BACKGROUND:

Senator Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) has asked that we maintain the customary practice of the President presenting the Harmon Trophy or Trophies to those aviators who have been elected to receive it.

The award means a tremendous amount to the recipients because it constitutes about the highest award that aviation offers and to have it come from the President of the United States makes it doubly valuable.

National press has always given the event broad coverage.

Congressman Diggs has sent a written invitation to the President, commenting, "I call this event to your personal attention in the hope that you might find it convenient to drop by - and, of course, say a few words.
