

The original documents are located in Box 44, folder “Ford, Susan - Events - 10/3-10/76 - University of Missouri - Photography Workshop” of the Sheila Weidenfeld Files at the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library.

Copyright Notice

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Gerald Ford donated to the United States of America his copyrights in all of his unpublished writings in National Archives collections. Works prepared by U.S. Government employees as part of their official duties are in the public domain. The copyrights to materials written by other individuals or organizations are presumed to remain with them. If you think any of the information displayed in the PDF is subject to a valid copyright claim, please contact the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library.

at 11:00 AM in the morning

Susan Ford attending workshop

FORSYTH, Mo. (AP) — Susan Ford arrived Saturday in the Missouri Ozarks for the annual photo workshop sponsored by the School of Journalism at the University.

She will be among about 60 workshop participants who will photograph for the coming week the area around Powersite, overlooking the dam near Forsyth which creates Lake Taneycomo.

Clifton J. Edom, professor emeritus at the School of Journalism, founded the workshop and directs a staff of about 30 news photographers and picture editors who act as instructors and judges. He and his wife have a home on a bluff above the damsite. It is their 28th workshop.

"We want the students to have a chance to see the Ozarks in the autumn," Edom said.

Susan Ford attending workshop

FORSYTH, Mo. (AP) — Susan Ford arrived Saturday in the Missouri Ozarks for the annual photo workshop sponsored by the School of Journalism at the University.

She will be among about 60 workshop participants who will photograph for the coming week the area around Powersite, overlooking the dam near Forsyth which creates Lake Taneycomo.

Clifton J. Edom, professor emeritus at the School of Journalism, founded the workshop and directs a staff of about 30 news photographers and picture editors who act as instructors and judges. He and his wife have a home on a bluff above the damsite. It is their 28th workshop.

"We want the students to have a chance to see the Ozarks in the autumn," Edom said.