BACKGROUND

Yale Law School was founded in 1824, and its 150th anniversary is being celebrated with two convocations during the current academic year. The first, held last November, was attended by alumni from all over the country, including Supreme Court Justices White and Stewart, the latter of whom delivered the principal address. The President will be attending the second convocation.

The 7000 alumni of Yale Law School and other guests have been invited to participate in the convocation. Activities begin on Friday, with several afternoon seminars on legal matters. A General Reception at Beinicke Library for approximately 750 attendees will be held concurrently with the Presidential Reception.

Since Air Force One cannot land at Tweed-New Haven Airport, travel to Yale will include Air Force One to Bradley International Airport and helicopters to Yale University. Since the length of the motorcade from Bradley to Yale would be in excess of one hour, it is felt that the added cost of the police protection and extra time involved does not warrant the use of a motorcade.
