

The original documents are located in Box 45, folder “Significant Events of 1975” of the Betty Ford White House Papers, 1973-1977 at the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library.

Copyright Notice

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Betty Ford donated to the United States of America her copyrights in all of her unpublished writings in National Archives collections. Works prepared by U.S. Government employees as part of their official duties are in the public domain. The copyrights to materials written by other individuals or organizations are presumed to remain with them. If you think any of the information displayed in the PDF is subject to a valid copyright claim, please contact the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library.

file

The most significant things in '75

① American boys aren't fighting anywhere in the world this Christmas

② Our economy seems to be getting better

③ An important step was taken in the Middle East toward peace.

④ More ~~people~~ and more people are becoming aware of a woman's right to choose the kind of life she's going to lead.

On a personal level:

① My clean bill of health.

② The President's decision to run again

There were many happy events this year.

① Liberty's giving birth

② Susan's High School graduation

③ Jack's College graduation

④ The opportunity to do something for the things I believe in.

⑤ Meeting so many wonderful people.

file

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Mrs. Ford:

The most recent round of questions I have received and will continue to receive concern the year 1975 and what was significant in your mind about the year.

In addition to the questions from newspapers, Clare Crawford would like to interview you before December 15 on the same topic. You've been selected as one of the outstanding 25 people of 1975.

Sheila

