THE WHITE HOUSE

The President today announced his intention to nominate eight persons to be Representative and Alternate Representatives of the United States of America to the Twentieth Session of the General Conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency. The persons are:

Representative

Robert C. Seamans, Jr., of the District of Columbia, Administrator, Energy Research and Development Administration

Alternate Representatives

Frederick Irving, of Providence, Rhode Island, Assistant Secretary of State for Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs

Richard T. Kennedy, of the District of Columbia, Commissioner, Nuclear Regulatory Commission

Myron B. Kratzer, of the District of Columbia, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs

Edward A. Mason, of Lexington, Massachusetts, Commissioner, Nuclear Regulatory Commission

Nelson F. Sievering, Jr., of Bethesda, Maryland, Assistant Administrator of the Energy Research and Development Administration for International Affairs

Galen L. Stone, of the District of Columbia, Deputy Representative of the United States to the International Atomic Energy Agency, with the rank of Ambassador

Gerald F. Tape, of Bethesda, Maryland, United States Representatives to the United States Mission to the International Atomic Energy Agency, with the rank of Ambassador, Vienna

The Conference is scheduled to be held at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, from September 21 to September 28, 1976.

The Agency seeks to accelerate and enlarge the contribution of atomic energy to peace, health, and prosperity throughout the world. It ensures that assistance provided by it or at its request or under its supervision or control is not used in such a way as to further any military purpose.
