THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

May 12, 1975

MEMORANDUM TO D. J. SPAULDING

FROM CLEM CONGER Clem Conger

MAY*

Last week Mrs. Ford and I discussed again the color of the walls in the President's Oval Office. She agreed to have the walls repainted the color she had selected last December. It is the Pratt and Lambert color # 5523. (The sample is in my office).

She would like the room painted while the President is in Europe. He is scheduled to leave on May 28 and be gone 4 or 5 days.

The ceiling of the room should also be repainted so that it is not so white. The color white should be mixed with a little #5523 to provide contrast to the walls. Mr. Edward Jones, the architectural and design member of the Committee for the Preservation of the White House will be here at that time to consult in these exact colors.

I assume the woodwork will be painted white but we can consult Mr. Jones when he is back in the White House about a week from now.
