MEMORANDUM FOR: MRS. FORD

VIA: RED CAVANEY

FROM: JACK WILLIAMS JW

SUBJECT: YOUR VISIT TO PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA
Monday, April 26, 1976

Attached at TAB A is the Proposed Schedule for the subject event.

APPROVE _____ DISAPPROVE _____

BACKGROUND

You have accepted the invitation of The Golden Slipper Club, one of the leading fraternal and philanthropic organizations in Philadelphia, who will present you with the "Spirit of Independence" award for service to the country. The Golden Slipper Club sponsors, among other things, the Golden Slipper Camp for underprivileged boys and girls in the Pocono Mountains each summer as well as day trips for the elderly. The Club in the past has honored President Harry Truman, John Cardinal Krol, Dr. Martin Luther King, Senator Hugh Scott, Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, Lady Bird Johnson, and Mrs. Pat Nixon. You will receive this award during a dinner which will be attended by 700 people.

Prior to the dinner, the Club will host a VIP Cocktail Reception with 200 guests attending.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

700,000 Philadelphians signed petitions that were delivered to the White House March 22, 1976, requesting that the Declaration of Independence be brought to Philadelphia for the Bicentennial. Prior to this, the National Archives and the Library of Congress had determined that the document is too fragile to move. As an alternative, the committee representing the Philadelphians were offered the option of borrowing the "Stone Plate" -- a mirror image copper engraving of the Declaration of Independence made from the original document between 1820 and 1823 by William J. Stone at the direction of Secretary of State John Quincy Adams.

You will unveil the "Stone Plate" engraving of the Declaration at the newly rennovated Franklin Square -- a monument to Benjamin Franklin restored by the National Park Service. Prior to the unveiling you will take a brief tour of the Franklin Square escorted by Mr. Hobart Cawood, Park Superintendent, who you met when you visited the Liberty Bell in January. Because of the intense public interest by the citizens of Philadelphia in this project, it is recommended that you make this brief stop.

TEXT OF MRS. FORD'S REMARKS UPON RECEIPT OF THE "SPIRIT OF INDEPENDENCE AWARD" AT THE GOLDEN SLIPPER CLUB DINNER, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, April 26, 1976

Thank you so much. What an absolutely exquisite crystal eagle! I am deeply honored by this "Spirit of Independence" Award, especially because it comes from the Golden Slipper Club.

I've heard so many wonderful things about the work you do to help people. It seems to me the very best way to promote independence is to help people help themselves and that's exactly what you do. By providing a summer camp for the young, by taking older people on excursions, and by responding to individual needs---you are truly celebrating the Bicentennial.

You give of yourselves---your time and energy---and you reach out to individuals in a personal way. Somehow your recent work with Russian immigrants symbolizes how the Golden Slipper reacts to the needs of this community.

By your good works. . . you are honoring the "Spirit of Independence" by helping those in need stand tall and appreciate themselves.

I am deeply touched to be honored by a group that believes and practices its motto---people helping people. Your gift and award inspire me. Thank you so very much.

Dear Mrs. Ford:

The Golden Slipper Club is one of the leading fraternal and philanthropic organizations in the Philadelphia area for over 55 years. As the president of the organization, it is my pleasure to extend, on the organization's behalf, an invitation to you to attend our next membership meeting as our guest of honor. This will be one of the area's major Bicentennial events to turn the nations attention to Philadelphia in 1976.

The Executive Committee of the Golden Slipper would like to honor you for your service to our country, at a meeting to be held any evening of the following dates:

Monday, March 22, Thursday, March 25 or Monday, April 26 per B7

The Golden Slipper Camp covers 750 acres in the Pocono Mountains and it has served underprivileged boys and girls, regardless of race or creed for over a quarter of a century. Its present expanded facilities allow about 730 youngsters to enjoy three-week camping sessions in the summer. The camp is supported, not only by the philanthropic efforts of the Club, but by the Federation of Jewish Agencies and the United Fund.

When President Johnson was in the White House, the club honored Mrs. Johnson. Other distinguished honorees include former President Truman, Senator Hugh Scott, Dr. Martin Luther King, John Cardinal Krol, Ambassador Arthur Goldberg and Mrs. Nixon when she was First Lady.

We sincerely hope, that since an advance booking for space is required, we may have the honor of an early favorable reply.

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM FOR: SUSAN PORTER

SUBJECT: Golden Slipper Club

A formal invitation to Mrs. Ford will go out this week. I am told they are very flexible on timing.

EDWARD H. ROSEN
PRESIDENT

January 5, 1976

Mr. David H. Lissy,
Associate Director-Domestic Council,
The White House,
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear David:

The other day I was talking to Frank Brodsky who is president of the Golden Slipper Club, an organization with which I am sure you are familiar, and he told me that he has been in touch with the White House. You may have guessed that he has extended an invitation to the President to come to Philadelphia to receive the Club's "Bicentennial Award."

Frank told me that Senator Scott had endorsed the request in writing and that the date is open - subject only to the requirement that it be sometime before mid-May.

There is ample precedent for a President of the United States to appear at the Golden Slipper - Harry Truman was honored in person and Ladybird Johnson and Pat Nixon were both honored while their respective husbands were in the White House.

For the record, Golden Slipper is a largely Jewish organization which operates a non-sectarian charity camp in the Pocono Mountains (800 boys and girls have visited there every year for about a quarter of a century). The other charitable works of the Slipper include scholarships, emergency welfare to victims of tragedy, an extensive program aiding senior citizens and the like.

If there is anything you can do to "push this invitation along" I would consider it a personal favor. The format could be worked out to the President's satisfaction and the political implications I think would be extremely favorable throughout Southeastern Pennsylvania. Thanks and best regards,

As always,

MEMORANDUM FOR:

SUSAN PORTER

FROM:

MILT MITLER Mitler

Susan, at the expense of being redundant, the copper plate of the Declaration of Independence, known as the "Stone" plate after the man who made it, was offered to a group of Philadelphians who delivered petitions to the President containing more than 700,000 signatures of people desiring to have the Declaration of Independence moved to Philadelphia for the Bicentennial year.

They have happily accepted this plate as an alternative and plan to display it in the First National Bank of the United States in Philadelphia. The Archives, which has the artifact, will deliver it to Philadelphia after they have pulled several prints from the plate. The prints, which will be the first made since the original prints were run, will be accomplished by the Bureau of Engraving.

This first exact and official reproduction of the complete engrossed Declaration, a mirror image, was prepared in 1823 by order of Secretary of State John Quincy Adams. The engraver was William J. Stone. He produced the copper plate by direct impression from the original. Two hundred copies were printed on parchment and distributed to the President, members of both Houses of Congress and the Supreme Court, and to each State governor and legislature. The plate measures 25 inches by 30½ inches. The parchment facsimiles bear the name of the engraver in the corner. Stone was later allowed to print copies from his plate, on paper, for general distribution. It is believed he printed about 2,500. These copies bear his name in the lower left side. Stone facsimiles are now rare.

The contacts at the Archives are the Deputy Archivist, Dr. James O'Neill (523-3132) or Mr. Meisel (523-3216). Both are directly involved in preparing the plate for delivery. In Philadelphia, my contact has been Hobart Cawood, Superintendent of Parks, National Park Service (215-WA 3-6843). The only one I have told of the possibility was Meisel and he was cautioned to say nothing. In the other cases, I have indicated that we were just looking at alternatives and needed some information.

It is expected the display area at the Bank will be ready by May 1 with an opening day for the display on June 15. Cawood would be comfortable with a presentation ceremony either at the Bank or at Ben Franklin Square which will be dedicated on April 20. I believe the Square would be the better of the two for effect.

If you need any further information, please let me know.

FROM:

MILT MITLER Meel 261

Susan, Philadelphians, in their desire to have the Declaration of Independence moved from the National Archives to their city during this Bicentennial year, have produced in excess of 700,000 signatures on petitions. Those petitions were brought to the White House on March 22, 1976.

Prior to this, following surveys taken by the National Archives and the Library of Congress, it had been determined that the document is entirely too fragile to permit moving and that we should look toward alternatives.

The alternative presented to the Philadelphians was a copper engraving of the Declaration of Independence called the "Stone Plate." This engraving is a 'mirror image' of the Declaration and was produced by a man named Stone at the request of Secretary of State, John Quincy Adams, in 1823. From it were made about 200 copies for distribution to the President, Vice President, Members of Congress, Governors and other officials. In addition, Mr. Stone was permitted to draw about 2,000 copies which he sold.

The Philadelphians seemed to be quite pleased with the alternatives and arrangements which are now being made through the National Archives to deliver the plate to Philadelphia. If you think there is a possibility that the First Lady would consider making the presentation when she is there on April 26th, I would advise those involved. I believe this would be a good one and could result in some satisfactory coverage.
