Press Pool Report No. 13--After War Memorial Ceremony--El Paso

After the ceremony, the President worked the crowd in and around the plaza. Many in the crowd tried to hug him and one woman in the crowd pulled him to her and kissed him on the cheek. He rode back in open car, standing in the back, with Mayor Henderson beside him. The car stopped at corner of Paisano and Santa Fe at Fire Station 11 and Ford got out and greeted 10 khaki-clad firemen.
