Don Webster in Bill Baroody's shop has invited all of our Congressional Relations staff to a cocktail hour and a dinner at Taloe House on March 20 at 6 P.M. The purpose of the dinner is to meet representatives of the building trade unions who have indicated to the White House their willingness to get acquainted and cooperate in some areas. Mr. Georgine who heads that union, is apparently a very important man in the AFL-CIO and could be very helpful to us. Max has approved the invitation and the purpose of this memo is to invite each of you to attend.

Indianapolis, Indiana

I am very pleased to join with you and the members of the Indiana Republican Mayor's Association as you becor two distinguished fellow citizens.

I certainly share the admiration that prompted your choice of Max Friedersdorf as Man of the Year. You can be intensely proud of the skill and dedication Max has brought to his important public service. I consider myself fortunate to have him on my staff.

As a longtime Member of the House, I am well aware of the responsibilities of a Congressmen's wife and of the daily sacrifices she is asked to make. In this spirit, I am also happy to take part in your tribute to hirs. Eather Bray as Woman of the Year. I appreciate your great respect for the support she gave Bill throughout his fine career. I know what strength and inspiration such devotion can bring.

My very best wishes go out to these two outstanding representatives of the Hoosier State and to all who applied them on this occasion.

SUBJECT:

Meeting with House Minority Counsels

Minority Leader John Rhode's chief floor man, Dennis Taylor, has requested separate meetings with you and top members of your staff for the purposes of getting acquainted and establishing lines of responsibility and communication with the minority counsels of House committees.

Although we recognize the reorganization of your staff is under way, we have held two recent meetings with this group and would like to build on the momentum that has been achieved so far in improving Hill relationships.

We would like to arrange meetings for the Domestic Council and OMB on successive Friday mornings in the Roosevelt Room as soon as possible. The general format that has been followed in our meetings is for the top man to introduce his staff and describe their functions and how it interrelates with the committees of the House. This is followed by questions and answers.

Their primary concern is to learn how the Domestic Council and OMB function and gain a better appreciation of the decision-making process. Also, these counsels frequently need on-the-spot guidance as to Administration positions on unexpected amendments after they have received departmental views cleared through OMB. They are instructed to go through our staff in such cases, but sometimes we are unavailable or the subject matter is so complex that they need direct guidance from a policy-maker.

This project has the blessings of Counsellor Marsh and Mr. Friedersdorf, who assigned it a high priority.

Thank you for agreeing to place a 1975 White House Summer Intern in your office this summer.

Your intern(s) will be Catherine Elizabeth Oglesby and will report to your office on June 2, 1975. Those arriving June 2 will be escorted to your office between 10 and 11 a.m. following a security briefing and the completion of all personnel forms. Attached is a Standard Form 171 which may be kept for your files.

The intern(s) will be assigned to your office for the duration of the summer and may perform any and all duties you wish. We ask you to keep in mind, however, that these young people have been selected on the basis of their outstanding achievements, and should be given tasks which are commensurate with their ability. In addition to the work experience, our office provides two or three seminars each week with leading government officials. We hope that all the interns will avail themselves of these educational seminars, but we understand that their office assignments will occasionally make this difficult.

If you have any problems with your intern(s), please feel free to notify us and we will attempt to make other office assignments.

Bob Hope called me personally, based on a leng-standing family relationship, to seek assistance in having his son, Tony, and daughter-in-law, Judith interviewed with a view towards working in the federal government in Washington. Their residence burned to the ground recently and they have decided its a good time to get out of the show business world and try their hand in public service.

I have known Tony and Judy for some time and they both are exceedingly sharp. Both are attorneys, Judith having worked for Edward Bennett Williams law firm while Tony was attending Georgetown University. Both are graduates of Harvard Law School and I don't think it would be difficult to get strong interest generated in any number of departments or agencies, or even the White House itself. Tony will be calling me later today with logistics of their visit to Washington next week.

I'll keep you posted and vice versa, pleast?

Thanks.

MEMORANDUM FOR:

PHIL BUCHEN

FROM:

JACK MARSH

The recent intensive activity on the Hill, particularly in reference to the veto vote, has given rise to Engressional criticism concerning lobbying practices by the Administration.

In fact, I believe you are aware that the senior Democratic leaders have charged there have been violations of the Anti-Lobbying Law by Administration representatives. These violations are not precisely identified. It is my own view that our people operated within the law, but I think we need to be constantly alert to the limitations imposed by the Act.

Accepting the general observation of the ambiguity of the statute and the confusion as to what is prohibited including lack of definitions, I am of the view that it would be helpful to pull together a rather concise discussion paper written in laymen's language, setting forth dos and don'ts and citing examples of what can and cannot be done.

It is my observation there are two basic areas of concern. One of these is the limitations imposed upon an official of government, and the second is limitations that are imposed on an individual lobbying from the private sector. It is my recollection that the Anti-Lobbying Act is directed at Federal personnel and that other statutes are aimed at the private sector, which is also confusing and vague. Speaking from memory, I think the Cerrupt Practices Act may apply to the private sector and its interpretation may offer guidance to those in Federal service.

JOM/dl

Although I cannot recall the citation, there is a rather exhaustive and well known article on this subject in a major Law Review. It is the type of article to which frequent reference has been made, and may be readily identifiable to some of your staff.

If you could please pull something together, it might even be helpful to have a meeting with the legislative people and have an orientation meeting in order to give them a better understanding of the subject.

Many thanks.

DOT Congressional Relations

which has now been vacant since last August with Mr. Donald Dwight, former Lt. Governor of Massachusetts. I have interviewed Mr. Dwight at the request of Secretary Coleman and although he is a personable fellow, he has no Capitol Hill experience.

I mentioned this fact as a handicap to both he and Secretary Coleman but they both believe that Dwight's other qualifications and past political experience make up for this deficiency.

Senator Brooke called to personally endorse Mr. Dwight last week but early today Senator Brooke's Administrative Assistant, Mr. Hardy Nathan, called to state that although the Senator must publicly endorse Dwight, Nathan commented on a confidential basis that he felt the candidate was unqualified and probably would perform poorly.

I talked to Secretary Coleman today and advised him of my interview and the calls from Senator Brooke and Mr. Nathan. I told Coleman that I would not object to his hiring Dwight but had reservations because of his lack of Hill experience and the call from Nathan.

I have referred a number of qualified candidates to Bill Coleman and he has interviewed them all and wanted to hire two of them who ultimately turned the job down.

Bill indicated that he was going forward with the hiring of Dwight and I do not believe that we should oppose him but should insist that Dwight hire a very top caliber deputy with plenty of Hill experience once he is on board.

FROM:

The coming recess of the Congress next week with the last minute rush to complete legislation, together with the President being out of the country, will place a number of demands on the Congressional relations staff.

It is essential that we focus now on the critical issues. Where we feel differences might develop that require a Presidential decision or his policy guidance it is essential the issues be stated clearly and precisely. It must be accurately summarized in order that it can be communicated to the President quickly in such form that he can address it.

It is my suggestion that you have each of your people come up with a check list and pull together those issues in both the House and the Senate which they feel could require Presidential action next week. If it is expected there will be differences in Conference, these should be listed.

You might want to have Bob Wolthuis collate this material and provide it in the form of a summary which I will pass on to Rumsfeld inasmuch as he may wish to alert appropriate White House staff to start addressing these areas of Presidential interest in order to save time.

It would be helpful if we could get this today, but if we can't, then not later than 10:00 Monday morning.

As an additional requirement, there should be prepared a summary of the forth coming legislative week in both Houses which can be transmitted to the President at the beginning of the day Monday.

Nancy Kennedy advises me that the RNC has agreed to pick up, retrospectively, the expenses of all of the Sequoia trips that we were billed for up through the end of July ... but only those that involved Membersoriented activity. The total bill for all of the trips was $3,200, of which $2,200 wase for trips involving Members of Congress.

It is now suggested that, since the RNC will be cutting out approximately 2/3 of the expenses that were anticipated, it might be appropriate for you to ask Jim Connor to reconsider his $20 per couple charge for our own proposed trip.

Cong relations September 9, 1975 Cong. relation MEMORANDUM FOR: MAX FRIEDERSDORF FROM: JACK MARSH In reference to meetings of Congressional leaders with the President, and I am talking principally of formal Leadership meetings, either bipartisan or partiean, I think it would be helpful if we have a good set of notes on the subjects that are discussed and the points or questions that are raised by individual participants. This would include the replies of Administration officials. If you would designate someone from your staff to be a note taker for these meetings, I believe it would provide us with a good record. I believe under the present procedures the staff representative who attends a small meeting in the Oval Office or in the Cabinet Room, where only a limited number of members participate, is the responsible person for note taking. These notes should be helpful for future reference should the President or members of the senior staff want to refer back to them. I would not envision a distribution of the notes; however, outside of your office, although I would like to have a copy of the same. JOM/dl

MEMORANDUM FOR:

MAX FRIEDERSDORF

FROM:

JACK MARSH

There are three separate hearings coming up this week which I would appreciate your House and Senate people making inquiry about and quietly following. I would like to have a report as to what they learn. The hearings to which I refer are as follows:

- The Senate Judiciary Committee on questions that relate to technological surveillance.
- The House Armed Services Committee on the subject of drug experiments in the Army.
- 3. A Subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee on matters relating to lobbying.

Additionally, I want to discuss with you and Bob a highly sensitive matter that may be the subject of a hearing before the Church Select Committee next week. It is hoped the hearing will not be held and I want to discuss with you what might be done in that regard. In all events, I think it would be helpful for you to be aware of the question.

FROM:

JACK MARSH

SUBJECT:

Legislative Report

Until the Congress adjourns, I believe it would be helpful if we could send to the President, at the close of business each day, a daily legislative report.

This report will include significant actions completed during the day in the House and in the Senate. It should also include a summary of forthcoming actions expected prior to adjournment. Aside from the legislative business, there should be included any special reports or requests of Members which they desire be relayed to the President. In regard to the latter, I refer to things which are not routine, but are matters of special and timely interest.

I think the best way to prepare these is to have Vern and Bill prepare a summary for their respective Houses and then you attach a memo setting out other pertinent facts you feel should be added. I will then send this, with my own memo, to the President at about 6:00 p.m. our time.

Jack:

This is the letter I have sent to all Senators and Congressmen who had been invited on the Sequoia this week. Nancy called and cancelled all on Tuesday, and this is a follow up.

Max

Dear Jim:

As you know, foul weather this week forced cancellation of our social evening on the Presidential yacht, SECOUIA.

We were looking forward to this event with pleasant anticipation and were keenly disappointed that the weather turned sour.

As September concludes the Sequoia season, we hope to reschedule our cruise next Spring, and will plan on having you aboard.

With cordial regard.

Sincerely,

Max L. Friedersdorf Assistant to the President

MIKE UHLMAN N

FROM:

MAX FRIEDERSDORF MM . () .

SUBJECT:

House Judiciary Committee

We have received a complaint from Frank Polk, the Minority Counsel on the House Judiciary Committee, that neither he nor the Majority staff has been contacted by yourself.

Polk requested that we urge you to make calls on the Judiciary Committee staff personnel as soon as possible.

I am sure you will find all of these people very cooperative and I recommend that you start establishing a personal and working relationship if at all possible.

Mela culpa, Mak, and lasily enough remedied. Beyond remarking that Polk 15 it altogether straight on the facts, let me lodge a "complaint" of my own in the form of a suggestion: There are things called telephones, and you, I, and Frank all have one — Mich seems to me to be one hellowe lot simpler way to deal with small beer like this.
