philharmonic. In addition to his concert schedule, Mr. Morgenstern is frequently heard over New York's classical music radio stations.

Gil Morgenstern is the recipient of many prestigious awards and honors. He was the first prize winner for three of the country's most demanding competitions: the Washington International, the National Society of Arts and Letters, and the Music Educators Association.

THE WHITE HOUSE
Office of the Press Secretary to Mrs. Ford

The President and Mrs. Ford will host a white-tie dinner in honor of Their Majesties King Juan Carlos I and Queen Sophia of Spain on Wednesday, June 2, 1976 at 8:00 P.M.

Entertainment will be provided by violinist Gil Morgenstern in the East Room following dinner.

Mrs. Ford has chosen as centerpieces for the dining tables examples of American Folk Art in the form of antique American weathervanes. This collection contains examples of the earliest weathervanes found in America, two-dimensional, homemade versions of either wood or iron, as well as the later three-dimensional, full-bodied vanes made of copper, zinc and iron.

Many of the pieces represent the more popular subjects for weathervanes such as horses, often depicting famed racing and trotting horses of the day such as "Ethan Allen" and "Patchen;" rooster or "weathercock" vanes, cows, which were often used by farmers to advertise the breeds they specialized in; fish, popular in coastal New England; retrieving dogs, and a ram. Some of the more unusual vanes are: a sheet-iron, one dimensional cowboy "bronco-buster," one of the few 19th century vanes found in the American west; a copper eagle with a five-foot wingspan dating from about 1830 which originally perched on a courthouse in a small town in upstate New York; one of the few signed vanes, an iron horse made by John Brady, a blacksmith who worked at Sturbridge, Massachusetts in the late 18th century; a full-bodied copper horse and rider with original gilding, circa 1848, believed to depict either General Zachary Taylor or General Winfield Scott, both popular folk heroes of the Mexican-American war.

Guests will be greeted by another rare example, a five-foot, full-bodied hackney pony, probably used as a trade sign in a blacksmith shop or a stable in Pennsylvania. Decorating the President's table is another rare example, an 18th-century dove made of sheet-iron.

The centerpieces will be surrounded by calendula, marigolds, and sweetpeas. The rooms will be decorated with orange and yellow tiger lilies, rubrum lilies, twigs and ivy, irises and cornflowers, creating an atmosphere of country fields and wildflowers.

The round tables will be draped with yellow cloths and the napkins tied with yellow ribbons with a cinnamon stripe. The three-inch candlesticks are 18th century-style early American with saucer bottoms, and are on loan from Garfinckles. Tables will be set with the Johnson China, Monroe vermeil flatware, and the Morgantown crystal.

Janet and John Wallach of Washington, D.C., have donated their time to coordinate the decorations. Most of the weathervanes are from their private collection and their American Folk Art Shop in Georgetown; the remainder are from private collections.

The menu: Mousseline of Red Snapper, Fleurons; Supreme of Duckling; Grilled Orange Slices, Wild Rice Amandine, Zucchini with Mushrooms; Hearts of Lettuce Salad, Bel Paese Cheese; Macadamia Nut Souffle; Sauce Sabayon and Demitasse.

Wines: Saint Michelle Chenin Blanc, Charles Krug Gamay, Schramsberg Blanc de Blanc.

Juan Carlos upsets the extremists

Spanish King's new activist role could moderate influence of those on both far left and far right

By Joe Gandelman
Special correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

Madrid

King Juan Carlos's newly assumed quiet but determined activist role has calmed the moderate opposition, angered rightists, and aroused left-wing fears.

Neither extreme right nor extreme left will likely gain from what one European diplomat has called "the freeing of Spain's No. 1 political prisoner."

But the unleashing of the young King from the reins that held him in check under the

Coalition against extremism

Juan Carlos recently met with leading Christian Democrats and may soon see top Socialists and liberals. Earlier this week, Foreign Minister Jose Maria de Areilza offered a "nafluence of entrenched rightists. A strong, officially encouraged non-Communist Left, on the other hand, would damage Communist hopes of linking with a disaffected opposition and joining it in government in the foreseeable future.

Reaction to the King's new posture has taken these forms:

- Increasing defiance on the right. Antonio

"A Remarkable Violinist."

THE WASHINGTON POST

GIL MORGENSTERN

In a relatively short period of time and in spite of his youth, the American-born and American-trained violinist GIL MORGENSTERN is fast becoming one of the country's most exciting talents.

After beginning his violin studies at the age of five, he has gone on to perform at New York's Carnegie Recital Hall and also at Town and Cami Halls. Since these initial performances, Mr. Morgenstern has performed numerous recitals throughout the United States and has recently made a most successful Canadian debut in Ottawa. In addition he has been eagerly engaged as guest soloist with the National Symphony, the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, the Santa Barbara Symphony and the Garden State Philharmonic among others.

Gil Morgenstern has been the recipient of many prestigious awards and honors. He was the first prize winner for three of the country's most demanding competitions: the Washington International, the National Society of Arts and Letters and the Music Educators Association.

He is a graduate of the Juilliard School in New York and continues to study with the famed pedagogue Ivan Galamian. Mr. Morgenstern has been heard over New York's classical music radio stations; WNYC and on Robert Sherman's "The Listening Room" broadcast over WQXR.

Press Accolades:

"He is a remarkable violinist period. Morgenstern played a program that tested every part of a violinist's equipment and he did it all beautifully. He interpreted the music with a depth of perception that belied his youth, with a maturity that eludes many virtuosos two or three times his age."

The Washington Post

VIOLINIST GIL MORGENSTERN — THAT'S THE NAME TO REMEMBER.

"While he dazzled everyone with his dexterity and facility, he realized all the artistic nuances. His bowing was magnificent; his tone just plain gorgeous."

Santa Barbara News-Press

YOUNG VIOLINIST RIVALS MASTERS.

"Morgenstern is a violinist of such dazzling accomplishment that he would grace any concert stage in the world and that is no critical hyperbole. The performance was technically flawless, full of fire, brilliance, clarity and sophistication."

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. FORD

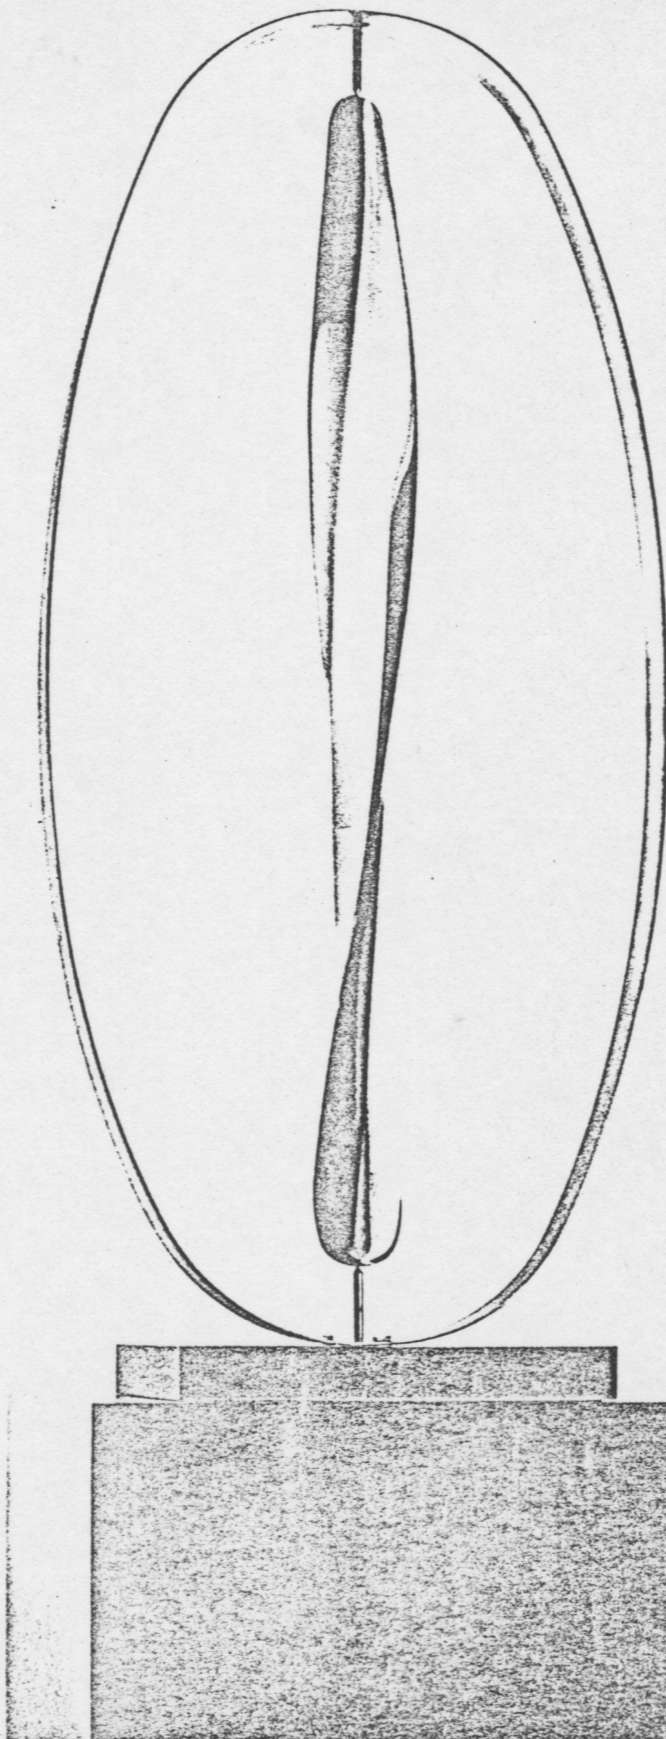

SUBJECT: Official Gift Exchange during the Visit of
 Their Majesties King Juan Carlos I and
 Queen Sophia, June 2-3, 1976

At this time we do not know what the King and Queen of Spain will be presenting to you and Mrs. Ford during their upcoming visit to the United States. However, we have been informed that they will be prepared for an official gift exchange.

I would like to suggest that you reciprocate by presenting to them the John Safer sculpture which Mr. Safer would like to donate to you for this purpose. A copy of the photograph which was sent to Mrs. Ford earlier is attached. The piece which would sell in a gallery for approximately $10,000 has an overall height of 78 inches. The pedestal is a 24 inch black acrylic cube, upon which is seated a 16 x 16 x 3 inch aluminum base, anodized to a dark mat finish. The brush finished stainless steel ellipse is 3 inches wide and 1/16 inch thin. The upright insert is a polished smoky acrylic.

THE WHITE HOUSE
OFFICE OF PRESS SECRETARY TO MRS. FORD

Mr. Gil Morgenstern, violinist, will entertain at the State Dinner honoring Their Majesties King Juan Carlos I and Queen Sofia of Spain, tonight in the East Room of the White House.

This will be Morgenstern's first performance at the White House.

Morgenstern has performed at New York's Carnegie Recital Hall and at Town and Cami Halls. He has also performed recitals throughout the United States and has recently made a Canadian debut in Ottawa. He is presently engaged as guest soloist with the National Symphony, the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, the Santa Barbara Symphony, and the Garden State Philharmonic, among others.

Gil Morgenstern has been the recipient of many prestigious awards and honors. He was the first prize winner for three of the country's most demanding competitions: the Washington International, the National Society of Arts and Letters, and the Music Educators Association.

A 1975 graduate of Juilliard School in New York, Morgenstern first started studying violin at the age of five. He studies under Ivan Galamian.

Morgenstern was born in New Brunswick, New Jersey, in 1954. He comes from a musical family. He is also an accomplished pianist with over 12 years experience.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. FORD

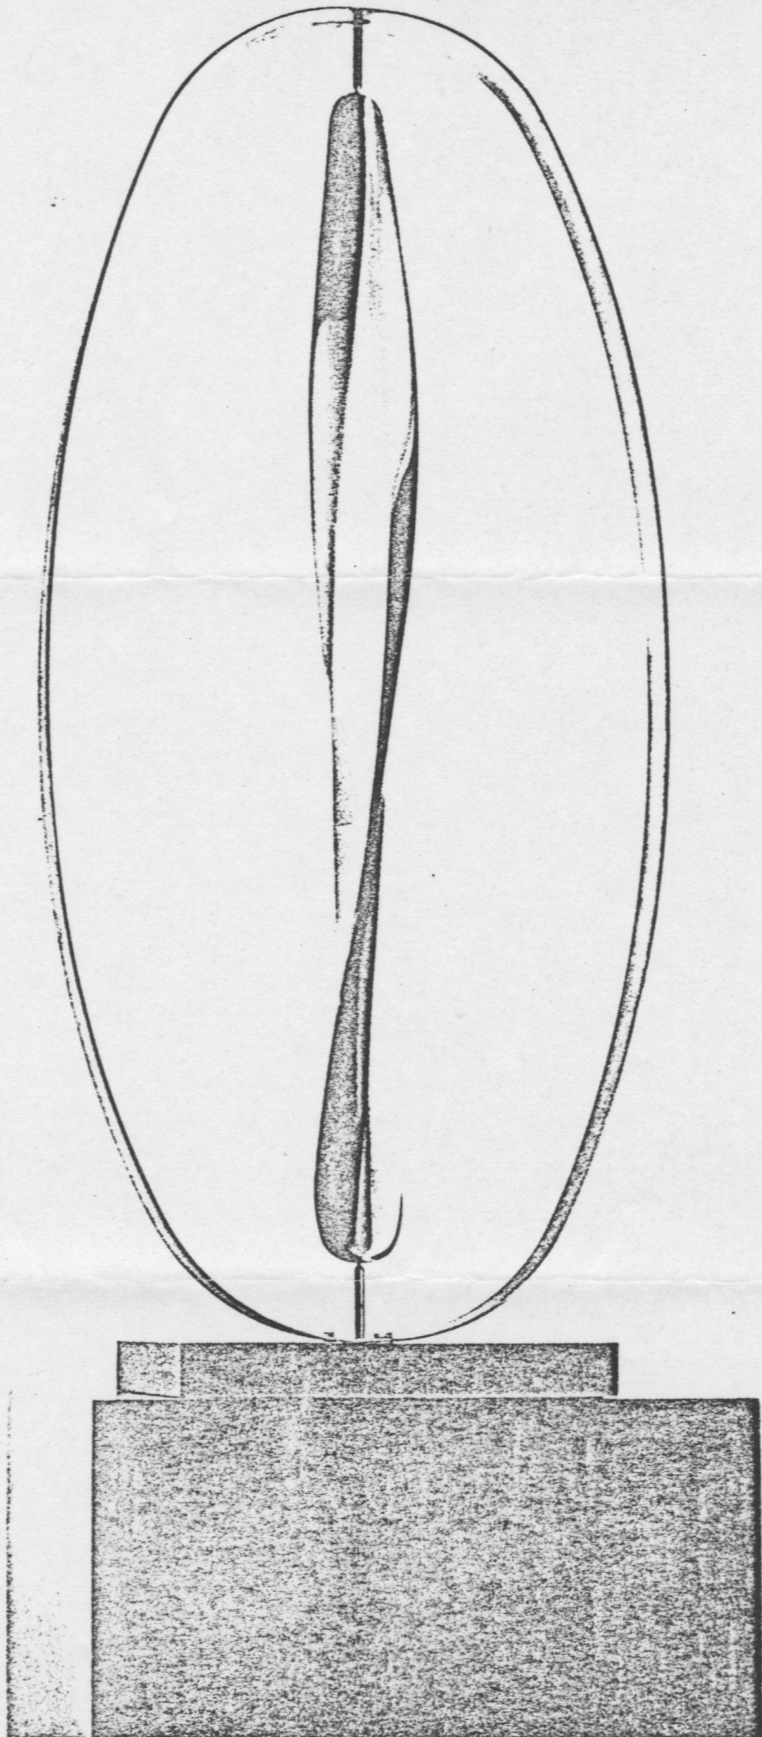

SUBJECT: Official Gift Exchange during the Visit of
Their Majesties King Juan Carlos I and
Queen Sophia, June 2-3, 1976

At this time we do not know what the King and Queen of Spain will be presenting to you and Mrs. Ford during their upcoming visit to the United States. However, we have been informed that they will be prepared for an official gift exchange.

I would like to suggest that you reciprocate by presenting to them the John Safer sculpture which Mr. Safer would like to donate to you for this purpose. A copy of the photograph which was sent to Mrs. Ford earlier is attached. The piece which would sell in a gallery for approximately $10,000 has an overall height of 78 inches. The pedestal is a 24 inch black acrylic cube, upon which is seated a 16 x 16 x 3 inch aluminum base, anodized to a dark mat finish. The brush finished stainless steel ellipse is 3 inches wide and 1/16 inch thin. The upright insert is a polished smoky acrylic.
