

THINK—DELIBERATE—ACT

The Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library and the Kettering Foundation cordially invite you to the upcoming interactive forum on the critical national public policy issue: Economic Security. By attending this forum you will be joining others at twelve presidential libraries across the nation in deliberative discussions. We invite you to participate.

Economic Security: How Should We Take Charge of Our Future?

Tuesday, October 5, 2010 5:30 pm to 7:30 pm

Light refreshments will be provided starting at 5:00 pm

THE ISSUE

This forum will discuss the following options for addressing our economic security:

- ▶ Acting more responsibly with our money
- ▶ Looking out for each other
- ▶ Growing our way out

No reservations are necessary. However, if you plan to participate in the discussion, please contact us by calling (734) 205-0595 or by e-mail at fordlibrary.annarbor@nara.gov, and an informational packet on the topic will be sent to you.

This will be an intimate yet dynamic event. Feel free to bring along a student/colleague/friend!

THE PROCESS

The program is designed to elicit a broad range of ideas and viewpoints from everyone in the community. Your participation is sought because your thoughts and ideas matter!

Your interest in the topic is sufficient to make a contribution!
