BIRTHDAY CARD FROM THE PRESIDENT

Mrs. Florence Moehringer
c/o Van Allen Nursing Home
Little Falls, New York 13365

Sept. 28, 1893
10:45 Called Margaret Bosak -- Greetings Section of Roland Elliott's office -- she will prepare a birthday greeting from the President.

Called Thomas Fox's home to ask where the party would be and what time for Mrs. Clarence S. Dexter. A babysitter (Mrs. Aylward) answered and gave me two numbers to reach Mr. Fox in Grand Rapids -- neither of which answered. (616) 949-3938 or 949-3937

I then called the University Club and talked with Mrs. Hansen; she said she'd be glad to see that the message was delivered in time for the dinner which will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the University Club, 1025 Old Kent Bank Building, Grand Rapids, Mich. 49502

2:45 Called Florence Brown and dictated the attached message and she will type it up and take it to Mrs. Hansen.

you are celebrating the grand occasion of your ninetieth birthday, and we want to be sure to be included among those expressing congratulations to you at this happy time. Surely this is a special

10:30 It is routine to send birthday cards from the President to "senior citizens" over 80.

However, in view of who it is and the shortness of time, I thought I'd better check how you want me to handle this one?

Memo?
Phone call from me?

Dear Mr. President:

At the University Club at Grand Rapids, Michigan on Monday night, February 3 my wife's grandmother, Mrs. Clarence S. Dexter will be celebrating her 90th birthday.

As I am sure you are aware Mrs. Dexter has spent, I believe, her entire life in Grand Rapids and with pride I think it is safe to say she has truly been one of the outstanding citizens of that community.

I know she is especially proud of having you and your wife in the White House and I know it would mean a lot to her if you could in some way extend your greetings to her on this occasion.

With many thanks,

Sincerely yours,

P.S. Mr. Buchen:

I have never done anything like this before in my life but I know my uncle-in-law, Joe Dockery, would have thought to do the same were he alive.
Dear Mrs. Morphew:

We have just received your letter requesting birthday cards for Mrs. Beth Shields and Mrs. D. Hal Morris.

My secretary has contacted the person in charge of sending cards to senior citizens and Mrs. Hal Morris should be receiving her card very shortly; Mrs. Shields will receive hers nearer her birthday.

MEMORANDUM FOR:  EVA DAUGHTREY
FROM:  MARK WEINBERG
SUBJECT:  Presidential Letters

As per our telecon, I am enclosing xeroxes of the tissues from the three Presidential letters which Mr. Buchen asked us to send. Central Files should also be sending you a carbon of each letter, but in case they do not and in the interest of speed, I'm sending these.

It is the general policy of the Greetings Office to send birthday letters in advance of the birthday in order to assure timely arrival. It is easier to time a card to arrive on a certain day, but because the letters go through so many people (drafter, typist, Cabinet Secretary, signature, stripping), it is difficult to time them accurately. Please let me know whenever we can do anything for your office - we'd be only too happy to comply with any requests.

It would be appreciated if I might have a copy of the letter when it is sent.

Thanks again.
Norma Blunt Bigger

Norma Blunt Bigger will be 80 years old on April 27. Though handicapped by failing eyesight and loss of endurance, she has much food for thought these days as she recollects a past which has been packed with colorful adventure and the joys and heartbreaks which accompany a life of fruitful service to others.

She tells of her life as a spirited young girl who loved galloping her horse across the arid plains of her father’s farm in Kansas and watching caravans of covered wagons pass by on their westward trek across the plains. Little did she know that her future lay even beyond that. After completing her training as a nurse at Kansas University Hospital in 1912, she traveled to Yokohama, Japan where she was met by a young surgeon Dr. John Bigger. After being married there, they went on to Korea where they served as medical missionaries under the Presbyterian Board of Missions, U.S.A. for forty years.

During the first years, they pioneered in the truest sense in Kang Kaei up on the Manchurian border. It was an arduous trip through the mountains on horseback. Later they moved south to Fengyang working in the hospital there. Everywhere the Korean people were eager, receptive, and appreciative. The Biggers were more than busy helping to care for the spiritual and physical needs of those around them and also raising and educating their four children.

The war years came and the Biggers were left with very few material possessions but a wealth of personal experiences long to be remembered. At the end of one furlough to this country, Norma’s passport was suddenly cancelled. No women were allowed to leave.

Dr. Bigger went on to Korea and she remained, expecting to join her husband shortly. However, after the events of Pearl Harbor Day, Dr. Bigger was arrested by the Japanese, interned for six months, and their home and contents confiscated. Those were lonely months of uncertainty for Norma as she waited. Then came the joyful reunion when her husband was repatriated with the first group of prisoners returned on the Gripsholm after a voyage taking them almost around the world.

Three years later the Army of Occupation in Korea asked to borrow Dr. Bigger from the Mission Board to direct Health and Welfare under General Hodge because of his knowledge and experience with the Korean people. Again Norma returned to Korea as an army dependent living in Seoul. After finishing that term of service, the Mission Board asked them to go to Andong to train personnel and rehabilitate a hospital which they did. Again war raised its head and during many nights guerilla bands raced back and forth through their compound. There was the sudden evacuation of eighty missionary children rushing to get to Pusan and out of the country ahead of Comsives from the north. Norma rode for two days in a truck carrying thirty missionary children and helped care for them. Once again all personal possessions were lost, but the Biggers had long before learned to travel “light.” Norma carried her handbag and the doctor had a small medical kit. Just as they boarded the last ship leaving Pusan, the missionaries filled a pillowcase with all their Korean paper money and handed it to one of the fellows left behind. They no longer had use for it.

After a few months with other evacuees in Japan, the Biggers returned to the States to retire in Bradenton, Florida in January 1951. After years of excitement, traveling the globe, and many separations from their children, they were content to retire and enjoy building a new home, visiting with their sons and daughters and entertaining grandchildren with true-life stories of their experiences. Dr. Bigger passed away February 12, 1959 and Norma continues to be very independent living in her little apartment and taking care of herself as much as possible.

Dear Anna:

I have been informed of Dorothy's telephone call to Mr. Buchen's office and I am certainly sorry to hear that you are having some difficulties health-wise. Hope and trust that you are making progress and will be your usual self soon.

I'm sorry I didn't have an opportunity to visit with you when I was in the Fifth District recently. Unfortunately the time was very short and a very heavy schedule had been planned for me. I hope you understood.

I was very pleased to receive Harry's picture and I hope you will express my appreciation to Dorothy and thank her also for her wonderful aid and assistance.

Warmest personal regards.

Sincerely,

5:25 Gave Mildred Leonard the note; she will get a letter for the President's signature for Mrs. Anna Ackerman.
Dorothy Swanson called to talk with Mr. Buchen. He was unable to talk with her.

She told me her mother, Mrs. Anna Ackerman, and her father, Harry, had campaigned for the President for years and years. Her father died five years ago this June.

Her mother has had a very bad stroke -- she is 90 years old -- and she feels very badly that she hasn't been noticed in this campaign. She would like some type of recognition from Mr. Ford. She said her mother would like to talk with me -- she wants to talk with someone at the White House to feel she isn't forgotten.

Mrs. Ackerman told me she has had a bad stroke which has affected her ears and her eyes. During "all this going on" she has listened to all she possibly could. She wanted the President to know that she hasn't forgotten. She said she and her husband started out thirty years ago and went from door to door and told everybody about the President. Said she has only heard from him once since he's been in Washington. She said she might not be around very long and she would like to hear from him.

I then talked with Dorothy Swanson again and she said Mrs. Anna Ackerman is in the Pilgrim Manor, 2000 Leonard N. E., Grand Rapids 49505. Indicated Jerry had taken her, her mother and her mother to dinner with Sen. Dirksen a long time ago. Jerry came to see her dad before he passed away.

Dorothy said she got 80 votes for the President the other day.

Said last November? ? ? she did get a telegram from the President saying he would see her the next time he was in Grand Rapids. Mrs. Swanson said she sent her dad's picture to the President but they hadn't had a reply from that, but she understands.
