

POOL REPORT #3

DECEMBER 10, 1974

The pre-dinner reception was a mob scene with many of the dinner's guests crowded into a small room. The President circulated among the guests but the poolers were unable to make out anything he said.

As the poolers were ushered out, the President was talking to Walter Kennedy, the commissioner of the National Basketball Association. Again, nothing could be overheard.

Norm Kempster
Washington Star-News

#