MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: James L. Lynn

Subject: Pending legislation that should be enacted
this session of Congress

In response to your request this morning I am attaching a list of major Administration legislation pending on the Hill which is necessary or desirable to get enacted this session of Congress and which have a reasonable chance of enactment.

I should add that there is a possibility that the congressionally-passed versions of the legislation may in some cases warrant veto consideration.

Copies of the memorandum and the attached list have been given to Max Friedersdorf and Jack Marsh.

MEMORANDUM FOR: DICK CHENEY

FROM: JACK MARSH

The following is a summary of items which I wish to bring to your attention. Some of these we may have discussed in our phone conversation.

- ok!
[rail case]
1. The New York City bill passed the House by a vote of 213 to 203. The reports I have are that the measure is basically that which the Administration proposed with certain amendments which are believed to be acceptable. A more detailed report follows.

2. I met with John Rhodes this afternoon and he raised the following points:

- NO! →
- What would be the attitude of the Administration if he were to make a motion to recommit on the pending tax reform bill for a straight extension of a year of the existing tax law without the $395 billion ceiling. He suggests consideration be given this straight extension to keep the tax rates at the present level for 12 more months.
 - He pointed out his concern about situs picketing and I advised him that although the President was aware of his views, I would relay his continuing concern.
 - Rhodes has been talking with Tip O'Neill about the Congressional calendar and he asked me to sound out the President's views on the following possibility:

Adjournment December 19
Reconvene January 19
State of the Union January 20
Budget Message January 26

Although the adjournment date will probably hold it is not definite on any of the other dates just mentioned. Appreciate guidance on this proposal.

3. The House Armed Services Committee today failed to approve a proposal to add the Secretary of the Treasury to the NSC by a vote of 15 to 15. Senator Symington, who was a sponsor of the provision, is very upset and apparently an effort is being made in the House Armed Services Committee to reconsider the House action with Bob Wilson leading the anti-Administration forces in support of the bill.
4. A rather difficult situation may be developing in reference to Richardson and Zarb concerning Chairmanship of the Energy Resources Council. Max Friedersdorf advises, and there is a similar report from the Vice President, that when Elliot testifies for confirmation on Thursday (here) before Magnuson that he plans to say that in addition to his duties as Secretary of Commerce, he will also serve as Chairman of the Energy Resources Council. Zarb has requested that Elliot not so testify, to which Richardson responded that the Chairmanship of the ERC was offered to him by the President and was one of the reasons that he agreed to accept the Cabinet post and that in his testimony he would so advise the Committee. Do you have any special guidance on this one?

- ✓ 5. Max advises that the unacceptable version of the rail bill was reported by the House Commerce Subcommittee this afternoon but an attempt to improve the legislation will be made in full Committee. The attempt to substitute the more desirable natural gas bill lost in full Commerce Committee by a vote of 19 to 19. However, an attempt will be made to obtain a rule permitting it to be offered on the Floor and the close vote in Committee indicates some chance for success on the Floor.
- ✓ 6. The move in House Commerce to cite Secretary Morton for contempt has been delayed until Thursday and we are working with the Republicans and friendly Democrats to defeat this attempt. The vote looks very close at this time.
- ✓ 7. In reference to the Energy Conference Report, there has been a further delay with no report expected until early next week. Apparently the conferees have fallen into serious disagreement as to what they had agreed upon, particularly on the pricing mechanism. Bud Brown reports that Jackson's staff is putting together language that differs substantially from the Republicans understanding of the agreement.
- ✓ 8. The Stevens matter is moving well. Max took him to meet with the House leaders today and reports a very fine reaction. He will complete his final Senate courtesy calls on Wednesday morning and there is still a possibility of hearings starting on Thursday, but in all events, not later than Monday. Thus far, no significant problems appear to be developing.
- ✓ 9. I have called a meeting in my office tomorrow morning with key legislative staff from the White House and State to develop a strategy and build support against the contempt citation in the event it is brought to the Floor next week.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: PAUL H. O'NEILL

O'Neill

SUBJECT: NYC Legislation - Budget Impact

As we understand the legislation that has been adopted by the House, they have incorporated the provisions we requested, allowing us to sell NYC loan paper to the FFB, thus insuring that there will not be any significant budget impact from these transactions.

The House did insist that a separate appropriation be provided for administrative expenses to run the revolving fund. This should be no problem. Expenses should not exceed $1 - 2 million.

In addition, the House modified the authority we had requested to enable withholding of other Federal funds in the event of NYC default on their loan obligations. Under the House formula-tion, any future withholding actions will require positive action by the appropriation committees.

This change will not impact the budget. Ed Schmults is providing more details on this change.

FROM:

CHARLES LEPPERT, JR. CLJ

SUBJECT:

Legislation That Must Be Passed by June 11, 1976

Attached is a list of legislation which must pass the House of Representatives by June 11, 1976. There are a total of thirty-five such bills which will extend expiring programs or others that must be amended. These thirty-five bills are proposed to be considered by the House during the period of June 1 to 11.

Beginning June 14 to 28, the House will consider appropriation bills. A list of the appropriation bills will be made available to me and I shall pass it on to you upon receipt.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Members of Zone 14

FROM: Wm. J. Randall, Zone Whip

RE: LEGISLATIVE MATTERS AND HOUSE FLOOR ACTION

It seems that there will be a meeting of the House this Friday, May 21, 1976.

Remaining on the schedule for this week is, of course, Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) and also foreign aid (International Security Assistance). Therefore, it may very well be that the House will be in session later than usual this evening, Thursday, May 20, 1976 in order to get out at an earlier hour on Friday, May 21, 1976.

Now, a matter of interest and importance is the attached list of bills that must be passed by June 11, 1976. As you will note, there are 35 of these "must" enactments. Many of them are due to expire, and others must be amended. The only reason your Zone Whip calls this to your attention is the fact that when we return after the Memorial Day Recess and during the first ten days of June, as the Speaker put it, we may be "meeting day and night" to get this work out.

As a last and hopefully more pleasant note, that strenuous work period from the first to the tenth of June will be interrupted by visits from the King of Spain and the Queen of England for which, of course, we must honor by joint sessions.

A Tentative III House floor program for the week of May 24, 1976 will be sent out tomorrow, Friday, May 21, 1976.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely,

Appropriation bills
are scheduled beginning that following week

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH: JACK MARSH

FROM: MAX FRIEDERSDORF

SUBJECT: Legislative Schedule

The Senate is expected to confirm John Byington at 4 P.M. today and there will be no more votes in the Senate until Wednesday when the Senate resumes consideration of Military Procurement.

A vote will occur Wednesday on the Kennedy Amendment to strike out $300 million for the minute man.

Both the House and Senate have postponed further action on the Foreign Aid Authorization Bill until after the Memorial Day recess.

There is a light floor schedule in the House this week but a number of crucial committee markups are scheduled.

The House Ways and Means Committee will meet again Tuesday, May 25, to consider further action on the Unemployment Compensation bill.

Secretary Coleman will testify again on Wednesday on the Concorde and the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee will markup the Toxic Substance Bill on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. On Tuesday and Wednesday the House Commerce Committee will also mark up the Synthetic Fuels Loan Guarantee Bill and House Agriculture Committee resumes markup of Food Stamps Reform on Tuesday.

Revenue Sharing will be before the full House Appropriations Committee on Thursday and a key vote will occur when Chairman Mahon will seek to strike the Entitlement Provision in favor of an annual appropriation.

Most of the House and Senate Leadership are in London for the Magna Carta Ceremony until late Wednesday night, including Albert, O'Neill, Rhodes, Mansfield and Scott.

they used fertilizer, because it was so costly compared with the return on farm products.

Indian policies in 1974 caused farmers to shift away from sowing wheat and to hoard grain, because the established wholesale and retail price ceiling for wheat were too low.

In Tunisia, 90 per cent of the farmers could not qualify for bank loans; in Brazil, 3 per cent of the farmers got 34 per cent of the loans; in the Philippines, 27 per cent of the farmers received 98 per cent of the credits.

In some developing countries such as Kenya and Tanzania, commercial agriculture is oriented toward export crops rather than those that can be consumed at home and farmers growing for export get most of the credits.

Indonesia prohibited rice from being shipped between the islands, except under government auspices. Instead, the government relied on costly rice imports for those sections where rice was in short supply.

U.N. officials say efforts to change the world agricultural order fundamentally encounter enormous political obstacles. Such changes might require governments to take steps that are politically unfeasible, given the power of domestic agricultural groups and vested interests.

Therefore, they say, governments should organize a series of smaller, coordinated steps that could produce results without posing undue political difficulties.

'THE SAHEL IS NOT A WASTELAND'

(By John W. Sewell)

WASHINGTON.—An American visiting the Sahel—the sub-Saharan region of West Africa—for the first time carries the mental images of the great drought: barren land and emaciated children. It comes as a shock when reality does not match the image.

The Sahel has survived its worst drought in fifty years, and the region's prospects are promising if the countries of the area and the industrial world make the necessary commitments. Only a few short years ago, many people maintained that the area was beyond hope and should be abandoned. Why the difference now? The answer is that under the impact of catastrophic drought most of us forgot that the Sahel countries are not entirely without resources of their own.

First, the Sahel is not a uniform area. It contains six countries—Senegal, Mauritania, Mali, Niger, Chad and Upper Volta—and at least five distinct geographic regions ranging from desert in the far north to the edge of tropical rain forest in the south. The population is concentrated in the more promising agricultural areas.

Second, there is great potential for producing more food. The Sahel produces about 5.5 million tons of grain a year, and experts estimate that proper policies and investment—particularly in irrigation—can multiply this level five- or sixfold. The potential is enhanced by the presence in the seven states of a major lake basin and three major river systems, including the Niger, the world's twelfth largest.

Some of the best agricultural land in the Volta River valleys even now is being cleared of the fly that transmits river blindness, and will be open for resettlement shortly. The newcomer sees this potential most dramatically in the magnificent vegetables and fruits in the local markets.

Finally, the casual observer may also forget that these are not new societies; they have been around quite a while, and are remarkably well adapted to an often harsh and demanding environment. In years of normal rainfall, enough food is produced to feed the population (albeit at minimal nutritional levels), and a thriving cattle trade with the coastal countries has existed for centuries.

What then are the prospects for the future? Paradoxically the drought had at least one beneficial result: It broke the patterns of the past. The Sahel countries have muted their traditional rivalries and are now coordinating their own development plans.

Along with some members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and the industrial world, they established in April the Club des Amis du Sahel to coordinate plans for long-term development in the area. The United States, which virtually withdrew its aid missions in the Sahel a decade ago, is now taking the lead in establishing a long-term investment fund for the area.

But one should not be too optimistic. If a real commitment is not made now, the future looks much less promising. Population growth, which intensified the impact of the last drought, will continue to exert inexorable pressures. Periodic drought, whether local or general, is inevitable. Climatic records show that one year in five will be bad, and that a serious drought equal to the recent catastrophe will occur twice a century.

Finally, we must not forget that the Sahel countries are among the world's poorest. Even with the best of efforts, they can generate very little savings to pay for imports needed for development. Without outside financial and technical help to match their own efforts, the necessary increases in production of food and cattle will be impossible.

Finally, the lessons of the past must be learned. Development plans for the Sahel must be designed and carried out in conjunction with the Sahel governments and in a way that enhances and does not destroy both the ecosystems and societies of the Sahel.

During his recent trip to Africa, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger committed the United States to an international development effort for the Sahel. In supporting this effort, the nations of the world would contribute to the solution of the world food problem and would avoid the cost of a relief effort similar to that of recent years, an effort that by 1985 might cost three times as much.

The Sahel is not a wasteland. With proper management and outside financial help, it can produce enough food to meet its own needs and those of neighboring countries.

CORRECTION OF ANNOUNCEMENT ON VOTE

Mr. BAYH. Mr. President, on rollcall votes numbers 310 and 311 taken yesterday I am recorded as being necessarily absent. I request unanimous consent that the permanent record be changed to show that I was absent because of illness. I very much appreciate the many courtesies extended by my colleagues since my recent surgery. I am also pleased to report that although I am under doctors' orders not to return to a full week schedule this week, I do expect to return fully to my Senate duties very shortly.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The record will be corrected.

SENATE LEGISLATIVE SCHEDULE TO LABOR DAY

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, the following schedule for the next 2 months was agreed to by the Democratic policy committee at its meeting today. In working out this timetable, the Republican leader was consulted on the preferences of the minority and this schedule attempts to make the best accommodation possible of all interested Senators.

It must be borne in mind that the schedule is not carved in marble, that slight modifications may be made, and that certain items that the leadership does not expect to consume a great deal of debate on the Senate floor will also be considered as the legislative session progresses. This schedule, however, does include the major legislation that remains for this period.

At the Democratic policy committee meeting, it was decided as well that meetings of committees should be restricted while the Senate is in session and commencing next week, except for extraordinary circumstances such as hearings on nominations, no committees will be granted permission to meet during Senate sessions.

Mr. PRESIDENT. I ask unanimous consent that the schedule may be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the schedule was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

Dear Colleague:

Here's next week's expected program before going out on Wednesday, September 1, for the Labor Day Recess:

On Monday, August 30, the Senate will convene at 9:00 a.m. After Senator Byrd (Va.) has been recognized for 15 minutes, there will be a brief period for the transaction of routine morning business.

The Senate then is expected to take up either S. 158 or H. R. 13372, New River. Thereafter, the schedule is uncertain but debate may resume on the Byrd (W. Va.) motion to concur in the House amendment to H. R. 8532, Antitrust Bill, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute.

On Tuesday, August 31, a roll-call vote will occur on invoking cloture on further debate on H. R. 8532.

Other measures which may be considered prior to adjourning Wednesday are:

- H. R. 15193, D.C. Appropriations.
- H. R. 13601, Rail Passenger Authorization.
- S. 3037, Water Pollution Control.

I suggest that your staff dial Extension 48601 for daily information on any changes in or additions to the legislative program.

PART II -- Major Administration measures which we want passed before adjournment.

Electronic Surveillance

Estate and Gift Tax Adjustment Act - due for House Floor consideration this week; a Senate version passed as a part of the omnibus bill.

LEAA Extension - Senate passed; House due to consider a version this week. Neither version closely resembles the Administration proposal.

General Revenue Sharing - House passed; Senate Committee action ongoing.

Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act - House passed its version; Senate version is on the Calendar with no action scheduled.

Synthetic Fuels - Senate ready to take action after House, but House Rules Committee has not yet scheduled a hearing on the versions reported from three different House Committees.

Grain Inspection - Legislation on this subject has been stymied in Conference since early May.

Comprehensive Oil Pollution Liability and Compensation Act - This major Administration proposal to compensate individuals who suffer damages from oil spills has been stymied in the House but there is now some movement in the House Merchant Marine Committee; the Senate could act quickly after House action.

Unemployment Compensation Amendments - House passed a version which the Administration will accept as better than nothing; Senate expected to act in September.

Repeal of the 1% Kicker - House originally scheduled to act this week but bill was pulled from Calendar. Favorable action still optimistically anticipated.

Stockpile Disposal Legislation - Hearings have been held and legislation is percolating.

(Needless to say, there are a number of Administration initiatives like our block grant proposals, social security reform proposals, catastrophic health care protection, regulatory reform, defense cost saving measures, and a host of others which we would like to have passed, but clearly these measures are not going to see the light of day this year).

PROGRAM

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, under the agreement made last night, the Senate, at 2 p.m. on Tuesday next, will proceed for 2 hours to the consideration of the antitrust legislation. At the end of that time, it will be the intention of the leadership to return to the legislative appropriations bill.

I ask unanimous consent that it be in order for the joint leadership to call up the revenue sharing bill at any time next week when it becomes possible and available, beginning with Tuesday.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. With objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, it also hoped—and this is in juxtaposition so the leadership should not be held closely to it—that it would be possible take up Calendar No. 1055, S. 3730, the military construction bill; certainly, reiterate, revenue sharing; the Budget Committee's reconciliation resolution and any other matters which might in during the course of consideration legislation.

Mr. President, I submit for the Record a legislative schedule for the remainder of the session so that all Members will on notice of the intentions of the leadership. I should emphasize, however, that this schedule is subject to change.
