NOTE TO PAUL MANAFORT

I have been invited to the convention as per the attached; I may attend.

But if I get up there in front of 6000 Indian educators, I want either to announce the President's appointment of the members of the National Indian Education Advisory Council, or point to the fact that they have been announced.

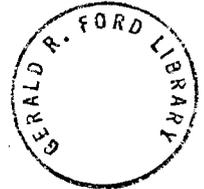

I would sincerely appreciate it if you and Karen would complete the necessary staff work so that the announcements can be made by this time.

I think the actual dovetailing of the formal announcement here and the opening day of this convention would be a good idea...

Dear Mr. Patterson:

Welcome back to Indian affairs. During your previous tenure as the President's Special Assistant on Indian affairs, we knew that we had a friend in the White House. If at all possible, please attend our convention on September 27-30, 1976 in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Enclosed find a copy of our convention brochure and a copy of the letter inviting President Ford to address our convention. Please consider this letter a "re-invitation" for either the President or Senator Dole to speak to the convention. Again, a general assembly of attendees will be called at their convenience.

Thank you for remembering us, and hopefully we will continue to keep in touch.

Sincerely,

Mr. President:

The purpose of this letter is to invite you to appear at the 8th Annual Conference of the National Indian Education Association in Albuquerque, New Mexico, September 27-30, 1976. Specifically, we would like you to address the general assembly during the conference as your schedule will permit.

NIEA is the only organization which exists for the singular purpose of upgrading educational opportunities for Native Americans. Membership is comprised of Indian educators across the nation and other persons concerned with the education of American Indians.

We anticipate a conference of between 5000 and 6000 persons, including Indian educators and Indian leaders from virtually every Indian community in the country.

The first national conference of Indian educators took place in Minneapolis in 1969. Senator Mondale addressed that initial conference. Since that time, NIEA has worked for upgrading educational opportunities for Indian people.

Because local conditions affecting educational opportunity for Indian people vary greatly, it is difficult to identify a complete list of issues confronting education of Indian people. Nonetheless, local issues usually involved the following:

- 1) Attempts by local Indian people to sensitize local boards of education, administrators and teachers to recognize the unique dimensions of Native Americans heritage and culture, and incorporate such into curriculum and instruction in local schools.
- 2) Election of Indian people to local boards of education in communities which serve a significant number of Indian people.
- 3) Curriculum concerns go well beyond having a few hours of instruction in "Indian beadwork or crafts!"

- 4) Attempts to generate responsive mechanism within state departments of education to assist local people with issues regarding education of Indian children.

Issues which continue to prevail regarding educational opportunities for Indian people across the nation include:

- 1) Drop-out or push-out rate among Indian people vastly exceeds the population generally.
- 2) The financial support for Indian education shows serious discrepancy from state to state. State education agencies have been negligent in providing full financial support for education of Indian people because of inequities in federal assistance. (Cite BIA schools with vastly different per pupil cost ratios).

Clearly, it is not possible to thoroughly outline issues confronting Indian people generally, and Indian education specifically in a short letter. I have attempted to indicate some priority topics in this letter. I will be pleased to come to your office to meet with you and discuss these issues in greater detail, and provide documentation material as well.

Indian people are very politically active and sensitive. This is due to the unique position which Indian people hold in this nation. Indian people, by constitutional rights, affirmed by courts and legislation, are political entities. Indian people accordingly, are extremely interested in government and the persons elected to office.

We understand there will be copius demands on you during the upcoming months. We sincerely hope you will be able to include an appearance at the NIEA conference on your rigorous schedule. Be assured we will assist in any way we can to facilitate your appearance.

I will look forward to further conversation with you on this topic. We thank you for your consideration to our request.

Sincerely yours,

Andrew P. Lawson,
Executive Director

Dear Mr. Lawson:

This is to acknowledge and thank you for your letter of July 9 inviting the President to attend the 8th Annual Conference of the National Indian Education Association in Albuquerque, New Mexico on September 27-30, 1976.

While the President greatly appreciates your thoughtfulness in extending this kind invitation, he will not be able to come to Albuquerque in view of the heavy demands of the late September schedule.

With best wishes,

DRAFT

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL INDIAN EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

It is a pleasure to send greetings and congratulations to you on the occasion of your Eighth Annual Convention.

I want you to know how strongly I reaffirm the Congressional Findings and Declaration of Policy embodied in the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act which I signed twenty months ago.

At that time I predicted that "the enactment of this legislation marks a milestone for Indian people. It will enable this Administration to work more closely and effectively with the tribes for the betterment of all the Indian people by assisting them in meeting goals they themselves have set."

These predictions are being fulfilled. Contracting under this new statute is going forward. Funds under the companion education programs of the National Indian Education Act have now reached some 1200 districts and 235 grantees.

What particularly pleases me is that these monies will enhance the input and influence which Indian parents themselves will have concerning the education of their children.

The kind of progress being made in the 70's toward establishing a firm base from which to build quality education programs for Indian children will not go unnoticed. As educators, parents, and laymen actively participating in the progress of educating Indian children, you are to be commended for your energy and success in the past few years. We have joined you in this effort.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs has established new advisory school boards as a first step in providing Indian communities the opportunity to actively participate in the business of running schools. Title IV of the Indian Education Act of 1972 has given many tribes a first real chance locally to design and carry out educational programs for their children. In addition Title IV has opened the door to meaningful interaction with public schools.

I am pleased, as you are, that the keynoter for your Convention is Mr. William G. Demmert, Jr., Director of the Office of Indian Education Programs; Mr. Demmert personifies the high quality of senior Indian federal officers in whose hands our new Indian education programs are entrusted.

For the First Americans the long past has often been stained and shameful. But with your help and that of our Federal Government in the past few years, a corner has been dramatically turned.

For Indian children, as for all children in the luminous mosaic of our nation, the future is full of new freedom and new opportunity.

My best wishes for a successful meeting.

Bill -

If you are the senior Administration attendee at the Conference, you should read this aloud at the beginning of your remarks.

We have also sent it, with a photo, directly to Albuquerque in order to get it printed in the program. I hope we made the deadline, but you should read it anyway.

The original should eventually get into Andy Dawson's hands for their archives.

I won't be going and have informed Andy. Good luck!

PS: Give me a call later on how the Conference went.

September 15, 1976

The Eighth Annual Convention of the National Indian Education Association gives me a welcome opportunity to reaffirm my support for the Congressional Findings and Declaration of Policy embodied in the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act which I signed twenty months ago.

At that time I stated that the enactment of this legislation will mark a milestone for Indian people. It will enable my Administration to work more closely and effectively with the tribes to promote the well-being of all Indian people and to assist them in meeting the goals they have set.

It is heartening to note that these predictions are being fulfilled. Contracting under this new statute is going forward. Funds under the companion education programs of the National Indian Education Act have now reached some 1200 districts and 235 grantees. It is especially gratifying that these monies will enhance the input and influence of Indian parents on the education of their children.

The progress of the '70s toward establishing a firm base from which to build quality education programs for Indian children will not go unnoticed. As educators, parents and laymen actively participating in this vital effort you are to be commended for your energy and success in the past few years. My Administration is solidly behind your endeavors.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs has established new advisory school boards as a first step in providing Indian communities the opportunity to actively participate in the business of running schools. Title IV of the Indian Education Act of 1972 has given many tribes a first real chance to design and carry out educational programs at the local level. It has also opened the door to meaningful interaction with public schools.

For the First Americans the past has often been stained and shameful. In the last few years your hard work and the cooperation of our Federal Government have been dramatically turning this tide. Today, the future for Indian children is full of newfound freedom, opportunity and self-fulfillment. I commit myself unequivocally to the kind of coordinated effort that will continue this trend in the years ahead.

BONNIE JO HUNT

Soloist,
Bonnie Jo Hunt (Standing Rock Sioux) is scheduled to appear twice during this year's National Indian Education Association Convention. Ms. Hunt was the Montana Centennial Queen during the states Territorial Centennial in 1964. Since that time, Bonnie Jo has traveled extensively throughout the world presenting her very versatile program of songs.

September 28, 1976 (late afternoon)
September 29, 1976 (luncheon)

“AMERICAN INDIAN PERFORMING ARTISTS”

A talented, Assiniboine-Sioux singer, who favors the songs of Buffy St. Marie and Floyd Westerman, Ms. Georgia Wettlin-Larsen will accompany dancer, Ms. Rosalie Jones. Ms. Jones is a native Montanan, born on the Blackfeet Reservation in Browning Montana.

Ms. Wettlin-Larsen is currently a student at the University of Minnesota. Ms. Jones is a Lecturer in Theatre Arts at Mt. Senarie College, Ladysmith, Wisconsin.

Ms. Jones holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in music, a Master's degree in dance from the University of Utah, and has done post-graduate work at Julliard in New York City, and a mime apprenticeship under Dr. Reid Gilbert of the Wisconsin Mime Company. During the past ten years, she has been involved with Indian people in Santa Fe, North and South Dakota, Montana, and Wisconsin, in searching out new possibilities for individual and community expression through the medium of dance and drama. She has been instrumental in developing performing arts programs for schools throughout the country through the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Center for Arts of Indian America, Washington, D.C. Productions which have been developed under her supervision have included special performances for Mrs. Lyndon Johnson and members of the Cabinet. For the past two years, she has been doing workshops in dance and mime, and performing her own program of dance and mime throughout the Midwest. Currently, she is Lecturer in Theatre Arts at Mt. Senario College, Ladysmith, Wisconsin.

(Ms. Jones is a native Montanan; she was born on the Blackfeet Reservation in Browning Montana, and grew up in the town of Cut Bank, where her parents continue to reside.)

ED WAPP JR.

Ed Wapp, Jr. (Comanche) will perform with the group, American Indian Performing Artists at the NIEA 8th Annual Convention this year. Mr. Wapp has taught at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, and at the Institute of American Indian Arts, Santa Fe. Ed is one of the very few Indian flute players in the United States today, and in 1974, was awarded a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts to study and work with Doc Tate Navaquoya, Comanche artist and flute player. Currently Ed is teaching American Indian music and dance for the American Indian Studies Department at the University of Minnesota, and at the West Bank School of Music, in Minneapolis.

NATIVE AMERICAN FASHION SHOW

A Native American Fashion Show is scheduled for this year's NIEA convention. The show will be representative of the Southwestern tribes as well as the Northwestern people. The fashion show will take place during one of the scheduled luncheons.
