CAMP HISTORY

Camp David was originally constructed as one of the three Demonstration Recreation Camps in a ten thousand acre tract of the Catoctin Mountains, which was purchased by the Department of the Interior for a National Park. Three camps, Misty Mount, Greentop, and Hi-Catoctin, were built in 1937, 1938 and 1939, respectively, with WPA and CCC workers, utilizing local timber and stone. Approximately two and one-half million board feet of blighted cheston and local oak trees were felled; rustic light fixtures were fabricated in the blacksmith shop from scrap iron. This rustic character is still reflected by the Carawith many cabins.

In April 1942, President Franklin Roosevelt, seeking a spot away from the humid and pressure of Washington, selected Camp Hi-Catoctin as the site for the Presidential Retreat. Following this decision, the entire Catoctin Park area was declared a security area and the O.S.S. trainees and a detachment of Marines were stationed in Camps Greentop and Misty Mount for this purpose. Construct of the main lodge and minor work required to support the President was complete during the summer. The facility was first used by President Roosevelt in July 10

After the successful attack on Tokyo by Jimmy Doolittle and his pilots, President Roosevelt named the secretly cloaked camp "Shangri-La" in honor of the mythics location from which he said the bombers were launched. The President frequent visited the Camp during the remaining years of his administration, holding conferences with his wartime advisors and relaxing away from Washington. He was visited at "Shangri-La" by Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secret Anthony Eden on several occasions, and received the reports of the initial invasion of Italy and Normandy while a resident at the camp.

In 1947, Camps Misty Mount and Greentop were returned to the Park Service and again made available for use by school, scouting, and organized civic groups. In 1948, the area was divided into two sections with that portion north of Marylan. Highway 77 designated as Catootin Mountain National Park, while the remaining portion of the original tract was returned to the State of Maryland and designated Cunningham Falls State Park.

Shortly after his inauguration, President Eisenhower visited the Camp and was immediately taken by it, subsequently renaming "Shangri-La" to "Camp David", in honor of his grandson, David Eisenhower. President Eisenhower used Camp David frequently through the next eight years. While recuperating from his heart attack in November and December 1955, President Eisenhower drove to Camp David from his Gettysburg farm to preside at meetings of the Cabinet and National Security Council. Following major renovations in 1957 and 1959, President Eisenhower used the site to meet and confer with several heads of government. Prime Minister Harold MacMillan was a guest in March 1959, and again in October 1959, followed by President Lopez Mateo of Mexico in October 1959. President Lleras Comargo of Columbia and President Charles DeGaulle of France visited the Camp in 1960. The historic visit by Chairman Nikita Krushchev of the USSR in September 1959, resulted in the coining of the phrase "Spirit of Camp David" to describe the Soviet-United States detente resulting from the conference held in Aspen Lodge.

President and Mrs. Kennedy relaxed at Camp David on frequent occasions. Mrs. Kennedy and the children remained for extended visits and stabled their personal horses on board for use during their visits.

President and Mrs. Johnson used the Camp for conferences and relaxing with large groups of friends. President Johnson resumed the practice of receiving foreign heads of government at Camp David, entertaining Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada in April 1965 and Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia in June 1967.

President Nixon and the entire First Family used the Camp almost continuously. It was a favorite place for relaxation, a change of pace, and also for informal working sessions. Conferences and meetings were frequently held in both Laurel and Aspen Lodge.

Several Foreign Heads of State, including Prime Minister and Mrs. Gorton, President and Madame Pompidou, Chancellor Willy Brandt, President Tito and Madame Broz, President and Mrs. Medici, President and Mrs. Echeverria, Prime Minister Heath (twice), President and Mrs. Houphouet-Boigny, President and Mrs. Ceausescu, and of course, General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev of the Soviet Union (the June 1973 visit which led to even stronger detente between the Soviet Union and the United States), were Presidential guests at Camp David.

Following the historic Apollo XIII, Apollo XIV, Apollo XV, and Apollo XVI, as well as SKYLAB I, II and III missions, the astronauts and their families were guests at Camp David.

The Camp is currently being utilized by President Ford and his administration. Many members of the Cabinet and White House Agencies and Councils have discovered that the serene atmosphere of Camp David is conducive to productive meetings. As a result, conferences are held here on a regular basis. President Ford met with Indonesia's President Suharto in July 1975 to continue the practice of entertaining foreign heads of government at Camp David.

Camp David and its role in the history of the nation is widely known and the preservation of its rustic beauty and solitude and the improvement of service and convenience to the President and his guests continues to be the primary goal of the staff.

CAMP APPEARANCE AND OPERATIONS

The natural appearance of Camp David has changed little since its original construction. The cabins are still the original rustic board and batten construction, stained or painted a moss green hue. The native woods have been maintained wherever possible, and the only completely open areas on the Camp are the lawn in front of Aspen and the helicopter landing field. Every effort is made to maintain the natural beauty of the Camp and its buildings.

In continuation of the policy established by President Roosevelt when the crew of the Presidential yacht was used to man Shangri-La, Camp David is permanently staffed by Naval Personnel. Marines, permanently assigned from the Marine Barracks, Washington, D. C., provide security for the Camp. A detachment of the White House Communications Agency provides radio, telephone and communications center support. The Camp is a military installation, commanded by the Camp Commander, directly under the Military Assistant to the President. Scheduling is coordinated by the Secretary to the Cabinet and the Office of the Military Assistant.

GUEST INFORMATION

The following items are provided to assist in answering questions of a general nature regarding services and facilities available at Camp David. Additional information or requests should be referred to the Command Duty Officer, who may be reached by telephone through the Camp switchboard.

Communications

All Camp telephones are served by a switchboard which is manned twenty-four hours a day. The operator will assist you in placing any calls. Direct lines to Washington and the White House are available. For other communications support information, please contact the Command Duty Office.

Transportation

Transportation to and from Camp David is not available.

Weather

The Camp's elevation, nearly 2,000 feet above sea level, causes weather conditions which are often completely different than experienced in the Washington area. Temperatures are normally 10 - 15 degrees colder year round; while rain, fog and winds are frequent. Accordingly, appropriate clothing is suggested.

Baby Sitting

Baby sitting service is not available at Camp. Parents are requested to provide supervision of minor children at all times.

Special Requirements

Special needs may be accomodated upon request. Irons, ironing boards, cribs, hair dryers, toilet articles, swim suits, etc., may be obtained by contacting the Command Duty Officer.

Restrictions

It is the Camp policy that photography, fire arms or any explosives are not allowed aboard the Camp. Additionally, the considerable small game population (squirrels, rabbits, racoons, opossums and deer) on Camp indicates the inadvisability of personal pets accompanying guests.

Religious Services

Numerous churches representing various denominations are located in the local community and within a twenty minute driving time. A complete listing is provided in section 9 of this booklet.

RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

The following recreational activities are available (in season) for the enjoyment of Camp guests. Several of the activities enumerated necessitate communication with the Command Duty Officer prior to utilization in order to provide for support requirements in a timely fashion, and are so identified by asterisk:

CAMP HISTORY

Camp David was originally constructed as one of the three Demonstration Recreation Camps in a ten thousand acre tract of the Catoctin Mountains, which was purchased by the Department of the Interior for a National Park. Three camps, Misty Mount, Greentop, and Hi-Catoctin, were built in 1937, 1938 and 1939, respectively, with WPA and CCC workers, utilizing local timber and stone. Approximately two and one-half million board feet of blighted chestnut and local oak trees were felled; rustic light fixtures were fabricated in the blacksmith shop from scrap iron. This rustic character is still reflected by the Camp, with many cabins.

In April 1942, President Franklin Roosevelt, seeking a spot away from the humidity and pressure of Washington, selected Camp Hi-Catoctin as the site for the Presidential Retreat. Following this decision, the entire Catoctin Park area was declared a security area and the O.S.S. trainees and a detachment of Marines were stationed in Camps Greentop and Misty Mount for this purpose. Construction of the main lodge and minor work required to support the President was completed during the summer. The facility was first used by President Roosevelt in July 1942.

After the successful attack on Tokyo by Jimmy Doolittle and his pilots, President Roosevelt named the secretly cloaked camp "Shangri-La" in honor of the mythical location from which he said the bombers were launched. The President frequently visited the Camp during the remaining years of his administration, holding conferences with his wartime advisors and relaxing away from Washington. He was visited at "Shangri-La" by Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden on several occasions, and received the reports of the initial invasion of Italy and Normandy while a resident at the camp.

In 1947, Camps Misty Mount and Greentop were returned to the Park Service and again made available for use by school, scouting, and organized civic groups. In 1948, the area was divided into two sections with that portion north of Maryland Highway 77 designated as Catoctin Mountain National Park, while the remaining portion of the original tract was returned to the State of Maryland and designated Cunningham Falls State Park.

Shortly after his inauguration, President Eisenhower visited the Camp and was immediately taken by it, subsequently renaming "Shangri-La" to "Camp David", in honor of his grandson, David Eisenhower. President Eisenhower used Camp David frequently through the next eight years. While recuperating from his heart attack in November and December 1955, President Eisenhower drove to Camp David from his Gettysburg farm to preside at meetings of the Cabinet and National Security Council. Following major renovations in 1957 and 1959, President Eisenhower used the site to meet and confer with several heads of government. Prime Minister Harold MacMillan was a guest in March 1959, and again in October 1959, followed by President Lopez Mateo of Mexico in October 1959. President Lleras Comargo of Columbia and President Charles DeGaulle of France visited the Camp in 1960. The historic visit by Chairman Nikita Krushchev of the USSR in September 1959, resulted in the coining of the phrase "Spirit of Camp David" to describe the Soviet-United States detente resulting from the conference held in Aspen Lodge.

President and Mrs. Kennedy relaxed at Camp David on frequent occasions. Mrs. Kennedy and the children remained for extended visits and stabled their personal horses on board for use during their visits.

President and Mrs. Johnson used the Camp for conferences and relaxing with large groups of friends. President Johnson resumed the practice of receiving foreign heads of government at Camp David, entertaining Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada in April 1965 and Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia in June 1967.

President Nixon and the entire First Family used the Camp almost continuously. It was a favorite place for relaxation, a change of pace, and also for informal working sessions. Conferences and meetings were frequently held in both Laurel and Aspen Lodge.

Several Foreign Heads of State, including Prime Minister and Mrs. Gorton, President and Madame Pompidou, Chancellor Willy Brandt, President Tito and Madame Broz, President and Mrs. Medici, President and Mrs. Echeverria, Prime Minister Heath (twice), President and Mrs. Houphouet-Boigny, President and Mrs. Ceausescu, and of course, General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev of the Soviet Union (the June 1973 visit which led to even stronger detente between the Soviet Union and the United States), were Presidential guests at Camp David.

Following the historic Apollo XIII, Apollo XIV, Apollo XV, and Apollo XVI, as well as SKYLAB I, II and III missions, the astronauts and their families were guests at Camp David.

The Camp is currently being utilized by President Ford and his administration. Many members of the Cabinet and White House Agencies and Councils have discovered that the serene atmosphere of Camp David is conducive to productive meetings. As a result, conferences are held here on a regular basis. President Ford met with Indonesia's President Subarto in July 1975 to continue the practice of entertaining foreign heads of government at Camp David.

Camp David and its role in the history of the nation is widely known and the preservation of its rustic beauty and solitude and the improvement of service and convenience to the President and his guests continues to be the primary goal of the staff.

CAMP APPEARANCE AND OPERATIONS

The natural appearance of Camp David has changed little since its original construction. The cabins are still the original rustic board and batten construction, stained or painted a moss green hue. The native woods have been maintained wherever possible, and the only completely open areas on the Camp are the lawn in front of Aspen and the helicopter landing field. Every effort is made to maintain the natural beauty of the Camp and its buildings.

In continuation of the policy established by President Roosevelt when the crew of the Presidential yacht was used to man Shangri-La, Camp David is permanently staffed by Naval Personnel. Marines, permanently assigned from the Marine Barracks, Washington, D. C., provide security for the Camp. A detachment of the White House Communications Agency provides radio, telephone and communications center support. The Camp is a military installation, commanded by the Camp Commander, directly under the Military Assistant to the President. Scheduling is coordinated by the Secretary to the Cabinet and the Office of the Military Assistant.

GUEST INFORMATION

The following items are provided to assist in answering questions of a general nature regarding services and facilities available at Camp David. Additional information or requests should be referred to the Command Duty Officer, who may be reached by telephone through the Camp switchboard.

Communications

All Camp telephones are served by a switchboard which is manned twenty-four hours a day. The operator will assist you in placing any calls. Direct lines to Washington and the White House are available. For other communications support information, please contact the Command Duty Officer.

Transportation

Transportation to and from Camp David is not available.

Meals and Refreshments

Meals and refreshments are provided at Laurel Lodge. Requirements of a specific or special nature should be communicated to the Chief in Charge at Laurel Lodge. Reimbursement will be requested through the White House Staff Mess.

Postal Services

Complete postal services are not available, however, stationary, stamps and the mailing of letters and packages can be accomodated.

Medical Assistance

A Navy Hospital Corpsman is on duty at all times. A physician is not available at Camp, however, the corpsman is well qualified and capable of providing emergency treatment, first aid assistance and minor medication.

Parental Supervision

Certain recreational activities and equipment present an inherent safety consideration, thus, parental supervision is requested for those family members under 16 years of age. Swimming pools, the trampoline, golf carts, snow mobiles, bowling, skeet and archery activities are illustrative of such havardous activities that require the supervision of an adult.

Weather

The Camp's elevation, nearly 2,000 feet above sea level, causes weather conditions which are often completely different than experienced in the Wash-ington area. Temperatures are normally 10 - 15 degrees colder year round; while rain, fog and winds are frequent. Accordingly, appropriate clothing is suggested.

Baby Sitting

Baby sitting service is not available at Camp. Parents are requested to provide supervision of minor children at all times.

Special Requirements

Special needs may be accomodated upon request. Irons, ironing boards, cribs, hair dryers, toilet articles, swim suits, etc., may be obtained by contacting the Command Duty Officer.

Restrictions

It is the Camp policy that photography, fire arms or any explosives are not allowed aboard the Camp. Additionally, the considerable small game population (squirrels, rabbits, racoons, opossums and deer) on Camp indicates the inadvisability of personal pets accompanying guests.

Religious Services

Numerous churches representing various denominations are located in the local community and within a twenty minute driving time. A complete listing is provided in section 9 of this booklet.

RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

The following recreational activities are available (in season) for the enjoyment of Camp guests. Several of the activities enumerated necessitate communication with the Command Duty Officer prior to utilization in order to provide for support requirements in a timely fashion, and are so identified by asterisk:

*Archery

An archery range can be set up near the Field House on request. Bows, arrows, targets and other required items are available.

Bicycles

Bicycles are provided by the various cabins, at Laurel Lodge and Holly Circle.

Bowling

Golf Carts

Two electric golf carts are available for guest use within the Camp. As a safety consideration, the operator should be at least 16 years of age.

Instruction on proper use and operation is available from the Command Duty Officer.

Swimming Pool

There are two pools on Camp - the Aspen Pool is located to the front of the Presidential Lodge at Aspen and the Staff Pool is located in the northwestern part of the Camp, behind the water tower. Bath houses are located adjacent to each pool. A sauna is located in the Aspen bath house. Both pools are heated and in use from early May to October. Swim fins and masks and a limited number of bathing suits available. As lifeguards are not available, parental supervision is requested when children use the pools.
