MEETING:

A luncheon-seminar with 3 outside guests and 6 senior White House Staff.

DATE:

12 noon - January 11, 1975

PURPOSE:

To have a broad discussion of the state of the nation--our present situation and our future possibilities--to be of maximum assistance to the President at the time when the "State of the Union" Message is beginning to be put in final form.

The guests should join the President in thinking about, analyzing, and discussing where we are as a nation, what our chief opportunities and dangers, and where we should be striving to go from here.

PARTICIPANTS:

A. I recommend inviting:

1. Irving Kristol, Professor of Urban Values, New York University and Editor of The Public Interest.
2. Martin Feldstein, Professor of Economics, Harvard University.
3. Bryce Harlow
4. The Vice President
5. Robert Hartmann
6. Donald Rumsfeld
7. Alan Greenspan
8. Milton Friedman
9. Robert A. Goldwin

FORMAT:

I recommend that we use the Solarium for this luncheon-seminar. It is informal and comfortable, and we would not have to move from room to room during the luncheon.

PRESS COVERAGE: White House photographer.
