THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

June 13, 1975

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE RECORD
FROM: JACK MARSH
SUBJECT: Visit of Queen Elizabeth II -1976

Yesterday (Thursday) I met with the British Ambassador, Sir Peter Ramsbotham, to discuss the Queen's visit to the United States next July. Also participating were Ed Glover of the Embassy staff, Ted Marrs and Dennis Clift of the NSC.

The Ambassador outlined some general thoughts on the Queen's visit set out below.

- The actual date of the acceptance of the invitation to the Bicentennial is not known, but the Ambassador expects it will occur within a week.
- The Queen likes to plan events of this type a year in advance and, therefore, he will be traveling to England for conferences at Buckingham Palace the latter part of July to develop her itinerary and schedule.
- Her visit to this country will begin July 6 and conclude July 11. The Queen will travel to the United States from Bermuda on the Royal Yacht, Britannia, and the tentative plan is for her to proceed to the port of Philadelphia.
- The arrival date (July 6) will be considered a "private day", which will accommodate her schedule I gather from the standpoint of a ceremonial status.
- On the morning of July 7, it is tentatively planned she will travel to Washington by aircraft or possibly by train to be received on the South Lawn at 10:30 a.m. It should be noted that the Queen does not fly in helicopters and, therefore, should not be programmed into her schedule. It can be expected the afternoon of

DECLASSIFIED

E.O. 13526 (as amended) SEC 3.3
NSC Memo, 3/30/06, State Dept. Guidelines
By MLC NARA, Date 7/10/2018

July 7 is a date to schedule. She will probably want to visit the Tomb of the Unknowns at National Cemetery. The Seventh was suggested for an official State banquet.

- On July 8 the Ambassador states that the tentative plan to be suggested is for her to travel to Charlottesville to pay her respects to Thomas Jefferson by a visit to Monticello and the University of Virginia. Suggestions are sought for other scheduling on this day. The Queen would return from Charlottesville to host a banquet for the President at the Embassy.
- July 9 a visit to New York City is under consideration but not considered firm.
- July 10 is being held open for the purpose of moving into an area where her visit would not be expected. Because of time, I gather she would not want to travel much further west of the Mississippi. Current thinking includes one of the following areas: Charleston, South Carolina; Atlanta; St. Louis; and Kansas City.
- On July 11 a tentative recommendation calls for a visit to New England. This is Sunday and the Ambassador indicates she would like to go to church in a typical New England church in a small town.
- On July 12, the last day of her visit, the Queen might host a dinner aboard the Britannia which will have sailed up the coast probably to New York. She goes from there to Canada.

The Ambassador solicits suggestions for the Queen's visit and we are endeavoring to develop a range of options for him by the first week in July in order that he may take them with him to England. The thought is that whatever itinerary she selects once she sets out on her visit, this will be presented as the Queen's Tour for Bicentennial purposes which other may wish to duplicate.

The Queen will be accompanied by Prince Philip and he will be able to take on certain Bicentennial duties where the Queen might not be able to participate. At this time it is contemplated also in the Royal party will be Prince Charles and he might proceed to the West Coast of the United States. We have been requested to recommend scheduling suggestions for him. The thrust of his visit if he goes to the West Coast will be to identify the Bicentennial with American youth as well as with the West Coast. This would be helpful for our purposes inasmuch as we are trying to move the Bicentennial off the East Coast.

We are advised that the Queen will present to the City of Philadelphia a new Liberty Bell which has been cast in England by the same manufacturer who produced the first one more than 200 years ago.

As an aside, the Ambassador points out that the Queen is a great horsewoman. In her visit if she were taken to the countryside where there are farms she would enjoy seeing horses. If she does visit the Charlottesville area, this is "horse-country" and would probably provide the opportunity she wants.

- Although the Ambassador did not mention it the question was raised as to the possibility of her addressing a joint meeting of the Congress. Guidance on this will be needed.
- It is very apparent tremendous emphasis is being placed on this visit by the British with no doubt considerable interest on the part of the Queen. It is her first official visit here in 18 years and the British want it to be as effective as possible. The Ambassador indicated that he hoped the President's schedule would be such that he would be able to spend sometime with the Queen other than just the official reception and the two banquets. I assured him that our country shared their interest in her being here at this time and that the President had indicated a strong interest in this event. Therefore, I thought the Ambassador and the Queen would be pleased with his participation in her Bicentennial observances.
- Finally, from the nature of the conversation, it is obvious that her planning discussions and details of her visit are kept in closest confidence and for that reason this paper carries confidential classification.
