I appreciate receiving your comments. I understand that we are working closely together, with the assistance of both US and UK at various levels of involvement. However, I feel that we should focus on a more robust approach to the issue at hand.

The situation is complex, requiring careful consideration. Any policy or strategy must be flexible enough to allow for unforeseen developments. We should aim to gain a strategic advantage over the other side, and our efforts should be directed towards achieving our primary goal.

US-Sov relations are still ongoing, and we need to ensure that our efforts complement each other. Your suggestion for a joint approach is commendable. Please consider this proposal in your next meeting.
